CITRUS EXCHANGE EXPENSE REDUCTION

Past Six Years Shows Big Cut in Expenses in All Departments

Tampa, June 1. — (Special.) Savings of an average of $1,500,000.00 in packing, operating and marketing expense were effected by the growers who compose the Florida Citrus Exchange on their ten million box output for 1930-31, in comparison with the costs for the same items in 1924-25, the last season before the present management was placed in charge. It is disclosed in a survey made by the Florida Citrus Exchange in the June number, out today.

"Continuing reductions, extended over the six year period, have given an average lowering of 17.4 in the sub-exchange output and a saving of 24 percent in the sales expenditures at Tampa headquarters and in the northern offices. More money was spent for advertising in 1930-31 than in 1924-25," the story says. "Of 49 local associations for which figures are available on costs in 1930-31 as compared with 1924-25, all but five showed marked decreases. In the '30-31 season, the average per box expense of the 49 associations was 62.4 cents, while in 1924-25 it had been 75 cents. The greatest of the reductions was from $1.16 to 62 cents, and the smallest from 62 cents to 61 cents."

"Six out of ten sub-exchanges in continuous existence were operated at a lower cost than the last season of the period than the last. Disbursements of all ten averaged 21 cents a box in 1930-31 as against 2.5 cents for 1924-25. The biggest drop was from 5.2 cents to 2.4 cents and the smallest from 1.4 cents to 1 cent. "Weighted averages applied to the statistics would make them even more impressive in respect to the amounts of money saved to the growers by the increasing efficiency reflected in lessened advertising and sub-exchange costs. In most of the cases, the reductions have been the greatest in the units with the heaviest volume."

"Costs of selling functions exercised by the Tampa headquarters and in the offices at the north directly under its control were lowered to 1924-25 cents per box in 1930-31 from 1.06 cents which had been expended upon them in 1924-25. Advertising outlay increased to $487,000 from $381,000 in 1924-25, which it had been in 1924-25. "Estimate of a minimum saving of $1,500,000.00 was arrived at by applying the average reduction in cost of a little over 16 cents a box to a turnover of approximately 10,000,000 boxes. Obviously, the sum would be lost for the larger if the weighted average basis had been employed in the calculations."

"In some degree," it is pointed out in conclusion, "the lower costs were made possible by the larger volume of fruit handled and by reduced price levels on supplies, but no means would these factors account for the major portion of them. The total tonnage of the Florida Citrus Exchange in 1924-25 was in excess of 6,000,000 boxes."

Negro Farmers Have Plenty To Eat But 'Ain't Got No Money'

The negro farmer of Florida usually answers "Yes sir, Boss, we got plenty to eat but we ain't got no money," when asked about their condition, explains W. T. Nettles, district agent of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, who has recently visited a large number of negro farms with the negro county agents in the central part of the state.
In one of the counties, 25 farms were visited and all except one reported plenty of home-grown supplies to take care of the family and live-stock needs. This one had cornbread, potatoes, and peas, but no meat. Practically everyone of the other negro farmers had a garden with a number of vegetables in it. A few chickens, and a couple of pigs, and many of them had a milk cow. Some of them had as high as a thousand pounds of home-cured meat, and most of them had a fair supply.
Living at home is one of the major things which the negro county agents and home demonstration agents are advocating, under the guidance of the white extension specialists. There are seven negro county agents and seven negro home demonstration agents, located in 13 Florida counties, and two state supervisors.

Rust - Mites Do Most Damage To Citrus In June

June is the month when rust-mites are likely to do most damage to the crop of oranges, according to J. R. Watson, entomologist with the Florida Experiment Station. They do not rare for citrus until the oil glands begin to appear in the rind. Then they cause the well known russeting which lowers the quality of the fruit. Rust-mites do most damage during hot, dry weather, and those are the conditions likely to prevail just before the rainy season.

Since rust-mites multiply rapidly, groves should be watched carefully. The rust-mite remedy is sulphur, either in the form of a dust or a spray or lime-sulphur spray. The economical way to combat rust-mites is to be constantly on the watch and find them first. To find the mites growers must have a small hand lens, which should magnify 10 times. They can be seen by the naked eye, but those that have been killed by fungus diseases will be brownish in color and of course, inactive. A few trees in all parts of the grove should be examined every few days. On trees fully exposed to the sun the mites prefer the north side, while on shaded trees most of them are likely to be found on the south side. When any considerable number are found, say usually two or three under the small lens, the affected trees should be sprayed with dust.

Dusting is quicker, and more practical for the larger groves, and a better coverage is usually obtained if it is done in the evening. Dust does not kill the eggs, and must not be washed off within three days or all the eggs may not hatch and be killed. Spraying is usually cheaper, and more practical for the small grower. Mr. Watson recommends a 1 to 50 or 60 formula for rust-mites, which will also kill spotted mites. A 1 to 40 is best if purple mites are present.

Lime-sulphur will burn tender fruit if it is applied when the temperature is over 90 degrees. Neither the sulphur spray or dust should be applied for at least two weeks after the onset of an emulsion spray.

To Build Exhibition House of Material Produce In Florida

Deland, June 1. — (Special.) — While in Chicago a few days ago, Earl W. Brown, general manager of the Florida exhibit at the Century of Progress exposition, arranged for an exhibit in what will be known as the "Housing Group." The Florida exhibit will consist of a model Florida home built of Florida materials exclusively. It will afford a wonderful opportunity for showing the world the beauties of Florida travertine, foratite, brain coral, coquina rock, pecky cypress, and other materials found in this state. Travertine has been brought in great quantities from Italy, for some of the finest buildings in the United States. It is believed that the "Housing Group" at Chicago next year, will afford an excellent opportunity to let the world know that this splendid building material, as well as the other mentioned, can be found on this side of the Atlantic.

Deland, June 1. — (Special.) — Wednesday, Oct. 18, 1933, has been set apart as Florida's special day at the Century of Progress exposition, and the fact has been accepted by the Florida commission.

Hogs Bring Better Price When Sold On Early Market

Hogs, as a rule, bring from two to three cents a pound more in September than in January; thus it seems advisable for Florida farmers to market their hogs as early as possible. D. E. Timmons, marketing specialist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, recently explained in a radio address from WRUF.

Most of Florida's hogs are sold during the winter when there is a surplus for sale and prices are lower. Florida producers should rightfully claim the early fall market, since their climate permits the growing of feed crops much earlier than in the Corn Belt. We are not sure just how much more it costs to get a pig ready for the market in September than in December, Mr. Timmons said, but it does seem that a farmer can afford to go to a little extra expense and trouble to get from $4 to $6 more for each 200-pound hog by fattening it for the early market.

Winter prices have usually improved by March, but during the last two years this was not the case. This change is likely due to the depression, to less foreign buying, and to storage holdings. With these facts in mind, the prospects for hog prices during the next year are not so bright as they were in September and October, but they will be from two to three cents less by December, and that they will not improve until March.

Facing such an outlook, farmers must do two things. They must market their hogs as early as possible to get the best prices, and they must cut production costs to the very bottom. Every labor and feed saving device should be used, plus the use of cheap feed. It should be raised at home, and some form of sanitation system should be adopted to insure against worm infestation and thus prevent loss of pigs due to injury of meat from this cause. Mr. Timmons advised talking the matter over with the county agent.

The Time Is Here! You Must Decide!

VOTE WISELY
Tuesday
AND ELECT
Franklin O. King

State Commissioner of Agriculture

A business man for a business job.

During six years legislative service, Senator King has always voted and fought for the agricultural interests of Florida.

His first declaration in this campaign was: "I will enforce the fruit law WITHOUT FEAR OF FAVOR." He has repeated and emphasized it throughout. He means it. Franklin O. King, as state commissioner of Agriculture, will put an end to green fruit shipments, stop importation of bootleg eggs and milk, and correct other evils of the present system. He will put economy and service together and redeem Florida's vast Agricultural wealth by aiding the man who most of all of us, needs help—the grower, producer and shipper and must have it to warrant a return of normal times.

SO, LISTEN TO THIS! Four more years is a long time to bear the consequences of extravagance and inefficiency characterizing the present state agricultural administration. To change these conditions, YOU Must Act—ACT NOW!

King has the experience, strength, energy and grit to pull us out. LET'S GIVE HIM THE VOTE TUESDAY!

(Paid for by Friends and Supporters of Franklin O. King)

To the Citizens of Highlands County:

FOR over seven years I have worked continuously and constructively to place the public schools of Highlands county in the position they now occupy, ranking amongst the very best schools in the state of Florida. Our graduates enter college without examination and their work is highly spoken of by the college officials in our state.

The financial condition of our school system has been placed on a fine, solid foundation. I would appreciate your electing me for another term because I believe my experience in the office will enable me to advance the schools and look after the interests of the same better than ever before.

Your Continued Support Will be Appreciated.

F. N. K. BAILEY

at a conservative figure," I stated. "Yes," Mr. Dulaney added, "my estimate is a little more than that."

W. R. Ireland of Avon Park absolutely refused to discuss his chances. When questioned about the vote, Mr. Ireland said, "There isn't a bit of doubt but that if every man and woman in the county who is engaged in business will vote for me, I can safely assume that my opponents will so split the remaining votes among themselves that I will go in with a comfortable margin."

Doyle Schupenhauer of Sebring was not quite as optimistic as his opponents. "If all the 2438 qualified voters in this county stand by me as they have said they will, there is little hope for the other candidates to win in the first primary," Mr. Schupenhauer said. "I hardly think the second primary will be necessary, just between you and I," he added in a very confidential tone.

And there you have it folks. Two Senators and four Sheriffs. Now I claim that we voters have got to get together and straighten this thing out. Times have been bad enough with one Senator and one Sheriff for the past four years and just think what a rumpus the 66 counties in the state would make if we put anything over like that.

Florida Dairymen Spend Unnecessary Millions For Grain

Dairymen of Florida annually send millions of dollars out of the state for feeds which would not be needed if the right kind of green feeds were grown, explains Hamilton L. Brown, dairy specialist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service. When milk prices are low the dairymen must cut costs somewhere and Mr. Brown proposes the saving of this vast amount of money that goes out of the state for grain feeds.

One of the nationally known commercial feed companies has issued a chart giving information about the needs of the dairy cow. This chart states that a cow giving two gallons of milk a day does not need any grain if she is kept on a lush green pasture and supplied with salt and bonebait. There are many such cows in the state but most of them are being fed high priced grain instead of the green pasture and forage crops, he said.

Results of two years' experiments at the Louisiana Experiment Station with cows on pasture and roughage with little or no grain indicates that the production is about 61 percent of that for cows on pasture and a full grain ration. Over a three year period at the same station the cost of butterfat per pound was 19 cents less during the period of summer pasture than during the winter months.

If milk is selling at below $1.20 per hundred pounds, Mr. Brown believes that the most economical production is obtained from cows on good pasture and roughage. Among the best crops for Florida dairymen to grow for green forage or to cut and store in the silo are cattail or pearl millet, sorghum, Japanese cane, and cowpeas. Corn and soybeans make a crop on the most fertile soils. Cattail millet, cowpeas, Sudan and other grasses may be sown in rows to graze during the summer over a wide area of the state. Permanent pastures can be established and will furnish grazing throughout most of the year in Florida.

HARDEE ASKS SUPPORT ON TAX RELIEF PROGRAM

Voters Should Send Representatives To Support Reduction In State Expense

Live Oak, June 1.—Voicing a pre-election appeal in behalf of candidates for legislature, former Governor Cary A. Hardee, who is himself a candidate for governor at the June 7th primaries, has asked that the voting citizens of Florida send representatives to the state legislature who will support a program of tax relief and reduction in governmental expense.

Mr. Hardee has strongly urged the necessity for certain definite measures in state government and has based his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination upon these points. In turn, he is now appealing to voters to support his policies by sending legislators to

Tallahassee who will lend assistance in the following program:

1. Coordination of state departmental expenses.
2. Elimination of unnecessary governmental expense.
3. Support our common schools and institutions of learning to the limit of our financial ability.
4. Strengthen our banking laws to protect the depositor.
5. Conserve our natural resources, such as fish, game and minerals.
6. Reassessment of taxes on real estate in order to more equitably distribute the tax burden.
7. Assistance in working out the tax problems of counties, municipalities and districts upon more equitable basis.
8. Restoration of values to homes, businesses and lands.
9. Stop the reckless creation of money-spending agencies.

Mr. Hardee believes that with the support of a legislature committed to such a program, this state can go forward with a new outlook toward prosperity, unhampered by financial fetters and the accumulated debts of past administrations.

Here and There
About Avon Park

By W. M. Beckingham

Col. Lee's great race against Ernest Amos is a source of pride and satisfaction to his host of Highland county friends who supported him loyally through the campaign. In a sixty-day drive that swept the state he put over the most sensational campaign against the state machine that has been witnessed in many years. All indications point to a successful outcome of the second primary in Lee's favor.

The Baldwin-Bee race seems to be a settled issue. Some talk of a contest by Bee has failed to develop anything definite thus far, and indications are that nothing will come of it. Mr. Bee ran a strong race and is to be congratulated for the showing he made against one of the strongest men politically in the county.

Capt. Maynard is going ahead with plans for running in the second primary against Jack DeLaney. With one vote separating them, Maynard claims he is entitled to an absentee ballot marked for him, which the canvassing board is not allowed. As this is written, the board is awaiting a decision from the attorney general to determine whether or not to count it.

Ed DeLaney will enter the second primary with Doyle Schumacher in the run-off. The second race promises some fire works as supporters of the two begin to line up their forces. Schumacher had the advantage of strong factional backing both in Avon Park and Sebring in the first primary, while DeLaney ran entirely independent of any support. In Avon Park, Schumacher was carried on the Pardee "blue ticket," in a bitter fight against DeLaney. This ticket also received the support generally of the Haskell political faction in Sebring and the "Fire Station" crowd, the "little Tammany" of the county seat. DeLaney's chances for success in the run-off will depend upon whether or not the races just mentioned can hold their support together until the 28th, and whether or not the people of the county are willing to turn over their political destinies to this crowd. Mr. DeLaney is willing to enter the lists against them in a fair and square fight to the finish, trusting in the good judgment of the average citizen to vote his convictions independently and without fear or favor from any ring or faction that may be fighting him. He believes, as we do, that the people of the county will not sanction any such thing and will be his purpose in the campaign to call a spade a spade and throw some light in dark corners.

Changes Made By School Board In County Teachers

At a special adjourned meeting of the county board of public instruction held Friday several changes were made in the salaries of the county schools on the recommendations of the various local boards of trustees.

Miss Pearl Peters resigned from the grammar school of Avon Park and accepted the principalship of the Bassenger school. She did this so as to be with her father following the recent death of her mother. Miss Louise Houck of Sebring was appointed in her stead. Miss Houck has just graduated from the State College for Women at Tallahassee with the highest honors.

"Buck" Farde who taught the Fort Kissimmee school last year, was recommended again this year, resigned and accepted the principalship of the Sunnyside school on the recommendation of the local trustees there. Mrs. Joseph Reish was named assistant.

For the Sebring schools, A. B. Whitte, teacher for the past five years in the Okeechobee high school and a full college graduate, will have charge of the science department.

Miss Lois Kelley of Lake Placid was named assistant at the Bassenger school.

W. R. Johns Buried Tuesday

W. R. Johns died in a Sebring hospital Monday night, and was buried in Bogalville cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held from the Southside Baptist church, Rev. J. H. McClelland officiating.

The deceased had been in poor health for the past six years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emily Johns.

Polk County Growers Visit Citrus Station

More than 200 Polk county citrus growers met at Lake Placid last week for a program of talks about citrus production and for a visit of the Citrus Experiment Station.

Plans for the meeting were made by County Agent Frank Holland and S. F. Poole, local grower.

A tour of the experiments at the Experiment Station was made under the leadership of J. H. Jeffries, superintendent, who also gave a demonstration in budding and topworking citrus.

Among the speakers were E. F. DeBusk, citrusologist, and H. G. Clayton, district agent, with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, and J. R. Watson, entomologist, Dr. R. W. Rupprecht, assistant, and Dr. B. R. Fudge, assistant, with the Florida Experiment Station. Among the topics discussed were fertilizers, cultivation, cover crops, soil acidity, insects, the outlook, and propagation.

Cover Crops Started; Growers Should Stop Cultivation of Citrus

Since most of the citrus belt has gotten rain and the cover crops are getting a start it is time to stop cultivation, according to H. G. Clayton, district agent with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service.

To cultivate the grow row and tear up a young cover crop like rye or alfalfa or begonia would almost destroy the cover crop. Flowing through native grasses will also greatly reduce the amount of organic matter they will produce. If fertilizer is to be applied, Mr. Clayton suggested scattering it over the ground and letting the rain take it.

Growers who are anxious to cut the cost of production, and particularly to lower the fertilizer bill should think quite a bit before they allow the young growing crop to be destroyed. It is a well established fact that organic matter is important in a citrus soil and that some kind of a good cover crop is the most feasible way to add the organic matter along with large quantities of organic nitrogen.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks dark, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly seem vigorous and full of energy.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. One minute you're stomachy. You have a headache, bad taste and your breath is foul, and then you feel down and out. Your whole system is out of kilter.

It takes three good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless vegetable extracts, making them so easy on the stomach. Get a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the label. Beware of cheap imitations. 25-cent boxes. © 1931, C. M. C.

VALUE OF ARSENIC IN RIPENING FRUIT

Committee of Fifty Pleas For Growers To Be Open Minded

Winter Haven, June 8.—(Special.)—The question of the value of arsenical spray or the use of some other means of hastening maturity of Florida citrus should not be considered without proper study of the matter from all angles. This is the opinion of the Committee of Fifty presented in the Committee's own department of the Florida Clearing House News, official publication of the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Association. The Committee of Fifty makes a plea to all growers and shippers to be "open minded in our consideration of the question lest our preconceived aversion to arsenical sprays drives us to judge without due examination and reach decisions based on grounds other than reason or justice." An excerpt from the Committee of Fifty's page in the current issue of the News follows:

"Whether arsenic sprays should be used to hasten the maturity of citrus fruits is a much discussed question among growers at the present moment and the 'I'm for it' and the 'I'm against it' are having a wonderful time defending their positions.

"There is a state law which prohibits the use of arsenical spray in grapefruit and orange groves. This constitutional and integrity of this law was fully established in the various courts during the winter and the decision was in favor of the law. The decision established the validity and strength of the law and made it a precedent, mandatory but does not prove that the law is beneficial or harmful to the industry, and it may be that further investigation and scientific study of the question will show that the men who fought it were progressive in thought and pioneers in a forward movement. Let us all be open minded to our consideration of the question lest our preconceived aversion to arsenic sprays drives us to judge without due examination and reach decisions based on grounds other than reason or justice.

"Arsenical sprays on citrus fruits in the limited amounts used to hasten maturity do not impair the health of the consumer. This was clearly indicated during the fly campaign when fruit was shipped from trees that had been severely injured by repeated sprayings from excessively strong arsenical solutions. The amount of arsenic used in spraying citrus to hasten maturity is inconsequential when compared with that applied to other farm products that are a large part of the daily food of the nation. "Grapefruit from treated groves was the sweetest and most palatable of last fall's crop. The writer, a strong supporter of the present law, discovered last winter that grapefruit from crops that had been condemned because sprayed in violation of the law were more palatable and desirable for home use than fruit from his own grove. Other grapefruit from the same grove that he had bought and shipped to give the best, bought and shipped arsenated grapefruit in gift boxes to northern friends in preference to fruit from their own trees.

"Because of the juice content requirements for grapefruit it is no longer possible to ship juiceless fruit no matter how sweet, and the abuse of any spray or fertilizing material to hasten ripening of fruit is prevented by the minimum juice content requirements of the present green fruit law.

"Any means that will extend the marketing season for Florida fruit should be used unless it impairs the healthfulness, the palatability or juiciness of the fruit.

"It has been reported that the use of arsenic sprays destroys the vitamin content of citrus fruit. If this is true it is a strong argument against any change in the present law. Scientific laboratory work would prove the truth or falsity of this.

"Arsenic spray on some varieties of oranges renders them tasteless and insipid and there could be no modification of the law unless there are sufficient safeguards established to prevent any abuse of the liberties granted. Perhaps this could be done by the establishment of protective ratios similar to those used in the present green fruit law. "The State Department of Agriculture derives a large part of its income from the citrus industry. From green fruit enforcement charges, and the fertilizer tax. Its annual income so far exceeds its expenditures that it can pay large sums are diverted from its surplus to other state departments. This diversion of funds is only commendable if the department has exhausted its opportunities for useful service to agriculture. The department has several obligations to the citrus industry that it has failed to recognize and which are of primary importance and not the least of these is the hastening of research work looking to

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

By Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1931, by Wynne, Jr.

Which are the easier to handle, weak hands or strong hands? Most players probably will reply that strong hands are easier to bid and to play and that is probably true. Weak hands, as a rule, offer more problems than the strong ones, but the latter are frequently hard to handle.

The writer was watching a new Club member playing the other day and, as dealer, he passed a very strong hand. When asked why he did not, he replied: "The hand was so big, I didn't know what to do with it." This is not an uncommon fault, so let us be as open as possible in bidding and playing the strong hands as we play with the weak ones. In the play, particularly, one is apt to become careless with a big hand.

Hearts—K, J, 6, 5, 4
Clubs—A, 8, 2
Diamonds—A, J, 8, 4
Spades—A

Hearts—A, 10, 8, 3
Clubs—K, 10, 7, 6
Diamonds—K, 10
Spades—A, K, J, 8

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and the dealer should A now bid with the foregoing hand.

A's proper bid at either Auction or Contract is undoubtedly a declaration of 2's one club. At one table, A doubled and Y bid four clubs. This was a good bid, for it prevented A and B from bidding. It also forced A to guess as to the proper bid. A bid one club and hearts and then the ace of spades. As a result, Z made five tricks at clubs.

At the No. 2, A bid one club, which Y made. B was on the job, however, and took A out of the hand by bidding two diamonds. Z was now in a difficult position. He knew that A must have made strength to warrant four, but he saw no other way out of the hand. He passed, and the hand was over.

Auction Bidding: Z dealt and passed. A bid one heart. B bid one spade and A passed. Y bid two diamonds, B passed and Y bid two spades. What should A now do with the foregoing hand?

At the one table A doubled two spades. On the bidding it is a certainty that B has strength in spades and yet there is not a sure gain in no trump. If A were to pass, he should play the certainty and double two spades rather than bid two no trump. By opening the king of hearts, A should defeat Z by three tricks.

At the second table, the bidding of this hand was entirely different.

Auction Bidding: Z dealt and Y passed. B bid one no trump and all passed. The writer thinks Y should have bid two diamonds. If he should pass, he would offer another lead and yet was strong enough to warrant a bid of two diamonds for the lead. As his partner hadn't bid, Z opened his fourth-best spade, which B won with the ten. He then led a low club and finessed the jack. The only way he could get his hand in to take another club finesse was by playing either the ace of diamonds or the ace of spades.

"In its failure to conduct such research the department has been delinquent.

"Where laws exist we are for their strict enforcement as all good citizens should be, but stand determined for the amendment or abrogation of prohibitory laws if they can be proved obsolete or inimical to the best interests of the citrus industry. Florida needs a broadening of her citrus markets both in place and time, and if it can be demonstrated that any spray or fertilizing material will hasten the maturity of our fruit destroying its inherent virtues, and can be used without being abused, we are for it."

Foreign Requests To Experiment Station

The Florida Agricultural Experiment Station is receiving requests for its publications from numerous foreign countries throughout the world, attesting to the high regard in which the Station's research work and bulletins are held in foreign countries. In one week recently the Station received three requests from the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (Russia), one from China and one from Brazil. The requests came from the All Union Institute for Vegetable Research, Moscow, The Kerson-Cotton Growing Station, and the Fundamental Library of the Lenin Academy of Sciences.

but remember that bad habits are hard to break. You may lose a trick or so on a big hand and still go game but, if you are just as careless on the next hand, the trick you lose may prevent you from going game. The only way to make a good Auction or Contract player is to play every hand, strong or weak, for the maximum. Concentration on what you are doing will win more rubbers for you than any other one thing.

The following hands were played in a recent duplicate tournament and the bidding showed a wide diversity of opinion. The hands and the results are given, so that you will thus have an opportunity of comparing your analysis with the actual results.

GRADUATES URGED TO SERVE OTHERS

Attorney General Landis Talks at Commencement Exercises at University

Attorney General Cary D. Landis Monday at Gainesville visited the graduating class at the University of Florida to "beware of a somewhat common idea, that the proper thing to do is to become a member of what is sometimes called the superior class."

"To crave companionship in the superior class," the speaker said, "is to crave the power to exclude others and to exclude others is to exclude yourself."

Democracy Versus Caste System. Landis delivered the commencement address at the final exercises of the State University's 1932 graduation program.

He commended the American idea of democracy in government, education and everyday life with the caste system of other lands and urged each to "never forget that all honest effort to obtain a livelihood is honorable and 'tunny,' as a king wears blue overalls or a queen a calico dress."

Service to fellow men, the attorney general said, is the only true purpose in life. He told the graduates they would find life, people, and conditions to be just as they expect them and urged that they expect the best everywhere and at all times.

Record Gift Announced. The largest single gift to the history of the University of Florida—$150,000 from the General Education Board—was announced at the commencement exercises. The gift, matched by state appropriation by the 1931 legislature will be used for erection of a new law school building and college of education building.

Gifts of money during the year, as announced by Dr. Tigert total $250,000 and include the Frank H. Wade bequest for construction of the new law school building, approximately $40,000; the Charles E. Doe collection of birds, butterflies and eggs, valued at approximately $30,000; and the Frank Parsons trust fund for upkeep of the Doe collection, $10,000. The City of Gainesville has donated six acres of ground for playgrounds of the demonstration school. An oil painting of campus views was given by the 682 staff of the Seminole yearbook.

Three Students Honored. More than 2000 persons witnessed the awarding of 258 degrees upon graduates of the university Monday.

The graduates by classification: Commerce and journalism, 43; law, 28; engineering, 27; education, 33; agriculture, 25; arts and sciences, 29; pharmacy, 11; and architecture, 6. Twenty of the graduates were awarded, eight were given in professional engineering and a dozen normal diplomas.

Dr. J. H. Tigert, president of the university cited three students for scholastic achievement—Harry Pierce of West Palm Beach, graduate in electrical engineering, who led his class in grades each of his four years; Charles I. Mosier of Miami, graduate in pharmacy, who scored an "A" grade on 138 out of 144 hours with which he graduated and rated one of the three most brilliant students in American colleges and universities during 1931-1932.

The advanced engineering professional degrees were conferred upon W. B. Bowen, St. Augustine, P. G. Franklin, Fort Myers, Harold Standfield, Miami, William H. Fisher, Gainesville, William E. Flood, Nyack, N. Y., Gerald B. Briggs, Gainesville, E. F. Gunn, Palatka and E. C. Shipp, Tallahassee.

LESSON TEXT: Genesis 44:18 to 45:15.

TIME: About 1797 B. C.; PLACE: Egypt.

The Old Testament mentions Abraham's appeal for Sodom, Gen. 18; Judah's appeal and plea to Joseph, Gen. 44; Moses' argument with God for Israel, Ex. 32; The plea of Ruth to follow Naomi, and serve her God, Ruth, 1; Jonathan's defense of David before Saul, 1 Samuel 20; Solomon's prayer at the Temple dedication, 1 Kings 8.

In the last lesson we learned how Joseph was appointed "Secretary of Agriculture" for Egypt with directions from the King to collect one-fifth of all produce of the lands, to be placed in warehouses and kept to feed the people when the famine came.

Probably in the second year of the great famine Jacob heard from travelers that there were plenty of grain in Egypt, and said to his ten older sons, "Get you down thither and buy for us * * * that we may live and not die. And Joseph's ten brethren went down to buy corn in Egypt * * * and bowed themselves before him with their faces to the earth. And Joseph knew his brethren * * * but they knew him not. He pretended not to understand the language of the Hebrews, and he used an interpreter to talk with his brothers. They talked among themselves, thinking that Joseph could not understand what they said.

"And Joseph * * * said unto them Ye are spies * * * ye shall not go forth hence, except your youngest brother come hither." The brothers were kept three days in prison, and then nine of them were allowed to turn to Jacob with food, but Simeon was kept in prison until they should return with Benjamin. The sons reported to Jacob, delivered the food, and they said to Jacob, "The man * * * said unto us take food for the famine of your households * * * and bring your youngest brother unto me."

"And it came to pass as they emptied their sacks, that, behold, every man's bundle of money was in his sack: and when both he and his brother saw the bundles of money, they were afraid. Reuben offered his two sons as surety for Benjamin's return, but Jacob said, 'My son shall not go down with you; for his brother is dead, and he is left alone; if mischief befall him * * * then shall ye bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.' When they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, 'their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food.'

Judah said to his father, 'The man did solemnly protest unto us, saying Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you * * * send the lad with me, and we will arise and go; that we may live, and not die, both we, and thee, and our little ones. I will be surety for him * * * if I bring him not unto thee * * * let me bear the blame forever.'

"And their father Israel said unto them, If it must be so now, do this: take of the best fruits in the land in your vessels, and carry down the man a present, a little balm, and a little honey, spices and myrrh, nuts and almonds: And take double money in your hand; and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your sacks, carry it again in your hand: peradventure it was an oversight. Take also your brother, and arise, go again unto the man: And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may send away your other brother, and Benjamin. If I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved." And the men took that present * * * and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph.

Joseph caused his brethren to eat the noon meal with him in his own house. After the meal Joseph's steward filled the sacks of all the brothers as much as they could carry and each man's money in his sack, also his silver cup in Benjamin's sack. After they had gone an officer followed them and searched their sacks and found the money, and found Joseph's cup in Benjamin's sack. They were brought back for trial before Joseph who finally told to go, except Benjamin whom he would keep as a slave. Then Judah came near to Joseph and made what is called one of the greatest appeals in the Old Testament. It takes up the last 17 verses of Ch. 44 of Genesis.

If you will read those verses, you will be well paid. But if you do not read them, you will miss the best part of this lesson.

ASK FARM LOAN BANK IN HIGHLANDS COUNTY

Congressman Drane Forwards
Correspondence With Farm
Loan Commissioner

Citizens of Highlands county have been working towards the establishment of a branch of Federal Land Bank in the county with the object of furnishing the agricultural interests. The following correspondence has been received from the office of Congressman Herbert J. Drane in Washington and shows the progress being made along this line:

Washington, D. C., June 2, 1932.
The Editor,
"The Avon Park Times,"
Avon Park, Florida.
My dear Sir:—A number of citizens of Highlands county have expressed a desire to have established there a branch of the Federal Land Bank or a National Farm Loan Association, and I have had the matter up with the proper officials, in the hope of securing the desired service. I am today in receipt of a letter from the Farm Loan Commissioner, which I enclose herewith and which I would like you to publish for the information of those interested. When I am informed of the final decision, I will advise you.

"With kind regards, and assuring you of my desire to be of service when possible, I am,
Sincerely yours,
Herbert J. Drane,"
Treasury Department
Federal Farm Loan Bureau
Washington, May 27, 1932.
Honorable Herbert J. Drane,
U. S. House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Drane:—Please refer to your letter of May 6, addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury, with which you inclosed communications addressed to you by certain of your constituents in Sebring, Florida.

As you were advised in my letter of acknowledgment, correspondence concerning the matter referred to in this correspondence was requested from the Federal Land Bank of Columbia. I am in receipt of a letter from the bank in which it is stated that considerable correspondence has passed between it and several gentlemen in Highlands County, Florida, who are interested in organizing a national farm loan association in this territory.

An effort has been made by the bank to initiate an amendment to the charter of an association operating in adjacent territory which would permit this organization to accept applications for loans from farmers residing in Highlands County whose security will qualify for a Federal land bank loan. The negotiations for this action apparently failed to attain the desired result, and the bank now has an engineer-appraiser engaged in the preparation of a complete report of economic and other county conditions and factors affecting long term mortgage credit in this territory.

The bank further advises that upon receipt of the report of the engineer-appraiser it will have complete information available to be in a position to consider fully the possibility of organizing a national farm loan association in Highlands County.

Very truly yours,
Paul Bentor,
Farm Loan Commissioner.

CANNING TOMATOES

Fortunately, canning does not materially change the texture or food value of tomatoes. They are the simplest of all vegetables to can, and can be used in many pleasing ways, proving attractive, palatable, and healthful.

Canning Process.

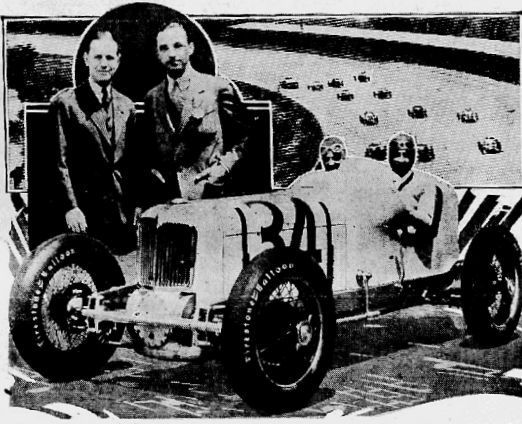

Select and wash well ripened tomatoes. Scald them in boiling water for about a minute or until the skin will slip easily. Remove the core by inserting a knife about one half inch from the stem and cutting around the solid portion. Slip the skins, and remove the black spot from the blossom end. Pack solid into tin or glass containers, filling the glass jars but leaving a head space of one fourth to one eighth inch on the tin. A teaspoonful of salt and one of sugar mixed may be added to each quart. Seal the glass jars and process in boiling water; pints 30 minutes and quarts 35 minutes. Exhaust the jars while hot, and process for about five minutes less than the glass jars. Cool quickly.

Tomato Juice.

Tomato juice is said to be a more and quite popular drink. Its richness in vitamins and organic acids is well known. It has proven most popular when practically all of the pulp is removed.

Select red-ripe, firm tomatoes. Wash them, and cut out the cores. Cook lightly in a covered container. Extract the pulp by passing the cooked fruit through a coarse and

Record Race Victor Thanks Firestone

Upper left, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., referee of the race, and Edsel Ford, pacemaker on the first lap. Lower, Fred Frame, the winner, and Jerry Hank, riding mechanic, in the car they drove to victory.

Men, automobiles and tires set amazing new records of speed and endurance in this year's 100-mile international race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Giving a splendid exhibition of cool and steady driving, Fred Frame, veteran of many races, won the event in record-breaking time. With an admiring throng milling around him after his sensational victory, one of the first things Frame did was to send the following telegram to Harvey S. Firestone, pioneer tire manufacturer:

"I want to congratulate you and thank you for the wonderful performance of Firestone tires which helped me win the Indianapolis 100-mile race today without tire trouble, setting a new record of more than 104 miles an hour for the 600 miles."

The race throughout was a remarkable Firestone triumph. Every car to finish was equipped with Firestone Tires. The first four broke the former record of 101.13 miles an hour made by Peter De Paolo in 1925. In all the history of the famous motor race there has never been more severe test of tires and never a finer demonstration of their qualities than was furnished this year. It was the thirteenth consecutive victory for Firestone.

Excellent Line Up of Pictures Next Week at New Circle

Although the New Circle Theatre, "Sebring's Friendly Playhouse," has already established itself as one of the leading, small city theatres showing fine pictures, right up to release, Manager Charlie Morrison continues to set the pace for theatres in this section as shown by the following array of pictures, for immediate showing:

Current attraction, through Saturday, with matinee on that day at 3:30, "Symphony of Six Million," Famous Players' story of big city life, with Irene Dunne and Ricardo Cortez; next Sunday and Monday, matinee Sunday at 3:30, "Scandal for Sale," strong, vivid newspaper drama with a great cast, Rose Hobart, Pat O'Brien and Chas. Bickford; Tuesday and Wednesday, one of the pictures to be talked about for months to come, Upton Sinclair's great Prohibition document, "The Wet Parade," two hours and packed with learning, unbiased facts about the great prohibition. In presenting this picture, the management wishes it understood that it takes no side, one way or the other, but presents the picture for its entertainment value only. A great cast headed by Walter Huston, Lewis Stone, Jimmy "Schmoze" Durante and Dorothy Jordan in "The Wet Parade."

Next week's concluding feature—and what a feature, is the glamorous, glorious Garbo in "As You Desire Me," which she made just before completing "Grand Hotel" and in which she appears as an entirely new Garbo, believe it or not. Varied shorts appear on each program with the exception of "The Parade," the length of which precludes showing any additional subjects except the Metro News. Night shows start at 7:30.

Then fine sieve. Add a little salt if desired, or it may be added when the juice is served. Heat the juice to 150 degrees F., pour into hot containers, seal, and sterilize at about 180 degrees F. Higher temperatures tend to destroy the flavor.—Isabelle S. Thursty.

Pour boiling water over potatoes before baking them and let them stand for 20 minutes. They will bake faster and be more meaty.

More farm homes are being improved in the western half of Hillsborough county since a tour in which 72 home demonstration club members visited the better home improvement projects over the district during Better Homes Week, reports Miss Alice Lee Rush, home demonstration agent. The tour served to remind the women of many little improvements that they could make at home.

WILL REORGANIZE THE CLEARING HOUSE

New Board of Directors Met and Worked Out
Details

Winter Haven, June 8.—(Special)—Reorganization details, including election of officers and appointment of committees for the operation of the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Association, were worked out at the first meeting of the new Board of Directors held here today. Dr. E. C. Aurin, Ft. Oglethorpe, was elected president and James C. Morton, Avon Park, was elected vice-president. The other officers elected are: L. P. Kirkland, Auburndale, secretary; and M. G. Overstreet, Orlando, treasurer.

Members of the Executive Committee and also the representatives on the Clearing House Advertising Committee from the Board were appointed by President Aurin as his first official act. Members of the Executive Committee are Chairman James C. Morton, R. B. Woolfolk, Orlando; John D. Clark, Waverly; E. W. Vickers, Sebastian; and M. O. Overstreet.

Following election of officers and the appointment of committee members the board approved the nominations made recently by the shippers affiliated with the Clearing House for members of the operating committee. These nominations, subsequently to be appointed by that body, are Messrs. R. B. Woolfolk, E. W. Vickers, Sebastian; and M. O. Overstreet.

General plans for the coming season were discussed by the directors, much of the discussion centered around the proposed statewide advertising campaign which it is hoped will be made possible next season for the furthering of commerce less. At any rate the situation calls for more instead of fewer trained leaders in agriculture and home economics in the country.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

TRAINED DEMONSTRATORS AND TEACHERS NEEDED TO ORIENT NEW FARMERS

County agricultural and home demonstration agents and teachers of vocational agriculture have been proving their worth in the country for more than 15 years. It is true that there were in former days those of us who were inclined to scorn their helpful suggestions, but "Then days are gone forever" and most of us are using our agents to give us actual help which is quite timely.

And now comes another and more pressing job for the agents—not quite as pressing in Florida, perhaps, as in other parts of the United States, but an important job, never-the-less. The Florida agents have been through a similar experience during boom days, when new settlers were coming rapidly to the state. Says the Agricultural Leaders Digest:

"County extension agents and instructors in vocational agriculture and home economics will be welcomed and aided to the army of settlers and women who with their families are moving back from city to country. The great trek has begun."

"The federal department of agriculture senses and is preparing to meet the new emergency. A national advisory and legislative committee on land use has been appointed and has held some meetings."

"This committee finds that there are four groups finding their way back to the farm. In the first group are those who formerly lived on the farm, but having been caught in the squeeze of chloroformed industry in the cities, are now back on a few rented acres. They will need the help of the extension and vocational agents for farming has changed since they were there. Another group includes city people who have never known life in the country. They will need even more expert guidance. The third class is made up of those who have been farmers who have had their farms rented and are coming back to operate them, and in the fourth class are those with some capital who realize that present low farm values make farm investments more inviting than any other form of investing campaign which it is hoped will be made possible next season for the furthering of commerce less. At any rate the situation calls for more instead of fewer trained leaders in agriculture and home economics in the country."

"That tired feeling" is more or less common to all of us occasionally and particularly in the spring. When I was a youngster the old folks used to call it "horn laziness" when they applied the rod to induce me to work a little harder or a little more steadily. Now, however, it seems that the trouble is not "horn laziness," and that it can be remedied by other means than the hickory switch.

In fact, nowadays it is known that a proper diet will do a lot to remove the depressing, aches and pains. I have recently seen some demonstrations where school children had not been drinking milk and had not been getting the right kind of foods in enough variety in 1931. They were given more greens and fruits, etc., in their diet. In the language of the clock yard they have come from little runty, scrawny, pale, sawn looking critters to plump, round, bright looking youngsters, and have made remarkable gains in weight.

When I was a kid I had a brother who objected to taking medicines. When the old folks wanted to give him iron out of a bottle, he always said he'd go out and eat a few nails. I know then that he really could eat iron in his food, raisins and spinach being among the foods particularly rich in iron.

Also, in the old days, when a child did not develop a good bone system and had poor teeth we thought it was just nature. But now we know that the child should have been given more foods, rich in lime, like milk.

After all, lateness may not be due to "essences" and runtimes the result of inheritance or nature. They may both be remedied by proper foods in sufficient variety and not too great quantity, and care to eat that the children are healthy.

Good results are being obtained from purebred beef bulls in Leon county, reports County Agent G. C. Hodge. More than 1,000 good quality, half-blooded calves were born during the last month. One farmer has 23 fine calves from a small herd and a purebred bull purchased two months ago.

In the county agent's drive to put purebred bulls in every herd in the county, 25 bulls have been placed so far this year. At the beginning of the year there were 37 purebred herd bulls in the county.

FLORIDA'S FISHING FAME REACHES CHICAGO

World's Fair Officials Plan To Come For Tampa
Fishing

Deland, June 8.—(Special)—Florida's fame as a fishing ground has reached Chicago, and the lure of the leaping tarpon has been so strong that several officials of the Century of Progress exposition have accepted an invitation extended by E. W. Brown, manager of the Florida exhibit, to come to Florida this month, while the big tarpon are running, with a view toward having their own little sport while sport but catching the big fish which will form the central figure of the sport exhibit in the Florida building devoted to fishing as a sport.

Among those who are expected to come to Florida for the trip is the tarpon fishing grounds are Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress exposition; Harvey J. Sencer, chief of the agricultural section of the exposition; Colonel C. Van Deventer and Arch C. Johnson, of the department of states and federal relations, and others who will come if they possibly can get away.

The sport section of the Florida exhibit, has caused much interest not only in the offices of the exposition in Chicago but elsewhere, and Manager Brown is receiving offers of trophies to be added to the exhibit. H. H. Windsor, Jr., publisher of Popular Mechanics with a winter home in Daytona Beach, has a wonderful collection of mounted fish, caught in Florida, which he has offered to loan the exhibit. Dr. C. B. Couch, health officer of Bartow, Florida, has what is said to be one of the finest collections of mounted fish he has ever offered to loan for the exhibit in Chicago. And there are many others.

MARTIN AND SHOLTZ WILL BE IN RUN-OFF

Hardee Third; Lee High Over
Ernest Amos; Drane
Beats Peterson

Former Governor John W. Martin and Dave Sholtz, of Daytona Beach, will enter the second primary in the run-off for the gubernatorial nomination, according to latest returns from Tuesday's primary.

In returns from 1,246 of the state's 1,253 precincts, Martin received 62,441 votes, Sholtz a few thousand less and former Gov. Cary A. Hardee, the third man, was approximately 4,000 votes behind Sholtz.

Democratic nominations for two of Florida's contested congressional seats have fallen to prohibition referendum candidates and a third to a repealist while a referendum advocate and a dry will fight it out for the fourth in a run-off.

Mrs. Owen Concedes Defeat.
Virtually complete returns from Tuesday's democratic primary indicated victory for Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach attorney, who wants the eighteenth amendment repealed, in the Fourth district congressional race and the incumbent, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, conceded his nomination. She ran as a referendum candidate. With only a few precincts to report the vote stood 53,715 for Wilcox and 42,495 for Mrs. Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan.

A run-off between Rep. Tom Yon, dry, and Millard Caldwell, referendum advocate, appeared assured in the Third district. Yon had 15,526 to Caldwell's 14,869 votes in the almost complete returns. R. G. Patterson, a referendum candidate, ran third with 9,882 votes.

Altop and Sears in Run-off.
The nomination for congressman-at-large was up to Mayor John T. Altop, Jr., of Jacksonville, and W. J. Sears, former fourth district congressman, both referendum candidates, who will enter a runoff. Altop had 53,488 votes to 52,622 for Sears in fairly complete returns. W. D. Bell, a dry, ran third with 28,106.

J. Hardin Peterson forced Representative Herbert J. Drane into a congressional run-off in the first district. Both favor referendum. Representative Drane had 26,859 to 20,488 votes for Peterson in the nearly complete returns. Sam L. Lowry, sr., a referendum candidate, had 10,634 votes as the third man.

In the presidential preference, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, received an overwhelming endorsement for Florida's 14 congressional votes with 129,933 votes to 15,417 for Gov. W. H. Murray, of Oklahoma, and 2,325 for L. J. Chasse, Wisconsin school teacher.

In conceding nomination to Wilcox yesterday, Mrs. Owen also announced plans for retirement, saying she would resign from Congress because of her aversion to "lame duck" office holding and a desire that her successor begin his duties soon after the November elections.

Total Vote Sets Record.
A total vote of 268,769 votes already have been reported as compared with the former record set in the primary in 1928 when more than 254,000 voted. A total vote in the neighborhood of 275,000 was forecast for this primary, out of a qualified total of more than 721,000.

Keen rivalry developed in the race for controller, and when 1,081 precincts had reported Ernest Amos, incumbent, was leading J. M. Lee, of Avon Park, by only about 400 votes. Van C. Swearingen, of Miami, was left third in the race.

The vote was Amos 68,180; Lee 68,072; and Swearingen 38,448.

Mayo Appears Renominated.
Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo appeared to have been renominated as he led State Senator Franklin O. King of Orlando by more than 20,000 on the basis of returns from 1,090 precincts.

Their race, one of the liveliest of the campaign, centered about the anti-arsenic fruit spray law, and the vote on the latest tabulation gave Mayo, who favored the anti-arsenic law, 97,908 to 77,714 for King.

As results from about three-fourths of the state were tabulated R. Hudson Burr, of Tallahassee, and W. D. Douglas, of Lake City, appeared slated to meet in the second primary for railroad commissioner.

Burr Has Wide Margin.
In 104 precincts Burr held a wide margin over Douglas and five other opponents.

Burr had 34,148; Douglas 23,976; Lester Wells, of Tallahassee, got 18,586; Olen A. Byrd, of Jacksonville, 14,080; John W. Byrd, of Newberry, 12,233; Tom J. Redding, Leesburg, 11,870; and George S. Davis, of Palatka, 11,651.

Avon Park Takes Bowling Green Into Camp by 6-3 Score

Behind Dilley's steady pitching, Avon Park trounced Bowling Green Thursday, six to three.

Three successive offensives in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings netted two runs in each of these frames for the locals.

In the fourth, after two were out, Bass was safe on a dropped throw and Dilley, who had been muffed at second, Armitstead stole third and scored on Hall's squeeze bunt.

In the fifth, Dilley was safe on an infield error, and scored from second when Armitstead's hot roller was muffed at second. Armitstead stole third and scored on Hall's squeeze bunt.

In the sixth, with two out, McFerrin walked, D. Martin singled, and he and McFerrin scored on J. B. Martin's hit.

Bowling Green scored two in the third on singles by Ketter, Moore and Mayo, and added one more in the seventh when Ratliff singled second and scored on Duncan's roller through short.

Dilley held Bowling Green to seven hits, and struck out eight. Bowling Green's seven errors contributed to their downfall.

Work was started Wednesday on clearing the right of way for rebuilding state road 8 between Avon Park and Sebring. A crew of men were put to work in the vicinity of Pinecrest by Wilkins & Hobson, sub-contractors who have moved in and will make Avon Park headquarters for their work.

L. D. Manley, of the Manley Construction company, general contractors for the job, is expected to arrive in a day or two to set up headquarters here, and make arrangements for moving in equipment for the job.

The basement of the city hall has been secured by the state road department engineers and will be used by them as headquarters while on the job. District Engineer Van Camp was here Wednesday.

Local labor is being used by the contractors.

WHO IS L. J. CHASSE?
HERE'S SOMETHING ON HIM

Many voters have asked who is L. J. Chasse, whose name headed the democratic ticket in Tuesday's voting. Nobody seemed to know, but he was running for president of the United States on the democratic ticket, and he got some votes.

In this county he polled 51, getting and thirteen of the sixteen precincts. He got ten votes in Zolfo and sixteen in Wauchula.

Grady Burton received a letter from him and Mr. Chasse says he is champion of the athletic cause in America. He is forty years old and lives in Milwaukee, Wis. He is a world war veteran—Wauchula Advocate.

STRANGER THAN FICTION
The will of the late John G. Wagoni, of London, contained this strange last request: "I desire that after my death, my barber, Magnus Troom, shall shave me and I direct that he shall be paid a fee of five pounds."

Dulio Caccasia, 27, of New York, walked out of his second-story bedroom window in his sleep, hit the ground, picked himself up and crawled back into bed without waking up. (A man who can sleep like that must have a balanced budget.)

Here and There About Avon Park

By W. M. Hetherington

Score another one for County Commissioner John Hood. Wide awake and looking after the interests of his district, Mr. Hood has made arrangements with the road contractors for the waste material, which will be used in the hard-surfacing of the road east of town to the Rev. Beach farm. In rebuilding state road 5, a major portion of the old road bed will be torn up and a new base laid. The rock base of the old road will be salvaged and used to good advantage in the building of the road east of town. That's figurin' with a capital F.

Reports from all over the county indicate that Ed DeLaney is making friends and gaining votes in his race for sheriff. Narrowed down to a two-man race in the runoff, voters are making their choice on the basis of fitness, experience and ability. In this respect Mr. DeLaney is not suffering by comparison with his opponent, though youthful and inexperienced opponent.

Every boy of Avon Park within the age limit should become a member of the Boy Scouts. There is no finer movement for the betterment of our youth than this great organization. Loyalty, truth, patriotism and consideration of others are but a few of the principles upon which the scout movement was founded. Besides being a great moral and spiritual force in the building of character for the future citizens of America, the varied program of the scouts, make it possible for its members to get a keener appreciation of the great outdoors. The camp life teaches self-reliance, and the games and other activities develop the physical side of the scout. The boy who misses scout-life is missing something that will never come his way again.

Fire Chief McCarthy urges a larger attendance of firemen at the next state fire college. He wants at least six men to go to each of the three-day courses offered. He suggests that the city and three men and the Legion send one member of the fire department, send three men. His idea is worth while, and should have consideration. The fire college provides instruction by experts on the various phases of fire-fighting and fire-prevention. If six men from the local department could receive this instruction, and bring it back to the others, the efficiency of the department would be brought up to a higher standard, resulting in a better organized unit and more efficient service to the public.

Make 1000-Mile Trip On Florida Keys For Plants

(By C. S. DONALDSON)

J. J. Hubel and Superintendent of Parks C. S. Donaldson are home from a journey to the Florida Keys to plant and collect among the lower Florida Keys, including Key West. The latter city is now in its full summer beauty. There are the Flamboyant or Royal Poinciana trees just as in Avon Park, and also the Praxagora or Plumeria trees in heavy bloom, all over Florida's island city; some have pink and some white tiny trumpets in masses. A lot of cuttings of these were brought home for propagation. The other striking trees there now in heavy bloom is the Geiger tree, or as some call it, the Bahama tree negroes called it the Red Lily tree (Sebanthus). The numerous flowers looking like lilies. However, it belongs to the Euphorbia family, being thus a cousin of the quiet Philippine Tree bushes in the Bandstand park, which has those button size red berries. The travelers found growing on Matecumbe Key the Rough Starbark tree (Rourea brevifolia) with red marbled size berries, a handsome evergreen of the same family.

Many other unusual plants, six different cacti are growing in the beautiful palm is Pritchardia Pacifica with huge acorn-shaped leaves, delicately fringed, seen along many streets. Some immense Sabal palms from Cuba were similar to the grand Sabal Havannensis that surround the Bok Tower. The Key is decorated with thousands of the slender Silver Palm (Coccothrinax argentea) standing against the skyline, and the Silver Palm (Thrinax Floridaensis) still slender, but with glossy silver underleaf. Other Keys on north have plenty of waxy slender Key Thatch Palms (Thrinax Keyensis) that punctuate the skyline, the leaves being all green. The palm can all be readily seen from the R. E. and the highway. The few remaining Buccaneer Floridian the Saw Cabbage Palm (Cycas Floridaensis).

McCarthy Received Instruction at the State Fire College

Fire Chief W. H. McCarthy returned Wednesday night from three days' work of instruction at the state fire college held at Daytona Beach, at which he took course in first aid and building inspection.

In September it is planned to hold a school of vocational training, in which a two-day course will be given to fire department officers. These attending the course will carry the instruction back to the departments and teach other members. Sebring has put in a bid for this school and it is likely that the instruction will be given there, McCarthy said.

The Avon Park fire department should have at least six men in attendance at the next fire college, in order to take advantage of the full course, the fire chief stated. Six different courses are going on at the same time and it is impossible for one man to get them all, McCarthy stated. Courses in instruction cover fire alarm systems, salvage, drill evolution, hose and ladder work, building inspection and ventilation, truck construction, maintenance, and operation first aid and artificial respiration, gas masks and respirators. Lecturers are given the course in control and vocational education.

DAVE SHOLTZ

Sholtz is the Tampa Tribune, St. Petersburg Times, Jacksonville Journal. Other daily newspapers which have advertised the election of Dave Sholtz are the Ocala Star, Orlando Sentinel, Sarasota Herald, Bradenton Herald, Lakeland Ledger, Fort Pierce News, Daytona Beach News-Journal, and Fort Myers News-Press. Many other daily and weekly newspapers have expressed friendly sentiments towards the Sholtz candidacy.

From numerous important centers came messages from former supporters of Caldwell, Hardee, Durrance and Hart saying they would use all their influence in support of the Sholtz candidacy. At the same time it was reported unofficially that former Governor McCall had expressed his preference for Sholtz in the second primary.

Typical of messages from supporters of other candidates in the first primary was one received from Walter R. Early, president of the school for Governor Cul of Dade County. Writing from Miami, Mr. Early said:

"Dade County gave Stafford Caldwell ten per cent of the total vote cast for him in the entire state. Not less than 95 per cent of the members of the Caldwell for Governor club of Dade County feel they have been betrayed by Mr. Caldwell joining the Martin force."

"We believe that Caldwell's campaign to give the government back to the people was pure political humbug and that the only salvation of the people of Florida lies in sending Mr. Sholtz to Tallahassee by the largest vote ever given a candidate for this high office."

(Signed) Walter R. Early, President Caldwell for Governor club of Dade County.

DRIFT TO SHOLTZ IS PLAINLY SHOWN AS PRIMARY NEARS

Supporters of Defeated Candidates Pledge Support To Daytona Beach Man

Daytona Beach, June 16.—The drift to Dave Sholtz is evident in pledges of support by political leaders and declarations by many newspapers in all sections of Florida. A mass of letters and telegrams pledging support to Sholtz in the second primary have been received. Among prominent Florida newspapers that have pledged their support are the Tampa Tribune, St. Petersburg Times, Jacksonville Journal, Orlando Sentinel, Sarasota Herald, Bradenton Herald, Lakeland Ledger, Fort Pierce News, Daytona Beach News-Journal, and Fort Myers News-Press. Many other daily and weekly newspapers have expressed friendly sentiments towards the Sholtz candidacy.

Why They Want DeLaney

Believing that ability, experience, judgment and a record of public service are paramount qualifications upon which a candidate for public office should base his claim, and believing that E. A. DeLaney possesses all of these qualities in abundance, a committee representing his friends throughout Highlands county are urging the voters to give earnest consideration to his candidacy in the second primary, June 28th, because of these reasons:

1. He is fully qualified to handle the sheriff's office. He has had thirteen years' experience in this county handling large forces of men and women.
2. He is a level headed, sensible, settled family man; he is not supported by the bootleggers; he will not do any fanatical thing.
3. He is a square shooter, and will not go into court with a "framing" charge against any man.
4. He was born, raised and educated in Florida, and has been a life-long Democrat.
5. He is not supported by any clique, ring or political faction, and if elected will be unhampered by any such influence.
6. He is a known quantity, tried, proven and safe.
7. He believes in safe, sane and sensible law enforcement.

Your consideration of these qualifications will be appreciated by his friends.

AIRPLANE CARRIES RECORD IN RECALL TO SUPREME COURT

Court Record On Appeal Case Arrives In Time To Save Dismissal

A last minute dash to Tallahassee, Saturday, June 11, carrying the official record of the recent mandamus suit, saved the day for the defending councilmen, who have appealed to the supreme court seeking a reversal of Circuit Judge Barker's decision ordering a new city election in recall proceedings brought by nearly five hundred petitioners. The record in the case was taken to Tallahassee by Splice Moskov, circuit clerk, and arrived there about an hour before closing time on the last day on which they could have been filed. Had they failed to arrive in time, a motion to dismiss the case would probably have prevailed.

City Attorney S. C. Pardee and associate counsel, F. T. Haskins, representing the defending councilmen, had petitioned the court for an extension of time in which to get the record to Tallahassee, but this was opposed by Attorney T. A. McNicholas, representing the petitioners. A hearing on the motion was set for Tuesday, and Mr. McNicholas appeared on behalf of the plaintiffs, but the record having arrived, a motion for extension of time became dead.

ROEBLING TO BUILD NEW HAMMOCK ROAD

Has Also Offered To Maintain Park Project For Another 18 Months

A petition is being circulated among property owners asking the county commissioners to designate as a county road the spoil bank of the drainage ditch leading from Highlands Hammock. The proposed road will follow the canal crossing Charlie Bowlegs Creek and then to the edge of the Hammock property and will be very convenient to Hardee county to connect to any time in the future that they so desire. The road will be built by the Roebeling interests, of which Alexander Blair is the local representative. The object of the road is to obviate the need of a road in the future on the section line through the Hammock, as such a road would run the natural beauty of the park property.

Will Build Road To Rex Beach Farm From Waste Material

The road east of town leading to the Rex Beach farm will be hard-surfaced with material salvaged from the rebuilding operations on road 8, according to County Commissioner John Hood, who has made arrangements with the road contractors to use the old road bed material.

According to the arrangement, as the rock base is torn up for the new road, it will be loaded on trucks by the contractors without expense to the county. The material will then be hauled and spread on the road east of town.

Will Build Road To Rex Beach Farm From Waste Material

L. D. Manley, president of the Contractors Association, general contractors for the job, was here Monday making arrangements to get the work under way.

During the construction of road 8, adequate detours will be provided. Mr. Hood stated that the use of the road will be along the road. General traffic will be sent over the old Avon Park-Sebring road by way of Lake Sebring. Minor repairs will be made on the road to put it in traveling shape, Mr. Hood stated.

WAUCHULA SUFFERS ANOTHER DEFEAT

Sunday's Game Made Third at Hands of Placid Firemen

The Wauchula Ball Club who have only won two games during the first half of the Orange Belt League, went down to defeat in a close game here Sunday afternoon to the tune of three to two. The game was well played from every standpoint. Mackey, hurling for the locals, permitted only one of the visitors to reach third in the first three frames not allowing a hit to the visitors, while Placid started off their part of the first frame with a bang when Cox second up received a pass to first on balls, went to second on a passed ball by Whidden, the catcher, and scored on third's error when the catcher tried to catch him at third. Albrook singled, going to second on Thomas' single and scored on a passed ball by Whidden as Roberts struck out retiring the side. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Firemen Lose To Bowling Green 5 to 1

The Lake Placid Firemen, holders of second place in the Orange Belt League, went down to defeat against Bowling Green at Bowling Green Tuesday afternoon by the score of five to one. The main reason for the Firemen's defeat was the poor support Mackey received from his fielders. Albrook, playing second base in Cobb's absence, made three costly errors. Petrey of Arcadia, playing third for the regular third baseman, made two errors placing men on base and Keene, playing right field, in the sixth inning contributed two runs to the Growers.

David of old knocked out a giant, and David of Florida bids fair to knock out the "big man." After that it will be a very trifling job to take on the gentleman from "in-the-hills."

Had in mind a "dirty dig" just now and started to write it down, but thought better of it. Things that are unnecessarily unkind are not smart, and are better left unsaid or unwritten.

It has been hard to think or talk much else besides politics the past week or two. And like most other things we do our worrying about, the whole mess doesn't mean much to most of us.

It is none of our business but we'd like to have just one of those several hundred persons in Florida who voted for L. J. Chasse give a lucid explanation of just why he cast his vote that way.

Raskob made a gift of money owed him by the Democratic party. We have made a gift of money owing to us by several parties, though we did not inquire whether they were Democrats or Repubs. We thought we might as well.

Some people may have no curiosity to try it, and to some of us it is a luxury in which we can not indulge, but there are few things that give a more genuine thrill than the feeling of satisfaction and independence that comes from paying one's obligations as fully and promptly as possible.

Hot dog—we've learned a new one—the word "extrovert." Don't know what it means, but Dave Sholtz' home editor called him that so it must be something mighty nice. Next time we go acourtin', instead of calling her darling or sweetheart, we'll address her as "sweet extrovert." That ought to get us somewhere—you reckon?

Would it hurt the country any more to place two billions in the hands of ex-service men to be promptly put into circulation in every nook and corner of the land, than it did when recently a like amount was handed out to the big financial institutions from which it is questionable if a dollar of it will ever find its way down to the common man who most needs it?

The mystery of the suicide of that Morrow maid is almost as baffling as that of the loss of the Lindbergh baby. If the death of the unfortunate girl was due to police methods of extorting information—and that will be the belief of most people until some other explanation is forthcoming—it virtually amounts to the murder of an innocent victim being added to an already terrible tragedy.

Dolly Gann, Alice Roosevelt, Mrs. Sabin, Sister Peabody, and other more or less nifty dames are among those who foregathered at the Republican convention, but, people, you ain't seen nothin' yet. Wait until our Benih Hooks Hannah arrives to grace the gathering of the Democratic hosts as delegate from Florida, and they'll all take notice. Bewah can take care of herself in any company, and Florida can well be proud of this representative woman at the convention.

Our methods of handling elections—particularly as to ascertaining the results—are very crude and very slow. In precincts where a few hundred ballots are cast it takes a day or longer to make the count, and sometimes it is several days before a precinct reports. Voting machines furnish the ideal solution of the problem, but they are expensive, and their installation, except perhaps in the larger cities, must wait. Meanwhile two or more precincts might be made of each of those casting a large vote; or two sets of election officials might be provided. Something should be done to speed up the returns.

AS HIS OWN SEE HIM

We know nothing of Mr. Wilcox, of West Palm Beach, who, on a wet platform, defeated Ruth Bryan Owen for the Congressional nomination. He may be a very good and able man. But we do know that Florida has suffered a distinct loss by the exchange. Mrs. Owen's membership in Congress has been an asset to Florida. It drew national attention to the State and would have done so because she is William Jennings Bryan's daughter, even if she had not been so entirely capable and effective as a representative. Politics in these times of unrest produces some queer upsets and frequently the people are the losers.

Probably during the current campaign many of us have had a similar feeling to that expressed by the Winter Haven Chief in the following paragraph: "When we hear some candidates sling mud, we lose heart and wonder what the world's coming to. Then we hear candidates like Congressman Drane, Dave Sholtz, Cary Hardee . . . in their gentlemanly utterances before the public, and we gather heart again and realize not all of politics may be likened to a mud puddle, but that there is some of it that is fine and wholesome and clean." Two of these candidates mentioned who are not mud slingers, are before the people in the second primary. The people doubtless will register their approval of these gentlemen as they have already done in the first primary.

Well, we haven't said anything about any of the candidates for Governor that we can't take back if necessary. We did endorse wholeheartedly the candidacy of Cary Hardee, and we certainly have nothing to take back and no apology to offer in that respect. We confess to being considerably surprised at the burst of speed shown by Dave Sholtz in the closing days of the campaign, but much older and wiser prognosticators also shared in that surprise. If we had been asked to make a second choice from the group of candidates we would have chosen Sholtz, as a clean, deserving young man, whose record and personality are entirely satisfactory, and whose ability and sincerity give promise that he will make a good State executive. So, though disappointed because that tried and true public servant—that gentleman sans peur et sans reproche—Cary A. Hardee—failed to be returned to the place which he filled with so much credit and honor, we are willing that the young Lochinvar out of the east be given a chance to prove his mettle. We believe the State will not suffer because of the experiment.

The people of the First Congressional district evidently are not ready to swap off their able, efficient and tested Congressman for a new and untried man without legislative experience of any kind. Mr. Drane would not consent to leave Washington until the campaign was drawing to a close. In the very brief time he has been in the State it has been impossible for him to visit many parts of the large district he represents; but the people knew of his ability and of his record of service to them, and though the opposition for months had been shelling the woods for votes, his vote shows the esteem in which he is held. With a lead of over 9,000 over his nearest opponent the only way humanly possible that he could fail to win by an impressive majority in the second primary would be through the over-confidence of his friends. The latter should not take too much for granted, but should finish effectively on June 28th the job so well done in part on June 7th.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

By RUSSELL KAY

And while Mr. Martin was running AGAINST Mr. Hardee and Mr. Hardee was running AGAINST Mr. Martin, along comes Mr. Sholtz from Daytona Beach, where they make a regular BUSINESS of Racing and came so darn near winning the race that it wasn't even funny to some folks.

Anyhow he put one X out of the running and now he's busy tuning up his motor for the second heat and while there may be a X on that ten dollars I'm betting, it isn't ON the EX.

But don't kid yourself about JOHN, he's not the kind of guy to lay down and take it without a struggle, he'll fill his crankcase with a lot of new BANANA OIL and step on the WOOD-PECKER and it will be a race right on.

So you can listen for Mr. John Goliath to do plenty of shootin' and hootin' between now and the 28th, but if you're one of those guys that thinks it's the BIG SHOTS that ride for the fall, you'll get a lot of consolation out of readin' over that little story about what a boy named DAVID did with his little sling in days gone by.

And when it comes to slingin' language, Mr. SHOLTZ ain't takin' off his hat to nobody, when that boy talks, you'd think his audience was a flock of police dogs that way their ears stand up.

A lot of the candidates been takin' two and two and tryin' to make the voters believe that they'll add up 150 but Little David can take two and two and make 'em come out FOUR so plain and simple that folks just can't help understand it, and usually when Dave gets through talkin' the two and two he made FOUR out of will equal 150 votes for Mr. Sholtz.

And right after Mr. Caldwell got through tellin' us that a vote for Mr. Martin meant a vote for Mr. Howey, he comes out with the announcement that he is gonna take the stump for JOHN. I don't know whether congratulations are in order or not, but if they are, I'd say they ought to go to HOWEY.

But at that, most of the faithful Republicans will cast their Democratic vote for Mr. Martin, figurin' he'll be the easiest guy for HOWEY to beat.

However, it was a tough break for BILL, just when it looked like he was gonna have a nice little WALK AWAY for Governor, Dave the Darkhorse steps in with a dose of SHOLTZ that led the well known ELEPHANT with an awful headache.

Of course HOWEY was non-chalant: He calmly lights another MURAD and says, "Well the Democrats had to nominate SOMEBODY, they all look alike to me." But I'll bet he would be feelin' a heck of a lot more confident right now if it had been GOMEZ or WATSON.

But if you ask me, when we go to vote for GOVERNOR in the General Election, it won't be anywhere near as hard for a fellow to make a MISTAKE when he'll have to vote for either SHOLTZ or HOWEY. We'll get a darn good man which ever way the feline hops, with everybody gettin' a BREAK but the poor old professional politicians.

And Oh yes, (Are you listenin'?) I see where Mr. Wilcox took his girl friend RUTH over the jumps and no foolin'! And that makes me out a liar, but it only goes to show that just when a fellow gets to thinkin' that a girl is GOOD, some slicker will come along and upset all the dose. Well SEARS lookin' at you Mr. Wilcox, you made your mark and my hat's off to you, keep your money in your pocket, this one is ON ME.

Echoes of the State Press

SHOLTZ WILL BE GOVERNOR.

Indications are that the East Coast of Florida will furnish the next governor of Florida. Dave Sholtz, of Daytona Beach, friend of Melbourne, will be the opponent of John W. Martin in the second primary on June 28.

The popular state-wide approval of Mr. Sholtz, expressed at the polls Tuesday, surprised even his best friends. He had not been generally considered as one of the leading candidates for the nomination and the remarkable vote he received Tuesday, together with the support he is certain to get in the next primary from those who voted for Hardee, Caldwell and Durand and the other lesser candidates, assures him of the Democratic nomination.

Dave Sholtz can and will defeat W. J. Howey, the nominee of the Republican party. Against the Daytona Beach man, the Republican from the hills will make just about as good a showing as did Mr. Gomez or Mr. Watson.

The Florida East Coast has an excellent opportunity to elect one of its own men as governor of this great state and it can be taken for granted that the people of Brevard county will rally to the Sholtz banner and give him united support.—Melbourne Times.

"FULL CREW" THAT'S WHY.

Will Traer, editor of the Winter Park Herald, took his first ride on a commercial bus and it caused him to sleep over in his front page space a la Brisbane. It wasn't an especially comfortable ride, according to Will, but the bus came along at an opportune time and it got him where he wanted to go the soonest. After philosophizing upon the reason for buses taking passenger traffic away from the railroads, he got off this bright bit:

"Why don't the railroads put on individual motor cars and give more frequent service? Why does the Atlantic Coast Line, for instance, haul hundreds of tons of almost unimportant rolling stock from Jacksonville to Tampa, as the Tampa Special, when two or three high-speed motor cars would give better service at much less cost? It is difficult for us to believe that Will Traer is as innocent as he makes out. Surely he must have heard of the 'full crew' law that says when one of these little railroad cars starts on its journey it must have an engineer, fireman, brakeman and signalman! Think of a passenger car with such a dead load to start and you have the reason why railroads have not been able to shoot these fast passenger carriers over their tracks long ago.

But if Will is innocent, he complicates things when he follows what we quoted with this: 'If the railroads will ever make a real effort to deal with this problem of bus and truck competition they can get back most of the business they have lost.'

Lord knows the railroads have made a REAL effort. But every time they offer something practical they run against something political. Besides the full crew monstrosity they have to contend with a roadway they built themselves and have to pay taxes on and a high tax to support a free highway for a competitor that can operate on about as cheap a fuel as they can, thanks to these same free paved highways.

The time has come when either the railroads have to be turned loose to fend for themselves without any government control and espionage or the government will have to take them over and make the people pay for operating them. Both will be bad but we have to have the railroads and it looks now like one or the other is the only out.—Leesburg Commercial.

Regarding those 84 men who are supposed to control this country, all we can say is that the thing is about to get beyond their control.—Winter Haven Chief.

Dave Sholtz, runner-up in Tuesday's gubernatorial contest, upset all the political doc. Friends of "Our Dave" contend that on June 28th he will upset the politicians, too.—Ocala Star.

The bonus marchers in Washington have changed their attitude and have become bonus sitters, refusing to march back home.—Winter Haven Chief.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE

E. L. McKinstry, Editor of the West Chester, Pa. News, says:

THAT over half the people in America are not capable of taking care of themselves. They cannot provide their own food, clothing and shelter, and keep out of trouble. For this reason the other half has to take care of them, and there is no limit to the responsibility which the "lifers" carry in regard to the "leaners."

In voting at the elections, fewer than half the people are able and qualified, and fewer yet do cast their ballots. For this reason it is essential that a wise and conscientious minority should always be on their guard, protecting the interests of the others in public and private life.

In advertising, whereby people are led to part with their means, it is necessary that publishers be vigilant in keeping fraud out of their columns, that those designing people who would prey upon the unsuspecting should be checked and prevented. Advertising, to keep its self-esteem and be respected, must be respectable.

Every advertisement which goes into a newspaper is scanned with care in this regard, that it may be absolutely reliable. There are newspapers which guarantee to give the victim his money back in case he should be cheated by an advertiser.

It is marvelous what faith the rank and file of the people place in the printed page. They will make long journeys to stores or business offices; they will send their checks or post office orders; they will tell their friends with implicit confidence where to make purchases, because they have read about it in some newspaper.

So the advertising manager almost shudders at times when he thinks of the responsibilities he carries, and the good or harm he may do by passing out the word. In this he carries as great responsibility as any news or editorial writer, and more in many instances. FOR THE REASON THAT ALMOST EVERY LINE HE TOUCHES AFFECTS THE FINANCIAL LIFE.

Wauchula Wins In Play-Off Tuesday

Playing off a postponed game, Tuesday, Wauchula won in a nine inning rally by 2 to 1. (Paid Political Advertisement)

The following news item appeared in The Fountain Inn Tribune, published at Fountain Inn, S. C., recently.

Mr. Robert Chetway and Miss Alice Broadkin were married at noon Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Broadkin, the Rev. M. L. Gassaway officiating.

The groom is a popular young man who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keeps a supply of spending money because his dad is a sophisticated old fool who takes up his bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

The bride is a skimpy, fast little idiot who has been kissed and handled by every boy in town since she was twelve years old. She points like a Sioux Indian, sucks cigarettes in secret and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joyriding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior newly painted, thus appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme for the groom was newly plastered also, and the bride newly painted.

The groom wore a rented dinner suit over athletic underwear of imitation silk. His pants were held up by pale green suspenders. His number eight patent leather shoes matched his state in tightness and harmonized nicely with the pale greenish of his hair. In addition to his jag he carried a pocket knife, a bunch of keys, a dun for the ring, and his usual look of imbecility.

The bride wore some kind of white thing that left most of her legs sticking out at one end and her bonny upper end sticking out at the other.

The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents—which means they will live on the old man until he dies and then she will take in washing.

Postscript. This may be the last issue of The Tribune, but my life ambition has been to write up one wedding and tell the unvarnished truth. Now that it is done, death can have on ting.

Yours,

HENRY G. MURPHY.

Henry G. Murphy Thanks the Voters of the 27th Senatorial District for an Overwhelming Vote on June 7th.

If I knew a stronger word I would certainly use it, but to each man and woman who voted for me I sincerely say Thank You! How The New Tax Will Affect Depositors.

The new Revenue Act of 1932 became a law June 6, 1932 at 5 P. M.

It affects depositors by placing "a tax of two cents on checks, drafts, or other orders for the payment of money drawn upon any bank, banker or trust company, on or after June 21, 1932; the tax to be paid by the maker or drawer. The banks and trust companies collecting the tax will charge the amount to the depositor's account and remit the amount of the tax so collected to the Collector of Internal Revenue during the month following that in which the tax has been collected."

Sunday School Lesson

FOR JUNE 19, 1932.

SUBJECT: Jacob the Aged Father.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Honor thy father and thy mother." Exod. 20:12.

LESSON TEXT: Gen. 46:1-7, 28, 30; 47:7.

TIME AND PLACE: 1706 B. C.; Beersheba in Palestine, and Goshen in Egypt.

PRACTICAL TRUTH: A son can never outgrow the duty of respect and honor toward his father.

INTRODUCTION: "Jacob had a stormy career, deceiving his father and robbing his brother. Then a twenty-year struggle with Laban in which Laban deceived him, and he in turn deceived and tricked Laban. The dreaded return to Canaan and meeting Esau. Here Jacob sought the Lord and became a changed man. The death of his beloved Rachel. After a period he lost Joseph and was heavily deceived by ten of his own sons. At 130 years of age Jacob starts to Egypt on his last pilgrimage. Joseph has been found and Jacob will soon embrace him, and there is assurance of plenty and of loving care for the closing years of his life."

By his brothers then in Egypt Joseph (at the command of the Egyptian King) sent a message to his father, "Haste ye, and go up to my father, and say unto him, Thus saith thy son Joseph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt: come down unto me, tarry not. And thou shalt be near unto me, thou, and thy children, and thy flocks, and thy herds, and all that thou hast."

And Pharaoh (through Joseph) commanded the brethren, "And take your father and your households, and come unto me: and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye shall eat the fat of the land. Now thou art commanded, this do ye: take your wagons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones, and for your wives, and bring your father, and come."

When his sons returned to Canaan they told all these things to Jacob, who at first did not believe them, but finally he believed the messages. "And Israel said, It is enough; Joseph my son is yet alive: I will go and see him before I die." Goshen contained about 90 square miles of rich pasture and farming land lying between the Nile river and the Red Sea; about 175 miles S. W. from Beersheba. Here our lesson begins. "And Israel took his journey with all that he had, and came to Beersheba, and offered sacrifices unto the God of his father Isaac. And God spake unto Israel in the visions of the night, and said, Jacob, Jacob." "And he said, I am God, the God thy father: fear not to down into Egypt; for I will there make thee a great nation: I will go down with thee into Egypt; and I will also surely bring thee up again; and Joseph shall put his hand upon thine eyes."

Between Beersheba and Goshen the land was mostly a desert. God again appeared to Jacob and encouraged him. The same promises had been made to Abraham and to Isaac. We sometimes feel that God acts slowly, but, if we trust him, he will keep his promises in the right way. This sacrifice to God is the last mentioned until the Israelites left Egypt. (Authority quoted by Poloulet).

"And Jacob rose up from Beersheba; and the sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the wagons which Pharaoh had sent to carry him. And they took their cattle, and their goods, which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob, and all his seed with him: His sons, and his sons' sons with him, his daughters, and his sons' daughters, and all his seed brought he with him into Egypt." It appears there were seventy of Jacob's family, but "several thousand" persons, counting slaves and all who went in the caravan. The wagons sent by Pharaoh were two wheeled carts, without springs, (but better than walking!).

For several days Jacob's people were on their journey. "And he sent Judah before him unto Joseph, to direct his face unto Goshen; and they came into the land of Goshen. And Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Israel his father, to Goshen, and presented himself unto him; and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while. And Israel said unto Joseph, Now let me die, since I have seen thy face, because thou art yet alive."

But there was yet something important to occur. "And Joseph brought in Jacob his father, and set him before Pharaoh; and Jacob blessed Pharaoh." Let us remember that a child never outgrows its duty to respect and honor a parent.

Make 1000-Mile Trip On Florida Keys For Plants

Wright (that makes an immense bamboo-like cluster grows most abundantly in Collier county near Everglades).

Key West has many cactus-looking Euphorbia lactescens that weigh several tons each, some being in the Navy Yard. The three-angled ribs have marbled veins. A handsome small one is in the center of our Cactus Park. A home yard in Punta Gorda has a specimen about the size of the one in Avon Park.

In real cacti Key West has regular giants, some 30 feet high, heavily branched, tree-like, and with many white bloom. These are 6-angled and called Cereus hexagonus. Quite a number of these big specimens are about the town. The trumpet flowers are just like those on the huge Columnar Cactus (Cereus Gaudichaudii) growing in Avon Park, and like those on the Giant Peru Cactus (Cereus Peruvianus) recently obtained from California for our Mall, which is 4-angled, the branches growing a bit more horizontal. The party brought home a small C. hexagonus, also from the jungles the villanous vine Acanthocereus Pentagonus, and three different species of the Opuntia bladed cacti, one having a white bloom. Authorities have said that there is no white flowered Opuntia. With a collection of eight new cacti coming from a Catholic priest in Cuba, the town of Avon Park can boast of the largest public showing of moisture-loving cacti in Florida, and probably in America, as we will have over 60 varieties. What this means in an advertising way is evident by the June travel magazine of the Standard Oil company which calls attention to the Bok Tower at Lake Wales and the Cactus exhibit at Avon Park.

The travelers also brought home several of the native Orchids from a florist below Coconut Grove, which gives the Mall six varieties, all named. Florida has 24 native orchids, but we want to obtain only one more species which has white bloom. A Fort Myers nurseryman has finally succeeded in getting 18 of the native orchids.

One odd bush decorating a Key West yard could not be identified. It was called locally "Gentleman of the Night" (Hemlock de Noche). Its beautiful yellow tubular flowers are fragrant only at night, delightful and not over-powering like our Night Blooming Jasmine (Cestrum Nocturnum). Of course some of its big red berries were brought along, as well as many other things. And we will study for its real name. In another Key West yard was found a vine with pink and red needles, a Quisqualis species much handsomer than the Quisqualis Indica which has now been planted on the roof of the Red Hills estate of the Rooblings.

All the plant life on the long chain of keys extending to Key West is different from anywhere else in Florida or all America. There is the Paradise tree, the Seven Year Apple, which resembles Magnolia Grandiflora, the Satin Leaf tree, the Mastie tree, the true Mahogany, the Torchwood, the Wild Sapodilla, etc. The Jamaica Dogwood trees were a glorious mass of pink bloom all along the highway.

Mr. Hubel brought home for planting in his yard two big sticks of the red Gumbo Limbo tree, as a reminder of his pioneer days when he lived on Torch Key. These sticks are pushed into the ground and soon make big trees. His family moved from Wisconsin to the East Coast over 50 years ago when there was no Miami or Palm Beach, and they had to go in sailing boats to Key West or North to Titusville for their store goods, hence he knows all Southeast Florida well.

Nearly all of the tropical plant life of the extreme South Florida Keys will grow safely on the Ridge at Avon Park, and can readily be brought up here by those making trips. To insure success it would be well to remember that the rocky soil they grow in naturally contains lime. To duplicate this soil condition it would be advisable to mix well in the hole where they are to be planted plenty of finely crushed Ocala rock, up to a couple bushels for large growing things.

Drift To Sholtz Is Plainly Shown As Primary Needs

and by the development of what has been virtually a wave of popular enthusiasm which swept away political lines, factional "fixings" and machine "setups." He promised the people new blood, new life, new leadership and needed economies in the government of the state. Fifty-five thousand Democrats heeded him, believed in him, voted for him.

"In Mr. Sholtz, young, dynamic and determined to do the right, the Democratic party of Florida is offered a nominee and a leader who will bring victory to the party in November and good government to the state the next four years."

The Orlando Sentinel-Star says: "Sholtz has a good platform; he presents it convincingly. He does not pussyfoot on any subject. He presents every plank of his platform with such conviction that he carries conviction to his hearers. He says he has no debts to pay and no embarrassing alliances. So far as the Sentinel-Star is able to ascertain, this is true."

The Daytona Beach News-Journal, discussing the drift to Sholtz, says:

"The press of the state, especially that powerful section of it which was for Hardee and a large party which had not yet declared its preferences, is rapidly aligning itself behind the Sholtz banner. It realizes this is not time for a boom government, whose claim to distinction is that he built lots of roads—mostly on the people's credit—at a time when there was plenty of money lying around loose to build them with."

Star Gooseberry Grown In Mall, Makes Preserves

Bill Overton started it. He came to the City Park folks and if those Star Gooseberries were good to eat. He was told they were, particularly preserved, and he was told to try them out. Mrs. Case of the Main street boarding house got interested and preserved some which no one can tell from the choicest northern gooseberries. The fruit looks exactly like a Surinam Cherry except that it is greenish when ripe, and is quite sour, and with a very small seed. Preserved they become a rich red. The Star Gooseberry is botanically Phyllanthus Distichus, and the big bush is located in Park No. 15 (marked on the curb) southwest corner. This is the Hilltop Oak park section. The little tree was always admired by former Councilman Eisele, who said it was the handsomest tree in the Mall. Young plants of it can be had from nurserymen for about 50 cents. As the fruit has proved so desirable it has been gathered for reproduction purposes by all the citizens of the community who are interested. The seed may be had at the Chamber of Commerce while they last. Any person can grow one of the trees by planting the seed in a can, and then setting it out next March. The Phyllanthus genus is a splendid one. All about town one now sees the Calico Bush (Phyllanthus Roseo-pictus) while Byrum Shockey up on Lake Pythias grows the odd Myrobalan Elm (Phyllanthus Emplica) the fruit being attached to the delicate ends of the lacy leaves. While Phyllanthus is the genus, they all belong to the big general plant family of Euphorbiaceae, which takes in the Poinsettia (Euphorbia Fulecheriana), which is therefore a first cousin to the Star Gooseberry.

Mrs. W. A. Marshall left Thursday afternoon for Asheville, N. C. where she will spend the next two months.

About Avon Park

By W. M. Robertson

J. Lee Johnson, who tried to take D. F. Canfield's job away from him in the first primary and failed, is now advising his friends to vote for Canfield in preference to Mrs. Elyton. This comes with poor grace from Mr. Johnson. He went out and hammered Canfield in the first primary. He lost out, and the best he can do now is take a back seat and let the voters make their decision as between the other two candidates. We doubt that his statement will do Mr. Canfield any good, or Mrs. Elyton, any harm. Voters are slow to switch from one candidate to another in wholesale lots, and a defeated candidate who for one consideration or another attempts to carry his support to a former opponent does not go very far in these days of hectic politics. Ask Stafford Caldwell, who knocked Martin all over the state and then turned about to deliver his support to the ex-governor. He can tell you what kind of a reception he got. It's one thing to bring himself to get out and get votes for himself, and quite another thing for him to turn tail and attempt to switch his support to the man he was unable to defeat. It's simply not being done.

"Friends of Doyle Schumacher" are running an ad in some of the county papers which says, "Nominate the man for the position who you feel is best qualified to the office to the county and to yourself." A whole lot of us folks expect to do just that very thing—and will vote for Ed Delaney to fill the bill.

Congressman Drane and Hardin Peterson, who would like to succeed him are both personal friends of the writer. Both are splendid men. But Mr. Drane is a man of experience, whose contacts in Washington are of untold worth to his district. To displace him with a new, untried and unproven man would be calamity that the state could ill afford. Mr. Drane should be returned by an overwhelming vote—not so much for what it means to Mr. Drane, but for what it means to the district. Failure to re-elect him would be a tragedy of no small proportions and would be a slap in the face to one of the ablest representatives and friends of the common people that this country has in Washington. These days of rampant radicalism, this state and nation cannot afford to lose Drane. He is needed in Washington for his calm and mature judgment—one of the few remaining men who can act as a balance wheel in these turbulent times.

Oh, Yeah!

From the Sebring American: "Doyle is drawing his support from the best people in all parts of the county, and he is doing so with no faction. * * * Nor is he supported by the bootleggers, as efforts are being made to have voters believe." The only answer to this is the fact that cannot be disputed that Doyle Schumacher's name was marked with the X mark by the voters in the ballot—the blue tickets—put out and distributed by the Sebring faction in Avon Park on election day. We printed these facts without the X marks, and the Xs were printed in by another printing office. We know that. We have one of them for a souvenir—try and laugh that one off! A lot of us folks don't claim to know much about politics, but we do know a little when we see it and a little is always put out by a faction. Two and two usually make four even in this primary. So far as the bootlegging support is concerned, we know nothing of it.

FLORIDA BONDHOLDERS SEEM TO BE WORRIED

Cooperation Between the Committees Is Being Sought

New York, June 22.—The protective committee on institutions of the field of municipal finance, although known for generations to holders of foreign loans and domestic corporation bonds, is now assuming a role of major importance, particularly in the case of overbonded municipalities in the state of Florida. Several members of various committees organized to protect holders of various issues of Florida municipal bonds are preparing to send out notices to bondholders informing them of the urgent need for cooperation with the committee which are "endeavoring to salvage something out of their unfortunate investments."

The gravity of the situation was expressed today by one committee man in the statement:

"My own judgment is that if, through lack of bondholders cooperation, things are allowed to drift much longer there will be nothing left for the creditors of a number of Florida municipalities."

It was explained that low money rates brought about the real estate boom in Florida which culminated in the frenzied buying in 1925 and many municipalities were misled into overbonding themselves. The Florida Bond News, in its current issue, makes the point that "it now seems strange that the general public failed to see the parallel between Florida prices of 1925 and the stock market prices of 1929."

A check of the fees charged by the various Florida bondholders' protective committees disclosed wide variations. Some charge only a stipulated nominal fee to the bondholders, or none at all, while others have provided for a maximum fee or graduated percentage for their services and expenses. In most cases, the fees are not paid until the municipality is unable to make the payments with the difficulty of the work undertaken. Where solvent communities merely refund existing obligations, it is usual that no fee is charged.

Although the primary interest of the bondholders' committee is to obtain collection of all available multiple revenues for distribution to depositing bondholders, the committees have usually had to do much work in aiding the municipalities in placing their respective communities on a sound basis, staggering debt payments to correspond to municipal revenues and expenses. The committees point out that in view of the wide distribution of the bonds it is difficult to obtain a high percentage of deposits of bonds, adding that close to 100 per cent deposits of a given issue are sometimes necessary to make the committees' work effective.

To cut expenses to a minimum several independent committees for Florida municipalities have been organized in a single committee to enforce their claims and avoid unnecessary duplication of effort.

Dancing Class Organized Here

Miss Bert Humphries of Sebring is very enthusiastic over the interest displayed in the classes in dancing which she organized in Avon Park Monday.

Classes for the young children will be held each Monday morning at the American Legion Auxiliary Home on Butler Avenue at 9 o'clock and for the older children at two in the afternoon at the same place on Monday. Other classes will be formed later. Special rates are given where there are two children in the same family taking lessons. Avon Park is indeed fortunate in securing Miss Humphries, who has had years of experience along this line and with the talent obtainable here, she expects to have a very large class in the near future and to put on some splendid programs here.

SEABOARD OFFERING UNHEARD OF RATES

Passenger Fares Slashed For Excursion To North-east Points

Offering a rate to Washington, D. C. and to Eastern cities almost unheard of in the annals of Florida railroad history, the Seaboard Air Line Railway will conduct an excursion to those points on July 1st and 2nd, it has announced.

In an effort to bring to the people of Florida, the educational advantages of the nation's capital, and to give Floridians an opportunity to shop in the Fifth Avenue section of the nation's most metropolitan city, the rail line has cut its rates the week end of July 1st, so that the round trip rates amount to less than half, approximating one third the usual one way rate in the case of Washington.

The Seaboard has arranged departure times so that excursionists may spend three days and two nights in the nation's capital and three nights and four days in New York City. Other cities included in the reduced rates are Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Atlantic City.

Return limits from Washington extend to the midnight train out of that city leaving at 11:59 p. m. July 4th, while those visiting in New York may remain until the evening train out of there 6:45 p. m. July 5th. Corresponding return limits are in effect from other cities in the excursion, it has been said.

Working with the Seaboard, the Pullman Company have reduced its train rates for the week-end, in connection with the excursion so that visitors to the East may make the trip for less than the usual one way fare.

Vocation Fire Dept. Course In September

With C. O. Holley of the state board of education, Tallahassee, as instructor, Sebring will have its own Fire College in September, it has been announced.

The course will be slightly more advanced than that given at the Daytona College and will be more of a practical training course, it was stated.

It is expected that firemen from many departments in the state will be present to imbibe the fire-fighting knowledge which will be presented at the school.

Further details are to be announced later.

Dalgaty Reports Harmonious Meeting

According to W. Z. RECOMMEND PERMIT TO SEINE LAKE STEARNS

Commissioners Receive Number of Requests From Placid Residents

The county commissioners in session Monday recommended a permit be granted J. A. Hendry, Jr. of Okeechobee to seine lake Stearns now named Lake June in Winter. A number of Lake Placid residents were in favor of the seining, as evidenced by the letters received by the board, and it is now up to State Game Commissioner, C. C. Woodward as to whether the permit will be granted.

Mr. Elliott of the Island Florida Traffic Bureau, Lakeland, appeared before the board asking the commissioners to continue their support of the bureau. He cited freight rate reductions on many commodities due to the efforts of the bureau. The matter was tabled pending further investigation as to whether local merchants and business men favored further assistance. The county has contributed several hundred dollars per year in the past but has not so far this year contributed.

The next regular meeting of the board falls on July 4, a legal holiday, and the board decided to postpone this meeting until Tuesday, July 5.

The board will meet in special session next Monday morning to prepare the ballot boxes for the second primary election to be held on Tuesday.

HIGHLANDS 4-H CLUB IN CAMP AT CASINO

88 Youngsters From All Over County Enjoy Themselves This Week

The one-time exclusive Lake Sebring Casino on the shores of the beautiful body of water after which it is named, served as the home for sixty-eight healthy "young 'uns" last night, the second of a three day encampment of members of the 4-H clubs from Highlands and surrounding counties.

Under the watchful supervision of county agent Louis Almoner, who is assisted by county agent Palford of Okeechobee county and W. T. Nettles of Gainesville, Prof. W. M. Mathews of the University of Florida, ably assisted by Mrs. S. J. Register of DeSoto City, Miss Isabel Tourle of Okeechobee, and Ruth Kempton of Avon Park, the Highlands 4-H club members are having the time of their lives.

Swimming, fishing, games and instruction, with movies at night when the radio furnished by Bill Dutton's band and the University of Florida band played the itinerary of the inhabitants, who take "time out" three every twenty-four hours to feed the inner man while Chef Ray Cople of Sebring, and he's the happiest kid on the lot) presides.

A canteen on the premises supplies the kids with those necessities which make vacations a success, dispensing soft drinks, candy, etc. Wednesday the encampment took a trip to Highlands Hammock. Today, weather permitting, the Okeechobee-Highlands annual baseball field will take place at Firmin's Field at 3:30. Genial Charlie Morrison will be host at the New Circle Theatre tonight.

The camp will probably break up late Friday.

Fire Department Saves Hatchery By Prompt Action

Prompt action by the Avon Park fire department saved several thousand dollars worth of hatchery and equipment at the Englemann Peach farm adjoining the Rex Hatchery early Friday morning, when a blaze that destroyed a brooder house was extinguished.

The fire was discovered at about six o'clock in the morning. The fire department made a hurried run to the farm, about four miles from town and arrived in time to put out the fire and save other adjoining buildings that were threatened with destruction.

"High Points" in the Record of Herbert J. Drane, M. C.

In the first year of his service he secured a lock and dam on the Oklawaha River for the benefit of navigation from the Lake Region of Lake County to the St. Johns River.

During the World War his work was so varied and so stupendous that it would be impossible to more than refer to it, but he is proud of the fact that he had the personal recommendation and thanks of the President of the United States, Woodrow Wilson, who thanked him for "helping to hold up my hands."

He spent much time around the hospitals during and since the World War, ministering to the sick and taking messages and instructions from the dying. His heart has been in that character of work, as having a great personal appeal to his sympathy. He has continued that work to this date and has been of great help to thousands of veterans, their widows, and orphans and other dependents.

He had done the same character of work for veterans of the War with Spain, both in securing pension benefits and in legislation for their benefit. As a result of this he was made an Honorary Life Member of the Spanish War Veterans, and holds his membership in General Leonard Wood Camp at St. Petersburg.

He has been a spokesman before committees of Congress for the benefit of Postal Employees, voting not only for an increase of salaries, but to give them a half holiday on Saturdays.

He has been active in River and Harbor legislation for his district, having succeeded in having many surveys made by the board of engineers, and securing actual improvement for a number of rivers and harbors; notably, the Anclote River at Tarpon Springs (two separate and distinct improvements), Charlotte Harbor, for the benefit of Punta Gorda and Boca Grande.

His greatest work in this connection has been in "Okeechobee Flood Control." This will make it impossible for future loss of life in that region and will forever protect the farms and other property of that area. He also provided for a Barge Canal from the Atlantic Ocean through Lake Okeechobee and out through the Caloosahatchee river to the gulf of Mexico. Actual work is being done. The next step will be to extend this canal by an inland waterway to the docks at Tampa. He also has a project which is being surveyed to connect Pensacola bay by an inland barge canal, via Tampa, with the Caloosahatchee river.

He secured authorization for public buildings at Clearwater, Bradenton, Sarasota, Fort Myers, Winter Haven, Plant City, Lakeland, Leesburg, Arcadia and other places. Work on some of them has been completed and others placed in the hands of architects. Under his activities Tampa has had more than a half million dollars added to its postoffice building.

He saved the Soldiers Home bill from defeat. He managed to get it reported, solely upon the basis of a personal compliment to himself, and then, by a means known only to himself and a few higher officials of the government, it was placed in his District. He had $225,000 allotted to Tampa Bay for a new quarantine station.

His most recent achievement is to have the board of engineers recommend to Congress the further improvement of Tampa Bay, which provides for thirty feet of water from the bar to the docks, and their report has been adopted, and will be included in the next Rivers and Harbors bill. That is three feet more depth than was ever thought of in the days when the improvement of that bay was first projected.

He secured the location in the citrus center of his district of a citrus laboratory, which is of the utmost value to the growers of South Florida.

He has declared himself as definitely in favor of a referendum on the question of prohibition.

He was most active in the days of Florida's distress over the fruit fly. He was instrumental in sending to Florida the sum of $6,000,000 in this connection. He is now working hard to secure reimbursement to Florida growers for losses incurred.

Hundreds of pension cases have been approved by Congress for his constituents and many other hundreds approved by the Bureau of Pensions.

He was instrumental in obtaining refrigerator car service for strawberry growers.

This list of achievements is only a partial one, and the Representative modestly recounted them to the writer, from memory. He says that under the present condition of the country, his duty for the present is to remain in Washington until such time as certain matters of vital importance and directly affecting the interests of his people are disposed of. He is a high ranking member of the committee on Naval Affairs, a committee of such great importance that being a member of that committee one may not be a member of any other.

SECOND PRIMARY ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY

Run-off Candidates Will Wage Battle of Ballots. Smaller Vote Expected as Interest Wanes.

The second primary or run-off election which is scheduled for next Tuesday, is not attracting the amount of interest which the first primary engendered except in the governor's race between "F" John W. Martin and Dave Sholtz. The charges are flying thick and fast from the Martin camp and Sholtz is going calmly on his way over the state and getting a great reception wherever he goes. Sholtz made an amazing showing in the first primary, forcing to the front place from the position of being an almost unknown quantity.

The race between Ernest Amos incumbent, and J. M. Lee, Avon Park, for the state comptroller's office is also waxing warm. Lee made a whirlwind campaign over the state before the first primary and rolled up a heavy vote and his supporters predict he will win by a comfortable majority next Tuesday although Amos has released a barrage of advertising at the last minute.

In the race for representative in congress, state at large, John A. Alsop, Jr., Jacksonville's popular mayor is opposing W. J. Sears, an old campaigner, and this race is expected to be close.

For congressional representative of the first district, Herbert J. Drane, incumbent, has J. Hardin Peterson, also of Lakeland, against him. Both have good records in their respective fields behind them and both claim to have the endorsement of the voters support.

Getting down to local officials, for representative William R. Maynard, successful chairman of Lakeland, is battling with J. E. (Jack) Sims, city manager of Lake Placid. The last minute vote which came in by mail placed Maynard in the run-off and he has a host of friends working for him. Sims also has a large following who confidently expect his election.

Great interest is centered in the sheriff's race. Doyle Schumacher, Sebring, street superintendent, is opposed by E. A. (Bud) Delaney popular Avon Park businessman and Caloosahatchee resident.

Both of these candidates have an army of admirers and supporters and this contest is known to be close.

D. F. Canfield and Mrs. Ruth Bass Hyatt are waging a battle of the ballots for the office of tax collector. Mr. Canfield has his record behind him in the office which he has held for a number of years and Mrs. Hyatt is well known in Avon Park and other parts of the county for her business ability.

For county commissioner, district 2, Charles E. Durrant, who has served for the past 18 months with excellent results, has against him A. F. Spooner, Sebring grocer who served one term on the Sebring city council.

In district three J. H. Twitty is pitted against L. C. Pearce who has held the commissionership for that district previously. Both have their adherents and this race is expected to be close.

The commissioners race in district five is between Ben C. Hope and N. B. Jackson. Hope is the brother of the present commissioner, W. D. Hope and Jackson is a very successful poultryman.

A. A. Bates is opposed to E. G. Long for the office of constable in district 2 and 3, and this is the only contest for constable in the county at this primary.

Getting back to the state politics, for railroad commissioner, R. Hudson Burr opposes W. B. Douglas, Sebring, and Durrant's committee man, John B. Sutton has to run it off with John S. Taylor and for committee woman, Mrs. J. Reid Ramon, opposed by Mrs. Hortense K. Wells.

A number of absentee ballots have been cast already but the total votes cast is not expected to be as heavy Tuesday as on June 7. Interest seems to have waned in many quarters.

Woodmen Circle To Meet

The Woodmen Circle will meet in the evening at 8 o'clock, Monday night at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

The University of Florida has almost 2,000 students each year, 1920, less than 500 attended the Gainesville institution.

DAVE SHOLTZ, HIS LIFE AND ACTIVITIES

History of Man Who is Expected to be Florida's Next Governor

By: Leland G. Swartz

Daytona Beach, June 22.—Dave Sholtz overnight became the most interesting character in Florida public life when he rolled up a vote that placed him in the second primary race for governor.

Here in Daytona Beach they know Dave well. His friends, who include just about every man, woman and child in Daytona Beach, call him Dave and they say they will call him that when he is in the governor's chair. Throughout the state where his personality and his aggressive campaign won thousands to his standards, they have also learned to call him Dave.

He will make the most capable governor in history, say those who know him for his business ability and his hard work, for he is working for anything that means the public welfare. And he will make the most popular and democratic governor in Florida history, because he loves to mingle with the common people, his fellow townsmen say. All of those who call him Dave in his home town say he will still be Dave—Governor Dave—when he takes the reins in Tallahassee.

High Points in His Career

Dave Sholtz's life and achievements in Florida affairs are of especial interest at this time when all signs point to him as the next governor.

The high points in his career may be briefly sketched as follows:

He was graduated with honors from Yale University in 1915. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society at Deland, Florida. He became identified with business and legal interests which gave him intensive training to fit him for the positions in public life which he was later to fill.

In 1916 he was elected to the Florida legislature by an overwhelming vote. He served in the 1917 legislature where he took a progressive stand on all issues and showed constructive ability.

His service in the legislature, however, was destined to be brief for he resigned to enlist in the military service when his country called for men. He entered the navy, did his bit, and returned from the war with rank of ensign.

stared when Dave was placed in the second primary.

She is of Alabama and Virginia ancestry, proud of her southern heritage.

Her home life comes first of all, she says. But she manages to give much time to child welfare work and is a member of the Daughters of American Revolution, United Daughters of Confederacy, the Order of Eastern Star and American Legion Auxiliary.

The three children who with Dave and Mrs. Sholtz make up the family circle are Mitchell, five years old, Caroline, four and Lola, three. Like his home town friends and co-workers, Mrs. Sholtz believes the strong showing of Dave in the first primary was due to the people he put his message to the people of Florida.

He told the people of Florida what they have waited a long time to hear some straight unvarnished truths about the kind of government they have been putting up with," she says.

Sholtz, early in his campaign, got away from the old time methods in Florida politics. He figured that the issues were simple, for the most part revolving around the obligation of the state to do its utmost to help the taxpayer meet the present distressing problems.

He went out to the people and talked to them in simple, concise English about problems in which they and their wives were interested.

He brought political and economic problems home to them in terms of book costs, the relation of taxes to rent, the reasons it cost so much to own land.

He exposed what he termed "political racketeering" and told what he would do to cure the state's ills when he is in the governor's chair.

Because of what he said and the way he said it, the people of Florida believed him and expressed that belief at the polls when they gave him a vote that amazed the old time political dopesters.

In his talk to the people he outlined what he stands for—free school books, a nine month public school term for all children in the state, a woman's advisory board to serve without pay and to help advise in child welfare and state beautification work, a state tourist and convention bureau, agricultural and industrial development, better banking laws, a workman's compensation law and other measures to give the state better, more progressive government at less cost.

With Dave Sholtz in the Governor's chair, his friends and supporters know this program will be carried out. And as for his election, they are certain of this and point to the surge of political leaders and newspapers to his standard since the first primary.

Jacksonville.—During week, May 3-14, 4,532 boxes fresh grapefruit and 430 cases canned grapefruit exported to Liverpool from this place.

Miami.—Stratton Motors, Inc., granted charter.

When Dave settled back into private life it wasn't long until he was elected state's attorney for the seventh judicial circuit of Florida. In this capacity he was known as a fearless prosecutor, playing no favorites. In 1921 he was chosen as municipal judge of Daytona Beach. His associates in Daytona Beach tell of how he administered his judicial duties with justice that was always tempered with mercy when he saw a chance to set some erring fellow man upon the right path.

Following his service on the bench, the civic activities of his career entered an intensive phase. He was drafted as president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and unanimously reelected, serving in 1928 and 1929. The enterprise and energy which he gave to this work was reflected in many projects which helped in state development.

He also served for three years as president of the Daytona Beach chamber of commerce and three years as president of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the East Coast. During this time the East Coast Association was responsible for securing the East Coast canal now under construction. He has given liberally also of his time to fraternal organizations which he is a member. He is a York and Scottish Rite Mason and national officer in the Elks. He was organizer and is past president of the Daytona Beach Rotary club. He is now president of the Volusia County Bar Association and an esteemed member of the Congressional club.

Probably that part of his early life on a farm, his obedience to the teachings of his parents, who were conservative, thrifty people of German extraction, gave him the rugged foundation for his later activities—for his career of rapid attainment, for his devotion to public welfare and his understanding of the problems of every day folk.

In his own career and all his public activities he has been ably assisted by Mrs. Sholtz and cheered by the happy family life which revolves around his wife, three devoted children and a modest, yet tasteful and comfortable home which he owns in Daytona Beach.

Mrs. Sholtz is a charming hostess and friend, pleasant and cordial to all even amid the stress of receiving the throngs of well wishers who called or telephoned following the celebration which Daytona Beach

EXCHANGE TO SUPPORT CITRUS ADVERTISING

Will Match Other Operators Dollar For Dollar in Campaign

Tampa, June 22.—William Edwards, newly elected president of the Florida Citrus Exchange, stated Saturday that his organization stood ready to co-operate with other citrus operators in the support of an all-state citrus advertising campaign for the coming season.

He expressed the belief that if other operators announced their support of the proposed campaign as quickly and as fully as has the Florida Citrus Exchange, the industry would receive a strongly supported and productive campaign.

"The Florida Citrus Exchange," said Mr. Edwards, "stands ready to support with other operators in the state an all-state citrus advertising campaign for the season 1932-33. This policy, recommended by the association president's group, as well as various individual Sub-Exchanges, was confirmed in a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Exchange."

Under this policy, the Citrus Exchange will match other operators in the state dollar in the support of such a campaign. With a stipulated minimum of $100,000 for the Exchange to be matched by the same amount from other operators, it will be possible to raise from $250,000 to $300,000 to place behind the development of consumer demand for Florida citrus during the coming season. It is planned to handle this combined fund through a committee of four, two from the Florida Citrus Exchange and two from the other contributing operators.

"I sincerely hope," continued Mr. Edwards, "that other operators will take as speedy and as emphatic an action on this question as the Florida Citrus Exchange did. All growers and operators realize the need for more advertising. It is a matter which has been discussed time and again throughout the state. The Florida Citrus Exchange stands ready to co-operate fully in the support, development and execution of this campaign."

More Visit County Agent. Farmers on Union and Bradford counties are calling on the county agent for more information and help with their farm problems than ever before, reports County Agent L. T. Dyer. They are faced with the question of what to grow and how to grow it as cheap as possible, then comes the job of marketing it. Insects have been unusually bad this spring, and in many cases advice about how to get rid of them has resulted in big savings to the farmers.

Ruth Bass Hylton's Statement To Highlands County Voters

I appreciate the support the tax payers of this county gave me in the first primary and I want to assure you all if I am elected your tax collector I shall not disappoint you. The office will be conducted as efficiently as it has been in the past. I am not being controlled by any political machine, ring or faction. No jobs have been promised nor trades made.

I believe in fairness to all and favor to none. I am conducting an honest and conscientious campaign and believe that my opponent is doing the same and shall continue to work in that way. I will appreciate your support.

State Agricultural Legislative Council Ready To Function

Organization of the Florida Agricultural Council was effected at a meeting in Ocala last week at a session of the special committee for the purpose appointed at the annual meeting of the State Horticultural Society in Gainesville in March.

Officers to serve until the first annual meeting include: W. J. Ellsworth, Blanton, president; H. L. Robinson, Hastings, C. A. Simpson, Monticello, and R. B. Woolfolk, Orlando, vice-presidents; and Marvin H. Walker, Tampa, secretary-treasurer.

Objectives of the body, as defined in resolutions adopted by the committee, are the advancement of agricultural interests through fair and just legislation, in both federal and state affairs. Hereafter, it was asserted, Florida agriculture has suffered because it lacked a means for unified expression of sentiment while practically every other important interest has had organized representation at Tallahassee and Washington.

A Pacific coast group, known as the Agricultural Legislative Committee of California, has been highly successful in attaining similar ends, it was brought out in the discussions, and the Florida Agricultural Council was patterned largely after it. Material modifications in the plan were adopted, however, that it might be better fitted to conditions in this state.

Provision was made for membership of individuals or groups. Annual meetings will be held at the same places as those of the State Horticultural Society, and on the second day of the latter's sessions.

St. Petersburg.—Contract between city and Walter Topp, Old Forge, N. Y., by which latter will erect aquarium on city property costing between $15,000 and $20,000, approved by City Council.

4-H Club Boys Given 10 Acres To Reforest

Palm Beach County 4-H club boys are to stage a practical demonstration in reforestation, according to M. U. Mounts, county agent. Ten acres of land on the old Military Train from Lake Worth to West Palm Beach has been leased for 10 years by Mrs. Alfred Kay, wife of a prominent eastern manufacturer and winter resident there, and she will finance the demonstration.

The boys, led by Mr. Mounts, will make and keep up fireguards, plant seedlings, and do other things necessary to good reforestation. Half the plot has been set aside for natural reforestation and half will be set to adapted seedlings.

Ocala.—Plans for remodeling Ella Theatre at cost of $5,000, preliminary to reopening as Ritz Theatre, announced by Gordon Reap, local manager.

Heckling a candidate is a bad advertisement for any community where it takes place.

Sholtz modestly declares he is not perfect. We doubt that such an admission could be wrung from his meek and self-effacing opponent.

A candidate refers to all candidates except himself as "politicians." He is not one of them things -- no, indeed!

Dolly Gann succeeded in landing the vice-presidential nomination, but she has yet to run the gauntlet of November's election.

It occurs to us we haven't heard from our old friend Ghandi since the primary, or perhaps a bit before. What was he running for, anyway.

It has gotten so that we now threaten our young son that if he does not do so and so he is in danger of growing up and becoming President. That ought to scare him into being good.

Stafford Caldwell says newspapers cannot or will not tell the truth. His father, that fine honorable gentleman, John M. Caldwell, who for many years edited newspapers in Florida, would hardly agree with his son's estimate of editorial veracity.

It'll all be over soon--and then you'll have nothing to do except sit back and wait for the successful candidates to make good the many promises they've made in order to corral the votes. Not us--we're too old a bird to be caught with chaff.

After we get thoroughly and entirely conversant with the Einstein theory, for further intellectual gymnastics we plan to take up the task of solving the meaning of the prohibition plank of the Republican platform. It resembles the peace of God--in that it "surpasseth all understanding."

We are afraid Mr. Caldwell has dug his political grave. We don't expect politicians to be overly consistent, but Mr. Caldwell's flip to Martin was so contradictory of his former stand that it will be remembered if he should again offer for political honors.

Nothing thus far has developed to alter our belief that Franklin D. Roosevelt is the man to lead the Democratic forces to victory, and we cannot but believe that he will be nominated by next week's convention. However, the party is rich in presidential timber and there are several possibilities any one of whom if chosen we believe would be given loyal and enthusiastic support by the rank and file of Democracy.

Besides the card-passing jobs another industry has developed in politics. It used to be that when a candidate was defeated he was through, and usually discreetly retired to lick his wounds in solitude. Now he blossoms out the next day after his defeat, as a champion of some other candidate fortunate enough to be in the second primary. Presumably he gets well paid for his services, but as a rule to us his aid seems of doubtful value.

If we had any lingering doubt as to the propriety of espousing the candidacy of David Sholtz for Governor it would have been dispelled by the unjust, unfair and un-American attempt to create prejudice against him by proclaiming him the son of immigrant parents. Immigrants founded this country; sons of immigrants have brought it to its present greatness. Automatically and inevitably we make our alignment in opposition to such prejudice and intolerance wherever they may be found. The vote in the governor's race undoubtedly will demonstrate that the thinking people of the state cannot be caught by any such clap-trap.

It is strange what silly charges can be brought against a candidate whose record is so clean that his opponents can point to no spot upon it. For instance, about the only reflection that it has been attempted to cast upon Mr. Drane's service in Congress is that "he is on only one committee," and "he is not even a committee chairman." Many of the biggest men in Congress are on but one committee, for the five most important committees of the House, on which most of the big men serve, have duties so important that their members are not permitted to serve on any other committee. Mr. Drane is a member of one of these five committees--the committee on Naval Affairs. There are 22 members of this committee, and Mr. Drane ranks third--a position which it would take a new man years to attain, if, indeed, he should ever be able to reach it. On the five great committees--Ways and Means, Military Affairs, Appropriations, Naval Affairs and Judiciary--there are 125 members, none of whom have membership in any other committees, and, of course, 120 of these are not chairmen of any committee. So the twaddle about Mr. Drane being on "but one committee, and not even a committee chairman" is absurd and falls flat. As a matter of fact, Mr. Drane holds an enviable position in Congress, which reflects credit on his district and his state.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

The following editorial excerpts are taken from papers published in every section of the state and show what the editors think of Dave Sholtz and his chances of being declared the Democratic nominee, for governor of Florida, next Tuesday.

Jacksonville Journal.—Florida is facing an economic crisis which can best be met by the election of a strong, capable governor who is well versed in the affairs of government, and who has a keen grasp of business conditions as they exist today. The Journal believes that Dave Sholtz is well qualified to fill this post of chief executive. The decision was reached after careful deliberation and after issues and personalities in the campaign had been weighed.

Plant City Courier.—Florida is safe for the Democrats. Rallying to the standard of Dave Sholtz the voters went to the polls and definitely eliminated the possibility of a Republican governor being elected next November. The nomination of Dave Sholtz in the second primary is just about as sure as death and taxes.

Punta Gorda Herald.—A vote for Sholtz means that there will no longer be any danger of one losing his home from confiscation by taxation. Sholtz is the people's friend and was the first of the candidates who was able and daring enough to discover and set forth the reason for Florida's ills and the probable methods to use in bringing the state back to normalcy and prosperity.

Melbourne Times.—The popular statewide approval of Dave Sholtz in the first primary together with the support he is certain to get in the next primary from those who voted for Hardee, Caldwell, Durand and other candidates, assures him of the Democratic nomination. Sholtz can and will defeat W. J. Howey, the nominee of the Republican party. Against Sholtz the Republican from the hills will make just about as good showing as did Mr. Gomez and Mr. Watson.

Pensacola Journal.—Sholtz can throw off the fetters of the old political crowd of office-holders who have used their positions to build up machines to be used as stepping stones to higher offices. He can free Florida from the type of politicians who hand out jobs and contracts to henchmen who through their work at the polls hold tight drafts on the state treasury in event of victory of their candidate. Sholtz has an excellent record of achievement. He has accomplished much in public service. The swing to Sholtz is just beginning. The cry is echoing from city to city and county to county to nominate Sholtz and keep Howey in the hills.

Sanford Herald.—The people of Daytona Beach know Dave Sholtz well for he has lived among them many years. Their endorsement of him in the recent primary is sufficient evidence of his high standing among them. With seven other candidates in the race Daytona Beach gave Sholtz nine out of every ten votes cast. And in Duval county where John Martin and Stafford Caldwell should be known best, Dave Sholtz received more votes than the next high man.

Herald-Herald.—It was Abraham Lincoln, who said you could fool some of the people all the time and all of the people some of the time but not all of the people all of the time. Mr. Martin who still stands as the state's most extravagant governor will probably realize the truth of this maxim in the second primary. Analytical study of the situation indicates that Sholtz will pick up most of the Hardee, Caldwell and Hart strength and the loyalty group of the Durand block with probably a fair percent of the Gomez group. Sholtz is the logical man to defeat Howey in the fall.

Jacksonville Journal.—Martin's paid workers have started a statewide, vicious, underground attack on Dave Sholtz. It is the most thoroughly organized campaign of its kind ever heard of in the state. It is perfectly apparent that this method has been chosen by John Martin as his only hope. Does such a campaign recommend a man as the chief executive of the great state of Florida? Do Floridians admire a man who attacks his opponent in whispers? It is not a gutter fight; it is a campaign for governor of Florida.

Tampa Times.—As things are now lined up the best course is to put Dave Sholtz forward as the Democratic nominee for governor. He is able, of magnetic personality and has strong appeal to the people. He stands for conservative progress and is very much in favor of lessening the people's tax burdens. He has proved a success as a business man and in various executive capacities in which he has served. He has no host of political enemies to punish--and pledges himself to free the state government of political machinery instead of devoting his efforts as governor to constructing a political machine of his own. All in all Sholtz seems by far the best hope of Florida Democrats. He should be nominated by a great majority on June 28.

Lakeland Ledger.—Dave Sholtz and his friends realize they have a hard fight before them but they also had a hard fight in the first primary and they will face the present situation with greater confidence in the ability of the people of Florida to choose the better man for governor.

St. Petersburg Times.—Mr. Howey is clever. There is no doubt about that. It's proved again when he says he doesn't care whether he is to run against Martin or Sholtz in November. Of course he does care, and he does hope it will be Martin, but a little fibbing is allowed everybody in politics.

Fort Pierce News-Tribune.—We agree with Dave Sholtz when he says that thirty million dollars is a lot of money to spend on our school system, twice more than any other southern state, when we have so much financial trouble and inefficiency, indicative of a racket in the school system, which he says the politicians are very much interested in as shown by the fact that they pay more for books than other states whereas we could have free school books if we could get rid of the strangle hold of the school book trust.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

Business today requires great care and intelligence in order to conduct it successfully.

Many business concerns never figure on slack periods and make up too late.

Men who use brains and level headed judgment have found out that modern business methods must be used in securing and keeping business all seasons of the year.

If they don't keep abreast of the times they won't be in business long.

Many business concerns must wake up to the fact that in paying nothing for advertising they are getting nothing back in the way of business, and are really paying a great deal in loss of business.

Quality goods well advertised build a reputation that assures success.

A business that is persistently advertised commands a worthwhile standing in a community.

NEWSPAPER GUYS
(Author Unknown)

I see a man pushing his way through the lines of cops where the work of the fire fend shines. "The chief?" I inquire, but a firman replies, "Gee, no! Why, that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the gates of a show Where great throngs are blocked by the sign SRO. "Is that man the star, that no ticket he buys?" "Star nothin'! That's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man sit in the seat of the great, And they ask his advice upon matters of state, "A diplomat, surely," but to my surprise They tell me he's one of those newspaper guys.

And some day I'll stand by the great gates of gold, And watch a man pass through unquestioned and bold. "A saint?" I will ask, and St. Peter'll reply: "No, that's only a plain, honest newspaper guy."

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

By RUSSELL KAY

And speaking of religious revivals, have you noticed how many folks have seen the light and are hittin' the trail in the HOUSE OF DAVID. "The Old Time Religion" that the politicians keep preachin' may be good enough for some folks, but most of us have arrived at a point where we want a CHANGE, and it looks like we'll get it in a great big way by breakin' off all relations, both diplomatic and PERSONAL with the political MACHINE gunners and put Little David on the Throne.

And Stafford Caldwell don't seem to be gettin' on so good with his little Medicine Show, he put on several performances last week and drew a crowd of curious, who wanted to find out about this double back somersault he was doin' but when he got around to the point of tryin' to crowd a bottle of FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE on 'em everybody lost interest.

Not that we ain't SICK, most of us are, and TIRE'D too, but we've found out that the old SMOOTH- 'N' SYRUP ain't gettin' us no place and we've gonna quit foolin' and get us a SURE ENOUGH doctor. We been tryin' out our PATENT Medicine after another for a long time now and are just wakin' up to the fact that all we get in return is a PAIN in the NECK.

Dr. Sholtz has made a careful examination and advises that we need an operation, the only way we've ever gonna get well is to have some capable surgeon go in there with a sharp knife and do a lot of first class cuttin'.

When we get rid of a few diseased tonsils and maybe an appendix or two and take some of our laws down to a good dentist and have their TEETH fixed why maybe we'll feel better, but right now our SYSTEM is lousy, we've got microbes eatin' the red corpuscles faster than we can take on nourishment to replace 'em, and it ain't FUNNY anymore, it's downright SERIOUS.

And I see where some folks are frettin' and worryin' about Mr. Sholtz bein' a big POWER & LIGHT man. Well, if you ask me, I think it's about time we had a little POWER and LIGHT in Tallahassee. We been kept in the dark so long we don't know whether we're goin' or comin' and it's gonna take a man with POWER to straighten things out.

And didn't the Republicans have a nice little ladylike party up in Chicago, I never could understand why those birds held a convention, with everything all set and BRYED before hand and good strong bouncers standin' around to manhandle any guy that even looks like he was fixin' to throw a monkey wrench.

For awhile it looked like they might really run hog wild and actually make up their mind one way or another about Prohibition, but then the Republicans guess they just couldn't say YES or NO, so they tried to satisfy everybody with a MAYBE that don't mean ANYTHING.

I don't know whether you were able to figure out that fool plank or not, anyhow as near as I could make it out, it was like a little boy askin' his dad if he could go swimmin' and the old man stuck his tongue in his cheek and said, "Well, son, I'll tell you what you do, you take a couple of towels and your bathin' suit and go to the beach and when you get there phone me and I'll let you know."

Listenin' to that discussion over the radio was just like watchin' a guy walk out on the springboard and go through all the motions like he was gonna do a beautiful dive and then have the big sap sit down on the end of the plank and light a cigarette and you can't tell whether he's really gonna jump in later on or come on back down the ladder.

But the guy that made a hit with me was the fellow from Nevada who got up on his hind legs and told 'em he come from a state where the men were MEN and the WOMEN were glad of it, boy what a slogan that would be for some enterprisin' State Chamber of Commerce.

Many people are wonderin' "what the world is comin' to" with especial reference to the United States. For those who believe history repeats itself we suggest that they study the history of France, especially that part between 1789 and 1800. During that time France passed through practically the same financial condition that we are in today. History does not necessarily repeat itself. If people and nations are intelligent enough to profit by the mistakes made in the past, disagreeable episodes can be averted.

SOME COMMENTS ON BEAUTIFUL FLORIDA

Clean-Up Campaign Urged To Aid In Attracting the Tourists

(By F. E. OLIVER)

Although having the first permanent settlement on the North American continent and the unique distinction, if it may be a distinction, of being the only one of the states to have lived under five flags and to have built comfortable homes in St. Augustine years before the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock, Florida was yet the last one to have been really developed.

Its close proximity to the large cities of the East and middle west, only thirty hours from New York by train, has made it the playground of millions of people.

St. Augustine with the oldest house, and interesting old Fort Marion, always attracts visitors, and coming down the East Coast is that wonderful beach, Daytona, where automobiles have been driven 150 miles per hour; then Palm Beach the home of the wealthy play boys; to Miami, only forty years ago was a mangrove swamp, now a bustling city of more than 110,000, where you can swim in the surf or play the races according to your inclinations.

The West Coast also has its attractions but to many our own Ridge Section with its great orange groves, its wonderful Singing Tower and Hightop Hammock, its good roads, splendid water and hospitable people is the ideal place for a winter vacation or a permanent residence.

To get people to come to us, stay with us, spend money with our merchants, business and professional people, we must give them what they expect to find, clean streets, attractive well kept lawns and entire absence of yards filled with objectionable junk and litter of every description.

One such yard will do more harm than a dozen attractive places can count.

Most of our people take a pride in keeping up their places and a number of places that have been unoccupied for a number of years are now being repaired and when completed will be an ornament to our city.

Beautification Committee has been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and many well known citizens have agreed to serve on it and cooperate with, and urge every property owner or tenant to help make this the most attractive little city in all Florida.

Not that the boys and girls are out of school what a help they could be in a clean-up campaign.

Seattle, Washington, June 21.—The part which Rotarians can take in the campaign, especially in North and South America, against illiteracy, and the solution of the present economic crisis, were among the principal topics discussed in the annual general assembly into which the Rotarians were divided today in their annual convention.

Suggested remedies for the depression which were considered included a plan to stagger the work of employees in order to help the unemployed, also various different ways of distributing orders to start up production, and the laying of plans to lessen the effect of such a cycle of depression in the future.

Another important topic for these vocational assemblies was "What effect, if any, are the present business conditions having on the observance of recognized standards of correct business practice?"

The first, by Ramon Lorenzo, of Santa Clara, Cuba, dealt almost entirely with conditions in Latin America, while the second, by Glyned H. Crocker of Portland, New York, was confined largely to the campaign in the United States.

Mr. Lorenzo described many schemes instituted by Rotarians and education officials in Latin America, to extend schooling to adult illiterates, who, he said, were increasing in numbers. He proposed the organization of an international league among the Latin-American nations under a title whose initials formed the word "LITERACY."

"LEA" which is the command to "READ." This league, with branches in all countries, would be organized by the Rotarians, and systematically by enlisting all possible elements of society in the drive.

When Mr. Martin was canvassing for governor for the state of Florida he told you it would cost lots of money to build roads from 30 to 60 feet wide, with a 14 inch road bed. All voters realized that fact, but at the same time you wanted a governor with the get up and get spirit, and you elected him a governor. Now you hear about the expense of the roads. They are all paid for with your money and John Martin engineered the work, and he is a great good one—the best governor Florida ever had. The roads are built and now he can cut taxes and expenses. Don't you see the bonds and the money he tried to do what the people asked him to do in regard to the Everglades district. He keeps his promise.

Red ascheronia, or the red whitefly fungus, is now available for distribution by the State Plant Board, Dr. E. W. Berger, entomologist, has announced. This fungus parasite is the principal natural enemy of the common citrus and cloudy-winged whiteflies during the period of summer rains.

A culture consists of the amount of fungus that can be grown in a pint wide-mouth bottle, and is sufficient to treat an acre of trees. The price is one dollar per culture, including postage. This is about the cost of production and distribution.

ULTRA-VIOLET LAMP DETECTS COUNTERFEIT MASTRIPICES

Pasadena, Calif.—An ultra-violet lamp has been designed by Captain R. B. Haselden of the Huntington Library to use in the examination of paintings, manuscripts, and other works of art. The lamp detects invisible writing on valuable papers and is used to discover whether a picture has been painted over the original by thieves. Counterfeits are easily distinguished by the manner of painting, and the quality of the oils used. The lamp, which is used as a powerful germicide in medicine, generates very little heat because there are no infra-red rays. The very short ray generates 1800 to 2300 p.p.m. of light.

Sunday School Lesson

FOR JUNE 26, 1932.

SUBJECT: Review of Book of Genesis.

GOLDEN TEXT: "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose." Rom. 8:28.

READING LESSON: Acts 7: 2-5; 8-15.
We suggest the following review from Peabody's Selected Notes on International Sunday School Lessons: A Review of Beginnings.

Genesis, meaning "Beginning," is the "Book of Beginnings," and a review might well consist of a series of short talks or brief essays considering the various beginnings which we have studied. Outlines of essays follow.

1. The Beginnings of a Great Race. Show how Abraham by his migration to Canaan laid the foundation for the Hebrew race, how this was consolidated by the work of Isaac, and how Joseph by his great work in Egypt, and Jacob by his migration thither, began the long development of the race in that centre of the world's power and culture.

2. The beginnings of the Tribes. A study of the characteristic of the Tribes from what we are told about Esau (Edomites) and the twelve sons of Jacob, especially as the latter are pictured in connection with Joseph and in their father's dying blessings.

3. The Beginnings of Religion. The first temptation. The first sin and its consequences. The early revelations of God, to Adam and Eve, to Cain, to Noah, to Abram, Isaac, and Jacob, especially through visions and dreams. The anticipations and types of Christ scattered through Genesis.

4. The Beginnings of Worship. The prayers of the patriarchs, especially of Abraham and Jacob. Their vows. Their sacrifices. The monotheism (one God) of the Hebrews.

5. The Beginnings of the Bible. The preparation for Moses the first of the inspired writers.

6. The Beginnings of the Higher Civilization. Co-operation and love in the home. Industry and fair dealing and their results. Peaceful relations with others and their advantages. An understanding of the worth of temperance and of personal purity.

A Review of Characters. Genesis is peculiarly rich in great and notable character and a series of brief character studies written and read. The major characters that may be treated thus are sixteen, namely, Adam, Eve, Cain, Abel, Satan, Abram, Isaac, Esau, Jacob, Joseph, Judah.

A Review of Sayings. Many sentences of Genesis have become proverbial, having entered into our common speech and into the literature of our race, and being referred to constantly in books, sermons, and Christian literature. You may all make collections of these, each for himself or herself. If the pupils will take turns reading a saying and giving an explanation, and will continue till the following samples have been given and discussed, you will be greatly benefited:

"In the beginning—God."
"Let there be light."
"God blessed the seventh day, and hallowed it."
"It is not good that man should be alone.""He shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel."
"Am I my brother's keeper?"
"Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him."
"I do set my bow in the cloud."

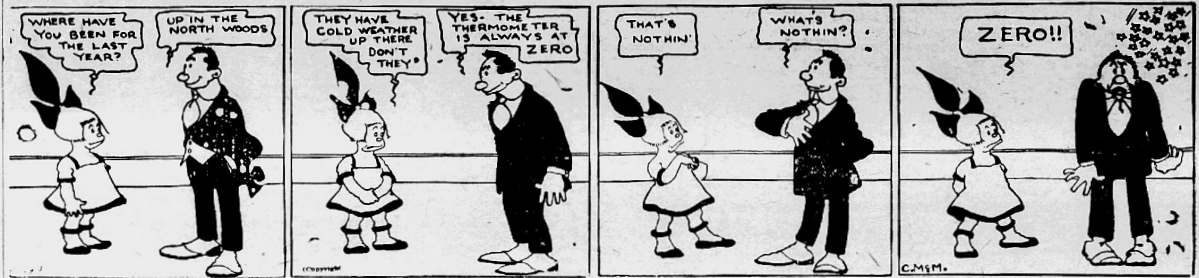

A Review of Scenes. Genesis is full of striking and interesting scenes, which may be studied for yourselves or described to the class by the various members. The following twenty-four subjects are suggested: The First Day of Creation. The First Temptation. The First Death. The Setting Out of Abram from Haran. The choice of Hebron.

The Destruction of Sodom. The Divine Promise to Abram. The Sacrifice of Isaac. Isaac Driven from Wells. The Winning of Rebekah. Jacob Deceives His Father. Jacob's Dream at Bethel. Jacob wins Rachel. Jacob Meets Esau. Joseph's Dream. Joseph Repulses Potiphar's Wife. Joseph in Prison. Joseph Interprets Pharaoh's Dream. Joseph Stores Wheat. Judah's Plea. Joseph Discovers Himself to his Brothers. Joseph Meets Jacob. Jacob before Pharaoh.

Practical Questions. These are practical questions on modern problems, based on the different lessons. The following questions, one for each lesson may be used: 1. What more should man be doing to care for the earth which God has committed to him? What is the best way to meet temptation? 2. What can we do today which call upon Christians to go forth and possess? 3. How can brotherhood take the place of competition in business? 4. How can the peaceful spirit win the rule among the nations? 5. How can the strong be brought to value their birthrights? 6. How can labor and capital, the modern Esau and Jacob, be brought together? 7. How can we become more vividly conscious of God's Presence? 8. How can we dream great dreams? 9. How can we make our way in the world? 10. How can Christians today show the sacrificial spirit of the cross? 11. How can we bring back old age to the honor due it?

Farmers' Week At University To Be Held August 8-12

Farmers' Week at the University of Florida this year will be held August 8-12, Dr. Wilmon Newell, director of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, announces. The occasion will offer Florida farmers and their wives a week's vacation that is filled with educational, recreational, and entertaining features.

Last August about 1,800 men and women, from every section of the state, attended the 10th annual Farmers' Week, and an even larger attendance is expected this year. The entire staff of the College of Agriculture, Agricultural Extension Service, Experiment Station, and State Plant Board will be on hand to help make the week valuable for every visitor. A number of prominent speakers from other sections of the country, and successful farmers from over the state will appear on the program.

All facilities of the University will be thrown open to the visitors. Rooms will be furnished for dormitories, and meals will be served at the cafeteria at very reasonable rates. Tours will be made of the livestock, horticultural, and pasture experiments, insect and disease laboratories, and other interesting points on the campus.

Every farmer and farm woman in the state is invited to spend this week away from the cares at home and at the same time take a real college short course.

Birds Drive Insects - From Celery Fields

What birds can do toward suppressing insect pests is shown by the part the Florida warbler, blackbird and several other species play in controlling the celery leaf-tyer, a costly pest in southern celery fields. Birds, of course, cannot be depended upon to suppress this or any other insect that preys on farm crops. By eating these insects in large numbers they will, however, greatly reduce the pest population.

Several species of birds find the celery leaf-tyer very palatable. Dr. Dayton Stoner, who recently conducted, for the United States Department of Agriculture, a special investigation on the habits of birds to the celery leaf-tyer in Florida. The Florida red-winged blackbird, he found, heads the list of insect eaters in the fields surveyed.

Other important species are the palm warbler, tree swallow, myrtle warbler, bobolink, Florida grackle, American pipit, English sparrow, southern meadow-lark, and cowbird. These birds, Dr. Stoner reports, do not care much for celery. They prefer the insects that infest the plants. The celery crop is produced during the winter months in Florida, so many of these birds migrate into the fields for the winter.

Fields having their ditch banks well covered with trees and shrubbery are more attractive to the insect-eating birds than those offering no shelter to which the birds may fly when startled.

The celery leaf-tyer breeds very rapidly, producing four generations in a season-five in hot, dry seasons. Cool weather, when the growth of the tier at each stage of its life history is retarded, gives birds more time to find and destroy pupae and larvae, which they prefer to the insects in the final stage of development. For this reason birds check celery insect pests more effectively in cool than in warm seasons.

HONEY DELIGHTS

Where no cake or cookies are served the tea is delightful with just tea and one of the following sandwiches or honey toasts:

Honey-Almond Rolls.—One-half cup finely-ground almonds, date pieces, three to four tablespoons of honey. Blend and spread on lengthwise bread. Roll as for jelly roll. Roll in wax paper and slice very thinly with sharp knife.

Honey Pecan Toast.—Spread hot slices of toast with mixture of honey, butter, pecans. Allow one-fourth cupful honey to one-half cup chopped pecans, and one-half cupful butter. Let cool and cut in finger-like strips.

Softened one-half cupful butter and one-half cupful honey. Add two tablespoons of finely-chopped honeyed orange peel, pinch of ginger, and one-fourth cupful each chopped dates and chopped nuts. Thoroughly blend the mixture. Spread on rounds of thinly sliced Graham bread or assorted shapes of nut bread.

Honey Fruit Tea.—Orange slices and lemon slices (if in season, fresh strawberries). Make very thin slices of orange and lemon and stack them one on top of other in glass jar using as many slices as necessary for number of guests there are (allow two slices of each fruit per individual). Pour over these enough mild warm honey to cover and let stand two or three hours before using.

Fill cups with tea and drop in one or two or three of these honey soaked fruit slices. Honeyed fruit slices may be arranged on small service plates and passed to guests to select their personal choice. Honey has permeated the fruit tissues and just the minute the slices strike the hot tea, they give off the fragrance of the flowers from which they came, and a most perfect beverage results.

These teas are also delightful when iced.—American Honey Institute.

money under false pretenses. Under present conditions accept purveyor of civil service courses is now under indictment in Iowa for false representation. It is expected that other such cases of prosecution will follow.

Comparatively few appointments are being made in the Federal civil service. Vacancies which must be filled are filled by the transfer of those in the service or the reinstatement of those who have been in the service, wherever practicable.

It is seldom necessary to announce an examination. In most cases large registers of eligibles exist as a result of examinations held during the past year. When an examination is announced, the applicants are usually hundreds of times in excess of the need.

Money paid for civil service coaching courses at this time might almost as well be thrown to the four winds.

Zinnia Raisers Should Watch For Leaf-Spot and Powdery Mildew

Zinnia growers need to be on the watch for mildew and leaf-spot, two diseases that are likely to defoliate the plants during the rainy season, says Erdman West, plant disease worker with the Florida Experiment Station.

Mildew first makes its appearance on the lower leaves. They are first spotted, then covered with a whitish, powdery growth. The leaves soon fall and the plant is gradually defoliated. The cause is similar to spray and dust with sulphur in some form. Mr. West recommended dusting with fine powdered sulphur or spraying with a solution of potassium sulphide made by dissolving four ounces of potassium sulphide in 10 gallons of water. He feels that the spray is a little more effective, but the dust is easier to apply and does not leave as much residue on the plants. Either should be applied regularly enough to keep the plants covered.

Leaf-spot is recognized by small circular spots on the leaves. They usually have a purple margin around them when they have just started. They gradually increase in size until they cover the leaf and kill it.

RURAL COMMON SENSE

DIVERSIFICATION IS PROVING ITS MERITS IN TRUCKING AREAS

Diversification of crops has been recommended for the general farming areas for years and years. Also, in recent years it has been recommended for the truck growing sections of Florida. Many truck growers have found during the last year or two that diversification really is a profitable thing to do, and, of considerable importance from the standpoint of the health of the pocketbook.

Growing almost any truck crop is an expensive proposition, especially as it is practiced in this state. Off-season production is much more expensive than in-season production. The truck grower who spends heavily for fertilizer, land preparation, seed and cultivation of one and only one truck crop is taking a chance on losing money while the grower who raises several different crops is apt to clear some money on some of them, if not all. And what he clears on his profitable crops likely will more than offset what he loses on his unprofitable ones.

With only one crop, there are too many chances that diseases and insects will play havoc, unfavorable weather conditions will interfere, or insects may go to pieces before the crop is sold.

That a person should not put all of his eggs in one basket is almost proverbial. However, Florida truck growers have been doing just that for years and years. With the decline in prices has come a realization that it is now gaining prominence.

The tomato growers of Dade county are growing squash, potatoes, eggplants, and other truck crops. In nearly any truck growing county, the story is similar. Where formerly a county might have been noted as a one-crop county, it is now gaining prominence for the variety of products being grown by its truck growers. And shipments this spring have shown the growers the wisdom of the policy of diversification. The growers of diversified truck crops have cleared some hard times, and are optimistic.

No doubt the practice will be more generally adopted next fall and winter.

Freeze Acts Only As Pruning Knife On Potato Plants

A freeze merely acts as a pruning knife, tests on potatoes at different stages of growth at the Florida Experiment Station show. In 1927-28 potatoes at Lake Cross and Hastings were planted at regular intervals so that the freeze caught them at different ages. During the season just closed, according to M. R. Ensign, truck horticulturist in charge of the experiment, plants were pruned at similar ages with a knife and they gave the same responses as the frozen plants.

Three stages of growth were considered. The third and fourth week, just before the stolons are formed, was given the first stage. While the stolons were forming, or from four to six weeks, was the second stage, and from then on was called the third stage. Plants that were frozen during the first stage sent up new shoots from the old potato or sent out lateral branches giving more tuber producing surface. When conditions after the freeze were favorable increased yield of marketable potatoes resulted. If the weather was unfavorable more potatoes were usually produced but a larger percentage of them were culls.

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

By Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 27

Hearts—A, K, J, 3
Spades—Q, J, 10, 9, 8
Should you bid one no trump or one spade?
This is a very close deal. Personally the writer prefers a spade bid at either Auction or Contract, but would not criticize a no trump. These two hands are indicative of the difficulty that confronts Auction or Contract players who have not yet mastered the proper side of the dealer. The dealer is in a peculiar position, for he can always give exact information. For that reason he should strive to bid correctly. To pass under certain circumstances is just as important as to bid. The dealer must know his own mind, and must be able to give exact information both by his bids and by his passes; so strive to do so at all times.

Hearts—A, K, 4
Clubs—J, 6, 3, 2
Diamonds—A, 8, 2, 5
Spades—A, K, 10, 4

No score, rubber game. The hand is applicable either to Auction or to Contract, Z dealt and passed. A bid one spade, Y one no trump, I passed. I bid two hearts, A bid one spade and I bid two spades, Z bid three clubs, A and Y passed and B bid three spades. Z bid four clubs, A and Y doubled, B redoubled and I bid four spades. Z and A passed, Y doubled, B redoubled and all passed. Y opened the ace of hearts and then led the trick. How should A play the combined hands?

Solution: After winning the second trick with the king of hearts, A should lead the king of spades. He should then lead a low diamond and win the trick with the ace. He should then lead a low spade and win the trick with the ace in his own hand. In this particular hand, Z failed to follow suit on the second round of spades.

A was now in a position where he could count Z's hand very accurately. Y's lead of the ace and try of hearts indicated that B held the deuce indicated that Y originally held only two hearts. Therefore Z must have held six hearts. Z's bid and rebid of clubs indicated that he must have held at least five clubs so that his original holding must have been six hearts, five clubs, one spade and one diamond. Therefore A at the sixth trick should lead a diamond and finesse the Jack. Played in this way, A B should make their contract for Y Z can make only the ace of hearts and two spade tricks. Play the hand for practice.

Problem Hand No. 2

Hearts—6
Clubs—none
Diamonds—none
Spades—K, 9, 5, 2

Hearts—K, 9
Clubs—none
Diamonds—none
Spades—J, 10, 5

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win three of the five tricks against an adverse defense? Solution: Z should lead the Jack of spades and A's best play is the Queen. If A should play the ace, Y will win the balance of the tricks. A should allow the Jack to hold the trick. A can win only one trick. When A, therefore, plays the Queen of spades, Y should win the trick with the king and lead the six of hearts. If B plays the ten, Z should play the king and then lead the nine. If B plays low, Z should play the nine, forcing A in the lead. A can now lead a heart or a spade. If the former, Z wins the trick and leads a spade. If A leads the ace and small spade, Y will win the remaining tricks.

In either case therefore, A B can win only one spade and one heart trick so that Y Z win three of the five tricks against any defense.

REMOVING THE POISONOUS GASES FROM THE AUTOMOBILE

Berlin, Germany—The German Dye-Trust of Berlin has recently conducted successful tests in an effort to eliminate the poisonous gases of the automobile. Here we have two research scientists at work on one of their experiments. They succeeded in eliminating the notorious oxide of carbon gas by a special filter. As proof that gas passing through the filter in nonpoisonous is borne out by the fact that the small mouse used in the experiment continues to live.

R. Hudson Burr Thanks Friends

R. Hudson Burr, candidate for the state railroad commission, of vote in the first primary, has issued a statement expressing appreciation for the support of his friends that enabled him to lead the field of seven candidates. He enters the run-off on June 28 with W. B. Douglass of Lake City.

Mr. Burr formerly was a member of the railroad commission, serving for more than twenty years, a greater part of the time as chairman, his associates honoring him with the chairmanship because of his thorough familiarity with the commission's powers. He also was widely recognized throughout the United States as an authority on subjects with which the commission deals, and at one time was prominently mentioned for a seat on the Interstate Commerce Commission. The statement of Mr. Burr follows:

"I take this means of publicly expressing my sincere appreciation to the friends and supporters who made possible my commanding lead for state railroad commissioner in the June 7th primary.

"With complete returns now in, my lead over six opponents, ranged from approximately 16,000 to 35,000, and my lead over Mr. Douglass of Lake City, with whom the run-off will be, is 16,443. My own vote is 52,441. All I ask of my friends and supporters is to stand by their guns from now until the 28th.

"I have made a clean campaign, free from mud-slinging and appeal to the supporters of the unsuccessful candidates to cast their votes for me, assuring them their support will be appreciated, and let's do all that is humanly possible for a drive to victory in the remaining few days.

DeLaney's Message

To The People of Highlands County

I DEEPLY appreciate the keen interest shown by the people of the county on my behalf in my race for sheriff.

Prompted by a spirit of fair play, and with sincere convictions, many county voters have joined wholeheartedly in the county-wide movement to elect me to office. I appreciate this beyond measure.

As the time draws near, I have no message, except one of good will; I make no claims except those based on my record of public and private life; I make no promises that I cannot fulfill.

Believing, as I do, that the office of sheriff requires a man of mature judgment; a man qualified by experience; a man who has handled large forces of laboring people and knows their problems and troubles; a man fitted by contact with the public and with people of all stations of life; a man whose integrity is unquestioned and whose private life is an open book—

Believing that the office of sheriff requires a man of this calibre, I respectfully submit my record of nearly fifteen years' residence among you for your consideration. Further, I welcome a thorough investigation among the people who know me best—my fellow townsmen and neighbors in Avon Park.

I am no politician, nor the candidate of any group or ring of politicians. I am making this race solely upon my merits, and if elected I will be answerable only to the PEOPLE, who put me in office. I have made no promises other than to do the best that I possibly can. I have made no promises in the matter of deputy appointments, and if I go into office, you can rest assured that I will go without being tied up in any manner.

If this type of campaign appeals to you—if you think it rings true—if you believe in straight-forward, honest American principles—and want a man in the sheriff's office who can and will enforce the laws fairly and impartially, sanely and sensibly, then you are invited to give serious thought and consideration to my candidacy. I will appreciate it.

E. A. DeLANEY,

Candidate for Sheriff.
