Here and There About Avon Park

By W. M. Hetherington

THE CROSS ROADS
By George Turner

The passing of Mrs. Paul Jett, who before her marriage was Dixie Martin, bereaved Avon Park's younger set of one of the most lovable and outstanding characters. Dixie enjoyed living to the fullest extent, knew no limits and was a friend to every one. Not only in Avon Park is her memory mourned, but by scores of friends in adjoining towns. She was at home on the athletic field as well as at church on social functions.

In the evening when the gang has gathered around the drug store, somehow I expect her to come dashing in with "Hi there gang." There, folks, was a girl.

Personal Bachelor Prattle: I can look at the moon thru the branches of an old dead tree and work up a nice batch of tears . . . Wonder if anyone else gets a silly tune on the brain they can't shake . . . I have saved coupons for years and have never won so much as a tin thimble . . . Haven't seen a show to equal "Mr. Rainbow Man." That show really knocked the bung out of my tear keg . . . I always close my eyes when chewing an oyster . . . I am ticklish and have a cowlick, which keeps me from parting my hair.

The local frog peddler just called to show me a trio of prize croakers he captured alive. They sure were beauties. The largest one, probably the bass singer was in jolly spirits and looked just like Ferd de Anguera. The next one I took to be the tenor, at least he resembled C. H. Pardee. The third, very brave and stern, was the image of none other than F. G. Todd.

Rev. Southard Assumes Duties at Lakeland

(From Lakeland Ledger)

Rev and Mrs. Paul H. Southard and family are now located in their home at 313 North Massachusetts avenue, and are being given a cordial welcome by the members of the Nazarene church, of which he is the new pastor.

Mr. Southard is a graduate of Eastern Nazarene college, Wolloston, Mass., and also studied at the Houghton Methodist seminary at New York. Mrs. Southard was graduated from the Nyack Missionary Training institute, Nyack, N. Y. They spent several years as missionaries in Japan, and upon their return to this country he accepted the pastorate of the Nazarene church at Jackman, Me., where he remained until he was called to Avon Park in 1929. The membership of the Sunday school in the latter place was said to have been increased more than 500 per cent during his pastorate. Both he and Mrs. Southard are intensely interested in young people.

Rev. Southard is making plans to put the church here on a stronger financial basis.

Highlands Candy Company Robbed Twice Within Week

The Highlands Candy company which was entered and robbed Tuesday of last week was entered again Wednesday night and merchandise to the value of several hundred dollars taken. Cigarettes, candies and chewing gum were taken at both robberies, and L. R. Thomas manager of the company estimates the loss from the two robberies as close to $500.

Entrance to the store room was made both times through the front office door which showed signs of having been forced with a bar.

Webb and Turner Open K-B Grill

Kinsey Webb and Bert Turner have leased the restaurant stand and fixtures in the Coan building, formerly operated as Hughs Restaurant, and will re-open the place Monday under the name of the K-B Grills. Regular meals, cold plate lunches and sandwiches will be served according to the announcement.

Both young men are Avon Park boys and both have been working until this week at the Jacaranda Drug store. Webb formerly worked in the restaurant business in Sarasota for two years and Turner has had about a year and a half with the Jacaranda fountain and lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Crabtree and Mrs. Mel Bass were visitors to Tampa Saturday afternoon.

HAMMOCK ROAD TO PARK NOT TO BE BUILT BY COUNTY

Beresford Urges County-Wide Road To Hammock Be Abandoned and Road Made District Issue.

From all indications that appeared at the county commissioners meeting Monday the two-mile stretch of Highlands Hammock road from Lakewood Terraces to the cattle gap will be a district proposition and not county-wide. Commissioner Charles Beresford presented a number of letters from citizens urging the road be completed as soon as possible and a resolution from the Sebring Lion's Club, urging the same action, was read. Mr. Beresford said he intended to start work in the immediate future but that after considering the matter from all angles thought it should be a district matter and he therefore withdrew his suggestion it should be county-wide. He intimated there might be court action if it was made county-wide.

Chairman O. C. Parrish expressed his disappointment at this statement, saying he would like to see it county-wide. He had spoken to a number of people in his district he said, all being in favor of the county-wide project. He added that the road should be completed this fall and if Mr. Beresford thought the district plan better, he would agree to it.

Commissioner John Hood of Avon Park said he had interviewed a number of citizens in his district but none were in favor of a county-wide road project, taking the stand from an economy viewpoint.

Several members of the Hammock association were present and R. N. Durrance urged the building of the road immediately, basing his arguments on psychological grounds.

The figures on the cost of the road as quoted in some newspapers came in for severe criticism by Chairman O. C. Parrish as did certain news stories dealing with the project.

The commissioners also discussed the issuance of the $25,000 time warrants that were authorized by the legislature but no definite action was taken pending further information from the county attorney, J. M. Lee.

At the suggestion of R. W. Gast of the Highlands County Fish and Game Protective association, the commissioners authorized a letter to be written the state fish and game commissioner regarding the closing of Lake Jackson for the seining of bait. If the commissioners have the power they may close the lake to bait seining. Mr. Gast cited an instance where two persons were found seining for minnows and in their bucket were found a number of small bass as well as several hundred minnows. On being questioned they stated they had ducks at home and intended to feed the fish to the ducks.

Young Bass Placed In Highlands Lakes

About thirty thousand fingerling bass were placed in Highlands County lakes Monday by the state game department. D. M. Woodward, brother of the head of the department of game and fresh water fish, brought the fingerlings here from the Eagle Lake hatcheries at Winter Haven and in cooperation with Mel Bass, county game warden placed them in county lakes. The young bass were distributed 7,500 in Dinner Lake, 7,500 in Lake Jackson and 15,000 in Red Beach lake at DeSoto City.

Library Story Hour Well Attended

Increasing interest is displayed each week in the children's story hour held Friday mornings in the library room in the city hall, according to those in charge. There are now 101 children registered with an average attendance of from sixty to seventy.

Rehearsals have begun by Mrs. Daisy Ten Eick for dramatizing of Midsummer Night's Dream which will be given at a date to be announced later.

The library committee wishes it understood that all the children of Avon Park are welcome to attend and there is no charge whatever. The time is 10 o'clock each Friday morning at the library.

Early Morning Fire Destroys Williams Home

Awakened by the smell of smoke at about three o'clock Sunday Morning, J. R. Williams and wife had time to barely escape from their burning home. Nothing was saved except a few articles of clothing which they got together before being forced out of the house.

The fire department responded quickly to the alarm, but there was no fire plug in the reach of the house and it was necessary to run the truck down to Lake Lotela and water was pumped from there. The fire had made such headway by the time the department arrived that it was impossible to save the house, but all efforts were directed towards saving adjacent buildings. The Williams garage, adjoining the house, and their car were saved. A small amount of insurance was carried, Mr. Williams stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are making their temperary home in one of R. E. Palmer's houses, use of which was loaned to them.

REPRESENTATIVES PLAN KISSIMMEE DRAINAGE

River Improvement To Be Taken Up at Kissimmee Today

John Hood and Gilbert Freeman of Avon Park and John Graham of Sebring are representing Highlands county in Kissimmee today at a meeting at which improvement of the Kissimmee river will be discussed. A large delegation is expected of representative men from all the towns interested in flood control. The Kissimmee board of trade expects to do all they can to make the meeting interesting and profitable. Plans include a boat trip down Lake Tohopekaliga.

The last Rivers and Harbors Bill approved in July, 1930, gave instructions for many surveys and reports on river projects, including the Kissimmee river, flood control specifically, says the Kissimmee Gazette. The report is adverse, but members of the chambers of commerce of this section and the commercial bodies of the Good Highlands asked that the closing of the case be deferred until the report can be studied and analyzed for the purpose of filing an additional argument.

Grosvenor Dawe, representing the Associated Boards of Trade of the Scenic Highlands and the Kissimmee Board of Trade made a trip to Jacksonville and read adverse report of the army engineers relative to the Kissimmee river improvement. Mr. Dawe went over the report with the gentlemen who compiled and wrote it, and it was decided that one or more of the leaders of each community from Okeechobee to Kissimmee, including Kissimmee neighboring towns, should have a meeting at the earliest possible date, to hear the report from Mr. Dawe and to discuss ways and means of trying to obtain a favorable decision in the improvement of the Kissimmee river. The matter will be taken up with the Washington representatives, with a view of getting the engineering department of the war department to make another survey of the grounds, with the hope of securing a favorable report next time.

The Kissimmee river basin is one of the great assets of Florida for future inland cruising and for various methods of transportation. Incidentally the Kissimmee river basin is the dangerous element in Okeechobee lake levels. It therefore is part of the problem of Okeechobee flood control on which the Federal and State government are now preparing to spend $9,000,000.

Light Fines In Mayor's Court

Mayor Donaldson was light handed with the fines Monday morning, dishing out a-dollar-and-cost penalties for week-end offenders who imbided too freely. Philip Baldree and J. E. Reynolds were each fined $1 and costs for drunkeness. Willie Green, a negro, was fined the same amount for the same offense, and Robert Blackshear, another negro, drew another dollar and cost fine to make it unanimous.

Dilley Hurls Great Game But Mates Lack Punch to Give Him Needed Runs to Win In Eleven Inning Game.

Avon Park continues to lose ball games by the skin of their teeth, or maybe less, and yesterday's game at Wauchula was no exception. Playing a scorceless tie for ten innings to be topped by a single marker in the eleventh was the fate of the hard working local outfit at Wauchula yesterday afternoon. The result was 1 to 0 in Wauchula's favor.

Sensational fielding and big time pitching featured the game. Dilley struck out 13 Wauchula batsmen and allowed only seven hits. He pitched enough ball to win any ball game, except that it wasn't his day to win. Hines for Wauchula scored the winning run in the eleventh after he had hit safely and was helped around by a brace of errors.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
A. Park .000 000 000 00—0	8	2
Wauch'la 000 000 000 01—1	7	2

Batteries: Dilley and C. B. Martin; Bryant and Moore.

POLK-HIGHLANDS PLANS ARE TOO ELABORATE

Meeting at Bartow Monday Refers Plans Back To Original Committee

Plans for the formation of the Polk-Highlands Associates, an organization planned to bring to the attention of the thousands who visit the Singing Tower annually, the fact that there are other attractions in Polk and Highlands counties, notably Highlands Hammock, the phosphate mines, etc., were rejected by the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Bartow Monday night as too elaborate for the present situation and re-referred to the committee that drew them, for resubmission at the August meeting of the board in Winter Haven, says the Lake Wales Highlander.

The plans were drawn up at Lake Wales on July 6 by a committee named by Jay Burns and consisting of George Clements, Bartow; George Sampson, Winter Haven; Harvey W. Laird, Lakeland; Jack Pryor, Haines City; R. N. Durrance, Sebring; Isaac Van Horn, Polk City; Gilbert Freeman, Avon Park. How many took part in the meeting is not known. Mr. Van Horn said last night he could not serve, though believing in the plans put forth, and J. E. Worthington, Lake Wales, added in his place. Others added to the committee were B. G. Mayo, Fort Meade; W. S. Allen, Davenport, and E. H. Dudley, Mulberry. The committee will be called together again soon.

Mr. Dawe laid the matter before the meeting Monday night after an extremely good dinner at Hotel Stewart. What will it cost, was the first question raised and it kept recurring in various forms. Mr. Dawe had made no definite estimate as to cost or as to ways of raising money and the meeting clogged over this. About 15 or 20 people had spoken, all of them in favor of the idea of trying to place before Tampa visitors something of the other attractions of the district, if a way could be devised, but several speaking against the idea of putting up a museum of Florida products which was a part of the plan, Jay C. Stull, Winter Haven, offered a motion that the plan be recommitted and re-submitted later with the hope that more definite figures could be had.

It was brought out that one result of the meeting here a month ago has been a resolve on Mulberry's part to put in a collection of phosphate products and curios at some central point in Mulberry so that the attention of visitors to the Tower may be attracted to Mulberry. Many visitors brought out the point that one good way to attract visitors would be for every city to make itself more attractive.

"Brighton up, plant a tropical flower or shrub, put in comfort stations, make your town attractive," said Major Paul Krank of Haines City.

Cover Crops Need Fertilizer Now To Accomplish Results

County Agent Urges Application Now Where Cover Crop Is Poor

Due to the very unusual drought period here during May and June which injured very many cover-crops in the citrus groves, County Agent Alsmeyer is suggesting that in groves with only a small cover-crop that an extra application of one or two hundred pounds of inorganic ammonia fertilizer per acre be applied to the tree middles within the next couple of weeks.

It has been plainly demonstrated that for best results in citrus culture on the Ridge that groves must be supplied with abundant supplies of coarse organic matter, he says. Results have shown that where this extra application of 100 or 200 pounds of sulphate of ammonia, nitrate of soda, or other sources of cheap inorganic ammonia are applied to the tree middles at this time that the tonnage of the cover-crop is increased very much. This is especially true of natal grass and other grasses in the groves and experiments have shown that under Ridge conditions that grasses are the second best cover-crop while crotalaria is the best judging from the results secured on the trees. If growers can secure an abundant cover-crop they wil be able to make a considerable saving in their fertilizer bill and their groves will be in much better shape because of the cover-crop, he says.

New Petition Seeks To Legalize Sunday Movies and Baseball

A petition is being circulated among voters of Avon Park calling for an election to vote on the repeal of Sunday blue laws. Provisions of the city charter require that 30 percent of the qualified voters of the city must sign a petition to effect the repeal of a city ordinance.

A new ordinance permitting Sunday movies and Sunday baseball is the aim of the petitioners. Sunday movies is expressly prohibited under a recent ordinance. Sunday baseball is being played without admission charge, and is not being molested by city authorities, though an old city ordinance could be invoked against it, it is claimed. An election to legalize both is the aim of the petitioners.

Okeechobee Plays Here This Sunday

Okeechobee plays the locals at Cardinal field Sunday in a regular scheduled game of the Orange Belt League. The league-leading Fishermen have had a perfect record thus far for the second half by defeating Lake Wales last Sunday for three straight wins.

Avon Park with two wins and one loss has a chance of tying with the league leaders if they can take Sunday's game, which would make three wins and one loss for each team.

Mrs. Covington is in hopes that each member will respond as soon as possible, and when trees are planted, notify her or either of the other two members of the committee, Mrs. H. Pardee and Mrs. J. M. Lee, giving the name of the tree planted for this purpose.

Brilliant Reception To Rev. and Mrs. Johnson Wednesday

One of the most brilliant social events of the midsummer season was the reception last evening given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Harcourt Johnson at the parish house from eight to ten o'clock by the Church Service league of the Church of the Redeemer to friends of the young couple.

Receiving at the door with Rev. and Mrs. Johnson were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Covington and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Francis.

With an artistic arrangement of bamboo, southern smilax, crepe myrtle and asparagus fern, the parish house resembled a bower of beauty. The fireplace was banked with greenery intermingled with dainty summer blossoms, while the pink shaded lights formed a pretty glow over the entire room. Mrs. Demos Mandis and Mrs. Reuben Johnson poured coffee from a table covered with a cluny lace cloth centered with a huge silver basket filled with pink crepe myrtle, gardenia and wild candy tuft combined with fern. Pink roses entwined with baby breath fern reached to each corner of the table and were held in place by a bouquet of gardenia. Two lighted pink tapers in silver holders with fluffy tulle bows were placed on either side.

The punch table which was presided over by Mrs. D. M. Orr and Mrs. A. R. Pringle was beautifully arranged, a basket holding gardenia and crepe myrtle in delicate shades formed a pretty center piece.

Other members of the church service league assisted in serving and entertaining the guests.

Leonard Scorgie, distinguished tenor soloist of Boston and Washington, now residing in Frostproof, sang "Sylvia." He was accompanied by Miss Myrtle Conolly.

Later in the evening Miss Bessie Mashburn, of Frostproof, gave as a reading, "Nothing But the Truth." Miss Mashburn was recent winner of the state oratorical contest and holds three state medals. Her number was much enjoyed.

About 150 guests called during the evening.

BARKER GRANTS A REHEARING IN AVON PARK BOND SUIT

$97,000 Refunding Bond Issue Will Come Up Again for Hearing in Circuit Court Monday.

A rehearing in the validation of $97,000 worth of the City of Avon Park refunding bonds was granted by Judge W. J. Barker in circuit court yesterday and next Monday set for the case.

The rehearing will reopen the validation proceedings, which were halted Tuesday when Judge Barker sustained the demurrer of attorneys for J. H. Smith that insufficient notice had been given for holding the election. The city charter requires thirty days' notice be given, and contentions of complainants that only 28 days notice was given was sustained by the judge.

City Attorney Pardee's petition for a new hearing yesterday was granted and he believes that Judge Barker will vacate his decision of Tuesday knocking out the election on account of insufficient notice.

The notice of election was published five issues in the Times beginning with the issue of September 26 an ending with October 24. The election was held on October 28, thirty-two days elapsing between the dates of the first publication and the day of the election.

The rehearing will throw the case open again, and objections on other grounds will probably be offered by the attorneys for J. H. Smith and other property owners attempting to block the issuance of the bonds.

The present location, owned by Gale H. Stalker, of Elmira, N. Y., will have been occupied by the post office for ten years with the expiration of the lease in November.

Boy Scouts Hold Meeting Friday

The Boy Scouts held a meeting at the Parish house last Friday. A short business meeting was followed by a drill led by Scoutmaster Harcourt Johnson. A game was then played which called for strict attention to commands. The Flying Eagle patrol put on a play called "The Rich Man's Son's Return," followed by a play by the Fox patrol. A story by the Scoutmaster, and a drill around the block, with one verse of America closed the program.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FLA. CLEARING HOUSE

Winter Haven, July 22.—More than five hundred interested growers and shippers who attended the third annual meeting of the Clearing House in Winter Haven last week were gratified to hear, in no uncertain terms, that the industry effort of the Clearing House would be continued. These assurances were given by various officers and other members affiliated with the Clearing House, speakers on the program.

Two of the most important features of the day were the announcements that the Chase Sub-Exchange, affiliated with the Florida Citrus Exchange, would retain its shipper affiliation with the Clearing House and that the Federal Farm Board—contrary to current impression—feels that the Clearing House, in coordinating competitive interests, is a valuable factor in the citrus industry. The announcement from Chase & Company, given in the form of a letter from Mr. Randall Chase, was read by Manager Archie M. Pratt, and brought forth an enthusiastic round of applause that lasted for several minutes. Chase & Company, operating more than a dozen large houses throughout the citrus belt, shipped more than a million boxes of fruit during the season just closed and the importance of this tonnage, together with the encouragement given the Clearing House by the moral support of this pioneer marketing organization, was appreciated by the attending growers. Reference to the Farm Board's approval of the Clearing House was made by Mr. J. S. Crutchfield, president, American Fruit Growers, Inc., now the largest shipper member of the Clearing House, who told of a conversation he had had two months ago with Chairman Stone of the Farm Board who said that he was author of the Clearing House clause in the federal marketing act.

The speakers on this program included President A. M. Tilden, who presided at the meeting, Manager A. M. Pratt, Treasurer A. R. Trafford, J. S. Crutchfield, Pittsburgh, Directors O. F. Gardner of Lake Placid and Dr. E. C. Aurin of Ft. Ogden, W. H. Mouser, Chairman of Clearing House Operating Committee, and Judge S. L. Holland of Bartow, Legal Councilor for the Clearing House.

Each of the brief talks made by the speakers was given remarkably close attention and the most important statements of past efforts and accomplishments and announcements of future endeavors were greeted by enthusiastic applause from the growers. Several of the speakers expressed their regret at the withdrawal of the Florida Citrus Exchange from the Clearing House, but there was a predominant note in the comments on this development that indicated a hope that the officials of the Exchange may yet change their mind and continue to work with the Clearing House in its industry effort.

President Tilden, in opening the meeting, briefly reviewed the situation confronting the Clearing House, caused by the withdrawal of the Exchange. He then told of some of the problems the Clearing House has solved during the past three years, not the least of which was the excellent work done in marketing a bumper crop in a year of universal depression. Some of the outstanding industry accomplishments of the Clearing House President Tilden mentioned included the obtaining of refrigerated boat service from Tampa to Europe (to be inaugurated this fall), the winning of the Borax Wash fight, and the part the Clearing House played in eliminating the Fruit Fly Quarantine. He also touched upon increasing distribution of Florida's fruit this past season, the Clearing House admittedly being given credit for this accomplishment.

Manager Pratt confined his talk largely to the work the Clearing House has done in the distribution of the past year's crop. He pointed out that Florida has done a much better job this year in marketing her citrus crop than is commonly realized and cited the comparative superior price, which obtained this year for Florida oranges over California oranges as an obvious proof that we are making tremendous strides.

"It was only three years ago that the Clearing House was organized," Mr. Pratt said, "yet we find at the end of this year (January 1 to July 3) that Florida oranges outsold California oranges at an average of 11 cents a box. Mr. Pratt concluded his talk by outlining briefly how the Clearing House market information helps the individual shipping organizations obtain the maximum price possible for the fruit. "Our shippers have had an intelligent insight that there is no way of getting except through a Clearing House," he concluded.

Mr. Crutchfield paid a warm tribute to the organization, pointing out that one of the important functions of the Clearing House has been its ability to look and plan ahead, anticipating the problems that will arise and meeting those problems with a common front. He pointed out, too, the unreasonabelness in expecting the impossible of the Clearing House.

Speaking of the Exchange withdrawal, he said: "I recognize that each organization has its internal problems and I have heard the statement made that withdrawal was made because the Farm Board was opposed to the Clearing House idea. I talked to the Chairman of the Federal Farm Board about 60 days ago on that subject —Mr. Stone. He told me he was the author of the Clearing House plan in the Agricultural Marketing Act and that he was strongly in favor of the Clearing House feature as being one practical method whereby the existing marketing factors could get together for the common good of the industry."

Treasurer Trafford's report revealed an interesting picture of industry accomplishment. Among the more important activities shown were the national advertising campaign, the standardization work, the Borax patent suit, the bait spray campaign of last summer, a complete and valuable daily market report service, crop estimate and a census of grove properties (which last is nearing completion).

Senator M. O. Overstreet, Chairman of the Committee of Fifty, dwelt at some length upon the inherent strength given the Clearing House by its creators to do those things for the industry that are so greatly needed. Admitting the right of all to handle their business as they think best, Chairman Overstreet took occasion to remind his listeners that individual progress and success can succeed in the long run only as the welfare of the industry is established.

W. H. Mouser, Chairman of the Operating Committee, took occasion to show how the Clearing House works along industry lines by coordinating the efforts of the various marketing agencies. Drawing upon actual records, Chairman Mouser showed how fair play has governed the Operating Committee in all of its activities. He pointed out, too, in answer to the question recently raised, that it still is as necessary for the Clearing House to carry on even with only 35 or 40 percent of the tonnage in its ranks, as it was before the Exchange withdrew. "It should be apparent to anyone," he said, "that the situation is certainly more promising with two organizations endeavoring to work for the good of the industry than to discontinue the Clearing House and revert to the old days of uninformed and cut-throat competition."

Directors O. F. Gardner of Lake Placid and Dr. E. C. Aurin of Ft. Ogden both brought out similar points—although in different manner—that it is imperative that petty differences be laid aside and all unite for industry betterment. "Our chief problem," said Mr. Gardner, "is just the problem of common, ordinary, human cussedness and that is what we have got to overcome if we are going to get anywhere. We may prosper as individuals compared with the industry, but we will not have any real prosperity until industry prospers. We are not interested in dog fights we are not interested in war, we are not interested in personal antagonisms with which we are all familiar, and we are not interested in seeing human nature destroy the business on which we are all dependent."

Dr. Aurin, "Charter Member" of the Committee of Fifty and Clearing House Board of Directors, declared that he agreed with Senator Overstreet that the thousands of growers, who set up the Clearing House three years ago, were not wrong then, declaring that the need for the Clearing House exists as much today as it did when it was organized. "It is up to the growers," he said, "to see whether this industry shall prosper or whether selfish interests—be they what they may—sink the ship, the only possible ship that can carry us on to prosperity."

SAYS TANGERINES SHOULD BE THINNED

County Agent Advocates Thinning On Tree To Get Better Prices For Fruit

Extra heavily ladened tangerine trees may not produce as large fruit this year as growers desire and County Agent Louis H. Alsmeyer is suggesting that the fruit on these extra heavily ladened trees be thinned.

Records show that growers would make more money growing tangerines if the third grade fruit were never picked and not all of the second grade fruit picked for market. So in thinning the fruit now any mishappen or injured fruit should be removed first and then enough of the other fruit removed to take off at least one third of the crop on heavily ladened trees.

The problem in raising large size tangerines which have secured the best prices on the market until after the middle of January is one which is much discussed. County Agent Alsmeyer has worked with Prof. DeBusk of the University in trying out various methods of fertilizing tangerine trees in this county to increase the size of the fruit. In the four years this work was carefully carried on these demonstrations showed no benefit in sizing tangerines could be secured in applying extra or additional amounts of fertilizer above the normal amount.

Last year was the first time that thinning was tried very extensively in the demonstration at the Earl Hartt grove and the results were very remarkably in favor of thinning. The trees which had two thirds of the rruit removed netted about a dollar profit per tree above the trees which were not touched. The trees which had one third of the fruit removed gave about two thirds of the fruit removed netted In that thinning work last year effort was made to remove average size fruit. This week County Agent Alsmeyer repeated the work on the demonstration plot for this year's crop.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

FROZEN FRUIT AND VEGETABLES WILL BE COMMON DELICACIES

One of my town friends invited me in to a luncheon of the Kiwanis Club last week. The topic for discussion was the frozen pack method of preserving fruits and juices, berries, and vegetables. For dessert, we had frozen berries, and they were fine.

Although there is still much to be done, considerable progress has already been made along this line. There are a number of different fruits and fruit juices, berries, and vegetables that are now being frozen on a commercial scale.

The process holds promise for Florida fruits and vegetables. Our citrus fruits are now marketed fresh for only about eight months of the year. With the perfection of the frozen pack method, it will be possible to place them on the market in a frozen state (when they will be quite as palatable as the fresh, unfrozen product) for the rest of the year. This will extend our markets for a longer period, and thus help towards a more orderly marketing of the crop.

When the market for fresh berries and early vegetables hits the toboggan, the remainder of the crop can be frozen and placed on the markets both in Florida and elsewhere. We can be eating our own fruits and vegetables during the summer, and the freezing and storage should not cost more than the freight or other transportation charge on fresh products from other states would be. The process has important possibilities for development along that line.

It is only a question of time until whole meals of frozen products will be common. Dr. A. F. Camp, horticulturist of the Experiment Station, who is conducting freezing and cold storage experiments, said that he ate a meal recently in which everything served, except the bread, was frozen. It consisted of meats, fish, vegetables, and fruits.

County Court Held Tuesday

Judge M. C. Whitehurst handled several cases in county court Tuesday. They included the sentencing of Charles McKnight on a gambling charge. He was assessed $1 and costs or 30 days. L. B. Bevis, charged with having improper lights on his car, was dismissed on payment of the costs. Myrtle Ross and Luke McAllister, held on statutory charges, were each fined $25 and costs or 30 days.

WAVERLY ASSOCIATION EXPLAINS ITS ACTIONS

President's Letter To All Members Propounds Several Questions

The Lake Wales News of last week carried a letter from W. L. Pederson, president of the Waverly Citrus Growers' associations, one of the largest in Polk county and a copy of the letter has been sent to The Avon Park Times for publication. The Waverly association, at a recent meeting, decided to retain membership in both the Exchange and the Clearing House and the letter sets forth their position in the matter. The letter was sent to every member of the Waverly association and says:

"That Waverly has refused to be stampeded into the present Exchange program of destroying the Clearing House may prove to be a factor having far reaching effect on the future.

"The purpose of this letter is not to offer any excuses for our action. On the contrary, we wish to commend the new Exchange program over the signature of Mr. Snively, our new Exchange president. This program deserves your careful study for in it are found most of the reasons why we believe the Clearing House must be maintained and why the Exchange must not only re-join as a shipper-member but should do so with the unselfish determination that the three great Clearing House fundamentals be carried into effective operation, i. e., standardization, control of distribution and advertising.

"Mr. Snively's program enumerates six objectives for the Exchange; 1st. Standardization of grade and pack.

"2nd. Control of distribution.

"3rd. Fixing a minimum price level.

"4th. Widening of markets to keep pace with our increasing production.

"5th and 6th. Development of by-products and canning.

"Mr. Snively well knows how idle it is to even dream of the accomplishment of these things without the necessary control, so he adds that all this is predicated on the growers giving the Exchange seventy-five percent control of the state volume.

"Is someone forgetting that the Clearing House under the law is empowered to do all these things and has the protection of the Capper-Volstead act in doing them? And most important, the Clearing House with Exchange tonnage has the necessary seventy-five percent control in the industry to make such a program effective. With the exception of advertising to broaden the markets they were in a general way already accomplishing these objectives. That the machinery needs closer adjustment goes without saying. That advertising should have been widely invoked the past season is now an admitted fact; and that it would have been done except for Exchange opposition is now well known.

"We are being asked to believe that the only way to accomplish these things is to start in by destroying existing mediums, clearing the field and go through another campaign of trying to build a seventy-five percent control in the Exchange which has only about one-half that at present.

"Some will charge us with disloyalty because we have decided to help keep the Clearing House alive. True, we are refusing to be loyal to one thing and in so doing we are choosing to be loyal to other things.

"We have chosen to be loyal to the industry rather than to a temporary misguided organization policy.

"We have chosen to be loyal to ourselves as growers and to our own best interests as growers rather than to the selfish desires on the part of individuals who for the moment have forgotten that their first duty is to the growers and the industry's welfare.

"We have chosen to be loyal to the desire of having the big job done rather than quarreling over who is to do it.

"We have chosen to be loyal to the doctrine of practicing co-operation rather than a policy of simply preaching it.

"We have chosen to be loyal to the principles of truth, honesty and fair dealing, taking more satisfaction in being right than being momentarily popular.

"This is not the first time Waverly has refused to follow blindly. Time has vindicated us in things we have stood for in the past. Time again will vindicate us in this.

"So while standing squarely for Mr. Snively's program we, as Exchange members, are asking these questions: With one-half the total Clearing House volume being Exchange fruit, with nine out of eleven Clearing House Directors all strong Exchange men, with the Committee of 50 close to ninety percent Exchange and completely in sympathy with Exchange purposes, now why would it not be easier and quicker to dominate the seventy-five percent control already gathered together in the Clearing House so as to accomplish his program at once? Why ask the growers to wait another twenty years? Haven't they lost enough already?

"Mr. Snively promises it would mean an added value of one dollar per box to the grower's fruit and one thousand dollars an acre to the value of our groves, and he is right.

"We ask, would doing this hinder in the least the healthy growth of the Exchange. If it would we are admitting that the privilege of having a Florida Citrus Exchange is costing the growers a tremendous sum, probably ten million dollars a year. We do not think the doctrine of co-operative marketing was intended to come in such an expensive wrapper.

"Think it over and out of your thinking must come many convictions and among them and perhaps of lesser importance that Waverly again is right.

"We hope and believe the Clearing House will survive this temporary storm and be ready to serve the industry when another crisis comes—not only to serve but determined to better serve than ever before.

Heavy Crop of Army Worms Likely To Do Damage This Season

Army worms have made their appearance in many sections of the state, and it seems that they are going to be abundant and do considerable damage this season, J. R. Watson, entomologist with the Florida Experiment Station at Gainesville recently explained. Most of the damage will likely be done to meadow grasses, but late corn, peanuts, cowpeas, cane, and other crops are subject to severe attack.

The caterpillars are light green in color with prominent dark stripes down the side and a light yellow stripe down the back which forks as it reaches the head and makes a prominent Y. They travel in armies, and as soon as one field is destroyed they move on to the next.

The quickest way to check this pest on crops like peanuts, cane, etc., is to use a poison bran bait made by thoroughly mixing 25 pounds bran and one pound paris green, and moistening it. This should be enough to spread over five acres.

If the grass attacked will not be cut for a month it can be dusted with calcium or lead arsenate, or the bait may be used. In case of grasses to be cut soon or citrus cover crops one of the fluorides or fluosilicates should be substituted for the arsenical.

If the grass is about ready to mow it may be cut at once and the worms will not damage the cured hay. If a second crop is desired it will be necessary to destroy the warms. The caterpillars will mature in a week to 10 days, after which they pupate and in another week are ready to begin laying the next generation. This second brood will be much larger unless natural enemies or control measures keep it in check.

Farm Week Offers Low Cost Vacation To Florida People

A real instructive vacation which will cost even less than living expenses at home is what the 10th annual Farmers' and Fruit Growers' Week, to be held at the University at Gainesville, Aug. 10-14, offers Florida farmers and farm women, Dr. Wilmon Newell, dean of the Agricultural College, recently stated in an address over WRUF. The charges this year have actually been reduced below costs in order that rural Floridians may have an economical, instructive, and entertaining vacation.

"There will be no registration fees, no admission charges, no charges for entertainment, and no one will be asked to buy anything. The only charges will be meals at the University cafeteria and lodging in the dormitories. The total costs will be $1.15 per day; divided as follows: Breakfast 25 cents, dinner 35 cents, supper 30 cents, and lodging 25 cents," he explained.

The first feature of the week will be a complete tour of the College and Experiment Station farms, Monday afternoon, Aug. 10. Tours, entertainments, and talks by leading farmers and specialists from over the Southeast are all included in the week's program. Special programs have been planned for citrus and small fruit growers, truck crop growers, general farmers, dairymen, livestock raisers, poultrymen, beekeepers, pecan growers, foresters, ornamental lovers, and rural women.

Those who wish to stay in the dormitories should bring bed linens, pillows, and towels. Free and up-to-date camping facilities will be furnished, and a day nursery will be maintained to care for the smaller children. Room reservations should be made to the Agricultural Extension Service, Gainesville, Fla.

Growers Urged To Scatter Friendly Fungi In Groves

The early introduction of friendly fungi into citrus groves to help control whiteflies and scale-insects is being urged by Dr. E. W. Berger, entomologist of the State Plant Board. Dr. Berger says that the fungi will thrive, now that the period of summer rains has arrived, and the earlier they are introduced into the grove, the longer they will have to grow and spread, and the more efficient will be their work in controlling the pests.

Certain of these whitefly fungi are raised and distributed by the State Plant Board, and the entomology department now has a nice supply of red aschersonia, or red whitefly fungus, available for distribution. A culture, sufficient for treating an acre of trees, can be obtained for one dollar, the cost of production. Directions for distributing the fungi will accompany each culture.

West Palm Beach—Construction of dog track and other improvements to Belvedere Park by M. D. Carmichael will total about $250,000, according to announcement.

Not going to fly across the Atlantic. It's getting too common.

One of the State papers is running a story entitled: "Today's Virtue." It must be a short-short story.

Turtle racing affords good hot weather argument. It doesn't seem like we could get much "het up" over a turtle race.

Up in Georgia some escaped convicts robbed a loan agency. Many poor borrowers will think it is no harm, but merely poetic justice, to rob a loan agency.

There's one legislator who hasn't introduced a bill during the three legislative sessions, and the people are talking about running him for Governor.

Too much politics, too many antagonisms, too much self-seeking, among those charged with the direction of the peoples' business. And the people pay and pay, and get—left.

And now it's Oklahoma that's afflicted with food riots staged by the hungry and jobless. We admit that conditions have been bad in Florida, but we are grateful they have not been that bad.

If Sir Hubert Wilkins is saving us a passage on the Nautilus, he is hereby assured that he may feel free to turn it over to some one else—preferably to some one we are not particularly fond of.

What this country needs as much as it does a good 5-cent cigar is an auto that will run on wheat, oats or corn, or the same diet that old Dobbin used to relish. That would bring farm relief.

Right now, while conditions seem to be at their worst, and much time is being given to wondering what the world is coming to, there are many people who are grasping opportunities and laying the foundations for marvelous successes.

The courts have just held that it is not libelous to call an individual or corporation "lousy." But if the individual is larger than you, and you must inform him that he's lousy, tell him he's pediculous. He may not know what you mean.

Can't get up much enthusiasm over these preachers who are trying to break records for lengthy sermons. A better ambition for preachers this hot weather would be to strive to see which could pack the most "meat" in the shortest sermon.

That man who was revived after being dead nine hours ought to have an interesting story to tell. But he hasn't. No one has ever brought back a message from the borderland between life and death, though many have visited it and returned to life.

An examination by physicians declares Governor Roosevelt is physically "fit to meet the demands of private or public life." And he is intellectually fit to make a mighty able President. It would not be surprising if the people took cognizance of this fact next year.

Adjournment of the second extra session of the Legislature is in sight, for which relief much thanks. Let us hope we won't hear the word Legislature again for many moons. We are reserving comment until the smoke of action clears away and we are able to see what has really been done—if anything.

Pictures of the ovations tendered celebrities arriving in New York show frenzied efforts on the part of the semi-civilized inhabitants to bury the processions under ticker tape and fragments of telephone books. Bet if the monkeys could witness some scenes like this they'd object to the theory of evolution, too.

Note that collections of the 6-cent gas tax in June for the State of Florida, ran considerably over a million dollars. Looks like that ought to buy a good deal of government, without having to hunt for a score or more additional millions. But government is about the most expensive commodity there is in these times.

Every member of the Legislature was elected on promises of effecting economies in public expenditures. And the legislative body promptly put these promises into practice by employing 137 clerks, when 36 could do all the work. The figures are based on a statement by former Secretary of State Igou, who ought to know.

After all, are taxes so much higher here than in other parts of the country, all things considered? Friends who own property in North Carolina and other States say that their taxes are about the same as for similar property down here. Haven't we gotten so in the habit about "griping" about taxes that we have contracted a somewhat exaggerated outlook on the situation?

Chicago's new Mayor saved that city approximately a half million dollars the first month of his administration. Much of the savings were effected by "removing political parasites from the payroll," and effecting a general reduction in administration expenses. In Florida we talk about doing these things, but we get no further than talk. Looks like we need a Cermak at the head of things.

Dr. Joseph Taylor, eminent churchman, at the national convention of the Baptist Young People's Union urged the reading of newspapers, to keep in touch with world conditions, and "in order to be able to pray intelligently." We have often wondered why many ministers apparently do not seek the co-operation of the newspapers in their efforts to advance moral causes, but on the other hand often antagonize the press by gratuitous and unjust criticism. With very rare exceptions, indeed, the newspapers are as earnest and as sincere in their efforts to upbuild the moral structure of their respective communities, and of society as a whole, as are the preachers. Sometimes they may differ with the churchmen as to the means most advisable to accomplish certain aims, but usually they are striving for the same objectives. As forces for good morals and good citizenship, press and pulpit should work in absolute co-ordination and harmony.

BELL-WETHERS

By JUDGE JOHN W. DODGE

AMERICANS STARVE—BELLS RING.

A wether is a kind of ram, and a bell wether is a ram that leads the sheep, having a bell tied to his neck to attract the attention of the sheep. We find such animals, usually, in a farming, sheep raising section of the world.

In our country the bell-wethers are usually found in the large cities, where they direct the masses who pass up and down the financial streets, or streets of commerce and business.

We also find quite a few of such animals in Washington, D. C., and in the various capitals of our different states, where they assemble and herd at stated times.

When the big Bell-Wethers go out on parade they usually give notice from the floors where they congregate. There is one Behemoth Bell-Wether who grazes not only in Washington, but in our more modern times he ranges as far as the ends of the world—particularly in Europe. The grazing grounds over there are reached by icebergs to the North of us, but there is no discomfort to our Bell-Wethers who are used to cold things.

Now when the Bell-Wethers like to pick out the choice places, the good grazing spots, the finest herbs and other digestible things. If there are too many rocks, little soil, no vegetation, the Bell-Wether gets what he can, and then he moves on to more fertile fields, leaving the sheep to follow later on.

Every ram believes in self-preservation, because that is the first law of nature. But, a little lamb cares nothing about the laws of nature, not even instinct, nor premonitions, nor dreams, nor signs. All a lamb heeds is a sound, and particularly the sound of the bell of the Bell-Wether.

The lambs may starve, get run over, knocked down, or "be drug out" the fold, but they always try to hear the bell and they follow the Bell-Wether—it is such an aristocratic and soothing sound at meals to hear the Bell-Wether bell ring.

But, when the lambs starve, what use is there for Bell-Wethers? Somebody may know—if so, tell me. We may have a real "Moratorium" after while.

When the rams get the lambs in a jam then watch the stock market, and another "moratorium." Better to buy Florida land. Own something before you are wiped out.

Echoes of the State Press

LOBBYISTS AND LEGISLATORS.

When the time comes to elect a new set of members to the Florida House of Representatives, and those senators whose terms expire next year, the ordinary rank and file of the voters of this state should ask candidates one question, and only one question. That query should not be, "Will you vote to ease our tax burden?" but rather it should be, "Will you, when in Tallahassee, turn deaf ears on all personal appeals of lobbyists seeking to defeat any certain form of taxation, and unseeing eyes upon all telegrams and letters from those with the same object in view?" If Florida can be fortunate enough to have in the next legislature a great majority of men who will abide by their promise to this one question much of the ills of of this great state can be cured—and cured in just one, regular session.—Wauchula Advocate.

CUTTING DOWN HIS WAIST-LINE

WASHINGTON HEADQ'RS WAS NEAR WEST POINT

He Spent Considerable Time There In Large Mansion During 1779

About a mile north of West Point is a little vale now known as Washington's Valley where General George Washington established his headquarters July 21, 1779. Here he lived until the following winter in a huge mansion known as Moore's House—a structure which had been built prior to 1749 by John Moore, prominent New York merchant. The house, because of its size and costliness was sometimes referred to as "Moore's Folly," a title by which it was designated in some of the literature of the day.

The Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission recalls that at the time Washington established his headquarters at West Point, the military affairs of the Colony were in a bad way. Savannah had been taken by the British. Suffolk and Portsmouth, Virginia, New Haven and other cities had been sacked and burned by the enemy. Added to all this was the fact that the Continental currency had depreciated to such an extent that, as Washington said, a wagon load of it would scarcely purchase a wagon load of provisions.

Despite these misfortunes, however, there were some bright spots for the Americans such as the brilliant exploit by which Wayne captured Stony Point and the equally daring attack on Paulus Hook successfully carried out by young Major Lee. A little later in the summer the British evacuated Rhode Island.

From his headquarters at West Point Washington wrote the following letter to Dr. John Cochran, surgeon general of the army. In it the commander-in-chief reveals a spirit far from depressed and gives an idea of the style of living which prevailed at his headquarters.

"Dear Doctor: — I have asked Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Livingston to dine with me tomorrow; but am I not in honor bound to appraise them of their fare? As I hate deception, even where the imagination only is concerned, I will. It is needless to premise that my table is large enough to hold the ladies. Of this they had ocular proof yesterday. To say how it is usually covered is more essential; and this shall be the purport of my letter.

"Since our arrival at this happy spot, we have had a ham, sometimes a shoulder of bacon, to grace the head of the table; a piece of roast beef adorns the foot; and a dish of beans or greens, almost imperceptible, decorates the centre. When the cook has a mind to cut a figure, which I presume will be the case tomorrow, we have two beefsteak pies, or dishes of crabs, in addition, one on each side of the centre dish, dividing the space and reducing the distance between dish and dish to about six feet, which, without them, would be about 12 feet apart. Of late he has had the surprising sagacity to discover that apples will make pies, and it is a question, if, in the violence of his efforts, we do not get one of apples instead of having both of beefsteaks. If the ladies can put up with such entertainment, and will submit to partake of it on plates once tin but now iron (not become so by the labor of scouring), I shall be happy to see them.

Canned Figs.

Select firm, ripe fruit, and can it at once. Do not bruise the figs while picking. Green figs will shrivel, sunburned ones will be tough. Grade the fruit, and precook from three to six minutes. This will remove objectionable flavors, soften the fruit, and facilitate packing a well filled jar. Pack the figs in jars or cans, and steam for 30 minutes. Add heavy sugar syrup and process 1½ hours at boiling. Use the water in which the fruit was precooked to make the syrup.

Canned figs seem to be replacing the long honored, though overly sweet, fig preserve.

Spiced Figs.

Grade and wash firm, ripe figs. Pre-cook them from two to six minutes. Drop into a boiling mixture made of six pounds sugar, four quarts water, two quarts vinegar, and one-fourth ounce each of whole cloves, cinnamon and allspice in a spice bag. Boil until the figs are transparent, then allow to stand over night. If the syrup is thin, drain off the fruit and concentrate the syrup by boiling. Return to the fruit, heat to boiling, and seal.

Fig Spread.

Use the broken and over-ripe figs. Clip off the stems, and run the fruit through a coarse food grinder. Measure, place in heavy aluminum kettle, and cook until thickened. Add one-half to three-fourth measure of sugar per measure of fruit, and cook to 221 degrees F. Pack in hot jars, seal, and process by boiling five minutes. This makes a wholesome spread for lunches, and is fine when used in cake fillings and ice cream.

New Home Improved At Little Expense

Mrs. Wilmer James recently moved into a new house near Dunedin and with a few dollars spent for curtains and paint has created an artistic effect of simple charm, according to Mrs. Joy Belle Hess, home demonstration agent. In one of the bedrooms with $3.66 worth of calico print in peach, blue, and yellow she made draperies, a bedspread with attached bolsters, and ruffled stool and dressing table covers. Mats of linoleum, as well as a rag rug, match the colors in the print.

Fine Truck Crops Program Arranged For Farmers' Week

When some 2,000 farmers and home makers gather at the University at Gainesville Monday, Aug. 10, for the 10th annual Farmers' Week, those interested in growing truck crops and ornamentals will find unusually interesting special programs planned for them. They are scheduled to make a complete tour of the College and Experiment Station farms Monday afternoon, and to attend many other educational and entertaining features planned for the entire group.

One of the main speakers Wednesday will be H. C. Thompson, head of the vegetable crops department of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. He will discuss strains and variety studies as well as premature seeding. Other topics to be discussed will be the effect of climatic factors on Florida truck crops, potato fertilizers and cover crops, vegetable production costs and competition, and the progress of co-operative marketing. The latter will be discussed by R. H. English, manager of the Florida Vegetable Growers, Inc., while the other topics will be handled by College of Agriculture workers.

The special ornamental program will begin Thursday afternoon when flowering bulbs, roses, lawns and foundation plantings will be discussed by Experiment Station workers and N. A. Reasoner, Osceo nurseryman. The program will continue Friday morning with asparagus fern insects, mealy bugs on bulbs, flower thrips, and diseases of ornamentals as the main topics.

SUNDAY GAME GOES TO SEBRING FIREMEN

Extra Inning Gives Win To Sebring Over Avon Park Three To Two

Before a record crowd, for a Sunday game, of about 1200 fans, the Sebring Independents took an extra inning game Sunday from Avon Park 3 to 2, at Cardinal Field.

Going into the tenth with the score tied at two all Ewing poled out a clean single over second with Ivings on third for the winning run. Avon Park failed to score in their half of the tenth.

Pollard, of Sebring, and Dilley of the Metros engaged in one of those nip and tuck battles where it was anyone's game until the final out. "Batch" was relieved by Koneman in the seventh with no one out and two on base. Pollard hurled his usual steady game and gave up but six hits, fanned two and walked none. Dilley handed out but six hits during his stay on the hill while his relief, Koneman was touched for seven.

Avon Park scored first in the fourth frame as D. Martin tripled to left to open the inning. Dilley attempted to put on the squeeze play and fouled the ball and a play was made for the runner coming home, Wheeler to Parker but the ball got by third and the runner scored.

Dilley was thrown out at first on the next play. Bass doubled, and scored on C. Martin's single. Lawhorn and Koneman flied to H. Long at second for the next two outs.

The Firemen brought in two tallies in the seventh as Dimberline, first up drove one through Bass at first, Big Tom taking second on the play. Parker singled through the box and Dimberline scored. Ewing singled Parker to third, Dilley was replaced by Koneman. J. Long and Parker attempted to work the squeeze play and Parker was run down between third and home. Joe fanned. Wheeler got an infield hit. Pollard collected his third hit of the game and Mackay went out pitcher to first for the third out.

The final and winning run came in the tenth as Ivings, first up, worked the pitcher for the only walk of the game. Long popped to second. Dimberline singled. Parker forced Tom at second with a fielder's choice. Ewing came through with a clean single to score Ivings from third. Pollard had a perfect day at bat with four singles in his four trips to the plate.

Rev. Hancock Reviews Edward Bok's Life.

Rev. A. H. Hancock gave a very interesting review of The Americanization of Edward Bok at the library on Tuesday afternoon.

Beginning with the life of Bok from the time that he and the other members of his family arrived in America from the Netherlands, Rev. Hancock reviewed the early struggle of the immigrant boy for an education and recognition in this land of opportunity that was in later life to treat him so kindly.

As a magazine editor, which career he early decided to make his life work, Bok was highly sucessful and at the head of one of the country's largest woman's publications, wielded a mighty influence throughout the nation. He numbered presidents and statesmen and notables of both Europe and America as among his close friends and associates. Henry Ward Beecher and Eugene Fields were warm personal friends.

In concluding the review Rev. Hancock quoted Bok as saying, "A greater privilege can no man have than to have a part in America's program."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR JULY 26, 1931

SUBJECT: Christianity Spread by Persecution.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." 1 Peter 2:10.

LESSON TEXT: Acts 7:59 to 8:4; 11:19—21.

TIME:Stephen's death occurred about A. D. 36, and the congregation at Antioch was organized some 7 years later.

INTRODUCTION:

"In the first eight chapters of Acts are given the rapid development of persecution against the new church. When the Holy Spirit came upon the waiting disciples the enemies of the Lord looking upon the scene, said the men were drunk. They made the st atement, "mocking." Following the healing of the cripple at the Beautiful Gate, Peter and John were arrested. When their hearing came, they were threatened, commanded to cease preaching about Jesus, and then released. The same enemies arrested and imprisoned all the apostles. They were released only after they had been beaten. When Stephen entered upon a career of great soul-winning, he was arrested. He was taken out of the city and stoned to death. Upon the death of Stephen a general persecution broke out all over Jerusalem, and not only men but women also were thrown into prison. Paul had a part in those imprisonments and when the Christians were put to death he gave his voice against them."

"Up to this time the great revival had centered in Jerusalem. First it was three thousand in one day, then daily additions of great numbers, then five thousand at one time, then multitudes believed. There may have been from 50,000 to 100,000 believers by the time Stephen was killed. This was the end of the revival in Jerusalem. The revival fire had been beaten almost out; but the beating of the fire scattered the embers in every direction. The spiritual advantages which Jerusalem rejected were offered to other cities."

The scripture lesson begins: "And they stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

"And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep."

Stoning was the Jewish method of inflicting the death penalty. In Deut. 13: 9-10, the punishment of the idolater is thus mentioned, "Thou shalt surely kill him—thou shalt stone him with stones, that he die."

In killing Stephen the Jews acted as a mob, for the Roman law did not permit them to inflict the death penalty. The Jews prayed standing, but Jesus often kneeled down in prayer, and Stephen kneeled and cried, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit," and "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge." And then "he fell asleep." Our troubles in this life will seem small, if when death comes our trust and relations with God and Christ are such that we may ask them to receive our spirit, and then fall asleep in death.

Saul was then persecuting the christians, and "was consenting unto his death." "And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles."

Why were not the apostles also scattered?

The apostles were natives of Palestine fully accustomed to the worship of the priests and temple. Stephen and many of the church were Grecians (foreign born) and not so well acquainted with nor obedient to the temple worship nor the Hebrew customs.

We may assume that "the apostles chose to remain in Jerusalem to help keep the church going in spite of the persecution."

Saul "made havoc of the church—and hailing men and women committed them to prison. Therefor they that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the gospel."

Philip (one of the deacons) went to Samaria, preaching and healing the sick, until Peter and John came to Samaria and took charge of the work. Then Philip was sent south where he met the Ethiopian prince who was converted, and by Philip baptised.

"Now they which were scattered abroad travelled as far as Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but unto the Jews only."

"And some of them, when they were come to Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, preaching the Lord Jesus.

"And a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord."

Persecution probably never destroys any cause founded on truth. The scattered christians became missionaries. They not only preached the doctrine, but lived it. This dispersion of the church took the teachings of Christ to the Gentiles of many countries. They preached Jesus as the Christ, the son of God, the sacrifice for sins of all who would accept him, and our advocate with God. Is he your Saviour and advocate?

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain, wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

NEW GREEN FRUIT LAW COMPROMISE

Adds Some New Requirements and Lowers Some Old Ones

A compromise of a compromise, the new "green fruit" law clearly shows the confusion that exists in the state on what actually constitutes "maturity," says the Sealed-sweet Chronicle.

The new law lowers certain of the maturity factors as expressed in the old law, and on the other, it adds certain factors not considered in the old.

Most important, however, in the opinion of most of those concerned with the welfare of the industry, the new law makes enforcement more practicable, a point declared by many to be of more importance than technical provisions.

Under the new law it is not necessary to prove that an alleged violator "willfully and knowingly" violated provisions of the law, a loophole which virtually prevented convictions in the past.

The new law permits the inspection of all packing house records pertaining to receipts from groves and packing house runs. It requires that the inspection department be notified when a house runs two or more lots of fruit simultaneously and also the number of boxes in each lot so run. This last provision should help to eliminate attempts to run in a high test lot of fruit to "sweeten" a dubious lot.

Concerning the technical standards of maturity laid down by the new law, there are decided changes in all three varieties of fruit. The principal points of the law with the comparable requirements of the old law and the recommendations of the "composite" committee, constituting the original compromise follow:

The new law requires that tangerines shall have a minimum ratio of total soluble solids to anhydrous citric acid of 7 to 1. The old law require 8 to 1; the composite committee recommended 7.50 to 1.

The new law adds the requirement of a minimum of 7½ percent of soluble solids for oranges, not contained in the old law. The composite committee recommended 8½ percent of soluble solids. The ratio of 8 to 1 that appeared in the old law is continued in the new and also was recommended by the composite committee.

The new law sets the minimum of soluble solids in grapefruit at 8 percent. The old law specified 8.50 percent and the composite committee recommended 8 percent.

The new law requires the ratio of 6.50 to 1 on a solids content of 8 to 9 percent; the old law started with a ratio of 7 to 1 for 8.50 percent solids content graduated downward one-tenth of a point for each one-tenth of one percent increase in solids percentage. The change coincides with the composite committee recommendation.

From 9 percent solids content on the new law decreases the ratio five-hundredths of a point for each one-tenth of one percent increase in solids content. Under the schedule in the old law from 9 percent of solids and up, the ratio requirement is five-hundredths of a point higher than the new. However, the tolerance allowed under the old law is not included in the new. The composite committee recommended that the graduation as under the old law be continued.

Following is the graduation from 9 percent and up in both the new and the old law:

Solids	Ratios
percent	New	Old
9-9.1	6.45	6.50
9.1	6.40	6.45
9.2	6.35	6.40
9.3	6.30	6.35
9.4	6.25	6.30
9.5	6.20	6.25
9.6	6.15	6.20
9.7	6.10	6.15
9.8	6.05	6.10
9.9	6.00	6.05
10.	5.95	6.00
10.1	5.90	5.95
10.2	5.85	5.90
10.3	5.80	5.85
10.4	5.75	5.80
10.5	5.70	5.75
10.6	5.65	5.70
10.7	5.60	5.65
10.8	5.55	5.60
10.9	5.50	5.55
11.	5.50	5.50

In the old law the graduation continued downward to 5.00 to 1 as the solids percentage increased from 11 to 12 percent. The new law makes the minimum ratio therefore 5.50 to 1 instead of 5.00 to 1.

Juice content for grapefruit in the new law is higher for every size in the new law than the scale used in the emergency last fall. Except for the smallest sizes, it is 10 cubic centimeters lower than recommended by the composite committee. The three scales, new law, the composite and the emergency, are as follows:

Size	c.c
28	235
36	220	230
46	207	215	185
54	190	200	175
64	170	180	155
70	150	160	135
80	145	145	125
96	125	125	105
126	105	105	90

It will be noticed that the juice requirements for the smallest sizes are the same in the new law as was recommended by the composite committee. The new law does not include 150's which would automatically put them under the minimum requirement for 126's if any 150's were shipped.

No Depression Shown In Buying of Truck Fleets

Large industries in their purchase of automobiles in fleet quantities for commercial use apparently are paying little attention to "buying lulls" an depression, a survey of Chevrolet's fleet sales for the first six months of the year discloses.

During this period fleet sales increased 9.4 per cent over the same period last year, 71 per cent over the first six months of 1929, and came within 2,000 units of equaling the figure for the full year of 1929. These figures include passenger cars and trucks purchased by large companies who contract to take a given amount of equipment within an agreed period.

The gain already recorded this year over previous years is expected to be maintained throughout the year 1931 in line with the domestic sales expectations recently expressed by H. J. Klinger, vice-president and general sales manager.

Not only have sales of fleet units gained this year over previous half-years, but the number of fleet users likewise has increased until today practically every large fleet operator in the country numbers Chevrolets among his equipment, according to Sidney Corbett, manager of the commercial car division. Among the largest users are the United States Government, public utility, tire and rubber, packing house, telephone, telegraph and express companies. Of nearly 500 users of Chevrolet fleet equipment, 73 have purchased 27,606 units to date, Mr. Corbett said.
