Was there ever an October in Florida—or anywhere—that behaved itself better? There have been few days in the month that weren't perfect.

Aimee Semple McPherson and her husband have gone on a cruise as a "rest" cure. Trust they will enjoy the rest as much as the public will. Make it a good long cruise.

A family that might rate itself as poor in Avon Park enjoys more comforts of living than royalty had a century or two ago, or wealthy people had only a few decades since.

Alfred E. Smith seems to have lost none of his hold upon the people, judging from the reception given him at his opening speech in behalf of Roosevelt.

Mr. Howey made a big mistake when he went out of his way to attack Governor Carlton and his administration. The Governor certainly got him told, incidentally cruelly exposing Mr. Howey's ignorance as regards State governmental matters.

No financier on earth like Mr. Howey. On one item of State expense now costing $200,000 he proposes to save $500,000; on another now costing $300,000 he promises to save $600,000. How's that for financial wizardry?

The more one hears or reads the utterances of Franklin D. Roosevelt the more one is impressed with the earnestness and sincerity of the man. He has definite ideas as to what may be done to improve conditions in this country—ideas that are sane and practical.

An inspiring sight is to observe the serious absorption with which a high school youth seeks to improve his score with the rick-rack—that being the name of the worthy successor to the yo-yo. Such concentration is wonderful training for tackling the problems of life.

The other day in Jacksonville Senator Fletcher was feted because he had been for 45 years a valuable member of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. Senator Fletcher has always lived up to every obligation of citizenship—whether it involved his city, his State or the nation.

If you started across a stream on an elephant, and your mount seemed determined to wander up and down the middle of the stream until he got you into water deep enough to drown you, you could hardly be blamed for jumping on a jackass that was making for the shore you wished to reach.

Heard the other day of a banker not far from here who was dictating some letters reminding customers of past due notes. Not being sure of the exact expression he should use, he asked the stenographer—stenographers being supposed to know everything—"Do you 'retire' a loan?" "No," she snapped; "I sleep with Mamma."

The Tampa Tribune urgently calls upon Mr. Howey to name the five men Mr. Howey declares "run the State of Florida." How Mr. Howey can refuse that reasonable demand we can not see. All the people of the State are tremendously interested in the identity of the five men who secretly and unknown to anybody except Mr. Howey, have been controlling the government of Florida. We have thought of Mr. Howey as being a rather smart man, but it is hard to reconcile this estimate with the ridiculous statements he has been making.

The depression has brought out many ingenious ways to make a living. Note a filling station worker near Tampa has made it his business to gather the butterflies that motorists who come into his station have picked up on their car fronts. He presses these and mounts them on trays under glass, thus producing a very beautiful article for which he finds frequent sales. Lots of people had rather take their place in the bread line than do the thinking and moderate work that might make them independent.

Sunday School Lesson

FOR OCTOBER 30, 1932.

SUBJECT: The Christian and Law Observance.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Whoever a man soweth, shall also reap." Gal. 6:7.

LESSON TEXT: Romans 13:1-7.

A PICTURE OF A DRUNK-AID: "Who hath weeping hath sorrow? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at wine; they that go to seek mixed wine. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. Thine eyes shall behold strange women, and thine heart shall utter perverse things. Yea, thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast. They have stricken me, and thou say, and I was not sick; they have beaten me, and I felt it not; when shall I awake? I will seek it yet again."

In speaking of laws and their observance the Apostle Paul said, "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. Wherefore be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake, for they are God's ministers, attending continually upon this very thing. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour."

A writer says, "There was so much in Christianity that was opposed to the wicked way of Rome that without this rule of obedience the Christians would have felt themselves urged constantly to revolution and revolt, and the church, in contests with the civil powers, would soon have been destroyed."

Another quotes the phrase, "He that resisteth the power; standeth the ordinance of God," and says that those who advise and practice violation of the prohibition law, or any law law, are well-fittingly violating God's law as well as the laws of their country; that such persons cannot be and are not good citizens. "Whether they be United States Senators, College Presidents or day laborers."

We now find even some "Ministers" who preach and (some probably practice) violation of the laws of the land. We even find State and Federal Judges who refuse to enforce some of the laws because they do not like them.

In speaking of the rulers (Governors, Judges, Sheriffs, Magistrates, Mayors, Policemen, etc.) Paul says, "For he is the minister of God to thee for good."

Every official who tries to obey and enforce the laws we have is carrying out, not only the laws of our country, but also the laws of God; and it is the duty of every citizen to support and encourage such officials.

Not only are the officials blameable for non-enforcement of the laws, but each of us as citizens are duty bound to obey them and aid in causing others to do so. In speaking of law abidance Paul said, "Be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake." There are always several inducements to obey all moral, civil and criminal law, among which are: the fear of (or desire to avoid) punishment inflicted by officials, a desire to have freedom from a sense of guilt, and the comfort of a clear conscience, and a desire to help others to do right. In the last part of our lesson Paul urges a continual effort to obey laws of God and our country. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, shall also reap." For he that soweth to his flesh shall of flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap: if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith."

Do not forget the Golden Text. "Whoever a man soweth, shall also reap." for in nearly every case you will find that comes true. It is a fixed principle of human, moral and spiritual life.

In Matthew 22:21. Jesus said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

AVON PARK High School News

Fighting temptations daily Until the battle we're We've done our best, not failing; Now come the words, "well done."
—Madge Atchley.

"Friendship"

Love is to the human heart As sunshine to the flower; But friendship is the fairest thing
In this cold world of ours.
Friendship. What does that word mean to you? How many friends do you have? I mean real friends, not mere fair weather pals. They are surprisingly few are they not? Some of you can name two, some one and many of you none at all.
Don't judge your friends by Would they die for me? That would be necessary only once.
Judge them by their actions and words day by day. Are they considerate of your feelings? Do they always play fair? Do they give and take, or do they "take" only? Are they self-centered, using you as a background, only?
Are they interested in your affairs or are you merely an audience for their woes?
And then—turn the spotlight on yourself. What kind of friend are you to others? Apply the same questions to yourself.
Friendship is a wonderful thing. It gives one a sense of security and general good-fellowship. When all the world turns blue there is something to turn to for comfort. Friendship is the greatest gift you who are without one know how great. All of us have "friends" but who has a friend?

Doing Our Best

Each individual who comes into the world has a part to play.
Regardless of whether it is the role of a knight and a warrior, man, or that of a humble servant, it is the duty of that particular individual to play his part according to the ability that has been given to him.
Then, too, each person is given a certain number of talents, and it is up to him to develop those talents and to use them to the betterment of humanity. If we fail to develop our God-given talents, then we have also failed to do our best.

It should be the aim and the ambition of each boy and girl, especially at the high school age, to do his or her best at home, at school and later in the broad field of life.

First, doing your best at home.
I do not mean by doing the most work, that is only an attempt, but I mean by taking your home life and every day living, an example for others. Live daily a life which will cause your mind and vocabulary to develop in thoughts and words that are pure and need not be left off in public.

Second, doing your best at school, not necessarily making the highest grades but by being clean, having good sports, being well polite and obedient and after this in my estimation comes scholarship.

Then, if up to this time, we have done our best, what has happened to us? Simply this, we have developed our minds to deal with the best things in life. We have come in contact with the best people and we are ready to take ourselves, and to keep on doing our best to make the world a better place for others.

Doing our best at home, Doing our best for others, Remembering our Golden Rule.

Senior News

At last the magazine contest is over—and what a strenuous week it was! The Juniors won, but that doesn't mean we were really licked. With their superior number they should have won more than they did. Right at the last, they thought we had "em beat, and did they look sad and defeated!

We're going to have one more big time Friday—sleep all morning and go to the football game in the afternoon. These occasional holidays surely are a great help. But pity the poor teachers —they'll put in a full day just the same.
I almost forgot the Pirate party we're giving the Juniors tonight (Wednesday) at Le Rux before When we finish with "em they'll probably wish they'd lost the contest. Rumors of "spite" and "win-ing" and other punishments of unspeakable hardness are flying around the Senior room. Each Senior is picking up her "victims" and his own choice torture.
O, Gee, I feel sorry for some of them—and they'll probably feel sorry for themselves, too, before it's over.

Since there is no school Friday, we're expecting a big attendance at the football game. No excuses accepted. Come on, let's help the boys knock the stuffings out of "Choze".

Junior News

Well folks, I know you've heard about the contest that was "all over" the shouting, haven't you?
Our contest is all over and may I add that the shouting may not be over but it's been well done so far. It was a hard fight and a close battle but to the great satisfaction of about thirty Juniors we were adjudged the winners.
As Juniors we'd like to personally thank each of you who helped us for your moral as well as financial support. We won and a great deal of the credit goes to you, our friends, who subscribed. The final count gave us thirteen sixty-two subscriptions and the Seniors fifty-eight.

Just picture the excitement, if you can, that morning around 8:15. After eight long days of being salesmen we were waiting to learn the outcome to be given us by the Seniors. We're all going to be big, bad, bold pirates this Wednesday night. It's a school night but for once in our lives we're going to celebrate big.
Because of other conflicts until Thanksgiving they have kindly given us permission to "break training." Our sponsors promised us an addition of five dollars to our class treasury providing we live and win. We're going to win the winning class a theatre party.
These plans will be disclosed after we materialize.
Here to our grand old faculty.

We all feel like cheering everybody. Who wouldn't? Those broad, wide Junior smiles are really good for what ails you. Have you noticed them? The Seniors are class downcast but cheer up, Juniors, we'll be long about giving our banquet—then you can smile big for us.

Forgot to tell you last week about the class. We're Robert Roberts being elected assistant cheer leader. That place was left vacant when Robert Stewart resigned.

Just want to say hello to a sophomore class mate who is now attending Riverside.

That's all for today, folks. I'll be seeing you.
—Evelyn Clements.

"Jus' Gossip"

We wonder why? That certain Juniors are going around saying that if they had lost they would have given the Seniors a twenty dollar party. It sounds fishy to me. I wonder if it's just said for effect.

Of course we, who are Juniors truly, are neither "Junior Seniors" and that isn't the half of it; if people could have heard a certain bunch of Seniors this morning in a certain class fussing about certain things (the main thing being the contest) they'd be glad they weren't either one. O, well, everybody has his ups and downs. Believe me, from what I hear the Seniors are going to give the Juniors one swell party of course they always do, but this is to be a better one.

Let's leave the two upper classes and gossip about the other two classes in high school for awhile.
It seems that the Sophomores have gotten some swell school spirit up this year and they're getting to be a well known class.
Well, here's hoping they keep it up.

The "freshies" of course are feeling their importance since this year gets perfect silence.
But they'll come down a notch or two.

Now, I guess we've said enough for one week but we'll be seeing you.
So long—
—Jus' Two Kids.

Little Country School

There's a dear, old meeting place With its strict, but golden rule Where the children all like to gather.

At the little country school.
There's a weather beaten roof Over-looking a mossy dell.
And the cool, fresh water Is drawn from an old, open well.
There the harsh school teacher Often raises his voice or tool And gets perfect silence.

In that little country school.
Sometimes their education is limited.
And often they never learn more Than is taught in the little country school.
With the vines over the door.
If you've ever been one of them And have roamed the country through.
You'll always cherish the memory Of the little country school.
—Pauline Best.

Sophomore

Did anybody hear a big noise up town last Friday night? Well I guess it is my place to tell you what it was all about. The Sophomores had a big theatre party.
Mr. Kistler let us all come in for a dime (no wonder there was so many present). That's not the half of it; however, we had an other big "blow-out" after the show out at West Beach Hotel.
We had six teachers for chaperons, too.

Are the Sophs big and bold?
Well hold anyone, yes sir they've challenged any class in high school to have as nice a home room as they have Friday afternoon for the teacher's convention. There will be a prize to the winning class.

Now this week is the third row's time to get their fortunes told. You know I started this business weeks ago and am I having a time. I need a body guard most of the time. Well here goes.
Sally Moore—as far as we can see in the future will be a downing beauty strutting up and bathing some most fashionable beach.
And Gunda Hunt will probably, in due time, become the fat lady in some big carnival company's show. And Mr. Fairley has promised. Would I pay a dime to see that show? Well I guess so.

H. L. Bishop we see sleeping his time away, trying to make "Rip Van Winkle" a real thing to the modern generation.

That's all for today, folks. I'll
be seeing you.
—Myrtle Turner.

Freshman News

Sara Lucy Trent and Madge Atchley are the committee to arrange our home room for the teachers' meeting Friday. We are sure to win that prize.

It's surprising to know that eight states and one foreign country are represented in our class.
They are as follows:

Arizona	1
Alabama	8
California	11
Tennessee	2
Ohio	1
Missouri	1
Pennsylvania	1
Florida	19
Avon Park	4
Honolulu	1

This week we have some jokes: Miss Pearson: Jimmie, if you don't sit up straight you'll look like a question mark coming in the door.

Jimmie: Miss Pearson, if I don't grow some, I'll look like a period.

Brents Durance: Telegraph is a wonderful thing. We can hear about a man being shot in very long minutes after the accident.

Mr. Mumma: Yes, Brents; we can almost hear him grant.
Mr. Carmichael: Billie, name the ways to communication or to speak.
Billie Martin: Telegraph and telephone, but the quickest way is tell a woman.

Miss Atchley: How old is Lindbergh?
Dorrie Baldwin: Don't worry, Miss Atchley, he's married.
Clarice Thomas.

7-A Grade

Well, people, we are all scared.
Friday we had a history test and Monday we had a geography test.
I guess everyone in the room "flunked." We will have to hand it to Miss Pearson and Mr. Smith though because the tests weren't very hard. We are having a mathematics test today but Mrs.
Skipper won't make it very hard.
We will have you better news next week. We are sure you will enjoy this.
—Evelyn Martin.

8-A Grade

Thursday ends another month of school. We can hardly believe we've been going to school two months. If the months to come pass as quickly as these first two have, school will come to a close all too soon. We all hope that

Friday the Red Devils beat tight game. The winning points were made when Maddox intercepted a pass and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. The Haines City team had some good playing, but they have never before defeated Avon Park and we hope, never will. This is the first time the November 4—Auburndale, here.

November 11—Punta Gorda,

Four Unusually Fine Film Features at the New Circle Theatre

Starting with "Hat Check Girl," Friendly Theatre" has arranged four exceptionally fine feature attractions for his patrons. "Hat Check Girl" although a very short film, running only 64 minutes, picks a lot of human interest stuff and has a little of everything, including a very few "risque" spots that are more than offset by the rest of the clean and whole-very youngest children and par-woman's picture but may possibly be enjoyed by men, however, there is absolutely nothing in the picture that will appeal to the chilprehension and will prove uninter-
