VOCATIONAL FORESTRY WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Number of Schools and Students in Forestry Throughout State

"The vocational agricultural schools have done excellent work in their forestry course" stated Harry Lee Baker, state forester, after reviewing the report on the year's accomplishments of the students and teachers of the vocational schools which studied forestry practices intimately.

Distributed throughout the state thirty-four schools and 572 students learned some of the fundamentals of forestry through their instructors who were assisted by C. H. Coulter of the Florida Forest Service. The work consisted of indentifying the various tree species, raising young trees in nursery beds, planting one-year-old trees on forest land, and establishing experimental areas so that observations could be made of the effect of fire on burned trees as contrasted with the more vigorous growth of the trees on unburned land.

Through the courtesy of the American Forestry association, it was possible for prize awards to be made. The three teachers, whose efforts in teaching forestry were most successful, received awards of $650, $225, and $15 respectively. M. A. Baker, of Baker, L. J. Larson, of Winter Haven, and J. E. McIntire of Trenton, were the winners. Competition throughout the state, however, was keen.

For displaying the best understanding of forestry, as indicated by his general knowledge of the subject and its practical application, Fred Kirkland, of Baker, will receive a trip, all expenses paid by the American Forestry association, to Kansas City, to attend the "Future Farmers of America" conference.

Many students evidenced a live interest in the work. Monroe Thrasher, of Plant City, for instance, with only the assistance of a younger brother, planted two acres of forest land with 1300 one-year-old trees. 85% of these trees survived. Another student, Edgar Williams, of Bell, protected a tract of fifteen acres from fire by burning a narrow strip, or fire-line around it so that fire which originated on adjacent land would not be able to burn his trees. In the Gonzales school for boys in West Florida, a group of students banded together to form a fire-fighting squad to extinguish all forest fires which they discovered along the route over which their school bus traveled.

The public is prone to associate forestry practices with vast areas —something which has no practical, even though romantic, significance to the average landowner. Forestry can be and has been applied to small areas; the vocational agricultural students hope to demonstrate this fact to the state at large.

Bathing Beauty Revue Saturday at Daytona Beach

Beauties of the south will parade the boardwalk at Daytona Beach on the 4th in the 8th annual Volusia County Frolics bathing beauty contest.

Officials promise a most brilliant revue with several new and novel features, including the personal appearance of "Miss America," Margaret Ekdahl, famed Tampa beauty, winner of the Miss America title in the international bathing beauty contest held at Miami last year. Miss Ekdahl will not be in competition, but will participate in the revue as an honor guest.

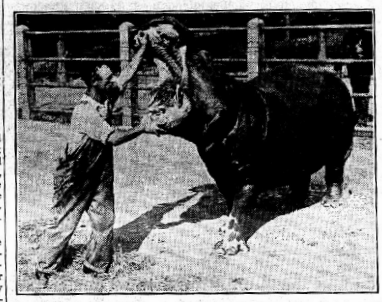
Another feature that is creating much interest is the childrens parade which will also be staged on the boardwalk with kiddies in costume representing every conceivable character from Mother Goose to Mutt and Jeff and will compete for awards and honors.

Florida Club Boy Places Wreath on Washington Tomb

Jack Platt, Marion county 4-H club boy, was recently accorded the honor of placing a wreath on the tomb of George Washington. He was selected to represent some 845,000 club members in the United States at a unique Mt. Vernon ceremony held while club members from 40 states attended the National Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Camp at Washington. Jack was one of Florida's four delegates to this camp.

At preceding camps other Florida clubsters have been selected to similar honorary duties. In 1927 Russel Henderson, Madison county, helped to raise the first flag over the National 4-H Club Camp. At the camp in 1928 Raymond Crabtree, Duval county, was selected to lay the wreath on Washington's tomb. During the 1930 camp Effa Mae Bratley, Leon county, was selected to place the wreath on the Unknown Soldier's grave.

'OPEN YOUR MOUTH WIDE AND SAY AH'



St. Louis, Mo.—Here is a giant hippo who seems reluctant to open his mouth for physical inspection but with the aid of some feed and the strong arms of a keeper it seems as easy as feeding a baby. The hippo probably has his keeper worried because he is only consuming two bales of hay per day instead of half a dozen. Perhaps he is on a diet.

Future Farmers Win State Awards At Annual Meet

The third annual convention of the Florida Association of Future Farmers of America was recently held at Gainesville, and the state winners for 1931 announced. Over 250 boys representing 30 counties and 30 high school teachers attended the convention, which was under the supervision of J. F. Williams, Jr., state supervisor of vocational agricultural education, the University of Florida College the teachers, and workers with of Agriculture.

Jake Allaben, Lemon City, won the state speaking contest along with a chance to compete at the southern regional at Hot Springs, Arkansas, in September. He competed with five other Florida district winners.

After a series of livestock judging contests held during the conference an Alachua team stood first and was awarded the state department of agriculture loving cup. The three highest scoring boys, and the ones who will represent Florida at the national Future Farmer conference during the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City this fall, were Ronald Boyles, Alachua, Edward Pierce, Eustis, and Elmer Gaskin, Bartow. Two pigs given by the Florida Experiment Station were won by Roynald Boyles, Alachua, scoring high in the hog contest, and the Monticello team, high scoring on hogs. A cup given by Purina Mills was won by the team from Trenton, high scoring on poultry. Future Farmer medals were given to the three high scoring boys in each the dairy, beef, hog, sheep, horse, and poultry judging classes.

Fred Kirkland, Baker, was announced winner of a trip to the national conference given by the American Forestry Association and the Florida Forestry Service for the best forestry project during the year.

The basketball championship was won by the team from Jay, Santa Rosa county.

Norton Wilkins, Apopka, was named president for the next year, and other officers were elected.

Besides participating in the contests the boys attended lecture sessions, went to picture shows, and took part in games, swimming, and other recreational features.

Tag Price Going Up McLin Warns Buyers

Walter S. McLin, acting motor vehicle commissioner warned Florida motoriats who must obtain 1931 state automobile tags for the final six months of the year that the price of the plates will go up one-third after July 1.

The 33, 1-2 percent increase in the cost of the licenses was authorized by an act of the special session of the legislature which ended last week. Increased license fees, estimated to bring in approximately $6,000,000 annual revenue, will go toward financing a standard eight months school term in Florida counties.

FLORIDA INSECTS AND DISEASES TO BE SHOWN DURING FARMER'S WEEK

When I meet with about 2,000 other Florida farmers and fruit growers for Farmers' Week at the University, August 10 to 14, I am expecting to learn much from the Experiment Station's collection of Florida insects and diseases and specimens of the damage they do. I don't think of missing Farmers' Week, and so I've seen these collections on display several times, but there's still a whole lot that I can learn from them. These pests are costing farmers hundreds of thousands of dollars every year, and if we knew as much as these specialists do about them we could save a big portion of this loss.

When we go into the entomology and plant pathology offices we will find cabinets filled with little drawers each containing from one to 25 dried insects, as well as shelf after shelf filled with jars of citrus fruits, vegetables, and other crops that show all kinds of different troubles. These are preserved in alcohol.

Last year we farmers asked question after question about all of our major insect and disease troubles, and in just a few minutes one of the specialists would show us several specimens and discuss the remedies. Then we were all given bulletins that discussed just about all of the insect and disease pests that bother the different things we were interested in.

The Experiment Station field men from all over the state come in every year to help with these discussions. For example the citrus insect specialist from the Citrus Experiment Station at Lake Alfred, the watermelon insect worker at Leesburg, the fellow studying ornamental insects at Pierson, the pecan insect specialist at Monticello, and others along with the workers at the main station, will be on hand to discuss the insect questions we ask.

I don't mean that this will be the only thing offered at Farmers' Week for its only just one part of the week's program. It and the many other features have sure been interesting and helpful to me each year.

Other than a little gas and oil it never costs Mary and I over about $1.50 each per day to attend Farmers' Week since we room in the dormitories and eat at the University cafeteria. Farmers' Week is what we call our annual vacation, and all that we learn from it is just that much extra.

Chevrolet Builds New Bumper Plant

Detroit, Mich June 3.—Operations were started recently in the new bumper manufacturing plant of the Chevrolet Motor Company in this city, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the company, announced today.

Construction of the new plant, which has a total floor space of 35,000 square feet, was started early this spring and completed last month. Included in the mechanical installations are several innovations designed to facilitate the handling and fabrication of material.

The plant has an average monthly capacity of 70,000 sets of bumpers, Mr. Knudsen said. Actual production was started on May 26th and it is expected that a full normal schedule will be in effect within the next few weeks.

This development is one of the few expansions made within the automobile industry within the past eighteen months and is Chevrolet's second within a year. The other was the purchase and operation of a commercial body building plant at Indianapolis last fall.

Construction of the bumper plant brings the total number of Chevrolet domestic factories to 21, and enables the company to exercise further supervision over materials, workmanship, and design of the features in the current line of sixes.

Small Blaze at Big Indian; No Damage

The fire department was called to the Big Indian Lumber company Saturday morning when a blaze broke out in the boiler room. The fire was a mere flash that frequently happens in the boiler room and was put out before the fire boys arrived.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

The sure way to prosperity is for every person to work himself out of debt.

But we didn't get a two-year moratorium of payments to the Legislature—alas! and alack.

It's all right by us, but what was the crying need of a state barbers' commission in these lean times?

Only six persons in the world could understand Einstein's first book, and now he has written a new one which he cannot understand himself.

Probably the negro preacher in Washington who delivered a non-stop sermon of 12 1-2 hours took up 6 1-4 hours of the time saying "and uh."

Some of the legislators are not grieving about these extra sessions. In fact their attitude probably is bring on as many extra sessions as you please! Six dollars a day is not to be sneezed at these times.

We confess that we do not know enough about this moratorium to be very positive as to its ultimate effect; but for the time being it has made the world feel better, and we're for anything that will help pep things right now.

It's a bit puzzling, a member of the Railroad Commission resigning a $6,000 job for one on the racing commission paying only $1,800. Perhaps the gentleman wanted more speed and thought the ponies would be faster than the railroads.

The day Mayor Key returned to Atlanta from the European trip which made him famous or obnoxious, according to the point of view, the city consumed nearly forty-one million gallons of water, which ought to prove something or other—but it doesn't.

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, prohibition's most doughty champion in 1928, and most earnest worker to save the country from bad, wet Al Smith, visited Tampa last week. Probably Mabel took no orders for the grape concentrate sold by the California concern with which she has a lucrative connection. Grape concentrate is not intoxicating, and if it gets that way shortly after delivery to the consumer, that is merely a process of nature, for which Mabel is not to blame.

There's life in the old Catts yet! He has been too ill for the past year or two to appear in court to answer an indictment charging him with aiding and abetting a counterfeit scheme, but he was well enough the other day to take some associates and smash in a cafe and remove its equipment, claiming the proprietor owed him some money. His legs may be a bit wabbly, but he's running true to form

"A nice, hot corn pudding" is advertised by a New York hotel as Florida's favorite and most popular dish. This will be news to Floridians, who can always depend upon some interesting information about themselves via New York. There is probably no section of the country where such a variety of good foods is available as in Florida, and there are many dishes which might vie with one another as "the most popular." If we were asked to name the one that will have the greatest vogue on Florida tables for the next three months we would nominate avocado pear salad. An average family may be served with this delightful hot weather food for about 25 cents, while in New York the price would be about $1.00 per portion.

This paper has repeatedly suggested that the most sensible method for relieving the tax situation is to discontinue all road building for a time, and use the funds thus saved for other and more necessary purposes. We can see no reason why three cents should be appropriated for the road department at this time. It seems that one cent would suffice to carry on the work of maintenance, and perhaps the completion of some projects that are in such shape that they cannot be delayed. But there is no reason for any new construction for two years, and, indeed, it might well wait for four years. Some action along this line is being advocated by several of the leading state papers, notably the Tampa Tribune. Let us hope the legislators will give this suggestion due consideration. We believe the idea would go far toward working out a satisfactory solution of vexatious tax problems confronting the extra session.

Mr. Coolidge thinks that industrial depression may send people back to the farms. Mr. Brisbane points out that the farm is now a vastly better place to live than in the days when Mr. Coolidge lived on one. But there is a changed world since then, and the change is not favorable to keeping young people on the farm. In Mr. Coolidge's younger days a visit to the village was a rare occurrence; a trip to the nearest city was an adventure which would make a trip to Europe nowadays seem insignificant. Ten miles to the village, behind old Dobbin, over rough and almost impassable roads, made the life and lure of town seem very far away, and children were contented on the farm. ...ow the ten-mile trip can be made in less time than it took to hitch Old Dobbin to the wagon or buggy. Life is pleasanter and easier on the farm than it used to be, and it is a pity that more people can not find contentment there. But the bright lights of the city have been brought too close and in too sharp contrast to the farm's dullness. The simple and beautiful life of the farm must go the way of many other things that are being effaced by what is called progress, but which, after all, may be really only change.

"A RIGHT TO BE CHESTY"

ME TOO, EDDIE

By JUDGE JOHN W. DODGE

DITTO FOR DOLLAR MARK

The usual mark for a dollar mark is two oblique parallel lines covered by the letter S, thus $. You can now say "me too" and express usually the same thing.

Our nation has rapidly become in thought, action and attitude a "me too" people. Let some man, who has neither natural nor acquired ability be put into public office by a political situation which required the defeat of another type of man, and all at once he becomes a recognized leader by reason of his office. Then we bow down before the dumb fool—and if he speaks we all chant "me too" because a dumb mouthpiece seemed to have come to life. We are all taken by surprise—we fall down again on our knees, roll over, throw up our hands, yell louder than ever "me too."

When the idol speaks from his throne of power, being there because the people put him there, he utters the words of those manipulators and ventriloquists who lovingly hold the idol upon their knees. They make him talk—they make him look like he is about to fall—and they get the people all excited when he says "Listen to me—this is the thing to do." Oh, how the people say, when the dumb idol talks "me too."

Ten million Americans, in want and without work, hear that "our country" is unable to feed them, but that we can send several hundred millions of dollars to foreign nations, our old time enemies, to keep them free from communism, ruin, bankruptcy (all of which already exists) and our idols speaking say, "It is necessary for us," and we say "me too."

When we go home—move around aimlessly—toss in our beds—hear a rap on the door and fear the sheriff is there to move us—we kneel and pray—we say "Oh Lord, 'me too! My time has come too.'"

But we hear some one say "Moratorium"—not today, but tomorrow is meant—and we fall asleep again. What a peaceful life we live! But everybody else says "me too"—so what difference does it make? When the Dollar Mark idol speaks, we say "me too," or just ditto—Selah—Amen. Moratorium for others.

Echoes of the State Press

CANADA DOES NOT WANT THE NEGRO

Negroes emigrating to Canada have not found things as they were perhaps pictured by agents who were financially interested in a movement started fifty years or more ago. The negro's home is in the southern states of the union, and here he finds the greatest comfort and appreciation. It is often claimed that discrimination exists in the south; that the negro is not given a fair chance; but this is chiefly "hokum." The colored people have every opportunity given them for industrial and financial advance, in the southern st ates; just as other races differing from the white Americans. That they do not to a greater extent attain independence or affluence or reach great heights in professional or scientific pursuits is due to their own negligence or lack of ability. Some races are more ambitious than others.

Half a century ago many negroes decided to go to Canada. They were told—and it is true—that there were no racial barriers there and encouraged to think that social equality and all that this implies, would be granted them. They went; and in the years passing they discovered that without denial or actual being made to keep the colored people together, or to deny them approach, the natural selection of white and black prevails there as in many places. The white people, like the proverbial "birds of a feather," flock together. It is a natural law and cannot be overcome.

Discussed by a student of races and distribution, Ida Greaves, writing under the auspices of McGill university, the negro is found leaving Canada slowly; no doubt to return to a climate and conditions more favorable. The Toronto Mail and Empire editorially explained the situation, as indicated by Miss Greaves, and it is found an old story. Persuaded to move into northern and western sections of the United States, the negroes have found that there is but a cold welcome when they arrive, and that the "equality" which they have sought is little more than an empty sound.

"Negroes in Canada have by law the same rights and status as other races, and neither the federal nor any provincial government has passed any legislation discriminating against the negro as such," says the Mail and Empire. "But there is scope within the law for the expression of personal prejudice, and the negro's choice of how he shall exercise his civic freedom is made for him by force of public opinion. Miss Greaves thinks that the customary declaration of the negro's unfitness for the climate is not an accurate nor an adequate explanation of the small numbers of the race now found in Canada."

In 1871 there were 21,396 negroes in Canada and only 18,291 there in 1921. Figures for the present year are not available, but are understood to be even less. "It is the limited sphere assigned to them in the life of the country that has been most influential in limiting their numbers," according to the Toronto newspaper. "They cannot expect much improvement in their own position nor look forward to a more advantageous position for their children; the normal rewards of industry and scholarship are denied them, and they have little contact with the wide community."

Miss Greaves says that the situation is unsatisfactory, for it gives opportunity for nothing but the cultivation of a patient submission on the one hand and the indulgence of criminal talents on the other. In support of the latter remark she quotes from an official report of the origins of Canadian people. "There seems to be no question but that they are more given to serious crimes than any other people in Canada. Their rate was 12 1-2 times greater than that for the British stocks." Percentages, however, are sometimes deceptive. Negroes as a whole have the reputation of being a law-abiding people.

Remembering the absolutely destitute condition in which many of the first negroes reached Canada, Miss Greaves thinks it is difficult to say that the economic position of the race here has sunk any lower, but it is clear that the promise of that early period of hope of settlers have vanished, and no tangible basis of security has taken their place.

In the south, where the white people understand the negroes and where the latter are given the fullest liberty to develop their lives and to increase in prosperity according to their ability, with help and encouragement from their white neighbors, they must to a great extent work out their destiny. The social barrier can never be removed, but need not injure or hold back the enterprising ambitious negro intent upon improving his condition and his people.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

BRINGING FARMERS TO INVESTIGATE FLORIDA AGRICULTURE

Most of the railroad lines that are serving Florida from points outside the state are making arrangements to bring here several hundred farmers from the Northwest, the West and the East to see what is being done in agricultural development. The idea back of all this is to induce more farmers to locate in the state and to engage in one or more of the many branches of agricultural production.

That is probably a splendid suggestion provided that the railroads, with proper cooperation, go all the way. Florida has this past season produced enormous crops of fruits, vegetables and other farm products, but at prices that have brought no profit to the growers and producers. It is obvious, therefore, that we must more firmly establish our marketing agencies through cooperative means. What is the use of raising trainloads of food stuffs and having them either spoil on our hands or in some Northern warehouse where the demand is nil.

This is not written in a pessimistic vein and to criticise the railroads for what they are doing, but rather to call attention to the weak link in the chain between the farmer and consumer.—Gainesville Sun.

When Jimmy Tel-Pe-Gram handed me a wad of free publicity yesterday about the Western Union, I told him to wire his boss in Jacksonville that the Daily News was not an eleemosynary institution and that said free advertisement would cost him ten ducats. Jimmy told him just that and the boss replied that he guessed he didn't want any free publicity. Which was unkind. I shall take a holiday if I ever get a nickel out of the Western Union for an advertisement.—Stuart News.

The Public Forum

[Editor's Note: Under this heading Communications on pertinent subjects, free from personalities, are solicited on the theory that constructive comment and criticism are always helpful. The editors, however, assume no responsibility for the opinions expressed.]

July 1, 1931.

Mr. Editor:

The Sebring American, carried on June 29th, a news item containing a statement from Mr. J. M. Lee as to why he introduced and passed a bill providing for the payment of $50.00 per month salary to the county school board members.

The reason given was that "they had done such fine work last year." "Fine Work" is expected from all public servants.

I do not hesitate to believe that the members of the school board had no knowledge that this "gift from the Gods" was to be handed them. They did fine work and deserve commendation of the people . . . but Col. Lee evidently forgot that the schools were kept open for the last month or so by the fine work of the P. T. A. and other public spirited citizens in making private donations for such purposes.

Economy is the watch work and battle cry of Mr. Lee. This is indeed ECONOMY . . . a new kind? Or is it a sop thrown out to the school board and county commissioners to obtain their okey for the payment of a bill presented to them in the sum of $750.00 "for services rendered," because the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad paid their taxes before they became delinquent?

Will the bill now be paid? Not if the school board or county commissioners give twelve hours' notice to the general public in order that this attempted piracy of the public treasury may be enjoined as it surely will.

Besides passing this bill, what else has the gentleman done in the halls of Tax-shassee for the "deer peepul"?

Very truly yours,
VOX POPULI

OUT FISHING

A feller isn't thinkin' mean—out fishin';
His thoughts are mostly good and clean—out fishin'
He does not knock his fellow men, or harbor any grudges then.
A feller's glad to be a friend—out fishin'.
A feller's at his finest when—out fishin'.
A helpin' hand he'll always lend—out fishin'.
The brotherhood of rod and line,
An' sky and stream is always fine,
Men come real close to God's design—out fishin'.
A feller isn't plotting schemes—out fishin'.
He's only busy with his dreams—out fishin'.
His livery is a coat of tan; his creed—to do the best he can;
A feller's always mostly man—out fishin'.
A feller gets a chance to dream—out fishin'.
He learns the beauties of a stream—out fishin'.
And he can wash his soul in air
That isn't foul with selfish care,
An' relish plain and simple fare—out fishin'.

At 7:00 the N. Y. P. S. will meet for an interesting hour. The first part of the service will be devoted to devotions. The pastor in charge will conduct a Bible study. The 17th chapter of St. John will be dealt with. Questions on the chapter will be handed in before service time.

The closing service of the day will convene at 8:00. Praise and testimony session will precede the evangelistic message by the pastor in charge. A warm welcome is extended to all. "We specialize in Religion."

CHARLES E. DEWARE,
Pastor in Charge.

Second Hereford Sale to be Held Gainesville Soon

Due to the overwhelming success of a recent Cattle Day and Hereford sale held at Gainesville another will be held July 11. These sales are held by J. J. Cummings, owner of Seminole Farms, Donaldsonville, Georgia, and in keeping with the policy of the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service, the State Livestock Sanitary Board, and the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce to place more purebred cattle in this section just as it is about to be released from the tick quarantine.

Seminole Farms is recognized as the largest and best herd of Herefords east of the Mississippi. Such nationally famous breeding as Bonnie J, Don Bocaldo, Woodford, and Repeater has made this herd famous.

At the coming sale 25 bulls between a year and 18 months old will be auctioned by Col. Fred Reppert, nationally known cattle auctioneer. The sale will be held at the fair grounds, and will begin at 1 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. R. J. Kenzer, secretary of the American Hereford Breeders' Association, will help with the sale.

At the sale held June 20, 26 registered bulls, all under 1 year of age, were sold for prices ranging from $70 to $200. Seven of them were bought by E. J. Cameron, Sanford, while Colon Monroe, Ocala, purchased four. Two bulls each were sold to A. L. Jackson, Gainesville, Hal C. Batey, Gainesville, J. C. Penney Farms, Penney Farms, and John Canning, Andalusia. One bull each was bought by the following: J. C. Black, Lee, J. J. Donaldson, Waldo, W. J. Shell, Winter Haven, B. Beasham, Alachua, Loncala Phosphate Company, Ocala, A. J. Cone, Raleigh, and L. M. Rhodes, Jacksonville.

Mr. Cone won a free heifer, while two were bought by Mr. Monroe, and one by Mr. Batey.

The first hogs ever to reach North America were landed in Florida in the early part of the 16th century by Ponce DeLeon and DeSoto.

VOCATIONAL FORESTRY WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Number of Schools and Students in Forestry Throughout State

"The vocational agricultural schools have done excellent work in their forestry course" stated Harry Lee Baker, state forester, after reviewing the report on the year's accomplishments of the students and teachers of the vocational schools which studied forestry practices intimately.

Distributed throughout the state thirty-four schools and 572 students learned some of the fundamentals of forestry through their instructors who were assisted by C. H. Coulter of the Florida Forest Service. The work consisted of indentifying the various tree species, raising young trees in nursery beds, planting one-year-old trees on forest land, and establishing experimental areas so that observations could be made of the effect of fire on burned trees as contrasted with the more vigorous growth of the trees on unburned land.

Through the courtesy of the American Forestry association, it was possible for prize awards to be made. The three teachers, whose efforts in teaching forestry were most successful, received awards of $60, $25, and $15 respectively. M. A. Baker, of Baker, L. J. Larson, of Winter Haven, and J. E. McIntire of Trenton, were the winners. Competition throughout the state, however, was keen.

For displaying the best understanding of forestry, as indicated by his general knowledge of the subject and its practical application, Fred Kirkland, of Baker, will receive a trip, all expenses paid by the American Forestry association, to Kansas City, to attend the "Future Farmers of America" conference.

Many students evidenced a live interest in the work. Monroe Thrasher, of Plant City, for instance, with only the assistance of a younger brother, planted two acres of forest land with 1300 one-year-old trees. 85% of these trees survived. Another student, Edgar Williams, of Bell, protected a tract of fifteen acres from fire by burning a narrow strip, or fire-line around it so that fire which originated on adjacent land would not be able to burn his trees. In the Gonzales school for boys in West Florida, a group of students banded togather to form a fire-fighting squad to extinguish all forest fires which they discovered along the route over which their school bus traveled.

The public is prone to associate forestry practices with vast areas —something which has no practical, even though romantic, significance to the average landowner. Forestry can be and has been applied to small areas; the vocational agricultural students hope to demonstrate this fact to the state at large.

Bathing Beauty Revue Saturday at Daytona Beach

Beauties of the south will parade the boardwalk at Daytona Beach on the 4th in the 8th annual Volusia County Frolics bathing beauty contest.

Officials promise a most brilliant revue with several new and novel features, including the personal appearance of "Miss America," Margaret Ekdahl, famed Tampa beauty, winner of the Miss America title in the international bathing beauty contest held at Miami last year. Miss Ekdahl will not be in competition, but will participate in the revue as an honor guest.

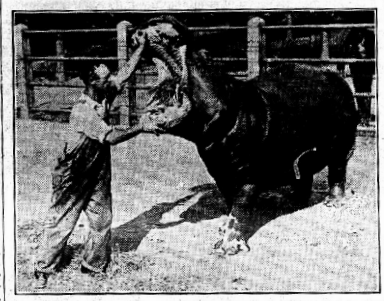
Another feature that is creating much interest in the childrens parade which will also be staged on the boardwalk with kiddies in costume representing every conceivable character from Mother Goose to Mutt and Jeff and will compete for awards and honors.

Florida Club Boy Places Wreath on Washington Tomb

Jack Platt, Marion county 4-H club boy, was recently accorded the honor of placing a wreath on the tomb of George Washington. He was selected to represent some 845,000 club members in the United States at a unique Mt. Vernon ceremony held while club members from 40 states attended the National Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Camp at Washington. Jack was one of Florida's four delegates to this camp.

At preceding camps other Florida clubsters have been selected to similar honorary duties. In 1927 Russel Henderson, Madison county, helped to raise the first flag over the National 4-H Club Camp. At the camp in 1928 Raymond Crabtree, Duval county, was selected to lay the wreath on Washington's tomb. During the 1930 camp Effa Mae Bratley, Leon county, was selected to place the wreath on the Unknown Soldier's grave.

'OPEN YOUR MOUTH WIDE AND SAY AH'



St. Louis, Mo.—Here is a giant hippo who seems reluctant to open his mouth for physical inspection but with the aid of some feed and the strong arms of a keeper it seems as easy as feeding a baby. The hippo probably has his keeper worried because he is only consuming two bales of hay per day instead of half a dozen. Perhaps he is on a diet.

Future Farmers Win State Awards At Annual Meet

The third annual convention of the Florida Association of Future Farmers of America was recently held at Gainesville, and the state winners for 1931 announced. Over 250 boys representing 30 counties and 30 high school teachers attended the convention, which was under the supervision of J. F. Williams, Jr., state supervisor of vocational agricultural education, the University of Florida College the teachers, and workers with of Agriculture.

Jake Allaben, Lemon City, won the state speaking contest along with a chance to compete at the southern regional at Hot Springs, Arkansas, in September. He competed with five other Florida district winners.

After a series of livestock judging contests held during the conference an Alachua team stood first and was awarded the state department of agriculture loving cup. The three highest scoring boys, and the ones who will represent Florida at the national Future Farmer conference during the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City this fall, were Ronald Boyles, Alachua, Edward Pierce, Eustis, and Elmer Gaskin, Bartow. Two pigs given by the Florida Experiment Station were won by Roynald Boyles, Alachua, scoring high in the hog contest, and the Monticello team, high scoring on hogs. A cup given by Purina Mills was won by the team from Trenton, high scoring on poultry. Future Farmer medals were given to the three high scoring boys in each the dairy, beef, hog, sheep, horse, and poultry judging classes.

Fred Kirkland, Baker, was announced winner of a trip to the national conference given by the American Forestry Association and the Florida Forestry Service for the best forestry project during the year.

The basketball championship was won by the team from Jay, Santa Rosa county.

Norton Wilkins, Apopka, was named president for the next year, and other officers were elected.

Besides participating in the contests the boys attended lecture sessions, went to picture shows, and took part in games, swimming, and other recreational features.

Tag Price Going Up McLin Warns Buyers

Walter S. McLin, acting motor vehicle commissioner warned Florida motorists who must obtain 1931 state automobile tags for the final six months of the year that the price of the plates will go up one-third after July 1.

The 33 1-2 percent increase in the cost of the licenses was authorized by an act of the special session of the legislature which ended last week. Increased license fees, estimated to bring in approximately $6,000,000 annual revenue, will go toward financing a standard eight months school term in Florida counities.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

FLORIDA INSECTS AND DISEASES TO BE SHOWN DURING FARMER'S WEEK

When I meet with about 2,000 other Florida farmers and fruit growers for Farmers' Week at the University, August 10 to 14, I am expecting to learn much from the Experiment Station's collection of Florida insects and diseases and specimens of the damage they do. I don't think of missing Farmers' Week, and so I've seen these collections on display several times, but there's still a whole lot that I can learn from them. These pests are costing farmers hundreds of thousands of dollars every year, and if we knew as much as these specialists do about them we could save a big portion of this loss.

When we go into the entomology and plant pathology offices we will find cabinets filled with little drawers each containing from one to 25 dried insects, as well as shelf after shelf filled with jars of citrus fruits, vegetables, and other crops that show all kinds of different troubles. These are preserved in alcohol.

Last year we farmers asked question after question about all of our major insect and disease troubles, and in just a few minutes one of the specialists would show us several specimens and discuss the remedies. Then we were all given bulletins that discussed just about all of the insect and disease pests that bother the different things we were interested in.

The Experiment Station field men from all over the state come in every year to help with these discussions. For example the citrus insect specialist from the Citrus Experiment Station at Lake Alfred, the watermelon insect worker at Leesburg, the fellow studying ornamental insects at Pierson, the pecan insect specialist at Monticello, and others along with the workers at the main station, will be on hand to discuss the insect questions we ask.

I don't mean that this will be the only thing offered at Farmers' Week for its only just one part of the week's program. It and the many other features have sure been interesting and helpful to me each year.

Other than a little gas and oil it never costs Mary and I over about $1.50 each per day to attend Farmers' Week since we room in the dormitories and eat at the University cafeteria. Farmers' Week is what we call our annual vacation, and all that we learn from it is just that much extra.

Chevrolet Builds New Bumper Plant

Detroit, Mich June 3.—Operations were started recently in the new bumper manufacturing plant of the Chevrolet Motor Company in this city, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the company, announced today.

Construction of the new plant, which has a total floor space of 35,000 square feet, was started early this spring and completed last month. Included in the mechanical installations are several innovations designed to facilitate the handling and fabrication of material.

The plant has an average monthly capacity of 70,000 sets of bumpers, Mr. Knudsen said. Actual production was started on May 26th and it is expected that a full normal schedule will be in effect within the next few weeks.

This development is one of the few expansions made within the automobile industry within the past eighteen months and is Chevrolet's second within a year. The other was the purchase and operation of a commercial body building plant at Indianapolis last fall.

Construction of the bumper plant brings the total number of Chevrolet domestic factories to 21, and enables the company to exercise further supervision over materials, workmanship, and design of the features in the current line of sixes.

Small Blaze at Big Indian; No Damage

The fire department was called to the Big Indian Lumber company Saturday morning when a blaze broke out in the boiler room. The fire was a mere flash that frequently happens in the boiler room and was put out before the fire boys arrived.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour acid sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

Fort Pierce Beat Sebring Blossoms Thursday 15 to 7

Sebring, July 2. (Special) — The Sebring Blossoms night club took another severe drubbing last Thursday night when the Ft. Pierce Icemen dished out some fast diamond ball to ride home with a 15 to 7 victory.

Ragged playing, evident in the last few games, on the part of the Blossoms broke forth with a fury in the sixth frame and allowed nine Pierce runs to scamper over the home base, No less than five errors and four hits was responsible for the rally.

Bill Dixon started on the hill for the locals and did well until that fatal sixth when Burton took over the mound duties and held the visitors to one run and two hits, fanning five during his three inning stay in the box.

J. Long, Pollard, Bricker and Schumacher connected for an extra hit during the fray but the home run by J. Long in the very first frame was the best hit of the game. Parks, Drowdy and Knowles collected two hits for the Icemen.

Sebring "Farmers" Attend Annual State Meeting

Sebring, July 2. (Special) — Five members of the local Chapter of the Future Farmers of Florida and L. D. Stewart, local instructor in vocational agriculture, attended the annual conference held in the University of Florida at Gainesville last week.

At this conference many important topics were discussed and a variety of sports enjoyed. The judging was participated in by 40 teams which judged Jersey and Hereford cows, Poland China hogs, Artillery horses, Hampshire sheep and White Leghorn hens. Years previous judging has been held in connection with the Tampa and Jacksonville fairs, but due to the fact that desirable animals were not available the judging was transfered to Gainesville.

Those attending from Sebring were James Fulton, John Hryhor, Donald Watters, Edgar , Lee Greene, Willard Durrance and Prof. L. D. Stewart.

University Professor Dies at Sebring

Sebring, July 2. (Special) — Prof. Phillip Johnson, professor of psychology at Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va. passed away at his home on Oak street here last evening at the age of 62 following a long illness. Prof. Johnson was a native of Virginia and received his education at Bethany college, Chicago university, Berlin, Leipsic, Germany and Yale, being a graduate of the last two universities. He was an old college chum of Rev. O. G. White, former pastor of the Christian church here, being president of the senior class while Rev. White was president of the freshmen class of Bethany college.

Prof. Johnson had been a resident of Sebring for the past three years and besides the widow, Mrs. Julia Johnson, is survived by two brothers and a sister. Mrs. Johnson's brother, A. L. White, is a well known resident of Fort Myers.

Funeral services will be held at the Christian church tomorrow at 11 o'clock and the remains will be shipped to the former home in West Virginia for interment.

All in the Day's Hike

Baslow, England.—Out for a hike the above trio were furnished with a hill when they encountered this gap near Baslow, England, in their travels. It has a drop of 150 feet and they are negotiating it by climbing over the back of one of their party. Wonder how the young man who is acting as the human bridge managed to get across?

FOUR-H BOYS ENJOY CAMP AT BRIGHTON

Joint Camp of Okeechobee And Highlands Boys Ended Friday

Twenty-nine boys, 16 from Okeechobee county and 13 from Highlands county enjoyed their Four H Club Camp at Brighton last week from Tuesday to Friday. The camp was in charge of W. T. Nettles, district agent for the east coast, C. A. Fulford, county agent for Okeechobee county and Louis Alsmeyer, county agent for Highlands county. The Curtis Bright Co. donated the use of the tourist camp and other donations were received from merchants and other interested in the work with the boys.

Sports and games were indulged in to a greater extent than previous years and included swimming, baseball, horseshoes and washer pitching, volley ball and other diversions. Highlands county won the swimming contests while Okeechobee walked off with the baseball honors. Malcolm Watters of De Soto City was judged the best swimmer with Wallace Hope of Hicoria, second. Perry Lee Etheredge was the best shot with .22 rifle, doing some remarkable shooting at 38 feet range.

One of the most difficult jobs was choosing the outstanding boy in camp and the boys themselves named Perry Lee Etheredge for this honor with Ward Baggot of Okeechobee, second.

The cost of the camp was kept at an extremely low figure, it costing $1.50 to feed each boy for the period and this included ice and water. A number of donations were received and these included: J. S. Francis, 12 cases of Coca Cola; Alfred Englemann, three hens and nine dozen eggs; Hinckley Durrance Hardware Co. donation towards a stove; L. G. A. special prices on groceries, Curtis Bright, use of camp and swimming pool and use of boats donated also.

Friday was parents and visitors day and a large number took advantage of the occasion. The camp broke up Friday afternoon and all the boys returned to their homes, tired but happy.

Lands 10-Pound Bass In Lake Jackson

Russell Reid, factory representative of the Chevrolet Co. and with headquarters in Jacksonville, landed a ten pound bass in Lake Jackson Thursday.

Mr. Reid and Leon Poer were trolling near Caravasion point Thursday evening when the big one struck and the fight was on. Several smaller ones were also landed. Mr. Reid packed his catch in ice and took it home to Jacksonville with him.

Hill-Johnson Nuptials

The following account of the wedding of Rev. Harcourt Johnson of this city and Miss Christine Hill, which took place Tuesday, June 23rd, in Franklin, Tennessee, is taken from the Review-Appeal of that city and will be read with cordial interest by a host of Avon Park friends:

"A marriage of sincere interest was that of Miss Christine Hill and The Rev. Harcourt Johnson of Avon Park, Fla., which was beautifully and impressively solemnized at seven o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Paul's church, according to the rites of the Episcopal church. Rev. James R. Sharpe, of Nashville, secretary of the Diocese of Tennessee, was the officiant, both at the marriage ceremony and at the nuptial Eucharist, which followed. He was assisted by Rev. Charles Romaine, rector of St. Paul's parish.

"Vases of regal lillies adorned the altar, the chancel being banked with Queen Ann lace and palms.

"The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Mrs. Phillips Bell of Nashville, as matron of honor and the groom was attended by Mr. Bell as best man.

"A program of beautiful nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. James Farrell, organist. Preceding the ceremony she played "Amour Toujours L'Amour." Mendelsohn's Wedding March was used for the processional and Lohengrin's March for the recessional. 'One Alone' was played following the nuptial mass and 'Oh, Perfect Love' during the signing of the marriage register.

"The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Hill, and is a young woman of unusual beauty and charming personality, and has enjoyed wide popularity. Her loveliness was enchanced by her wedding gown, an ensemble of white chiffon, with which she wore a picture hat of lace hairbraid. She carried a white prayer book, from which fell a chatelaine of satin ribbon and lillies of the valley. Her only ornament was a diamond bracelet, a gift of the groom.

"The bride is very gifted in dramatic art. She has played successfully with the Little Theaters of Nashville and Franklin.

"The matron of honor wore a becoming pastel green embroidered lawn frock over white taffeta. She wore a large natural-colored hat and other harmonizing accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of Fernet roses, tied with streamers of yellow satin ribbon.

"Mrs. Hill, mother of the bride, wore a French blue chiffon ensemble with matching accessories. Her flowers were rosebuds and sweet peas.

"The groom is the elder son of Dr. The Hon. George H. Johnson, president of the Legislative Council, and Mrs. Johnson, M. B. E., of Nassau, Bahama Islands.

"Following a wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Bell, in Nashville, the couple left by motor for Avon Park, Fla., where Father Johnson is rector of the Church of the Redeemer.

"For traveling the bride wore a gown of midnight blue silk crepe, with a blouse of embroidered chiffon and organdy. Black accessories completed her toilet.

"Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mrs. Alice Hill, grandmother of the bride; Miss Pauline Hill, Mrs. Russell Longhurst, aunts of the bride; Mrs. Robert Longhurst and William Hill, all of Nashville.

Balanced Story and Cast Features of "Beyond Victory"

In every respect RKO Pathe has endeavored to place a balanced cast in a seasoned story called "Beyond Victory," which comes to the Avalon theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The five principal roles are filled by such tried thesplans as Bill Boyd, Lew Cody, James Gleason, Fred Scott and Russell Gleason.

This picture shows a small group of men marooned at the front, and facing almost inevitable death. In the tension of the moment each one tells of the person or situation in civilian life which is uppermost in his memory. In the sequences dealing with the pre-war life of each man appear such noted players as Zasu Pitts, Marion Shilling, Lisan Arna, Lew Cody, Mary Carr, Wade Boteler, E. H. Calvert and many others.

Ruling on Validity Of Sebring Charter Withheld by Court

Circuit Judge W. J. Barker has reserved his decision in the suit of the Sebring Taxpayers league attacking the validity of the 1929 charter. City Attorney M. R. McDonald represented the city, and Judge W. D. Bell, Arcadia, the league.

The outcome of the suit is vital to the bondholders, as the 1929 charter purports to validate ordinances and bonds, one of the principal charges in the charter from that of 1925. Jacksonville attorneys recently threatened city council with mandamus proceedings for failure to provide sufficient for obligations.

The proceeds of the bonds purported to be validated by the charter under attack, were used in improving lands annexed by ordinance, which procedure the supreme court held in the Stuart case to be illegal. The greatest part of the city's bonded indebtedness of $2,990,000 is represented by the bonds thus sold for the improvements on lands annexed.

Another ground on which the charter is being attacked is the failure of the council or other city officials to call the charter election, as prescribed by the act.

Should the court rule in favor of the taxpayers, the corporate limits of the city would be reduced by several thausand acres. A victory for the co-relaters would also affect the city's financial situation. With the limits reverting to those under 1925, before the annexation by ordinance, the assessed valuation of the property in the old area would be approximately $1,300,000 The current assessment on the new limits is about $2,500,000.

The Hills of Avon Park

The high, rolling country, the beautiful lakes, the wonderful shrubbery, the artistic homes the miles and miles of citrus groves, make Avon Park and vicinity an ideal spot for any vacationist, either Winter or Summer.

It is true, possibly, that Avon Park citizens desire a change in location and scenery, but other people in Florida need not go to the Carolinas for rest when the highlands of our State offer so much so near at home.

Sunday School Lesson

FOR JULY 5, 1931.

SUBJECT: The Gift of the Holy Spirit.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth. Acts 1:8.

LESSON TEXT: Acts 1:6—9; 2:1—8.

TIME OF LESSON: Pentecost, Sunday, Fifty Days After the Passover Sabbath, A. D. 30.

PLACE: At Jerusalem.

INTRODUCTION: "For forty days following the resurrection Jesus met and associated with a great variety of persons. He talked with some of his closest followers individually. He met others in small groups on various occasions. Once he met and talked with five hundred people. * * When this evidence was completed, he ascended from the earth in the presence of the disciples."

Just before ascension as told in our lesson for June 14, Jesus said to his Apostles, "John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence."

But the disciples still thought the Kingdom of Jesus was to be temporal and political. It is, therefore, natural that they should ask, "Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the Kingdom of Israel?" Jesus said, "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons * * but ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you." And then Jesus ascended out of their sight. Fifty days later "When the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place."

The place where they were assembled is not known; perhaps in the "upper" room where the "Lord's Supper" was instituted. Verse 14 of Chapter 1 says, they "continued with one accord in prayer and supplication."

During this waiting (about 120 being present) they chose and ordained Matthias to take the place of Judas as an Apostle.

While they were thus waiting and praying, "suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting."

They were praying for, and expecting, the Holy Spirit, yet they were probably surprised when it came. It was not a rushing wind, but had such a sound. The sound filled the house where the disciples were, and doubtless attracted others to the place. "And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them."

This emblem of the Holy Spirit came from God as the one source, but the flame separated into tongues like fire "and sat upon each of them." There is only one source from which the blessing of the Holy Spirit comes, and it comes from God to each individual separately. No person can give out to another any part of that spirit. All one can do is to direct another to the common source from which it comes. The fire of the Holy Spirit cannot be kindled by any earthly power.

"And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance." Only the Holy Spirit can given to any person a vision and knowledge of Jesus as the Christ and of the purpose of his life, death and resurrection.

The disciples were then able to speak as the Spirit gave them utterance. They could speak in their own language and "with other tongues."

"And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven." "Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language." Some think it was the "sound of a rushing mighty wind" that was "noised abroad," and others think it was the speaking "with other tongues." Whatever was the cause, "the multitude came together." In verses 9—11, fifteen different nations are named. "And they were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak Galilaeans?" "And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born?"

It is said that Judas Iscariot was the only Apostle that was not a Galilaean. The people of Galilae had a peculiar accent in their speech which easily distinguished them. In Matthew 26:73, the servant of the high priest said to Peter, "Surely thou also art one of them; for thy speech betrayeth thee." What and who is the Holy Spirit? Why was the Holy Spirit sent to mankind? What is the work of the Holy Spirit? Can we know Jesus without the guidance of the Holy Spirit?

What effect did the coming of the Holy Spirit to the disciples have on them and their work?

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT PREVENTION CAMPAIGN

Well Known Editor Makes Radio Address and Gives Statistics

Marlen E. Pew, LL.D., editor of "Editor and Publisher" made a radio address over station WTIC, Hartford, Conn., last Friday on behalf of an automobile accident prevention campaign that is being sponsored by a well known insurance company. Mr. Pew said:

Modern life is replete with mysteries in the field of social-psychology and thoughtful men are left wondering what can be the meaning of many strange forms of human behavior, but nothing to one is stranger than that the American people are apathetically accepting the appalling sacrilege and ghastly waste of more than 30,000 men, women and children killed annually by motor vehicles, with nearly a million more maimed and shocked, and in instances rendered miserable burdens for the remainder of their lives.

It is a major horror in all history, yet the rank and file of our citizens seem complacent, or only faintly conscious of the wholesale slaughter unless or until it strikes home and becomes personal. Day by day through the years the news columns of the press in every town, city and state record the endless grist of death and destruction, but there is no striking evidence of outraged public opinion which might compel reform. The larger city and state governments have sought to control traffic by legislation and appropriating vast sums for good wide smooth roads, and men and apparatus for policing them, but this merciless accident rate is not abated. The chief causes of automobile accidents are known and have been widely published. However, drivers and pedestrians continue day by day to make the same fatal mistakes.

In the face of these facts one is compelled to ask what is the matter with a civilized race which fails to take cognizance of a condition of such monstrous mein. It seems something like race suicide unparalleled in human annals.

Let me illustrate, with a true story, our amazing indifference. Not long ago a family of some wealth, living in an eastern suburban district, were in a flutter of excitement in their beautiful home because several city guests who had been invited to dine had not appeared at the appointed hour. The hostess was indignant because of cooling dishes and the man of the house paced the floor nervously. Finally, nearly an hour late, two automobiles rolled up and discharged a half dozen guests. They apologetically explained that three automobiles had crashed on the road, blocking it, and that after an impatient wait, it had been decided to detour with consequent delay. The hostess graciously forgave the incident and presently the party was gaily in progress, but with two seats at the table empty. A young engaged couple, the girl a near relative of the hostess and two guests, had not appeared. No alarm for their safety was expressed. The festivities were not dampened by any talk concerning the accident on the road—indeed not one of the guests knew whether any person had been injured. All were intent upon the dinner. The bridge party that followed the dinner was in progress when the host was disturbed by a telephone call. A police official in a neighboring town asked for information which might lead to the identification of a girl who had been almost decapitated in an automobile wreck and her companion who was lying at the point of death in a farmhouse nearby. These were the young people whose chairs were empty at that dinner table. Their close friends and relatives had detoured to escape the wreck which had pinioned them, without enough human impulse to even ask concerning the fate of hapless persons in that triple crash. But suddenly, what had been a social embarrassment, became a family tragedy. The horror became real, only because it was personal. If strangers had been killed and maimed, the subject would have been taboo. This is the way we are thinking and acting. It flatters neither our intelligence nor morals.

What can be said, what can be done, to awaken the people of the United States to this continuing crime against nature and the God in whose image we are made? This very day we know that some 90 persons, men and women, young and old, boys and girls in the pink of health, automobilists and pedestrians, have in the twinkle of an eye been hurled to death in street and road accidents within the borders of the United States, and that some 3,000 more have been more or less seriously hurt. We know that this average existed yesterday and that it will be maintained tomorrow and every following day in this year of our Lord. Surely it is a ghastly prospect! What are you going to do about it, something or nothing?

Do not content yourself with the absurd notion that accidents are bound to happen, as the saying goes. When railroad disasters were so common in this country as to be a scandal in the whole world, some 20 years ago there were shallowminded people who thought nothing could be done about it. To them it was but an inexorable decree of fate. But we have as many or more trains running today, at as high or higher speed, and rail road accidents have become rare. Why? Because something was done about it. "Safety First" became the slogan of the railroad men and every form of accident was studied and science was applied to minimize the human waste. Safety first on railroads is a magnificent success. In some foreign countries automobiles are operated almost as recklessly as here, but nowhere else is there comparable risk either for the automobilist or pedestrian. Why is this? Are we the most reckless race of the whole world?

Automobile accidents can be cut down by half or more in a single year if the people who drive automobiles and walk the streets accept in principle and fact the good railroad slogan of "safety first." Indeed, in the instance of schoolchildren, the accident rate has been considerably reduced by efficient police measure. Reckless drivers must learn that there is sure personal punishment for violations of road laws. Killing and maiming must be made expensive. Speed must be regulated by law, with enforcement which means business. State and city governments must be aroused to the peril of the people and proceed to regulate traffic with an iron hand. The inspection of vehicles must be frequent, regular and rigid and a lot of dangerous tin junk that is now permitted to whirl along roads at 50 miles an hour must be ruled off. The competency of drivers must be demonstrated beyond doubt in most severe driving tests before licenses are granted. Many states have worked wonders in widening and straightening roads, and this must continue, but driving must be made safe on good roads now often used as speedways. The number of accidents which occur on three ribbon highways easily understandable, will in time condemn them. The safe road where traffic is heavy has four channels. Trucks must be limited in size and road-hog drivers must be brought under control.

It seems to be a characteristic of modern man to gratify his desires, in speeding as in other matters, just as far as he thinks he can get away with it. If this is racial psychology as applied to automobile traffic, the answer of efficient government is obvious. Human life and limb are the most precious possession of the state. Government is established primarily to protect them. Violations of law which lead, or tend to lead, to injury or death of human beings are crimes against God, man and state. "Thou shalt not kill!"

My plea is for a return of sanity and a proper recognition of the right of the individual to safety on highways. When public opinion asserts itself in this free country, evils are easily overcome. The orgy of road death can largely be wiped out, but never until indignant public protest forces the action. I call for popular denunciation, in every medium of communication, of speed, recklessness, hoggishness, lose and weak laws, non-enforcement, political favoritism, road grafting, financial irresponsibility and all other well-known causes of this merciless brutality to which as a nation we seem blindly committed. As you love life and as you adore your family and as you respect your neighbor, any one of whom may be on this year's black schedule, I ask this radio audience to shake off the torpor of indifference, and act!

Iron Sulphate Will Prevent Yellowing Of Centepede Lawns

Yellowing of centepede grass lawns seems to be due to a mineral deficiency in the soil, according to a number of experiments that have been conducted at Gainesville by Dr. O. C. Bryan, professor of agronomy with the University of Florida College of Agriculture. Centepede has been gaining popularity rapidly as a lawn grass. This spotted yellowing condition has probably been its greatest disadvantage.

Dr. Bryan now recommends that where yellowing is noticed the lawn be sprinkled with a solution made by disolving 1 teaspoon of iron sulphate in 2 gallons of water. This amount should treat 6 to 8 square yards. The powdered sulphate should not be used as it will burn the lawn. The mixture should be sprinkled on as soon as it is mixed to prevent hydrolisis. Copperous or ferrous sulphate may be used, but the ferric form is slightly prefered.

Pecan varieties susceptible to scab should be sprayed about the last of July with a 4-4-50 bordeaux plus 1 pound of lead arsenate, says the Florida Experiment Station.

INDEPENDENCE WAS VOTED JULY 2, 1776

Significant Date in History Was Two Days Earlier Than Celebrated

July 2, has been neglected as an anniversary date of importance by the American people; yet it is one of the most significant dates of our history. For it was on July 2, and not on July 4, 1776, that American independence was really voted by the oContinental Congress then in session.

The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission calls the attention of the nation to this fact and suggests that, when the people throughout the land celebrate Independence Day in 1932, during the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, July 2 as well as July 4, be recognized in the merry-making and thanksgiving which the anniversary of that great document brings forth.

The story of how independence was voted is here briefly told. Before 1775, independence was not thought of by most of the American leaders or by the American public at large. The colonists were interested in righting the wrongs inflicted by the British but not in breaking away completely from the mother country.

Several attempts at conciliation were made, all without result. But many of the colonists were still anxious to close the breach rather than widen it. As late as January, 1776, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Maryland instructed their members in Congress to vote against independence.

As the months went on, led by the more radical colonial statesmen, the demand for independence began to crystallize. Soon it became the goal. Complete independence from England was to be the reward for American sacrifices!

January 1776 brought to congress news of the burning of Norfolk, Virginia, by the order of Lord Dunmore. About that time Thomas Paine's "Common Sense" stirred the colonists to fever pitch. Also, reports reached Philadelphia in May that England was hiring Russians to coerce the colonies. There was also the stigma of being proclaimed "rebels" and treated as such. All these events and conditions had their effect in arousing public opinion to the point of demanding independence.

George Washington, at the head of the continental forces, was urging the colonies to declar independence. He thought that the time for parleying and compromises was past. Complete severance from the mother country, he thought would help bring the struggle to a successful end.

On June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee introduced in congress three famous resolutions. The first of these declared the United Colonies free and independent states, one of the most momentous resolutions ever introduced in congress.

Lee's resolution was tabled for the time being but congress created a committee, with Thomas Jefferson at its head, to draw up a declaration of independence. Lee's resolution for independence was brought up in congress for debate on July 1. On the next day, July 2, 1776, the vote was taken and it showed twelve states in favor of independence, New York not voting.

It was, therefore, on July 2 1776 that iodependence was really declared. Thomas Jefferson's declaration of independence was then taken up, and, after several changes were made, the Declaration of Independence as we know it was adopted by congress on July 4, 1776.

The suggestion of the United States George Washington Bicentenial Commission that July 2, as well as July 4, be celebrated is a good one. Let the nation prepare to have a three-day celebration next year instead of the usual one-day event. It will be particularly appropriate during the year when the man who made the Declaration of Independence a reality is being honored on the two hundredth anniversary of his birth.

PEACH RECIPES

Peach Butter

Use 4 quarts ripe peaches, sugar, and juice of 1-2 lemon.

Dip the peaches first in boiling water, then in cold water and slip off the skins. Cut in pieces and cook until very soft. Press through a colander and measure; to each pint of pulp allow 1 cup sugar. Mix peach pulp, sugar and lemon juice and cook until of the consistence of marmalade. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once. Or, wash thoroughly nice, ripe peaches, cut and remove pits, if free stones. Cook in their own juices until soft enough to put through a diver to remove skins and pits, if clings; measure pulp. When pulp is heavy add sugar and cook until clear and of the desired consistency. Pour in hot sterile jars. Seal and process immediately.

Peach Ice Cream

Use 2 cups milk, 2 cups cream or evaporated milk, 3 cups peach pulp, 2 1-2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Peel ripe peaches and put through a coarse sieve. Add sugar and lemon juice, stir well and allow to stand while preparing the cream. Add milk and cream gradually to peach pulp and freeze.

Peach Cake

Cut top off a loaf of sponge or good plain cake and remove center, leaving a shell about 1-2 inch thick. Mix together 3 tablespoons sugar and boiling water and boil 3 minutes. Add enough powdered sugar to make an icing that can be easily spread. Cover rim and sides of cake with icing and sprinkle thickly with chopped pecans or shredded cocoanut. Fill center with sliced sugared peaches, heaping them up. Serve with plain cream.

Sweet Spiced Peaches

Put in kettle 3 1-2 pounds of sugar, 1 pint vinegar, 1 pint of water, ginger root 1-4 ounce, whole cloves 1-2 ounce, stick cinnamon 1-2 ounce. Bring mixture to boil. Let stand over night to absorb spice flavor. Strain and add boiling hot to jar or can; or preferably, pour over prepared peaches and let stand over night. Then drain off, boil again and add to peaches that have been packed in jar. Process 12 to 16 minutes.

National 4-H Radio Program Day Early

The monthly national 4-H Club radio program will be broadcast a day early this month due to an international July 4 program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the National Broadcasting Company have announced. The program will be broadcast from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, Friday, July 3, instead of July 4.

The U. S. Marine Band will play music from nine foreign countries, and club members and specialists from Minnesota and Ohio as well as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Dunlap will speak.

Florida stations to carry the program will be WJAX, Jacksonville, WIOD, Miami, and WFLA, Clearwater.

Look-Back Stockings Vogue

Look-back stockings are causing necks to twist in Vienna and Paris. Makers have named them "Back to Front," for some fronts are quite plain, and the backs are painted or embroidered with butterflies, wasps or small snakes. Other stockings are flesh pink in front and dark grey in the back, giving the appearance of the wearer having legs bare in front and painted in the back.

Melbourne Planning Big Festivities for Saturday, July 4

Melbourne, (Special) — Elaborate plans are being made by this city for its annual Fourth of July celebration. The festivities this year will begin on the evening of July 3 with a diamond ball game, open air vaudeville program and dance on the program.

Two baseball games, featuring all four teams of the Cross State league, will be seen in action in the morning and afternoon games on the Fourth. St. Cloud and Vero Beach will play in the morning while Kissimmee and Melbourne will cross bats in the afternoon.

A mammoth free fish fry will be held about noon. Various contests and minor events will keep the day lively. Boxing matches are planned while a championship diamond ball game between all star teams of Ft. Pierce and Melbourne will be a big attraction.

A huge display of fireworks, an annual feature of the Melbourne celebration, will take place just after the diamond ball game. After the fireworks a street dance will be held while another dance is planned at the Country Club.

The celebration will come to a close Sunday afternoon with boat races on the famous Indian river.

A feature of the celebration this year will be the Kissimmee Boys' band which will be here for the entire three days. They will stop at Midway Camp, said to be the largest in the south.

Mealy Bugs Getting Abundant In Citrus Groves This Season

Reports from over the state indicate that mealy bugs are becoming rather abundant in citrus groves, especially grapefruit, this season, J. R. Watson, entomologist with the Florida Experiment Station, recently stated. These insects proved very troublesome last summer, and unless they are controlled are likely to further reduce this crop which is already below normal.

When spraying for mealy bugs pressure is the important thing. Plain water if applied with sufficient pressure will give fair control, but the addition of an insecticide is highly advisable. Pressure is so important because the insects crawl into cracks and crevices where they are protected.

Rust mites are also becoming plentiful in some groves, and the same spray should get the two. Mr. Watson recommended limesulfer, 1 part to 50 or 65 parts of water. This spray, however, should not be applied in the middle of a hot day, for it might burn the foliage and fruit.

If there is no need of fighting rust mites and mealy bugs are plentiful he suggested a spray made from 2 1-3 pints crude carbolic acid, 2 1-3 pounds fish-oil soap, and 50 gallons water. Only a good grade of carbolic acid should be used. The crystal form, though more expensive, is safer. Some other spreader may be substituted for the soap.

He mentioned a number of natural enemies as being effective in mealy bug control, but oftentimes we cannot wait for these friends to do the work. The Experiment Station has been raising a number of Cryptolaemus lady beetle, obtained from California, and the workers are well pleased with the way it thrives in Florida. Over 5,000 of these bettles have been liberated in Florida groves, and in every grove a month later they were there at work. They also eat other insects.

Powdery mildew on avocado trees can be controlled by spraying with 4 ounces of potassium sulphide dissolved in 10 gallons of water, according to the Florida Experiment Station.

LAKE WALES WINS SUNDAY GAME 10 - 7

Last Sunday's Game Goes To Twelve Innings In Thrilling Finish

Sunday's game on Cardinal field went to Lake Wales 10 to 7.

But it was not as simple as that. It took 12 innings of hot baseball to decide the issue, after the locals fighting an uphill battle all the way, staged a rally that brought the two needed runs to tie the count, but fell short of the extra punch to put the winning run across the rubber, due principally to ineffective base running.

The crowd for the second Sunday ball game in Avon Park was thought to have been larger than for the first game. A fair sprinkling of Sebring people were noticed. The management is still pursuing the course of charging no admission at the gate, depending on the sportsmanship of patrons to come across when the hat is passed. Proceeds are split between the two teams to defray expenses.

The visitors hopped on Dilley's offerings in the first three innings and scored six runs. They got another one in the second and two more in the third. They went scoreless for three innings and annexed another score in the seventh. Meanwhile, Avon Park was trailing with two scores in the first two in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the ninth to tie the count.

The ninth inning rally had the stands on its feet, when Bass started it off with a drive to right. Weaver muffed it and Bass romped to second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on C. B. Martin's single. McFerrin hit for two bases to left and C. B. scored from first with the tying run. Lawhorne singled, and McFerrin should have scored but was held at third. Conoley then singled to right and Head fanned to end the rally.

From then on both teams played heads-up ball till the 12th. In this frame White went out on a slow roller. Lee was safe on Conoley's error. Brown was safe the same way. Jett hit a roller between short and third that nobody went after, but was recovered by Bernstein and Lee was caught at the plate. Morgan then hit a ground ball that took a nasty hop over Lawhorne's shoulder and Brown and Jett scored. McMillan singled and Morgan scored. Handleman walked and Barthleson struck out to end the inning. Avon Park was unable to score in the twelfth. The box score:

Pays Attorney With Chickens and Melons

According to one local attorney the pendulum is swinging backwards and bills are being paid in "kind" and not in cash. It seems this lawyer had a client for whom he had done some work. The client could not pay him and last week brought in five hens and two watermelons to apply on his bill. The lawyer gave him credit for the market value and promised to do the same for anything more he brought in and it seems as if the bill will be eventually paid in this way. The attorney and his client shall be nameless.

Retail Sales Figures Released For Florida

Exchange Hopes For Control of Citrus Canning

Control of the Florida citrus canning industry by the Florida Citrus exchange in the near future is foreseen by the exchange board of directors, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the board in Tampa.

The board received reports that the exchange associations are practically 100 percent in support of its co-operative canning prograh. This, it was said, would concentrate at least half of the canners grapefruit of the state in the co-operative plants, leaving many canners without a supply sufficient to operate. Only a few of the canning companies can get adequate supplies without assistance of exchange associations, the board was informed.

The exchange cooperative program calls for association owned or leased plants which would handle all the cannery grade fruit of its members. Sale of the canned product would be exclusively in the hands of the exchange through its canning division, which is now selling the product put up by co-operative plants this season.

The board yesterday authorized a $25,000 advertising program which will be used immediately in the main markets of the north in conjunction with similar trade activity. Newspapers and local radio programs will be used.

Plant to Be Closed

C. H. Walker, a director of the exchange and president of Lake Byrd Citrus Packing company of Avon Park, announced the willingness of that company to close its canning plant which previously has been leased to an outside canner. It was willing to haul its fruit 15 miles to the cooperative plant to help the program, he said. The company packs the fruit of the 8,000 acres of groves of the Avon Florida Citrus corporation of which Mr. Walker also is president.

Announcement was made that associations of the Pinellas sub-exchange will build a large, modern plant at Largo. Associations of Orange county are planning to join with those of Lake county in the operation of a leased plant at Eustis, it was reported. Plans also are under way in other sections with the prospect of three well located plants in Polk county. The Indian River sub-exchange has leases on two plants which served its territory this season.—Tampa Tribune.

Federal Census Compiled Statistics for Every State in Union

There were 22,411 retail stores in Florida in 1929 whose total net sales amounted to $497,501,165, according to figures made public recently by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. The compilation of retail sales and stores in the nation was announced through the local district office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Jacksonville.

Annual sales through retail stores in the United States amounted to approximately $50,000,000,000, while total retail sales through all channels amounted to $53,000,000,000. The census bureau accounts for the difference as being direct sales made by manufacturers and producers.

According to Department of Commerce men, this is the first time there has been any approach to a near-accurate figure on the total retail sales of the nation and, they say, is an indication of the efforts being made by the department to make available to retailers more and more information relative to their trade.

Above Average State

Florida, with its total number of retail stores, was above the average state in stores per capita. In this state there were an average of 10.3 stores per 1000 inhabitants, while the average in the 48 states and District of Columbia was 12.6.

The per capita sales for the year in Florida were below the average in the nation. Sales per capita in Florida amounted to $388.92, while the average was $407.53.

In the nation as a whole, a wide variation in per capita sales is revealed in the report, a minimum of $172 being shown for South Carolina, while the highest sales per capita are shown in New York and California, where the sales per capita totaled $575.

Covers Wide Field

The figures, it was said, are based on a field canvass during 1930 of every city, town and rural area in the United States, and reflect the retail business of the year 1929. They cover all stores, restaurants, filling stations and other retail establishments, except strictly service businesses, it was explained.

The average number of stores per 1000 inhabitants in the several states varies from a minimum of 8.1 in Alabama, to a maximum of 15 and more in California and other states, and the average sales per store range from $19,827 in South Carolina to $39,715 in Michigan.

The census figures show that there are 1,549,000 retail stores in the 48 states and the District of Columbia, and that the average store does an annual business of $32,297. The per capita purchases at retail amounting to $407.53 indicates average retail purchases per family (of three to five persons) of from $1,250 to $2,000 annually the census report says.

Serial Day Letter New W. U. Service

Inauguration on an experimental basis of a new interstate telegraph service, conceived and developed by Western Union, and to be known as the serial day letter, was announced today by the Western Union Telegraph Company. This establishes a new telegraph service—the first since the advent of the night letter in 1910 and the day letter in 1911. The serial day letter is suited to the use of any firm or individual having occasion to carry on intermittent communication with any one addressee during the course of a day. It may be compared with the "Running Story" written by a newspaperman on the scene and during the progress of a news event and sent to his newspaper in short "Adds" or sections of a paragraph or more at a time. Substantial savings are made available by this service. By using it a firm can increase its volume of telegraphing substantially at a slight increase in cost. The new telegram may be filed in sections during the day for transmission as the name indicates, and the number of words which may be sent in one serial day letter is unlimited. The minimum charge per day is for 50 words and individual sections are rated at a minimum of 15 words.

July is a good time to turn hogs on feed crops to hasten their growth for September markets.

Builds Another Silo To Care for Crop

The effectiveness of growing feed and the use of the silo is being demonstrated by Demos Mandis at his dairy farm west of Avon Park. Mr. Mandis planted 25 acres to corn and has now filled one concrete silo, 20 by 40 feet and is building an additional wooden silo 14 by 36 feet to take care of the rest of the crop. Estimates on the amount of tonnage to be raised on the 25 acres have run from 300 to 600. These are the only silos in use in this section and their use and adaptability is being watched with interest.

Sebring's Bonded Indebtedness Now Stands at $2,988,000

Sebring's bonded indebtedness now stands at $2,988,000, a total of $121,000 having been retired during the fiscal year that closed June 30, according to City Clerk A. M. Wolfe. This does not include a $60,000 worth of coupons that were also retired and cancelled. A number of these bonds and coupons were taken in payment of taxes and assessments, property owners using that ruling of the city council to good advantage.

Total collections for the fiscal year were $294,000 which is $62,000 over the previous year. These figures include revenues from all sources, Mr. Wolfe said. The tax and assessment collections for June, the last month of the year, were $30,184.30, Mrs. Ruth Wolfe, tax collector, reported this morning. All these figures may be subject to a slight revision when the books are finally closed for the year, but may be taken as substantially correct, Mr. Wolfe says.

No Decision Yet On Carver Rehearing

William R. Carver, convicted last year of the murder of his wife, continues to be a guest at the county jail. Following his conviction, Carver's attorney, W. D. Bell of Arcadia appealed to the state supreme court but the conviction was upheld. Bell thereupon applied for a rehearing before the supreme tribunal and this was granted. This rehearing was recently held and the supreme court took the case under advisement and has not as yet rendered its decision, Bell said yesterday and did not indicate when it might be expected.

A fishing party to the west coast last week consisting of Judge W. J. Barker, L. T. Farmer, Guy Maxey, Deputy Sheriff C. L. Helms and H. C. Batey of Gainesville enjoyed good sport and hooked 17 tarpon and brought back two with them. Of these two one weighed 77 pounds and the other 83 pounds.

SEBRING REGISTERS ANOTHER LEAGUE WIN

Win Over Frostproof Thursday Makes Sixth Straight League Victory

Amid a shower of base hits and errors, the Sebring Firemen took their sixth straight Orange Belt league win. Frostproof was the victim of the 11 to 8 victory, on their own diamond last Thursday.

"Long Tom" Brown, starting hurler for the Packers was driven to the showers by a barrage of base hits in the fourth with two batters out. Jimmy McArten, coming to his rescue was greeted with a triple, followed by a single but retired the next Fireman on a fielders choice to end the rally, with Sebring five runs richer on the score book. Jimmy fared very well the remainder of the game excepting the sixth when four hits were good for two more local runs.

Hicks, started the mound duties for the Firemen but gave way to Pollard with no one out in the fifth, after the Packers had a single and two doubles on their batting averages. Pollard hurled good ball to end the game, granting but one hit, allowing two walks that were responsible for the two tallies in the sixth and eighth.

Pugh and Gibbs were the only Packers to garner an extra hit, each poling out two in their five trips to the plate.

Sebring had four men to collect extra knocks, Hendrickson and Gibbs line with three each in five times at bat, Mackay with two and Long with four.

Berriman's Friends World Flight Backer

Sebring, July 2. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Berriman have been watching with unusual interest the round the world flight of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty as F. C. Hall, who is financing the trip, and his daughter, Winnie Mae, are old friends of their's. Mr. Hall is one of Oklahoma's most successful independent oil operators, being one of the pioneers of the new Oklahoma City oil field. His home is in Chickasha, Okla., where the Berrimans lived before coming to Sebring.

4-H Club Girls Enjoyed Camp All Last Week

The Four H club camp for girls at the Hotel De Soto at De Soto City last week was enjoyed by 37 girls and their instructors and was voted the best yet held in Highlands county. Girls from Charlotte and Highlands counties attended and received instruction in many useful subjects. There was an exhibition of hand work and Friday night was stunt night with all the girls in camp taking part. This was staged under the supervision of Miss Florence Smock of Eustis, former national health champion. The evening closed with a candle vesper service.

The camp was in charge of Mrs. May Winfield Hamilton, county home demonstration agent and she was assisted by Miss Smock, Mrs. Marie Mahoney of Punta Gorda in charge of music, Mrs. W. Hanford of Punta Gorda in charge of craft classes, Miss Bernice Lyle of Bartow in charge of nature study and Mrs. A. P. Jordan of Punta Gorda, dietician. Group leaders assisting were, Miss Willye Taylor, Miss Frances Winfield, Miss Eva Louise Wade and Miss Angie Roberts.

On Thursday afternoon the members of the camp enjoyed a picnic at Highlands Hammock. The camp broke up early Saturday afternoon when all the members returned happily to their homes. There were eight girls from Charlotte county and 16 from Highlands county in the camp.

Post Office Closed Saturday

Uncle Sam's employees in the local post office are taking a vacation Saturday, July 4, along with the other business houses in Avon Park. Postmaster Ola A. Head says the office will be closed all day but mail will be distributed to the boxes in the morning and the routine will be the same as on Sundays.

As soon as the crop of grapes have been picked plant a legume cover crop in strips between the trellises.
