A good many vultures hovering around hoping to get the soldier's boy bonus through one scheme or another.

Orange trees are in the full beauty and fragrance of blossom, and there is promise of a magnificent citrus crop next season.

The show is on at Tallahassee, and soon all our troubles will be solved by legislation. Can't you just feel taxes getting lower already?

We believe everything we read, but the old Adam's apple worked spasmodically when we attempted to swallow this one, found in a bank advertisement: "Every banking institution wants to make loans."

A writer in "As Tribune Readers See It" intimates that this would be a glorious and happy country if everybody in it were like Mrs. Peabody, Bishop Cannon and Tom Hefflin. May we be pardoned for remarking "Omigosh!"

South Florida strawberry growers who have been industrious and thrifty the past season are not talking hard times. The most prosperous season ever known is just closing, with returns to the growers of something like a million and a quarter dollars.

A lady has written a novel, which is "the poignant, simple story of two young Florida swamp-dwellers." The lady hasn't lived in Florida long, of course. Those of us born and reared in the State have never seen a "swamp-dweller," unless an occasional alligator might be so called.

Food riots in Maryland, Kentucky and other States emphasize the fact that the people of Florida who complain of depression don't realize how well off they are. Admitting that times are hard and money scarce, there has been mighty little real suffering in this State.

If there is an organized band, making a practice of whipping people for pay, as is charged in Pinellas county, everyone implicated in the business ought to be hunted out and given the most severe punishment possible under the law. There is no room in Florida for any such "industry."

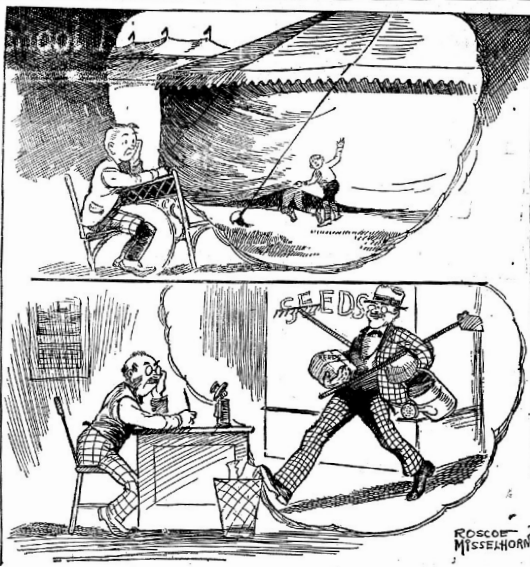

This bird Bingham, Connecticut Senator, who wants to increase federal taxes "to reach the pay envelope of nearly every wage earner," as the "surest way to curb governmental extravagance," must be sick, or something. He should come to Florida for his health. And drop off for a permanent stay at Chattahoochee.

The frog industry is breaking out in various parts of the State, Marion county being the latest section in which the croaking of the frogs has awakened the people to their commercial value. Hard times make folks look and listen for new ways of making money, and the frog business, until recently unthought of in Florida, is booming. More of Florida's unsuspected riches.

If you failed to read "Ontario's Experiment," in the Saturday Evening Post of March 21, it would be worth your while to look it up and get an official and unbiased expression on the Canadian plan of liquor control. Sir Henry L. Drayton, chief commissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, writes from the viewpoint of one personally "dry," but he discusses the situation candidly and dispassionately—which is something few wets or dries in this country are able to do.

The boys up to the Legislature had better be careful in these days of rapid communication. It used to be that a South Florida Statesman could get up high jinks at Tallahassee and get back home and be re-elected for another term before his constituents found him out. Nowadays, however, through perfected newspaper service and airplane transportation, a legislator, from any part of the State, can hear early every morning from the folks back home about his vote of the night before.

"SPRING DREAMS"

OUR wife took one look at the program of entertainment prepared for the Legionnaires at Tampa this week and quietly informed us we were not going.

SO Amos is to be impeached? We suppose if the proceedings go through and he loses his job he will be made receiver or liquidator for some of the defunct banks. We suggest the Citizens Bank of Tampa.

Easter lilies for the Easter market sold at 50 cents a blossom. Many of them were shipped into the State, the plants in Florida not blooming until a little later. Somebody with enterprise and knowledge that will enable him to have these lovely blossoms at Easter time can make good money from their sale.

Gainesville's tung oil blossom festival was successful and unique in the way of such celebrations. It reminds us that another fine industry is growing up in Florida to add to the wealth and opportunities of the State. It might carry also the suggestion that if tung oil trees do well in the Gainesville section they would do at least equally well in the fine soils of Highlands.

In Philadelphia a 22-year-old student, blind from birth, received his sight through a surgical operation, and the feat is acclaimed throughout the scientific world. Yet we note from advertisements in the papers that one of our divine healing snow-birds claims to make the blind see, and he doesn't bother with an operation, either. And the scientific world is strangely quiet about these "miracles."

When, some weeks ago we suggested that the State might take a vacation in the matter of road-building, and if practical, the funds proposed to be used for that purpose be utilized to lessen the tax burdens on real estate, the Tampa Tribune copied the paragraph, putting a heading over it "Yes—we have a road." We thought this a bit belittling, but we are glad to note that the Tribune is advocating the same policy. The State could well confine its expenditures for roads to maintenance for several years to come. There is no good reason for any new construction, unless the trend of development might necessitate building an occasional link.

The idea of Hoosiers in New York arguing about the proper way to fry chicken! Fried chicken is essentially a product of the Old South, the artistry of whose cooks, preserved by tradition, still flourishes in favored spots below the Mason and Dixon line. At the risk of demolishing the entente cordiale between the States, we take the firm position that no Yankee cook knows the rudiments of chicken frying, or is in any way qualified to judge the finished product, unless he or she studied the art under the superior eye of a black mammy, who in turn had mastered the process as it was perfected in ante-bellum days. Hoosiers and New Yorkers indeed! They are as well qualified to talk about fried chicken as primary grade kids are to discuss the integral calculus.

Echoes of the State Press

ONE BLESSING.

Florida citrus growers, who this year have a none too happy lot, due to one thing and another, do not realize that their plight might be worse. They might be growing citrus in California, where the market is alleged to be considerably better, but where the expenses of bringing a crop to maturity is so padded.

Florida growers do not enumerate their blessings sufficiently often. They might, for instance, be paying for water and not be certain they will get sufficient of the precious fluid for their crops. They might be spraying for a lot of pests that haven't reached this state as yet. And they might be buying oil to heat their groves when the freezes threaten.

A few Florida growers maintain heating equipment, but not many of them, and it is not often called into use. In the golden state, however, the heaters are as necessary a part of the grower's equipment as his water pipes. And some adequate idea of the amount of heat required to keep Jack Frost away from California groves may be gained from the Oil and Gas Journal, published in the interests of those to whom citrus growers are only customers . . . albeit very good customers. Says the Journal:

"There are 3,000,000 orchard heaters in use in California citrus groves. It requires about 22,000 gallons for one filling. This is based on an average capacity of seven gallons for every heater, although most of the new types of orchard heaters hold approximately nine gallons. On one filling of oil each heater will burn for fifteen hours. Approximately thirty percent, or about 750,000 acres, is equipped with orchard heating facilities. The California Fruit Growers Exchange supplies a regular patrol, and in conjunction with the United States Department of Agriculture maintains several bureaus for the dissemination of weather forecasts, especially during the winter months, when there is a possibility of a cold snap at any time."

Over a 15-year period, the cost of smudge oil has averaged about $1.30 per barrel, f. o. b. refinery, but it has reached the figure of $2.00.

The powers that be knew what they were doing when they located oil fields in California right alongside the orange groves.—Winter Haven Herald.

CITRUS FUTURE.

Whether or not it is noticeable this season, orange demand is due for an increase which should mean millions to citrus growers.

This prediction is based upon the intense interest which has been aroused throughout the nation by the announcement that a pint of orange juice a day will solve the dental problem and incidentally general health. The dictum came from Dr. Percy Howe, head of Forsyth Dental Infirmary of Boston, after years of research work with humans as well as monkeys and guinea pigs.

Probably every newspaper in the nation has carried the statement of Dr. Howe and a report of his observations. Many are giving it featured attention. Next to the vitamin discovery, probably no other factor for health has received the public interest that has been accorded the "pint of orange juice a day." The prospects for its adoption generally could hardly be brighter. It is not a noxious medicine which is prescribed, but one already established as one of the refreshment delights. It is simple to obtain and so inexpensive as to be within the reach of all. It has a glimmer of romance, history and inherent beauty attached. Milk, a world's food, greatest rival of orange juice, gained its renown with less in its favor than has orange juice.

Dr. Howe has brought out that orange juice is an essential to properly developed childhood, the most cherished aim of every parent. This incentive alone will increase use of orange juice and multiply consumption many times.

The possibilities are quickly discernible if the recommendation is applied to figures. One pint of orange juice per day per person would require at least 3,750,000 boxes of oranges a day to meet the requirements of this country's population of 120,000,000.

000. The needs for the year would total 1,800,000,000 boxes which would require more than 6,000,000 acres of bearing groves at an annual production of 200 boxes to the acre which is above the present average. This would take all the citrus land of the nation.—Sawdust Chronicle.

BUY IT AT HOME.

The oft repeated phrase, "It pays to trade at home," many times comes up for confirmation. An experience in this city over the past several days impresses one with the truth of the assertion.

An itinerant merchant, a peddler, a hawker of goods and clothes has been in the city for the past two or three weeks intermittently selling a certain type and style of dress. The dress in question is a two piece outfit, with a jacket and skirt effect. The peddler has been selling this to his door-to-door customers for the sum of $2.95 each. Investigation has shown that the same identical dress may be purchased from a local merchant for the sum of One Dollar.

The make and style of the dress is the same, the quality of material is identical, the workmanship is absolutely the same, the dresses in fact are doubtless manufactured by the same designer and workmen. At One Dollar per garment the local merchant is making what he claims is a legitimate profit. At Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents the peddler is making that same profit plus an extra profit of almost two hundred percent.

With the sum which the residents of Winter Garden and Ocoee have been paying this peddler for one dress they could buy three dresses from a local dealer.

COST OF COLLECTING KENTUCKY'S SALES TAX.

Would Florida gain anything, financially or otherwise, from the imposition of the proposed two per cent sales tax? Have other states gained anything thereby? Not if one is to judge from the reports received from these states. Take Kentucky for example. A sales tax was enacted in that state some time ago and during the first nine months it was in force, exactly $65,000 in sales taxes were collected. But it required $90,000 to pay for the clerical help and other expenses incident to its collection, leaving Kentucky $25,000 poorer than if the law had not been enacted. One may say that $65,000 was a mighty small sum for the business men of a great state like Kentucky to pay in sales taxes over a nine months' period and this brings us to another weakness of the sales tax—namely that it encourages business men, otherwise honest, to falsify their returns and beat the state out of the tax. That is a condition that may be expected if Florida should be so foolish as to pass a sales tax. Other states have demonstrated that it costs as much or more to collect the tax as the receipts amount to in any given period—and that should be sufficient to defeat the bill in Florida. Citizens should lose no time notifying their representatives and state senators to oppose this vicious bill and save Florida from the handicap that a sales tax would place upon the state.—Winter Haven Chief.

MR. BENTLEY'S PLEA.

In last week's issue of The Floridian is an interesting statement made by Robert W. Bentley, chairman of the State Road Department, which gives most convincing answer to those who would cripple the highway program of the state.

Florida has made remarkable progress in road building, and the work should proceed until Florida is the leader in this nation in modern highways.

True, we have constructed most necessary and important arteries, and more should be constructed. The constructed arteries brought various sections of the state closer together, and yet most of Florida's rural districts are deprived of good roads. The farmer is the individual who mostly needs and mostly deserves good roads.

We should like Mr. Bentley for his statement, and recognize the correctness of his position, and hope that in acting in accord with him, the legislature will at least inaugurate a campaign whereby Florida will continue its program of road building whereby our rich agricultural sections in every part of the state will be penetrated by modern roads. When our farmers can reach the markets with good roads, when our agricultural lands are properly considered, Florida will lead the nation in bringing forth the necessities of life.—Marianna Floridian.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE

We are told that Nero fiddled while Rome burned. It is extraordinary what prominence has been given to this musical performance and what unqualified blame has been directed at Nero.

But we are not acquainted with all the circumstances accompanying Nero's much maligned musical show.

It is possible that the Romans were passing through a financial crisis such as is now affecting many sections of the country. Rome may have been well insured and the people resigned to see their homes and shops burn up to the tune of the violin. All this is merely speculation. We must accept the modern opinion of Nero's performances as an instance of callous disregard of other people's misfortunes.

Many merchants today are letting their business be destroyed while they listen to the tune of hard times and spend their time dreaming and talking hard times, and on account of this they and their neighbors suffer.

In this day and time if business men would continually advertise their merchandise or service, advertising would be the music that would build business for them and hard times thoughts would be forgotten and everybody would be more prosperous.

SINCE Big Bill Thompson has lost his job we suggest that he get a job as machine gun inspector for the British government.

DOG DIETS ON DIAMONDS

There's a big difference between diamond rings and dog biscuits—but we know of one dog who tried the former diet. He swallowed a diamond ring belonging to his mistress. . . . However, her jewelry was insured against all hazards, usual and unusual, so that the insurance company bore the loss.

Claims of this kind are settled promptly by the Saint Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company, whose policies offer a dependable and liberal coverage at an economical cost.

PLAN TO COIN SPECIAL WASHINGTON QUARTER

Mellon To Ask For Designs For New Commemorative Coin

Within the next few days, Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, will invite prominent artists throughout the country to submit designs for the new quarter dollar which will be issued next year as part of the nation-wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington.

This will be the first United States coin of regular issue to bear the image of Washington. It is authorized by legislation enacted just before the adjournment of Congress.

While the selection of the exact design for the George Washington quarter rests with the Secretary of the Treasury, Representative Sol Bloom, Associate Director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, will be consulted before the decision is made. Mr. Bloom has furnished the Treasury with a profile photograph of the last of George Washington by London, now at Mount Vernon, which has been selected by the Portrait Committee of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission as the best likeness of Washington in existence. The medal probably will be used on the twenty-five cent piece.

The portrait of the First President was used on a coin made in 1783, but they were not issued or approved by the government. Such approval might have been given but for Washington's modesty which no doubt made him feel that such honors were not for the living.

Although issued to commemorate the bicentennial of Washington's birth the quarter will not be a commemorative coin in the true sense of the word. It will replace the twenty-five cent piece which has been minted since 1916 as a coin of regular issue, and as such will be circulated at face value.

The true commemorative coin is issued to signify some particular event and is sold at a premium. Only a comparatively small number of such coins are made. Commemorative coins have been issued widely in the United States as in other countries. The first to appear in this country was the Columbian half dollar minted in 1892 with the bust of Columbus in honor of the immortal discoverer of America. Incidentally, the only commemorative quarter ever coined in the United States was made the following year. It bore the image of Euclid of Sparta, the homelands of whose assistance made it possible for Columbus to carry out his cherished project.

The only coin of regular issue in the history of the United States, up to the present time, bearing the image of a President, is the Lincoln penny. This piece appeared in 1909 during the celebration of the centennial of the birth of the great Civil War President and was the result of popular demand.

One of the reasons for the selection of the quarter dollar to carry Washington's image is the popularity of this coin. Also, officials of the Treasury have been in favor of changing the design of the twenty-five cent piece now in use for other reasons as indicated by the following statement by Secretary Mellon: "The design of the current quarter dollar has been the subject of considerable criticism. It wears very badly and is a difficult coin to manufacture; the design is elaborate for the small surface, and it is almost impossible to bring the details into proper relief."

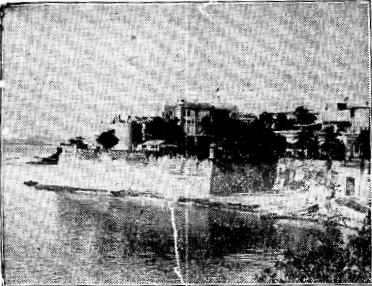

The first quarters were coined in 1793, the year following the act of Congress establishing the mint. Since that time, $161,483,091 have been produced in twenty-five cent pieces. The annual issue of this coin in recent years indicates that its popularity is increasing.

George Washington always took a keen interest in the mint, and he frequently visited it to supervise personally some of the work carried on there. Many of his messages to Congress contain reference to the mint which show his solicitude for the institution. It has been said that Washington gave some of his private stock of silverware to produce half dimes because those small coins were in demand among the poorer people and the mint was unable to procure enough of the white metal to supply the need. The female head which appeared on some of these pieces was popularly used to represent Martha Washington for she popularized the coin for the artist who created the design.

The coining of the George Washington quarter dollar during the Bicentennial year, to be continued as a coin of regular issue, will be a notable event in the history of the Treasury Department.

Watchdog For Poultry. Poultry farmers in Hampshire, England, are training old gardeners to protect their property against night raids by thieves, which have been occurring in the district. They say that the gardeners give warning of a raid more quickly than would any watchdog.

Thieves, especially those who remember the saying of Rome, are believed to fear the watchman because of his habit of being out in the night. The gardeners are also trained to be alert for signs of a raid, and might even break his leg, say the trainers.

NOTED FLORIDIAN WILL SPEAK AT FROSTPROOF

All Interested In Citrus Invited To Hear Col. Robbins, Monday

The gold rush of the Klondike, Bolshevism of Russia, political activities, with William Jennings Bryan, outlaw of war and law enforcement are only a few of the interesting features of the full career of Col. Raymond Robbins of Hernando county who speaks at the Ramon Theatre, Frostproof, Monday, April 13, at 2 p. m. One time unofficial representative of the American government to the Soviet government in the war days, Colonel Robbins is one of Florida's most prominent contributors to "Who's Who" in America.

Prospecting and mining, culminated in three years with the Klondike gold rush started in 1897, lured Colonel Robbins from his boyhood home at Brooksville. Following the gold harvest he returned to purchase and start the development of a 2,000 acre estate now known as Chinchew Hill, where he has several hundred acres of fine citrus groves. He lives there during the intervals that national and international activities permit.

Colonel Robbins was a close friend and associate of Bryan and placed his nomination for the presidency of the United States in 1908. He is now vice-president of the William Jennings Bryan association.

Deep interest in social service for which he prepared in college, took him permanently into that work and carried him to the head of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company in Chicago where he also became head of the Board of Education. He was called as social service expert in the Men and Religion Forward Movement in 1911 for which he toured the country, following with a tour of many foreign countries.

He volunteered for service at the outbreak of the war and was sent to Russia. He returned to command of the American Red Cross Mission at Petrograd then in its baptism of blood and revolution. For a time he was the unofficial representative of the American government to the Soviet government.

War experience turned him to active work in outwary of war and he was identified with various movements national and international. He was on the staff of the United States War Relocation Authority and European Tour advocating outwary of war in 1923 and served as vice chairman of the American committee for the relief of war from 1925-27. Included in his wide experience was the presidency of the famous committee of 1,000 for law observance and enforcement.

Colonel Robbins is thoroughly familiar with Florida conditions and is intensely interested in the progress and development of this State. His address on "Florida's Lost Millions" is of intense interest and should be heard by every grower and business man in the State.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile—Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If this little is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just dumps in the bowels. Gas mounts up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Often breaks out in blotches. Your back aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes three days to get this two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable salts amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Repeat a substitute.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

Sunday School Lesson

FOR APRIL 12, 1931.

SUBJECT: The Prodigal Son.
GOLDEN TEXT: "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Luke 15: 10.

LESSON TEXT: Luke 15: 11-24, but the whole of Chapter 15 should be read. The Chapter begins, "Then drew near unto him all the publicans and sinners for to hear him." Jesus was more popular with the poor, and the open sinner than he was with those higher in social and political life. "And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, this man receiveth sinners and eateth with them."

Then Jesus spake this parable unto them, saying, "What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it? And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing. And when he cometh home he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost. I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance." The lost sheep represents the sinner. The other 99 sheep represent the self-righteous scribes and Pharisees. These "respectable" and formal religious people, had said of Jesus, "This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them."

A writer says, that Christ did not receive just some kinds of sinners and refuse others. He said, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Jesus then spake the parable of the lost coin, where the woman had ten pieces of silver and lost one of them. When it was found she called her neighbors, saying, "Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which I had lost."

Jesus said, "Likewise, I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Then follows the parable in today's lesson. "A certain man had two sons: and the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods which is thine. And he divided unto them his living." It is said that the Jewish law gave a double share of the father's estate to the elder son. If there were two sons, the elder would receive two thirds of the estate and the younger one third. Another law provided that a son which desired to leave his parental home could demand his legal portion of the father's estate and take it away. Thereafter such son was dead to the family. The lesson continues, "Not many days after the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living. And when he spent all, he began to be in want. And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country to feed swine."

This boy had friends, riotous, immoral friends, while his money lasted, but his money gone, his friends left him. Not one would have recognized him when he was reduced to feeding swine. "The vilest work a Jew could do. He had no money, few clothes and little food. He would gladly have eaten the 'hunks' that the swine did eat, which were the pods of the Carob tree, and resembled the pods of the honey-louse in America."

It is said that John the Baptist lived partly on this food in his early life. "No man gave unto him." He was not considered worthy of notice nor of assistance. "And when he came to himself, he said, how many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against Heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. Make me as one of thy hired servants." The boy went back home and began confessing his faults to his father, who overlooked his bad conduct, and said to the servants, "Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet: And bring hither the fatted calf, and let us eat, and let us be merry: For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry."

As that son went back to his father, who received him and overlooked his faults, so should every sinner repent of his sins and appeal to God, who will forgive his sins and accept him as a child.

SATURDAY IS LAST DAY TO ENTER THE TIMES' CAMPAIGN

Week Ending Wednesday Is Last In Which Booster Votes Are Offered

Saturday is the last day in which contestants can enter and register in The Avon Park Times gigantic subscription campaign, being conducted in connection with the Highlands County News. No one who is not entered by April 11 will be eligible to participate in the prizes and commissions that are being offered. And another thing, the week ending next Wednesday, April 15, is the last week in which booster votes will be offered. Therefore all contestants are urged to rally their friends and the friends are urged to back up their favorite contestant to put this week over in a big way and make it count. This will be the last week of booster votes.

Although there have been a number of new subscriptions turned in to date, not including the host of renewals and which have not been counted yet, there are still many more people wishing to subscribe for the Times. They just need to be urged by the contestants and all those who have been hiding are asked to come out into the light and get in touch with their favorite contestant and help out by putting over in a big way and make it count. There are many more renewals to come also.

The following is the standing of the contestants in the order in which they stood, at nine p. m. Wednesday, April 8th:

Mrs. Louise Campbell, Sebring.
Mrs. Eva Muff, Sebring.
Mrs. Roy Folmar, Avon Park.
Mrs. Glenn Robison, Sebring.
Mrs. A. L. Kelley, Sebring.
Mrs. Rachel Studer, Sebring.
Mrs. Donald Beard, Lake Placid.
Mrs. C. H. Satterthwaite, Sebring.
Mrs. E. J. Peters, Hicoria.
Miss Oleta Bigbee, Avon Park.

The first two contestants standing certainly made us open our eyes when we checked their votes and utter a prayer that this was not the final standing. They were so close, we certainly would have had to give them both a Willys Six Club Sedan, as our rules say. The first two contestants both receive the prize for. Then we got another surprise finding that the tally of votes for the third, fourth, fifth and sixth and seventh contestants were so close that five subscriptions would have changed the seventh place holder to third place.

The contest manager says that in over 15 years of conducting contests he never saw anything like this. So you can see for yourself this is anything race yet.

Full Week's Bill At Avalon For Convention Week

The Avalon theatre announces a full week's program for Odd Fellows convention week, featuring "The Royal Bell" Monday and Tuesday, "Sea, Sand and Sun" Wednesday and Thursday, "Code of Honor," a western drama Friday and Saturday nights.

The attraction for next Monday and Tuesday will be "The Lady Refused." The Monday and Tuesday show will be continued for the present, though the management states this patronage is below expectation.

A special feature for the Circle theatre at Sebring next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be "Mr. Lemon of Orange," featuring E. Brendel, the star of "Just Imagine," and rated as equally as good as the latter picture.

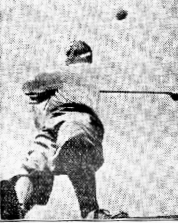

Single Graves May Be Bought at the Cemetery

It has come to our attention that the impression is prevalent that burial space cannot be purchased in Bougainvillea Cemetery for less than $75.00.

This is an erroneous impression for single graves can be bought for only a few dollars. Lots are sold at the rate of $2.50 per front foot. Single graves require but a few dollars. In selling single graves, the Cemetery Association reserves the right, however, to allow the space. Lots may be purchased on the installment plan, but no deed will be granted nor can the lots be occupied until payment in full is received. There are many very desirable lots still available for sale. A portion of the Cemetery has been set aside for the use of those whose financial condition does not permit them to purchase a lot.

COMMISSIONERS O. K. DELINQUENT TAX BIDS

Face Value Bids On $3,000 Tax Certificates Are Passed On

Bids for tax certificates totaling approximately $3,000 were approved by the county commissioners Monday and now await the first a. k. a. of Comptroller Ernest Amos before definite acceptance. All the bids were for 100 percent of the face value of the certificates and include property in all parts of the county. The bid made by Sebring Firemen, Inc., for taxes due on Firemen's Field and which was presented by P. A. Naylor, attorney, was tabled for further discussion, as it has been the policy of county officials not to sanction any reduction below the face value of the tax certificates.

In presenting the firemen's bid, Mr. Naylor pointed out the field, about eight acres in extent, has been acquired by the firemen for the purpose of sponsoring sports and athletic events with special reference to the high school football activities and is for the use of the entire county. The firemen's organization is organized on a non-profit basis, Mr. Naylor said, and when the mortgage is paid and the field is free of debt it is the intention to dedicate it to the use of the public.

While other counties in the state have been adjusting delinquent taxes at considerable discounts, Highlands county has maintained a strict rule of face value on all taxes and now has all its assets intact. Clerk of the Circuit Court L. T. Farmer estimated Tuesday that this policy of the officials has saved the county many thousands of dollars. He said it has been the talk of the state and many other counties have asked for information as to how the methods worked out. Many counties have designated their assets through indiscriminate slashing in their delinquent tax adjustments, he said.

STATE AND COUNTY TAXES IN SEBRING DISTRICT ARE LOW

Having Bad Effect On the School Situation In District Two

Col. F. N. K. Bailey, county superintendent of schools, is much concerned regarding the tax situation in the Sebring district. State and county taxes are not coming in as they ought to, he says, and to the first of the month, according to the report of Tax Collector D. F. Canfield, only 40 percent of the collectable taxes had been paid. A great deal of credit has arisen, Col. Bailey said, through the city accepting bonds for taxes, not that he condemns the idea, but a number of people have confused city taxes and state and county taxes and are of the opinion that the latter can be paid with bonds also. He has received a number of letters from property owners asking him to procure bonds for them in order that they can pay their taxes, but of course this is out of the question.

The agitation among some people not to pay taxes has also had some effect on the collection of state and county taxes and resulted in slowing up collections in the Sebring district. Collections in the Avon Park district are much better, Col. Bailey said and amount to 82 percent plus of the total collectable in the district.

Col. Bailey made public the following figures of taxes collected in each of the school districts of the county, as of April 1:

District 1, Avon Park, Collectable, $13,958.04; Collected, $7,327.15; percentage, 52.

District 2, Sebring, Collectable, $12,948.40; Collected, $5,227.65; percentage, 40.

District 3, DeSoto City, Collectable, $9,539.10; Collected, $6,632.17; percentage, 69.

District 4, Spring Valley, Collectable, $14,370.00; Collected, $9,014.00; percentage, 62.

District 5, Bassenger, Collectable, $3,333.63; Collected, $1,929.30; percentage, 58.

District 6, Lake Placid, Collectable, $6,449.25; Collected, $1,593.17; percentage, 24.

District 7, Hicoria, Collectable, $1,517.40; Collected, $189.90; percentage, 10.

District 8, Venus, Collectable, $2,768.38; Collected, $253.80; percentage, 9.

Col. Bailey points out a situation of this kind is dangerous. He and his board are doing all possible to keep the schools open, but ask for the co-operation of citizens, especially in the Sebring district, by the paying of taxes so that the schools may run the full term.

Impressive Easter Services Held at the Church of Redeemer

The Church of the Redeemer brought the solemn season of Lent to a close and ushered in the Easter festival with a series of inspiring services that bespoke renewed vigor and spiritual advance in the members of the congregation.

On Monday Thursday the church put off its purple mourning for the day and was gaily decked in white to commemorate the institution on that day of the Sacrament of the Last Supper, and a solemn Eucharist was celebrated in the morning.

On Good Friday the church was stripped of all ornament, save for the Altar cross veiled in black, and a large congregation assembled for the preaching of the Cross which began at noon and ended with the tolling of the bell at 3 p. m. Father Johnson took as his subject, "Seven Words from the Cross."

On Holy Saturday the Sacrament of Baptism was administered in the afternoon, and at 8 p. m. Father Johnson began the first service of Easter with the blessing of the new fire and Paschal Candle, which symbolizes the life of the Risen Lord, and which will burn at all services until the feast of the Ascension.

This service is one of the most impressive of the whole year, the part of it being performed in total darkness, until at the lighting of the Paschal Candle all the lights in the church were turned on and the sanctuary candles lighted revealing the church beautifully decorated in a profusion of white flowers and palms and ferns.

On Easter Day a solemn Eucharist was sung at 11 o'clock with the traditional Easter hymns, and the anthem "Jerusalem" beautifully rendered by Mrs. McKnight. Father Johnson gave an inspiring sermon, on the Resurrection, taking as his text the age-old Easter greeting: "The Lord is Risen, Alleluia; He is risen indeed, Alleluia." In the afternoon the children of the Sunday school assembled with their guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Smith where the Women's Service League entertained them with the annual Egg-hunt. On Easter night solemn Vespers and a sermon brought the day of joy to a close. Despite the inclement weather the services were well attended and many visitors dropped in between times to view the gorgeous decorations for which Mark E. Covington was entirely responsible and which did so much to add to the beauty and solemnity of the festival.

While production of the company is being conservatively increased in line with the upturn of the sales chart, registration figures continue to show that Chevrolet is maintaining leadership as the fastest-selling automobile. In December Chevrolet led all other makes of passenger cars in domestic registrations by 2,000 units, in January by 4,000 units, and the 43 states already reported for February show maintenance of that leadership by a comfortable margin.

Commissioners Approve Bids For Delinquent Taxes

Meeting in special called session Wednesday morning the county commissioners approved bids totaling about $3,000 for a number of delinquent state and county taxes. Included in this amount was the bid of the City of Sebring for the office on the block on North Ridgewood Drive being used for a recreation center. It now remains for these bids to be approved by Comptroller Earnest Amos.

Clerk of the Circuit Court, L. T. Farmer stated that approximately $20,000 had been collected during the past two months on delinquent taxes. He also stated that Comptroller Amos has reported the county that Highlands county is the only one in the state that is handling the delinquent tax situation on a business basis and getting face value for the certificates.

Civil Cases Tried In Circuit Court Here This Week

Several civil cases have been tried in circuit court this week including that of Walter D. Johnston of Washington, D. C., against S. Colquitt Pardee, attorney of Avon Park. The suit involved the alleged overpayment of cash in money and the jury found for the plaintiff. Mr. Pardee has filed a motion for a new trial.

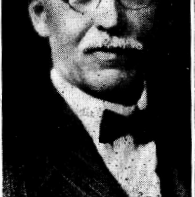

The case of A. J. Collins against A. J. Lutz and which arose out of a truck wreck on South Lakeview Drive, Sebring, some time ago and in which Collins claimed to have received permanent injuries, resulted in a mistrial by order of the court.

Another case was tried by Judge Young against M. Kahn arising out of an endorsement by Mr. Kahn on a note signed by J. H. Garst. The jury in this case brought in a verdict for the plaintiff.

BASE BALL SEASON WILL OPEN MONDAY

Avon Park and Frostproof Will Meet In First Game of the Season

The baseball season will officially open in Avon Park Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the first game of the season will take place between Frostproof and Avon Park at Cardinal field.

This game was specially arranged by the baseball association for the benefit of the convention visitors. Monday will be ladies' day and admission for the fair sex will be as free as the air above them. Likewise, the youngsters will be given a treat, and they will be allowed to walk right in through the main gate, obviating the erstwhile necessity of crawling in under the fence. A hundred and fifty passes have also been issued to high school students, which just about narrows it down to the point where old man Cash Customer, as the scribbles call him, will be confined to the men folks. They will pay 25 cents for out-of-town Charlie Sherman.

Monday's game will be the first for both teams this season, and the advance dope is that two smooth-running outfits will take the field. The Orange Pickers have always been able to put out a creditable team, and the locals have been putting in some valuable time the past two weeks getting in shape for action.

Charles (Pine Crest) Sherman has assumed the role of manager of the team, and Charles (Dry Good) Sherman is business manager of the association. This brings on complications for the local scribes, and to get out of the dilemma the Times offers a year's subscription to any one who will tag these two gentlemen with suitable handles so that their names can be used in print without the necessity of describing them by metes and bounds.

AVON MILL PAYS OFF $165,000 IN BONDS

Celebrate Retirement of Bonds With Bond-Fire at Snell Bank in Winter Haven

A fire at the Snell National bank in Winter Haven, Tuesday, which did not necessitate the calling out of the fire department, occurred when $165,000 worth of bonds of the Avon Manufacturing company of this city were paid off, canceled and cremated. The original issue was for $215,000.

The company is capitalized at $200,000. With the cancellation of bonds in Winter Haven, the company's indebtedness was reduced to $50,000. There are $25,000 in bonds due in July of this year and the same amount due next July, but the company has already taken up $45,000 of these bonds before their due date, leaving only $5,000 outstanding against the company. J. A. Caldwell, general manager of the company, stated:

"This splendid showing by one of Avon Park's major industries will be received with much satisfaction by business interests of the city to whom the success of the crate mill industry is of vital importance."

Boy Scouts From Dunedin Hitch Hike To Hammock Park

HIGHLANDS Hammock is delighted to become a mecca for students of plant life from places far and near. Among its visitors have been Dr. Charles Torrey Simpson, Florida's great naturalist and author, Dr. J. K. Small, curator of the New York Botanic Gardens, W. W. Ashe, tree expert of the U. S. Forest Service, scientists from the University of Florida at Gainesville, and many others. High school and college students also visit the Hammock to study botany, as it contains a host of interesting shrubs and trees, many of them unique and many of them rare.

Last Saturday two Boy Scouts from Dunedin, Fla., ages 18 and 16, hitch hiked the 100 miles to the Hammock to study the trees. They took back with them leaf samples pressed in their folders, and with both the common and botanic names clearly recorded. The boys were accompanied by a guide and Albert James, and they expressed themselves as delighted with the Hammock and its results. They will get credit at their High School for the data they gathered.

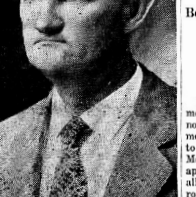

The school boys and girls of Highlands Hammock not only find it a most enjoyable and profitable place to visit. County Superintendent of Schools F. N. K. Bailey has expressed great interest and enthusiasm in the advancement of this big public park from an educational standpoint, and its value in this respect was the leading thought of its late donor, Mrs. Margaret Roebeling.

Tommy Webb Cut By Glass; Has Narrow Escape; Is Improving

Tommy Webb, an employee of the Mutual Crute company, was seriously cut by glass of a broken window pane at his home early Monday morning, following an accident. His arm was badly cut and arteries severed.

He was taken to Dr. I. W. Chandler's office as soon as possible, but suffered great loss of blood before he could be taken there. Dr. Chandler treated the wound, assisted by Dr. W. C. Touchton. Webb was taken to a Sebring hospital, where he was held overnight, and then he was brought home, and is reported by Dr. Chandler to be improving.

HAMMOCK BOARD TAKE NO ACTION ON ROAD PROPOSALS

J. W. EGGLE
of Fort Pierce, Deputy Grand Master I. O. O. F. of Florida.

Board Rules That Matter of Roads To Park Is For Settlement By County or Districts

Directors of the Highlands Hammock Association decided to take no action regarding the improvement or approval of roads leading to the Hammock at their meeting Monday afternoon. The matter of approach roads was discussed at all angles and although the need of roads was conceded it was thought this was a county or district problem and not entirely the province of the hammock directorate. If the two districts adjacent to the Hammock or the county wish to build roads as advocated that was entirely their business but the Hammock authorities would be very pleased to see any such roads constructed.

The committee appointed to go into the completion of the two mile stretch from Lakewood Terrace to the entrance to the Hammock has met and discussed the matter but no definite plan of action was decided on.

Finances for the maintenance of the Hammock are causing the directors some concern as a number of the pledges made at the commencement of the work have not been made good and it has been strongly intimated that the rolling interests would be unlikely to advance any more funds unless these pledges are redeemed and other monies raised in the county.

Cost of maintenance for the next year has been estimated at about $8,500 and the statement has been made that if $2,000 is raised, including redeeming the pledges, and other $6,500 would be available to make up the amount required for the year's maintenance.

Efforts will also be made for the passage of legislation enabling the county commission to include the Hammock maintenance in the county budget but if this is done no funds from such a source would be available for another year and the park must be kept up during that period.

In view of this financial situation the directors are making the most of the pledges which have been made and they are soliciting funds from other sources in order that the park which opened so auspiciously last month will not be lost to the public, as has been stated in some quarters of late.

The late Mrs. Margaret S. Roebeling gave lavishly towards the acquisition of the park and its development. It is since her passing her family have carried on in accordance with her wishes. But it has been pointed out by the citizens of Highlands county must do something themselves and show their appreciation of this generous gift, before anything further can be expected towards maintaining this natural wonderland.

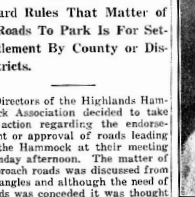

Donald Roebeling has expended thousands of dollars in preserving some of the mighty monarchs of the forest in the Hammock, some of which trees cannot be equalled anywhere else on this continent, and which, without this care, would soon have fallen in death and decay and gone back to the earth from which they sprang. Now, with the expert care they have had, they are good for an unlimited period of time.

Already the beauties of the Hammock are being broadcast by those who have visited there and enjoyed its wild loveliness and everyone who has the interests of the county at heart and desires to see the wondrous park in its midst maintained and preserved as it should be, is asked to come forward and do their bit with this end in view. All contributions will be thankfully received by the chamber of commerce and will be used in the maintenance fund only.

CITY BEDECKED IN GAY ATTIRE FOR 3-DAY CONVENTION

Program of Lodge Work and Brilliant Social Affairs Provided For Annual State Convention.

Avon Park is in readiness to play host Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to the annual state convention of Odd Fellows, Florida Rebekah assembly and Patriarchs Militant, when delegates from all over the state will meet in a three-day session.

Taking the job of entertaining its first major assembly in a serious way, Avon Park has gone about the business in a systematic manner, and committees have been in almost constant conference for weeks planning to have this an outstanding event that will meet the approval of its visitors.

The city is richly bedecked with red, white and blue, Odd Fellow colors, interspersed with emblems of the order. Practically every store along the Mall is getting its front dressed up for the occasion and the city is putting on a festive appearance.

The Jacaranda hotel, general headquarters for the convention, Hotel Highland Lakes, Grand Sire's and Grand Master's headquarters, and Pine Crest Lakes club, Rebekah assembly headquarters are being tastefully and beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers and ferns.

Mrs. Jennie V. Gore, president of the Rebekah assembly, accompanied by Mrs. L. F. Carr, arrived Thursday from Miami, preceding a decorating committee, which will convert the Pine Crest club into a tower of floral loveliness in preparation for the opening of the assembly there Monday.

Convention guests arriving Sunday will be taken on a motorcade to Highland Hammock park and Lake Park. They will leave the Jacaranda hotel at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, according to arrangements announced.

On Sunday evening there will be a special service at the high school auditorium for convention guests. Arrangements for this service are being made by Dr. A. H. Johnston, assisted by Dr. A. Vaughn and Rev. Henry S. Whitehead, of Dunedin, who will preach the sermon.

The opening session of the grand encampment will be held in Odd Fellows' hall Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The Florida Rebekah assembly will open in special session Monday afternoon at Pine Crest Lakes club. The Patriarchs Militant of Florida will open with a department council session in the Masonic building. The three conventions are being splendidly decorated in elaborate manner as befits the occasion.

At the public opening in the Avon theater Tuesday morning Dr. W. A. Davidson will deliver the address of welcome, and response will be made by Grand Sire C. D. Rinehart. Col. J. M. Lee will also welcome the visitors on behalf of local Odd Fellows, with responses by Grand Master Malcolm Bruce and Mrs. Jennie Gore, president of Rebekah assembly. Mayor C. S. Donaldson will complete the welcome ceremony by presenting the keys of the city.

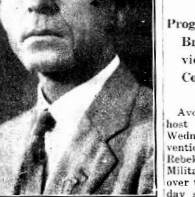

Covington Wants
Pipe For Cemetery

WANTED—100 to 150 feet of small water pipe for use in the cemetery. The pipe should be ranging from 3-4 to 1-1/4 inch. Truck will call for it.

This sounds like an ordinary want ad, but it is really an appeal from M. E. Covington, who is doing a lot of work on the cemetery these days, and wants some water pipe so he can get water to 600 pieces of shrubbery which have recently been set out. Any contractor who has a pipe that is not in use will be doing a good turn by notifying Mr. Covington.

Florida shipped 33,067 carloads of oranges, 25,860 carloads of grapefruit and 2,462 carloads of tangerines last season.

Greeting! You're looking well, how am I? About as well as with great delight, yet mingled with amazement, that I learned last week that the Senior rumble among their members of young lady, that is, a young lady with brains. Gee, the Junior girls are surely talking about that. They seem to be so busy making conquests among the flower of the Senior men that they don't get much time off. Then, too, the Juniors have to keep working for the honor of old Avon High. Don't they now, I ask you? Just train your lamps on the records made this year by that class. They tell a story that will surprise you.

Wednesday morning the student assembly was entertained by the 8th grade boys with a one-act play. As the upper classes gathered well in the back of our mammoth auditorium I couldn't hear quite well enough to get the drift but the pantomime was very good.

The little Robert's boy, James, is using gallons of various preparations this week in waving his hair. That's because a half dozen of extremely beautiful girls have entered this week. Who is the one sitting by Brother Bass? He just was wondering what rimes with eyes. And at his mature age, tak, tak.

A picture of George Washington has been recently hung in Study Hall by the Juniors. A hope has been extended to them by the Seniors that they emulate him. They'll try.

X—Don Ramon, His Mark.

Sophomore Sentiments

Tuesday morning Nelson Smith and "Little Bubba" came rushing to the Sophomore room, grabbed the trash basket, and began to clear out the desk between them at a terrific rate. We inquired the cause of the rush and they replied that the best looking girl in seven counties was in Mr. Filroy's office, that she was a Sophomore and, furthermore, she was going to sit by them or they would know the reason why! Quite a scrap occurred immediately. Every boy in the room found an empty seat near him and started dusting it out. After much argument and many threats it was finally settled that she would sit by Nelson and "Bubba." They went down to escort her up—and came back with tears in their eyes. She was just another little green Freshie.

The Sophomores boys have an unwritten law that no Freshmen can come in our home room, but since the arrival of the new Freshmen they have decided it is not to apply to girls.

Say, you have heard of Antony and Cleopatra? Well, that's nothing to compare to the case that's developed in our class—no, we can't tell you who. Just use your eyes and ears!

Mutt and Jeff.

P.S. We have decided, after much consideration, discussion and debate, that the reason some people are so short is because they have so much turned down for feet.

Mutt & Jeff.

A Senior At Leisure.

Good afternoon, Ladies and Gentlemen! Members of the Faculty and the Student Body. Last week in the school news of the paper a column was introduced under this name title. This column, which has to do mainly with the Seniors, is being written because we feel that they have been sadly neglected the entire year. This should not be, because everyone knows (yes, even the Juniors) that the Seniors are by far the most important part of this High School. In fact, I might even say that without them there would be no High School. Everything they do and say is of the utmost importance—at least the Seniors think so, and their vote is the only one that counts. And so—this column is the result.

It has been rumored around school that two seniors have committed a breach of etiquette. Emily Post does not say whether going to a party when one has not received an invitation is or is not a breach, so we cannot quote any authority on the question. Of course I can mention no names, but I feel sure that these two had adequate reasons for crashing said party. Sneaking in side doors is probably not the thing to do, but after all, when doors are slammed in one's face, what else can be done? Sur-for it to say, however, that this party was successfully crashed—even if a slammed door is quite an insult. Is my face red?

Yesterday Dot was heard to complain most bitterly that the Rob-er's were the only ones in school who ever got picked on. Roscoe immediately replied that it was no wonder—there must be at least eighty-five or thirty of them in school. (Roscoe, just what is the meaning of this eighty-five or thirty remark?)

In the Senior home room today was staged another little weekly battle over just what to wear for graduation. Barbara declared that if it wasn't decided what we were going to wear, and decided pretty quick, she wouldn't do anything but pick up her diploma and go home. So there! Blossom got somewhat bitter at the end of the struggle when she gave her opinion of people who had already bought their clothes. Shirley sat calmly declaring that the class had already voted on Dotted Swiss, so what was the use of arguing? Someone immediately retorted that the class had NOT voted for Dotted Swiss, and so a new battle was on.

And did it rain on Wednesday? I mean, if I had been the head man around the school I would have announced that it was raining entirely too hard for anyone to come to school. On such a day as that, people should stay home propped up in bed with a book and a box of candy. O well, such is life. One school day right after another.

The typing representatives are back. And aren't we proud! Our school brought home second place, which was well won for us with speed of 48 words a minute. I had fully expected Genevieve not to make an error in the contest. I sat beside her once in typing class and knowing nothing but the mad pecking system that I use, I was simply stunned when I saw Genevieve type. With my mouth open I sat and stared at her, calmly typing, with such rhythm and accuracy, and with such utter nonchalance about the whole affair that I expected to see her light a Murad almost any minute.

Krazy Thoughts.

Back again—I guess after this little talk I'll be christened official critic. To begin with the teachers are rushing us for the big event. In fact the teachers are rushing us so that we won't seem to be able to get his daily nap in book-keeping! Most of us though sit through first period counting the minutes till the bell rings. Second period the same procedure occurs and so on throughout the day. It's only six weeks more but six weeks is—six weeks.

Don Ramon seems to think that I always retaliate to what he writes. I wouldn't disappoint him for anything so I'll say—why don't you have those bursts of knowledge concerning Patrick Henry and his contemporaries in Mrs. Ginn's history class? And the little boy who spoke of flavored lipstick—I wonder if he has tried any or just read the article in Saturday Evening Post.

The House of Commons don't stand a chance when it comes to arguing. Those Senior girls will either have to draw straws for the kind of graduation dress they have or count out "emie, memie, nimmo" and let the last one dictate.

Mr. President of the Senior class states that he did not know the Sophomores had a cactus in their room. And the tears—now if it had concerned a human cactus then it's possible and even probable.

—Krazy Words.

W. A. T. C.

This week the typing students told the public a real secret. Every one has wondered, pondered, worried, and even asked what the W. A. T. C. stands for. Well, there's the real secret all in a "nut shell." The Typing class started a second semester of with the determination of accomplishing something worth while, so they organized the W. A. T. C. In order to be admitted into this club one had to attain a high rate of speed and accuracy. The membership changed from week to week, and by the time for the State contest it was easy to determine who could best represent the class in the contest.

The letters "W. A. T. C." mean "Win a Trophy Club," and the members have lived up to its name. The three typing students, who went to the State contest at Dayton, Ohio, went there with the determination to win—and one did. Wava Gowdin is to be congratulated for her typing genius, because she won second place in the State Contest for first year typists. She made a speed of 48 words per minute for 15 minutes with eight errors and her award is a gold medal.

Kathryn Sargus and Genevieve McClelland, who also represented our school in the contest, made net speeds of 44 and 42 words respectively.

Sunday School Lesson

FOR APRIL 19, 1931.

SUBJECT: The Rich Man and Lazarus.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal." Matt. 6:20.

LESSON TEXT: 16:1 to 17:37.

DATE OF LESSON: January, A. D. 30, about three months before Jesus' death.

INTRODUCTION: "Earning and using money concern nearly every mature person. Jesus said a great deal about money. He also found in the attachment to money the source of many moral and spiritual dangers. The parable of the rich man and his steward was spoken to the disciples."

The shrewdness that is used by the world to get on in business is to be used by the Christian in laying up treasure in heaven. The parable of the rich man and Lazarus was spoken to the covetous Pharisees.

The first parable in today's lesson, Chap. 16: 1-12 about the unjust steward of a rich householder, who was about to be discharged for cheating his employer, and said: "What shall I do? * * * that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses." So he called his lord's debtors * * * and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my lord? and he said * * * Take thy bill and * * * write fifty. And * * * to another * * * How much owest thou? and he said, A hundred measures of wheat. And he said * * * take thy bill and write four score. And Jesus said, "make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations." Fellow-brother's book on the lesson says, "None of Christ's parables has been more diversely interpreted than that of the unrighteous steward. Its difficulty lies in its seeming commendation of sharp dealing. Christ told how the master praised the unrighteous steward for his shrewdness, and Jesus himself drew the lesson that his followers should make such a use of money that, when earthly things pass away, they should be received into the eternal home. The word 'mammon,' means wealth."

Jesus added, "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." Closely connected with the parable of the steward is that of the rich man and Lazarus, which Jesus then gave. "There was a certain rich man * * * clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day; and there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table; moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. And the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: the rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment, and sought Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom." Like most of such statements of Jesus, this parable is given various interpretations. Some accept what Jesus said as stating facts as to the future life. Others say that "in his parable Jesus made use of the well known rabbinical fancies * * * angel bearers, Abraham's bosom, * * * the separation and yet communication between them * * * but his doing so does not mean that he accepted these fancies for the truth." (We prefer the orthodox interpretation first given).

The rich man cried, "Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. And between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you, cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence. Then he said, I pray ye therefore, Father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house: for I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment. Abraham answered him, saying, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them. And he said, Nay, Father Abraham: but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead."

The poor in money, and also in the hope of salvation, you have always with you, and you may help them. Will you?

This lesson teaches that we do not cease to exist at death, but retain consciousness, individuality and power to recognize each other.

BILL THE BARBER SAYS

A Berlin professor says that Herbert Hoover is of Swiss origin. Most people will refuse to credit this until they hear him yodel.
