

Round About

Avon Park

by W. C. Beckett

Mr. Bristol. We are glad to be extending a welcome to Mr. E. H. Bristol, Sr., of Foxboro, Mass., who arrived Thursday morning for a short visit in Avon Park. We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Bristol shortly after his arrival and found he is a very fine gentleman and we sincerely hope to enjoy his visit to the utmost. He will be honored tonight at a banquet at the Jacaranda Hotel and we hope that everyone possible will be on hand to show that Avon Park appreciates men of the type of Mr. Bristol coming among us.

The C. of C. Election. The membership of the chamber of commerce is to be congratulated on the type of men elected to the board of directors at the election Thursday. The selection could not have been better although everyone on the ballot would have worked their head off for the advancement of the city. With such a board, we know the chamber of commerce will forge ahead and they have made an excellent start with the undertaking they have in hand at present. Forward, Avon Park, "The Healthiest Community in Florida."

The Park Benches. The would-be sculptors around here who imagine they can practice their budding talents by the new park benches had better watch out. If caught and convicted, Mayor Covington promises to fine them $100 each. Maybe that will cool their ardor. It's funny about some people, whenever they want to carve their initials on it right away. We don't know why. We have no such feeling, but then we may be abnormal.

Red Devils Meet Brewster Eleven Here This Eve.

Coach Herbert Blissett's smooth-running Red Devil football machine are out to hang up their third straight win in as many starts, when they entertain the Brewster eleven at Head Field tonight.

After blanking the heavy Lake Wales team by a score of 7-0, the Red Devils should have "easy pickings," since Brewster fell before Plant City by a score of 45-6, and offered a defeat at the hands of the Sebring Blue Streaks by taking the short end of a 26-0 score. Although every indication points to an Avon Park victory, the boys from Brewster should be taken seriously, as a win from them will be necessary to put the Red Devils in line for the Ridge Championship.

With the continued support of the public, Coach Blissett's boys have a good chance to win the championship this season, a feat which has never been accomplished in the history of football at Avon Park. Adult season tickets are on sale for only two cents and nearly $50.00 is yet needed to pay for new uniforms and other equipment. Loosen up and help the school, they deserve your support, and we guarantee that you will regret spending your money for a good cause.

Tonight's game is called for 8:00 o'clock and the fans are promised plenty of entertainment.

School Children Take Health Tests

According to Miss Florence Eshelby, county health officer, children in the county have been given health tests and immunization under the direction of Dr. C. W. Fayer of Tampa, district health officer. In Avon Park 43 received the Schick test for diphtheria and one registered positive, 28 received typhoid immunizations and 14 were vaccinated for small pox.

Fire Thursday At West End Garage

Wallace Piaty was severely burned on both arms and the face at a fire Thursday morning in the rear of the West End Garage and Machine Shop. The building was damaged. The fire was caused by a fitting on a tank of gas coming loose and the escaping gas coming into contact with red embers in a forge.

Mrs. A. O. Kinney, Mrs. D. Ford, Mrs. H. L. Mayo and Mrs. Harry Kinney were visiting in Sebring.

AVON PARK BEAT LAKE WALES 7-0 FRIDAY NIGHT

Red Devils Made Fine Showing In First Bid For Ridge Championship

(By A. B. Wells) Picking an appropriate time and place to christen their new, blood-red satin football pants, the powerful Avon Park Red Devils ended their first bid for the Ridge conference championship last Friday evening on Legion Field at Lake Wales when they bowled over the Highlanders by a score of 7-0.

A spectacular 44-yard run by Windham, Red Devil captain for All-Ridge fullback, in the third quarter for a touchdown, was the first we've seen since 3-2 went on the block, only to be called back when a Red Devil clipped a Lake Wales man from the rear.

Although the Highlanders were outplayed in every department of the game they piled up a total of 11 first downs to 7 for Avon Park. 8 were made from rushing and 3 from passing. Merriweather had 111 yards, while Windham had 44.

SATURDAY LAST DAY VOTERS CAN REGISTER

General Election Registration Books Will Close Next Saturday Night

Jacksonville, Oct. 7.—(FNS)—With October 10 the deadline for registering to participate in the regular election of November 3, State Democratic Headquarters here and Democratic leaders throughout Florida are making a last-minute drive to swell the ranks of Democratic voters.

Special stress is being laid on the necessity for registering "first voters," and as a result First Voters Clubs have been organized in a number of counties. The Democratic campaign is based on bringing out the full party vote, according to C. G. Cordington, state campaign director.

"The Democrats have the votes and if they can get them registered and to the polls there is no doubt as to the result," Cordington said. "There is real danger, however, that over-confidence may prevail in the counties that are strongly Democratic, and that the proper effort may not be made to get the full vote out. This is especially true of Volusia which we are depending upon to offset the heavy Republican vote in the southern part of the state."

With the campaign well advanced, indications are that Democratic prospects have brightened. Cordington said. Campaign committees are now functioning in the majority of the counties, he revealed, and the party wheel-horses are pulling together. Cordington announced that the Young Democrats have tendered their co-operation to state headquarters and have accepted several important and definite assignments. A state campaign committee has been appointed by B. F. (Bud) Munn, Gainesville, president, composed of the following members: John G. Baker, Orlando, chairman; Kerfoot Bryant, Lakeland; Dan Kelley, Jr., Fernandina; Lucien B. Stearns, Pensacola; George O'Neil, Miami; C. O. Wright, Miami and Ed Grinnell, Clearwater.

Fred P. Conner, gubernatorial nominee and Claude Pepper and Judge C. O. Andrews, U. S. Senatorial nominees, are continuing their stump campaign and are being greeted by large crowds and long motorcades. They will appear at Kissimmee Springs, Folk county, where an all-day rally will be held on October 10. This will be the major rally of the entire campaign, according to Dave Turner, chairman of the state executive committee. Ed Rivers, Democratic nominee for governor of Georgia, is among the outside speakers who have accepted invitations to attend. An effort is being made to keep the presence of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

Congregational Church News

The Sunday school of the Union Congregational Church will have its Rally Day program next Sunday, October 11th, at 10:15. A varied program has been arranged of recitations, songs and short plays by members of the school. John L. Kelly, Jr., president of the school, will lead the program. The church service will be at 10:30 a. m. and the church service will be at 10:30 a. m.

Neon Sign Man To Locate Here

Fred S. Dorsey of Ft. Meade is moving to Avon Park as soon as he can secure a suitable home, the real estate office of W. M. Reich reported last week. Mr. Dorsey is a licensed electrical contractor and specializes in Neon signs. For the present he has established an office in the Smith Hardware Co. S. C. Pardee and son, Colquhoun, returned Monday night from a visit to Washington, D. C. and two sons of Mr. Dorsey.

ROTARIANS HEAR CITY'S HISTORY AND FINANCES

City Clerk Shockley and Auditor Lester Spoke Wednesday Noon

The early history of Avon Park and the present financial condition of the city were reviewed at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday at the Jacaranda Hotel. Francis Shockley, city clerk historically and A. Gilbert Lester of Winter Haven who is now the city clerk, spoke in the finances. R. S. Funderburk had charge of the program and stated that the majority of people pay more taxes to the city than they do to the county. The city books, spoke in the finances. R. S. Funderburk had charge of the program and stated that the majority of people pay more taxes to the city than they do to the county.

Mr. Shockley said the official has arduous duties to perform and suggested more cooperation from the citizens and civic organizations. Of the early history of Avon Park he said the first charter was issued and dated May 23, 1913 and the area then was 24 square miles. It is now 4,600 square miles. The first city officer was Herbert Seaverns, mayor; Irvin Raulerson, marshal; S. F. Tucker, tax assessor; C. E. Lanier, tax collector; and Ellis West, city clerk. The first city council consisted of W. O. Skipper, William King, George F. Kellogg, W. H. Daugherty and H. E. Godwin.

The president of the council has unusual powers at that time, he said, such as firing a council member $5.00 if he left the council chamber without permission of the president; if a council member were considered guilty of misconduct, he could be dismissed on a two-thirds vote of the other members.

The first A. C. L. train came to Avon Park in 1912, when the population was 400. The population then grew to 800 in 1920, 1,554 in 1925, 3,015 in 1930 and according to the 1935 census was 3,869 in 1935. The earliest bonds were issued in 1915 in the amount of $20,000 for streets. Mr. Shockley said the last issue was in 1929. The total outstanding bonds now amount to $844,000 of which $447,000 are involved in the city limit suit. The total city indebtedness is $1,136,000, Mr. Shockley said.

Mr. Shockley paid tribute to G. H. Hunter of St. Cloud, who is trying to solve the debt problem. The plan he worked out for his home town is very workable and he is trying to do the same plan here.

Mr. Lester brought greetings from the Winter Haven Rotary Club of which he is a past president. He urged his hearers not to stop at electing city officers, but to cooperate with them. It is big business they have to handle with assets of about $1,000,000 which include unpaid taxes and paving and sidewalk assessments.

He hoped the bond problem would be worked out in the near future. The operating expenses of the city are very low, he said and last year and the year before were below the budget, a condition which does not prevail in many towns, he said, and he gave the council credit for this.

Council has many things to do and set on and he said they had kept expenses down to rock bottom. Taxes would be less if all paid their share, he said. He recommended a revaluation of the city assets, such as streets, buildings and other properties which are now assessed at their cost price. He suggested a reserve be set up to take care of depreciation and this would also help towards the bond settlement, he said. He said he found the city books in fine shape, well kept and all money accounted for.

Junior Stebbins Will Fight Monday Night At Norfolk

Junior Stebbins, under the ring name of Austin Gilbert, is matched to fight in Norfolk, Va. next Monday night under the tutelage of his trainer, known as Jerry the Greek. Junior has trained down the 154 pounds and his opponent, whose name has not been learned, tips the scales at 225 pounds. This unknown is reported to have won a knockout in his last encounter.

Telephone System Being Installed

Equipment for the new common battery telephone system is now being installed, Manager John L. Deleaga states and he expects to get over to the new system about November 15. The exchange building is being remodeled in order to take care of the new system. With the new system working the present "turn the crank" operation will be no more. It will simply be necessary to lift the receiver off the hook in order to call "central." This will be another step in the advancement of Avon Park.

CLAUDE PEPPER, CONG. PETERSON WILL SPEAK HERE

Local Democrats Secure Two Outstanding Speakers Who Will Discuss Campaign Issues Sebring and Avon Park

Recognizing the fact that Highlands county is one of the two counties in the state that could reasonably be expected to go Republican, the state campaign committee are sending two of the best speakers in the state here to speak in Sebring next Saturday and Avon Park Monday of next week.

Claude Pepper, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate, nominated without opposition and entering the general election without opposition, and one of the most able speakers in the state, will appear on the stump here with Congressman J. Hardin Peterson, present representative from the First Congressional District of Florida and Democratic candidate to succeed him.

Both men will address the people of Sebring at 8 o'clock on Saturday evening and at 8 o'clock and from the band stand in Avon Park next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The interest of the national and state Democratic tickets.

Mr. Pepper, whose home is in Tallahassee, where he is engaged in the practice of law, is not only an orator of recognized ability but one of the best informed and able speakers in the country. He will present the issues of the national campaign in a manner both interesting and informative.

Congressman Peterson, who is known personally to practically every voter in the First Congressional District, has served in Congress during the present administration and is thoroughly familiar with all of the problems the administration has had to face and is informed on the progress made in the fight against the depression.

The local Democratic workers met at the court house last Thursday afternoon and completed the organization of the district. In mind as one party "wheel horse" stated, "not so much to keep the county in the Democratic column, but to make it more with such a large majority that never again will there be any doubt as to its being a Democratic county." Selwyn Ives, the Democratic nominee for the office of county judge and long time personal friend of Mr. Pepper, will preside at the meeting in Sebring and make the introductory remarks. T. A. McNicholas, prominent Avon Park attorney will preside at the meeting in Avon Park Monday evening.

FIGHT OPENING OF GAME RESERVATION

Sportsmen Pass Resolution At Meeting In Avon Park Friday Eve

The sportsmen of Highlands county are without a doubt agreed that the game preserve in the county shall not be opened for the killing of deer and other game this season if they can prevent it, judging from the enthusiasm at a meeting of the Sebring Game Conservation Council last Friday evening, at the American Legion home, which was attended by sportsmen from Sebring and other communities in the county.

About 75 sportsmen attended the meeting which unanimously adopted a resolution protesting the opening of the game preserve which it is planned to open, on the grounds, it is said, that the deer carry ticks and that if the deer are not killed it will be impossible to rid the county of the ticks.

Speakers at the meeting pointed out that if the preserve is opened it will still be unlawful to kill anything but buck deer and the females will carry ticks if the males do.

It is said there are less than 100 deer in the refuge and it is estimated that not over 20 could be killed by hunters even if the refuge is opened. The balance would only be given to other territory, which would not help the tick eradication work if the deer do really carry the fever tick, which many hunters doubt.

The sportsmen also passed a resolution requesting an additional deer refuge for the county extending at least five miles over the Highlands county line and recommended Alderman Williams, a former game warden, for the position.

The matter of setting the game preserve for the county extends at least five miles over the Highlands county line and was also discussed at this meeting. An excellent supper of barbecued pork with the trimmings was served and enjoyed by the members and guests.

The "Man of Calcium"
Improving Human Breed?

Fourteen concerns have offered to build small airplanes to cost as little as $750. That is important aviation news; the bureau of air commerce is to be congratulated on its effort to encourage individual flying.

The day is coming when there will be more machines in the air than there are automobiles on the ground now.

Some one preparing a list of ten things that Christians would and would not do says:

"There would be no private wealth; Jesus denounced great possessions as alien to His gospel, and fatal to His kingdom."

"There would be no poverty and no war, because real Christians would refuse to fight."

In this civilization, if Christians refused to fight, they would rapidly diminish in number, and the world would be settled by Asiatics.

The founder of Christianity taught that what was due to Caesar should be rendered unto him.

If he were on earth now he might say the same of organized capital, knowing that it supplies, in our complicated system, the possibility of steady work.

Nobody, not even a clergyman, can be positive as to what Christ's commands would be if he returned in this age of flying machines, automobiles, public schools and the strange problem of too much of almost everything, combined with want among many thousands of families lacking food and the government wondering occasionally what to do with millions of bushels of wheat.

Before long you may have football coaches leading teams to their players. You know what we call "man of iron" is really the "man of calcium."

The metal calcium in the blood in quantities that do not change, or that change little, produces a steadiness of nerve lacking in men with a fluctuating calcium supply.

It is said that experiments made on four young men at an eastern university showed that a drop in calcium brought on nervousness, depression and pessimism.

If there is high calcium content in the blood serum, they are in a "happy, cheerful, optimistic, emotional state."

But ask your doctor about it. Don't swallow calcium recklessly.

London thinks something should be done about "more than 250,000 mental defectives," and sterilization, on the German model, is suggested, on condition that the individual consents. With such a law, government sterilization agents would have few customers.

Under one law suggested, the health minister would order the sterilization of "physically illing persons shown to be carriers of transmissible diseases."

The world is preparing to regulate and improve the human breed, as it has long regulated and improved breeds of cattle, swine and other creatures; a step in the direction of uniformity that may not be desirable.

One of the most enlightened educators in America tells teachers and undergraduates that the important thing is the general welfare, not the individual welfare. An excellent idea to put into the minds of young people.

They should also be told that individual welfare and striving, with selfishness back of it, is the foundation of general welfare.

The baby wiggling its arms and kicking its legs in the cradle is building up one more strong body, for its own sake, not for the general welfare, to which it, nevertheless, contributes. The man, concentrating on his career, and on the care of his children, is building up his ability in mind, his career, children and family. But he also is building up the general welfare. Each tiny contributor works for the general welfare, to which it, nevertheless, contributes. The man, concentrating on his career, and on the care of his children, is building up his ability in mind, his career, children and family. But he also is building up the general welfare. Each tiny contributor works for the general welfare, to which it, nevertheless, contributes.

After four years of study, wise men discover that ideas are impressed on the minds of children more deeply by moving pictures than by reading. So, then, the cinema is required to establish that fact.

Washington.—Mr. Secretary Morgenthau lately has gone into the money market. It is important aviation news; the bureau of air commerce is to be congratulated on its effort to encourage individual flying.

THE DEMOCRATIC DONKEY
ALTHOUGH Thomas Nast is usually credited with being the man who made the donkey one of the emblems of the Democratic party, the fact is that some other cartoonist, whose name is unknown, used the same symbol fully three decades before the famous Harper's Weekly artist did.

When Andrew Jackson retired from the presidency in 1837 he was dumped in the lap of his successor, Martin Van Buren, a flood of "wildcat currency" and wild speculation caused by his destruction of the United States bank and the distribution of the spoils of office in private banks. So a cartoonist of that period drew a picture entitled "The Modern Balaam and the Donkey," which showed Jackson mounted on a donkey, a cross labeled "Specie Circular" and "Medicine." A ghost, labeled "Bankruptcies of 1837," was causing the donkey to balk, and its rider was shouting "Veto!" Behind the rider and his mount walked Van Buren saying "I shall tread in the footsteps of my illustrious predecessor."

From that time on, during the disputes over the tariff question, the donkey frequently appeared in the cartoons and became the accepted symbol of the Democratic party. But it was not until 1854, when Thomas Nast which made this symbol familiar to millions of Americans.

During the feud between President Andrew Johnson and Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war, Nast was a strong partisan of Johnson. When Stanton died soon after President Grant had made him a justice of the Supreme Court, the southern Democratic papers, including the feud, attacked Stanton even in their obituary notices of him.

On January 15, 1870 Nast drew his first donkey cartoon. It pictured Stanton as a dead lion being kicked by a donkey labeled "Copperhead press." Underneath it were the lines "A live Jackson kicking a dead lion and such a lion and such a lion." In later years he also depicted the Democratic papers, especially James Gordon Bennett's New York Herald, as a donkey and after a while began applying the symbol to the Democratic party as well as its press.

REAGAN
"IF YOU lose your standards, I rally to my white plume!" cried Henry of Navarre before the battle of Jarnac in 1569. Yet it was Navarre's sign and symbol of a cause which won and made him king of France.

In American politics, too, voters have rallied behind candidates who have made no other bit of apparel have been characteristic of the man. In the days of Andrew Jackson, loyal Democrats brandished a "high hat" or "top hat" as a symbol of the one which "Old Hickory" carried. In 1840 the Whigs clapped coon skin caps on their heads and went out to sing and cheer "Old Tippecanoe," the Indians' frontiersman, into the White House.

On the streets of New York the white beaver hat worn by Horace Greeley, editor of the Tribune, was a familiar sight. But perhaps even in those days the "top hat" was suspicious of a "high hat" candidate, so Greeley's supporters, wearing a "top hat" to elect him, "Ulysses S. Grant" once worked in a tannery, therefore parades in his honor were marked by men wearing shagreened hats.

Ulysses S. Grant once worked in a tannery, therefore parades in his honor were marked by men wearing shagreened hats. The campaign of 1860 and it was still a potent emblem in 1904 when T. E. was candidate for President.

But another quarter of a century was to elapse before a bit of head gear would be a feature of the campaign. In 1928 Alford B. Smith made the brown derby famous from one end of the land to the other but because a symbol of defeat instead of victory.

WOMAN NEWS
Pyrethrin, insect killer
Pyrethrin is used to kill insects. Many tons of pyrethrin are brought into this country from foreign countries, chiefly from Japan. It is a strong nerve poison. The pyrethrin belongs to the great Composite group of plants, which include the chrysanthemum, aster, daisy, dandelion, and gerbera. The pyrethrin has a strong odor that resembles the ordinary field daisy.

"HANGING BY THE NECK"
It is generally considered fatal. In fact, the only man I ever heard of who was hanged by the neck to save his life is Harry J. Perry of New York City. It just goes to show how a difference in circumstance will change the whole picture for you. For most people hanging is tough luck. But Harry is not only alive and kicking, but a Distinguished Adventurer.

A lot of people out front are clamoring to know what Harry was hanged for. Well, I'll tell you—it was this way. Harry was hanged for being a comedian. It was about the middle of February, 1915, and the city of Boston was just getting over a bad snowstorm. A freezing spell had followed the storm, turning the snow to ice. It collected on the streets and on the house tops. Big icicles hung down from the trees, threatening to fall on the crowded sidewalks below. And before that cold snap was over, there were icicles on Harry Perry's heart that threatened to fall down and punch holes in the soles of his shoes.

Harry lived in Boston for a few days, and working in a store on Boylston street. The store roof, like a lot of other roofs in the neighborhood, was fringed with icicles a foot long. They had to be cut down before they fell and hurt somebody, but when the foreman suggested it to the hands of them wanted to do it, "That slanted slate roof is coated with ice," he told him, "and it's so slippery that it would be suicide to try and get out on it."

The foreman was disgusted. He called the handymen a bunch of slaves, and he went through the store telling the world that if they'd give him just one man with nerve enough to try it, he'd go up there and do it himself.

"So I decided to be the little tin hero," says Harry, "and volunteered for the job."

WISHED HE HAD BEEN LESS HASTY IN TAKING JOB
Harry says he was young in those days. He didn't know much about roofs, and he hadn't realized that he would get up there. Then he took a look at the prospect and wished he hadn't been so hasty. He was eight stories up, on the ridge of a roof that was steeply slanted. It fell away on both sides of him, a smooth, slippery sheet of ice, with nothing to get a hold on, and nothing at the edge of the roof but an ice-filled gutter. That was what he was going to have to stand on while he chopped away those big thick icicles.

The foreman had a rope with him, to lower Harry down to the roof's edge, but he wanted to see if he could stand on a place to reach nothing but the chimney. The chimney was square, with sharp corners, and he knew the rope wouldn't slide around it very easily, but there was nothing else in sight, so the chimney it was. He leaped the rope around it and began lowering Harry toward the edge.

The rope was hard to maneuver. It stuck and jammed against the sharp corners of the chimney. It let Harry down in a series of short jerks that scared the life out of him. The ice was so slippery that nearly all Harry's weight was on the rope and that rope wasn't a new one, either. In fact, it was pretty old. Harry began to wonder if it wasn't going to break and at the end of the rope began popping out on his forehead—beads of perspiration that froze before Harry could wipe them off. By the time he reached the edge of the roof he was trembling like a leaf. But the worst was yet to come!

All at Once Things Began to Go Wrong
The gutter was frozen, too. Harry couldn't depend on that rope to hold him if he ever slipped over the edge. He clung out on a place to reach nothing but the chimney. The chimney was square, with sharp corners, and he knew the rope wouldn't slide around it very easily, but there was nothing else in sight, so the chimney it was. He leaped the rope around it and began lowering Harry toward the edge.

Money Destroyed
When Uncle Sam's paper money becomes worn and badly soiled it is returned to the Treasury where it is destroyed and bright, new bills issue in its place. It is all denominations were thoroughly mixed together before being tossed in a macerator each torn into approximately 600,000 one-dollar bills, 100,000 fives, 100,000 tens, 50,000 twenties, 20,000 fifties and no more than 10,000 ones and higher denominations, which proves that the larger denominations do not wear out so quickly. The twenties, fifties and larger denominations do not circulate with nearly as much velocity as the ones, fives and even the tens.—Pamphlet Magazine.

YOU SHOULD STUDY HARD!

To pass or not to pass will be the question in about two more weeks. A month of the new school year has gone. Very shortly our fates for the first six weeks' grade period will be put down in black and white.

Do you feel that you are doing all you can toward an education? Are you taking advantage of the opportunity offered in school to day? In other words, are you studying?

For the seniors this is their last chance. There is nothing more deflating to the spirit than to fail in one's last year.

A diploma really should be an incentive to study. For most of us it represents the nearest goal on our horizon. When we are finally presented with a diploma of success and satisfaction, and work well done prevades us, and we may look forward to other goals to achieve. So, with this in mind let us do a little "bookkeeping" and make this a worthwhile year.

BE SAFE BY FIRE DRILLS!

New rules and regulations concerning fire drills in the Avon Park high school have been made by Dr. Stanley K. Reeves, principal.

He has posted notices beside the door of each room in the school telling the students in that room which way to leave the building in case of fire. Students should be careful in reading and obeying these directions a life or many lives may depend upon their understanding directions correctly.

Students should make it a point to file out of the building calmly without any excitement. They should not try to hurry too much because they might cause a panic to start.

The older students have a heavier responsibility than the younger ones because they are expected to keep the younger students from becoming frightened. They should be proud of this responsibility and remember it.

Immediately after chapel Wednesday morning when Dr. Reeves made the announcement about fire drills, a fire drill was called. The students were very orderly and quiet even though there was some pushing. We urge the students to continue to keep up their good work.

New Candidates out For Football Squad

Avon Park's double victory over Lakeland and Lake Wales has brought out several new candidates for the football squad.

Because of the many injuries the players have received the replacements will greatly help the team. It is probable that the new comers as well as second string boys will see plenty of action in tonight's game.

Coach Bissett has been letting the late comers take it easy in practice until they have become accustomed to the hard work. Everyone swung into full force Tuesday with the first game being played against the second string.

The new players are: Robert G. McGibbony, Morris McCord, Archie Bryant, Stafford Simmons and Frank Carley.

Claire Vandervende Gets School Letter

Claire Vandervende was presented with a letter by Miss Dorothy Hicks, girl's athletic director, Friday morning in chapel. Claire is the first girl to receive a letter this year. She was handicapped last year in making points by entering school late. Last June when the Junior high school girls were receiving letters Claire did not receive one because she lacked 60 points.

"This year Claire won first place in the seventh and eighth grade hopscotch tournament, which gave her enough points to receive a letter. All true love is grounded on esteem.—Buckingham.

Fifty New Books Added to Library During This Week

Fifty new books were added to the high school library this week. A selection of books has just arrived to be placed in the library for the students. These books were chosen as the fifty best sellers of the past year. Dr. Reeves should be complimented for his splendid work in securing these books and new chairs for the library.

A total amount of $216.75 has been spent for new books for the library this year. Books that will be placed on the shelves are: "As The Earth Turns," "Jane Hope," "Buckaroo," "Glorious Of The Seas," "Go By," "Mr. Chip," "Q. I. For The Lamp of China," "Ho-Ming, Girl of New China," "Young Fur," "Bird of Dawning," "Swift Rivers," "Men Against The Sea," "Hunters On The Bounty," "Dobry," "Modern Short Stories," "Road To Carolina," "Dark Mile," "Obscure Destinies," "Hepatica Hawks," "Wind In The Willows," "Hills of Gold," "Here-To-Youder Girl," "Let The Hurricane Roar," "The Charming Sally," "Winning Out," "Taking Of The Grey," "Painters of the Night Sea," "Girl and Her Future," "Carriers Ahead," "Home Book Of Verse For Young Folks," "One-Act Plays By Modern Authors," and "Winged Horse."

High School Band Elects Officers For School Term

Officers of the band were elected this week in a business meeting held Tuesday morning.

Harold McClelland will be manager, Lloyd Gribble secretary, Guy McGibbony librarian.

"The band is progressing satisfactorily," says Mr. E. L. Roberts, director.

The band played for a cake walk Saturday night, and received $5.00 for new music.

The American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring another cake walk for which the band will play and it will receive 50% of the money.

Mr. Roberts urges all members of the band to do not play football to be at the game Friday night and play with the band. In Mrs. Yates's room Nita Bryant was elected vice president; Marjorie Wells, secretary-treasurer; and Elaine Thomas, class reporter.

Red Devils To Meet Belton, S. C. Team Here November 13

The Red Devils will meet their eighth opponent here on November 13, and will try to repeat their Lake Wales victory on the Belton S. C. team.

The Belton school is said to have a good squad this year. They won the first game 34 to 0, and the team they overcame was not considered out of their class. The Belton squad has an average schedule and they expect to win most of their games this year.

This team will make a colorful showing when it appears in Avon Park, for the boys who play on the team are the boys of the midwest team which coach Bissett coached in South Carolina.

The Belton squad is heavier than most high school teams. They have a line up of about 172 pounds. The linemen for the first string will average about 182 pounds.

The first string players and their weights and positions are as follows:

Pelham Horton, lb—197
Pete Chagars, lb—207

High School and Grammar Grades Use Work Books

"The use of workbooks through out the entire school makes the work more interesting and gives more supplementary material with which students may work," states Dr. Stanley K. Reeves, principal of Avon Park school.

These workbooks are used in the English and mathematical departments of the entire school. Each teacher is limited to two workbooks, so that the students will not have to pay too much.

Various problems and exercises pertaining to the subjects being studied are in these workbooks and are used as daily texts. Average cost of the work books are 35 cents.

The same kind of English workbook is used from the third through the eighth grades. Another is used from the ninth through the twelfth, thus standardizing English in the elementary and senior high.

Seniors Agree upon Standard Ring Used Last Year

The senior class agreed upon a standard ring made on the same order as the ring last year.

The seniors, who it will become the standard for all classes. It has a devil's head on each side, with the date of graduation stamped on the sides.

These rings were reduced from $2.50 to $2.25, and Mr. F. S. Jordan agreed to cut his 10 percent commission, making the rings cost the seniors only $2.00. These rings can be made up with a sterling silver band at a cost of only $5.40. Class pins can be purchased with the rings. The cost of a class pin is only $0.17.

GLEE CLUB SPONSORS DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

A committee of five, Evelyn Martin, Gladys Helms, Marguerite Loomis, Faye Gordon and Mary Jane Sundstrom were selected to decorate Lake Byrd Lodge for the Glee Club dance Friday night, in a business meeting held Monday morning.

Money for decorations will be taken from the treasury and made will be furnished by a victrola.

The holiest of all holidays are those kept by observance in silence and secret, the secret anniversaries of the heart, when the full tide of feeling overflows.—Longfellow.

Conference Game With Brewster Tonight at 8 p. m.

Although the last game between Brewster and Avon Park ended in 6-5 tie the cocky Red Devils expect to literally stomp the Brewster team in the first home Ridge Conference game tonight at Head Field at eight o'clock.

Avon Park has won the two games that they played and Brewster has lost the two that they have played.

Although line-drive plays, have been used in the last games the Devils may change tactics in this game.

Brewster is reported to have a good team and heavy one; though they did lose two games the team is still a tough crew to handle says coach Bissett.

The following second string boys will probably see a lot of action tonight if the first team can run up a large score: Reynolds, center; Foster, guard; Helms, guard; McGibbony and Toulson, ends; Inman and Ward, tackles; Ellis, line quarterback; Early Lynn, halfback; Martin, fullback; and Carnly, halfback.

Red Devils Defeat Lake Wales By 7-0 For First Time

(By Bud Bellin)

When the Red Devils defeated Lake Wales Friday by a score of 7-0, it was a great event for Avon Park, because this was the first time that the Devils have ever beaten the Highlanders in football.

The Red Devils, received in the first quarter and ran the ball down to the Lake Wales 45 yard line. William Crawford had the ball on a plunge, gaining only a yard. Then a long end run by Early Lynn brought a first and ten. This started the Red Devils first touchdown, although they did not get it until the second quarter with Ellis Lynn catching a pass thrown by Meriwether. Windham bucked the line for the extra point.

During the third quarter Windham got the ball on an end run, sweeping all the players on one side, then cutting back to get the advantage of the open field, and finally outrunning the Lake Wales players "clipped" one of the Lake Wales players from behind. The Red Devils held the Highlanders to the dirt and kept forcing them back by running the ball for yardage gains both around the ends and through the line.

Meriwether showed some of the best punting of the season by getting off one 20 yard kick during the game and quite a few 50 yard kicks.

There were many fumbles on both teams for the reason that the ball was wet from rain.

"By winning this game I think the boys will have little trouble winning the Ridge Conference," said coach Bissett as he was walking to the club house talking to one of the Avon Park football fans, "but this does not mean for the people to quit coming out to see the games but to get more out. I am sure they will see a well dressed, well developed team from Avon Park high."

Boys that played in the game from Avon Park were: Ellis Lynn, Early Lynn, Bill Windham, "Buck" McClelland, C. W. Meriwether, Cecil Clements, Murrell Prescott, Bud Bellin, Clarence and Henry Wild, Junior Reynolds, Jimmie Hiem, Edgar Bradbury, and Charles Sherman.

The boys playing for Lake Wales were: Lewis Pennington, Wayne Bladen, Emory Daniel, Dick Crawford, Frank Martin, Gerald Bryan, Harry Bolden, James Gilbreath, Lambert Mims, John Petry, and Shelby Thompson.

Score by quarters:
Avon Park 0 7 0 0—7

Citizenship Class Makes Scrapbook On Campaigns

The ninth grade citizenship class of the history department of Avon Park high school is going to start a scrapbook on the coming presidential campaign, according to Mr. E. S. Funderburk, instructor.

After this notebook is completed, the class will make one on the nationwide safety first campaign. This will provide helpful safety information to be used now and in the years to come.

The tenth grade ancient history class is getting a new paper, which Mr. Funderburk says contains more information than the Current Event paper which was used in the past. It is the "Junior Review," an impartial paper dealing in affairs of our nation and our economic problems as well as other nations and their troubles. Mr. Funderburk believes it is wise for pupils to study events of today as well as things which happened long ago.

The eleventh and twelfth grades have started taking a new paper also. It is an eight page weekly containing news greatly informative to students in modern European history and American history. It is the Weekly News Review.

Mr. Funderburk has also requested his twelfth grade class in American history to bring to class a small booklet "Election Year Facts" given away by the Seneca Oil station. This booklet is edited by Lowell Thomas and deals with the coming presidential election.

Seniors To Operate Refreshment Stand

The senior class will have charge of the cold drink stand at the football game tonight.

Coach H. L. Bissett has arranged for the seniors to sell drinks and divide the profits with the athletic association.

Mr. S. J. Pendleton and Mr. C. R. Ginn, have agreed to furnish cold drinks and candy for the association at a reduced price.

John Vilkaitis is chairman of the senior committee in charge of the drink concession for this week. The sponsors will appoint a person to be in charge for each game.

Red Devils Receive Painful Injuries In Last Two Games

Painful injuries were received by several of the football players in the first and second football games of the season.

"All of these boys will be able to play in the game tonight, if nothing happens," says Coach H. L. Bissett.

Lloyd Gribble, halfback, has been out of school a few days, suffering a leg injury.

Chester Gibbons, left end, has also been out of school two days with a leg injury received in the Lake-Lake-Avon Park game.

Harold McClelland, star quarterback, has a badly bruised hip, received in the Lake Wales-Avon Park game last Friday night.

Murrell Prescott, center, has a sprained wrist, but will be able to play tonight. His wrist was x-rayed and was found that no bones were broken and it is not serious.

Let your holidays be associated with great public events and they may be the life of patriotism as well as a source of relaxation and personal enjoyment.

Students of Avon Park Have Holiday; Teachers Attend Conference

Students Will Have Two Extra Holidays

Holidays are in order for the students of Avon Park high school. Because school started two days early this year, two extra holidays were gained. Today is a day of freedom for all school children in the Peace River district while teachers attended a teachers meeting in Wauchula.

November will be a welcome month, for on November 11, Armistice Day will be celebrated and two days will be given for the partaking of Thanksgiving turkey, instead of the usual one.

Christmas is the most important on a school student's calendar, for two weeks are given, and it is the last holiday.

Sometime in the spring a half day will be held and a whole day will be given instead of one half day as in the past.

Crate Mill Students Study Making Bread

The fourth grade Crate Mill students of Mrs. Shephard's room have been studying a unit on making bread.

They ordered a miniature bakery from Pillsbury Flour company. Mrs. Shephard by using this small model has been showing them how a bakery is conducted. They have also been making loaf prints for their note books and studying shells.

Pupils of Mrs. Boardman's room have been reading books. After they have read a book, they will give a short report on it. Then, they place a small piece of paper representing a book on a book shelf poster. A prize has been offered to the student who completes his poster first.

It is a better necessity of our nature to love something.

Mr. R. S. Funderburk, president of High School Teachers of the Peace River District and Mrs. Virginia Cloud, Secretary of Elementary School Teachers Division will be at the meeting in official capacity.

High School Pupil Offered Art Course

Marvin Redick, junior of the Avon Park high school has been offered a course in art at the Federal Art School in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Although Marvin's drawing entered the contest late, it gained special recognition and he was given a two-thirds scholarship. If his drawing had entered the contest earlier, he possibly would have earned a full course at the school of art.

Mr. C. Morton of Melrose, Florida, who is representative for this district, came down to see Marvin in person and explained to him why he was not given a full scholarship.

Mr. Morton says he will give Marvin a week in which he must decide whether to accept the offer or not. If it is not accepted within this limited time, the offer will be withdrawn and given to the next highest contestant.

Marvin says that he is quite undecided as to whether it will be possible for him to enter the school or not.

Here's Early Slant on Major Eastern Grid Alma Monsies

YOUR scribe may as well put his neck out among the celebrated gentlemen who boast how they can handle a most humanly erratic sport with grim statistics. Hereafter is the dope concerning the 1936 prospects of the East's leading gridiron alma monies.

YALE—After two years of probation Bob Beckwith is back at center and the line seems likely to be the strongest since Pond and Neale took over the coaching assignment. Bob Train will be missed at end but, if Scott passes his exams and teams up with Wright at tackle, they'll make a strong combination.

HARVARD—Fair enough line, especially at the tackle, where Gaffney and Kerkorian perform. Offense seems weakly weak, though, and, unless some sophomore back surprises, Prof. Harlow may need to call out some of those machines who use to perform for him at Western Maryland.

PRINCETON—When Gil Lee, last and greatest of the football Leas, graduated in June, Princeton took stock and found three other first-string centers also were missing. This is the only spot causing Coach Crisler much concern now and the Sophs insist he really has nothing to worry about. Charley Toll, who may go down in Nassau history as another such tackle as Ceppl, Barfield, Keck, Cooney, Hart, Hillebrand, Biffey Lee and Hector Cowan, is the one to watch in the line. Although there is no fullback quite as good as the departed Pepper Constable, Chick Kaufman and Ken Sandbach are dashing ball-carriers and it is difficult for neutrals to believe the Tigers will not be a good team next year.

PENNY—Veterans, mostly seniors, team which should be one of the best but which probably will encounter the customary Penn football reversal. Claburn is the key tackle.

COLUMBIA—Far better than last fall. Sid Luckman, triple-threat back, and Art Radvick, a fine end, are the best of some unusually strong sophs, while Tackle Berman is the ace of the line.

DARTMOUTH—Weak at guards and none too sure Mutt Ray will recover sufficiently to resume starting at center. Hollingsworth, late 1935 discovery, may star as a triple threat along with several other fleet backs.

CORNELL—Several teams will find the Big Red tough to take but Cornell is at least a year away from what old grads hoped for when they hired Coach Sweeney. Very good sophomores and Captain Jack Batten, already celebrated as a defensive star, may be the season's best kicker.

FORDHAM—Spleen insist Jimmy Crowley is working with numerous rugged and powerful candidates, but that the Rams are by no means as strong as touted. There may be some trouble filling the tackle gaps left by Barro and Sabo.

MASSACHUSETTS—Line is certainly big and fast and probably dumb. Tuckey could be the best fullback in the East. Chick Woodson is optimistic as usual and he may be right about several of these prospects he promises to spring.

Y. U.—Not as strong as last year and definitely missing the kicking and passing of Big Ed Smith.

PITT—A fine bunch of boys with just one weakness, the lack of a slick kicker at center. Jack Southard, ordinarily very good at developing pivots, now is working on that problem.

AMHERST—Ray Davidson says the Chubs are big and strong with more reserves than last year but that they lack speed. Hank Meyer, of the line, is the best player on the team and he seems to be doing all right, so far, of the difficult job of leading Quarterback Greke.

HAY—Another possible dark horse inspired by the revenge motif. Still more over that first half run-away last December, and even now more concerned with the Army contest than with early season affairs. Whispers circle that so far it is about as good as one of the weaker Midway teams.

BRUNY—Good, strong and fast with a nice smattering of sophs headed by Chick Constable, center. Strong high line. This team had center may show Dan EMM, one player for the past two seasons, right end of the line.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

FOES are mumbling about the way the Yankees are handling their World Series ticket sale. Babe Ruth says his only batting practice this year came when he missed on the first three cuts and broke the bat when he finally connected. . . . In a celebrated speech here, rather new to the turf and reported to be winning and losing vast sums at the track, really being for one of the best educated alums monies.

What celebrated college is squawking about letting its basketball team add to the Garden profits this winter? The reason seems to be that the floor for the Garden's court activities is too closely and actively connected with a track bookmaking minor politician. . . . Tom Laird, the celebrated sports editor, who flew in from California a day or two ago, says that Joe Marty, latest high-priced Pacific Coast league sensation, is by no means a DJ. Magglio. Dan Morgan, who used to manage him, says that Trainer Bill Schaefer of the Giants was the best gymnasium fighter he ever saw. . . . Frankie Frisch's legs are black and blue from his bid to ankle due to the beatings he took while attempting to rally the Cards by personal appearances at second base.

If it is true what they say about Dinio, Georgia, will have the best football team down that way this season. Spec Towus, the Olympic hurdling ace who plays end, and Tommy Haywood, 200-pound junior tackle, are the keymen of a really great line. . . . Also you might keep an eye on Cliffie, Eastern college's 197-pound sophomore. When Gil Doble gets a back that big and fast he usually goes places.

Lefty O'Doul, the former Yankee, Dodger and Giant, who now manages the San Francisco club, will witness the World Series.

If New York state racing officials ever get time to wander from the betting ring into the paddock they might notice something which could be changed to the benefit of unwary taxpayers. Under the present layout sharpshooters have too much access, or, at least, ways of getting in touch with jockeys at local tracks. . . . Watty Clarke says that Leo Duercher, once a woeeful blither, now drives a ball back at the National league batter.

Olympic Stars May Turn Pro If Real Money Put Up

If some of those babbling promoters lay some real money on the line a flock of track stars immediately will turn pro. Several Olympic stars admit frankly that they are much interested in open meek but do not wish to lose their amateur standing until they are guaranteed a better proposition. . . . Frank Graham, the famous pitcher, late last started writing baseball twenty years ago. In his first week he saw Jim Lavender pitch a no-hit game for the Cubs against the Giants and watched Bancroft and Slick make a triple play (it really could have been completed by Bancroft alone) in a Philly-Giant contest. . . . Bill Farnsworth and Tony Betts, the eminent sports writers, were sending it in to such huge checks that Aqueduct clubhouse bookies had the flunkies while paying off recently. . . . Doc Merkle, the famous fight publicist, has been picked as press agent for the Rev. (Shore the Winkles) Smith who seems will speak at the New York Hippodrome.

Coach Clark Bee says his Long Island U. quartet, undefeated last year, will be very good again this winter but that it is a senior combination and will lose three or four games. . . . Dutch Bergman, Catholic U. coach, has prepared a book called "Fifty Football Plays."

International leagues say that McCarthy and Koy of the Newark Bears were almost ruined by the night baseball played on the Yankee farm this summer. . . . The Yankees made 34 home runs off Philadelphia pitchers this season. . . . Wade Kilmer of Indianapolis and Donnie Bush of Minneapolis manage their ball clubs without signing contracts. . . . Harold Lloyd of the movies owns a private golf course. . . . Billy Sullivan, Cleveland catcher, returns to his job as salesman for a Chicago industrial company after the baseball season. . . . Hal Trosky's right name is Trojovsky.

Sam Dodge was the heroic coach in 1935. He weighs 154 pounds. . . . Danworth-Venus was a 1935 come racket. . . . Brothers Ouliveria has a Japanese quarter back on his Brooklyn football squad. . . . University of Texas is not losing No. 28 on its football jersey. . . . That was the number worn by Duke Winder, who scored the touchdown that beat Notre Dame in 1934. . . . "Whoever a back comes along who looks like it is worth a watch, I will let him have the job," Coach Jack Chevray told his squad. "But until then the number is in the trophy room."

Curiosa Americana

By Elmo Scott Watson

UNCLE SAM vs. Kaiser Bill THE sinking of four ships in March, 1917, resulted in war between the United States and Germany.

The sinking of six ships in March, 1918, averted a war between the United States and Germany.

Forty-seven years ago America and Germany were involved in a dispute over the question of sovereignty of the Samoan islands. When the diplomatic quarrel reached an acute stage, both nations rushed warships to the South seas.

All of these ships left their home ports with definite instructions to fight if necessary and with officers and men expecting a battle. Then the god of storms "told the show" from the god of war. March 15 and 16, 1880, were the dates of the great Samoan hurricane. When it struck, there were in the harbor of Apia, besides the three American and German battleships, the British man-of-war, Calypso, and large merchant ships and 25 coasting vessels of various sizes. Ship after ship was destroyed. The Calypso escaped.

The "sea power" of the two nations, which were about to go to war, was wiped out of existence and both would-be belligerents decided to arbitrate their difficulties. For the next 30 years they exercised joint control over Samoa. Then in March, 1917, Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare against the Allies included in its toll four American merchant ships crossing the Atlantic and the next month Uncle Sam declared war against Kaiser Bill.

Fairy Crosses

THE most curious mineral found in the United States is Staurulite, otherwise known as a "fairy stone." Staurulite is an iron aluminum silicate found only in Virginia, the reddish-brown and brownish-black crystals occurring in well-defined crosses.

So says a report of the United States geological survey. But if you visit a certain valley among the rugged foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains in Patrick county, Virginia, the natives will tell this:

Two thousand years ago, so they say, this valley was the home of a band of fairies. One day as they were dancing around a clear spring in this sunlit valley, an elfin messenger arrived from an eastern land far, far away. He brought the news of the crucifixion of Christ, and when the fairies heard the sad news, they wept. Their tears fell to the ground and crystallized into little pebbles. On each tear-rock a beautiful cross appeared.

The fairies have long since left that valley but you can still find their crystallized tears there. They range in size from a fourth of an inch to an inch and a half and form some shape of a cross—St. Andrew's, Roman or Maltese. Virginia is the only place in the world where they can be found and from the Old Dominion they have been carried to all parts of the world as good luck pieces.

Atonement in Advance

IT HAPPENED IN Arizona. A barnstorming theatrical troupe had just boarded a train to go on to the next town. A jaunty cowboy strolled over to where actor was sitting on the observation platform of the train.

"Ain't you the brother of that fellow who killed Abe Lincoln?" he asked.

"Yes, my friend," replied Edwin Booth. "I'm the brother of that unfortunate boy." At this reply the abashed cowboy started to leave.

"Wait," commanded Booth. "I have a story to tell you." And this is the story he told: Several years before, while he was waiting at a station in Illinois he saw a small boy toddle on the track just as the train was pulling in. Instantly, he made a dive for the child, grabbed him off the track. Then he got up, dusted himself off and boarded the train.

Some time later he received a letter thanking him for his act. The boy's name was Robert Todd Lincoln and the letter was signed "Gratefully, A. Lincoln."

"And so, my friend," said Edwin Booth, "I made some little atonement in advance for the misdeed of my brother."

State Press Comment

PARAGRAPHS BY THE SENTINEL PUBLISHER.

One sometimes wonders how many men in public life are honorable, sincere and actually guided by their country and what is best for its people rather than by what may advance their own political careers.

The number of men in public life who have the courage of their convictions is, we fear, very small. There come to mind some very prominent Democrats who are, in private, extremely critical of President Roosevelt and his "foolhardy" plans (that being the very words used by one of them in talking to us) but who, nevertheless, visit the White House quite regularly. Some of them have accepted honorary appointments of one sort or other; many of them were at the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia, acting as "rubber-stamp" delegates to do the President's bidding.

These are the men who ridicule the whole New Deal administration and even the President behind the scenes, but who publicly find fault with such patriots as ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith, former Presidential nominee John W. Davis, ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, ex-Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, and others, who as true Jeffersonian Democrats, have stated that they cannot continue to follow President Roosevelt and the brain-trusters and the alien-minded professors in their spending spree and ill-conceived experiments.

What a scandal would be created if we were to name (as hundreds of other newspaper men including a great number of Washington correspondents could name) some of the men who are pro-Roosevelt publicly but who are as bitter, privately, as the most zealous of Republicans.

Perhaps, after Mr. Roosevelt's defeat we will feel free to publish what these men used to say privately and just how they actually felt. Perhaps they, themselves, will then come into the open and make their own statements, forgetting how they acted and what they said for public consumption while Mr. Roosevelt was President.

Fortunately, there are others who do not maintain this two-faced attitude. There are still many millions who are not politically minded and who do not applaud someone publicly whom they dislike privately. These are the millions who will decide the next election. They do not have to vote as their employer votes. If they belong to a union, they do not have to vote as the leader of that union votes. They can vote in accordance with their best judgment. And on that judgment of theirs may depend the freedom they will have in future elections.

It is fortunate for America that Tugwell and Wallace, and other Administration radicals have not yet succeeded in accomplishing the goals about which they are writing and speaking. It is fortunate for America that these men have not been able to "remake America" and thus to bring about here such conditions as exist at present in European countries controlled by dictators. In such countries no voting is permitted, or, as in Germany, the voters are visited by armed men and told for whom to vote.

Such conditions do not yet exist in our country. The voters of the Nation will have an opportunity to prevent the appearance of such conditions when we go to the polls in November—P. B.—Milwaukee Journal.

CRADLE ROBBERS.

In trying to find out why the price of milk in Ft. Myers is the highest in the United States we have learned so much of the high-handed methods of the state milk control board as to be amazed that any commonwealth in a country which calls itself free would tolerate anything as repugnant to American traditions as that outfit has proved itself to be.

Here's how it works: The milk dealers of any locality decide they want more money. So they get together and decide on what they think they should have. The milk board is called in to listen to a recital of their desires and without more ado an order having the force of law is issued requiring the public to pay the price fixed and sending to jail anyone who sells milk for less—or gives a poor fellow a bottle left over rather than to tote it back to sour.

That's all there is to it. Never in the days when codes were holy writ and the blue eagle the symbol of patriotic righteousness was there ever a more summary slitting of the consumer's throat. Never when General Johnson was noisily proclaiming "the law of the land" and cracking down on all and sundry did he and his minions ever wallop the public without at least saying "Look Out!" They played plenty of mischief and among the "administrators" were some who were pretty ornery about it but in their meanness moments they never snatched a hand into the baby's crib and snatched away his bottle of milk.

That's what the Florida milk control board has done. It is almost incredible that it could happen without earlier and more widespread outcry in a state as traditionally skittish than that sort of thing as this one has always been. The hysteria of the NRA days may explain why the legislature allowed itself to fashion this monster but it is a mystery how it managed to escape notice in the campaigns that have followed. All we can say is that some candidate for governor, someone a bit.

So, evidently, have others, including this newspaper. We have realized the price of milk was pretty steep here but there has been so much propaganda going round about the drought and all that we supposed it was equally high all over. Not until the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced the exhibit of the other day that 16 cents in Miami was the highest in the country and we found that the milk control board had topped that by a cent here did it dawn on us that Fort Myers had been subjected to an unconscionable gouge.

We are suckers if we stand for it a minute longer than is necessary. Just how long that will be should be only as long as it takes our city officials to institute action. It is their duty to protect their constituents from a shakedown like this and they will be expected to see about it promptly.—Ft. Myers News-Press.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

Cleveland: The Great Lakes Exposition will close October 12 and those of us who have spent the summer here displaying Florida's wares and contacting prospective tourists and home-seekers will pack our sample case and return to the "Land of Sunshine."

During the Exposition period in the neighborhood of four million people will have been made Florida-conscious from having personally visited the Florida Exhibit and a goodly number of these folks will journey to our state this fall and winter.

The tourist season of 1936-37 should prove the greatest in Florida's history. Every city and town should feel the effects of our work here. Even those sections that do not directly benefit through increased revenue from gas tax, racing receipts and other income as their share of the millions of tourists' dollars that will be left in Florida this coming season.

We've done our part. The people are coming to Florida this winter in greater numbers than ever before. Now it is up to you. We have aroused interest and created desire and no one but you, Mr. and Mrs. Floridian, can close the sale.

In impressing these good people of the Great Lakes area with the charms and advantages of Florida, we have talked "climate" and "healthfulness," told them of the state's tropical splendor, glorious sunshine, her birds and butterflies, her fruits and flowers, but above all else we have SOLD YOU.

For after all, YOU are the real Florida. And by YOU I mean the policeman on the corner, the waiter in the coffee shop, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. Each and every individual Floridian, no matter what his position or station, is a part of the FLORIDA we have been selling these folks up here.

How you receive them, how you treat them, what you say or break some minor traffic regulation. FLORIDA is a contact with FLORIDA from his or her viewpoint.

A visiting motorist, confused, may make a wrong turn or break some minor traffic regulation. FLORIDA speaks to them through her representative, a traffic officer. How she speaks is up to YOU.

The officer's skill while blows and Mr. Tourist, more confused than ever, comes to a halt. It is one of life's darkest moments. FLORIDA'S LAW in the officer's approach to the car. But instead of a surly growl and a ticket, the officer, with a cheery smile, touches his cap and says "You didn't notice the one-way sign I guess, but you can turn at the next corner. Can I help you with directions?" The visitor's face lights up in gratitude. Here is courtesy, consideration, hospitality. FLORIDA is a swell guy.

The warmth of Florida's sunshine can be chilled by the cold response of an indifferent citizen. The glorious song of the mockingbird can be killed by a sneering remark of a thoughtless clerk or merchant. Florida is blessed by Nature with more attractions and advantages than any other state. These have brought and will continue to bring millions to our door. But the PERSONALITY of Florida, that subtle something that generates and holds good will, is created by the citizens themselves, from the lowliest to the highest.

Regardless of the natural charm and beauty of a locality, people will not remain, nor will they return, if their contacts with people of that section have been disagreeable and annoying.

Let's press to it the world that FLORIDA'S hospitality and the FLORIDA's courtesy match her glorious natural advantages. Remember, a smile and a friendly word cost nothing, but they pay millions in dividends.

REFLECTIONS In Life's Mirror

By...The Old Counselor

HANDCLASPS

Within my hands there have been pressed Handclasp, which have stood the test Of time, and proven with assuring grasp, Friendships that through life would last.

Countless are the times new courage has been conveyed, new confidence inspired, by the firm, friendly handclasp of some one dear. It's pleasant to recall meeting old acquaintances; there's still a thrill in the greetings exchanged. A tinge of regret when time of parting came. Even now, I can feel friendly hand pressed in mine; vision smiling faces of friends who have long since traveled to foreign places, or to that celestial realm above.

Handclasp! Classified and distinguished by events in one's life.

The distant and dignified grasp from and to one newly introduced. The happy, hearty greeting of congratulation. An understanding, inspiring grip, when the going is rough, that reestablishes confidence and courage to "carry on." A gentle, sympathetic, heart-felt clasp, when our heart is heavy and our head bowed in grief.

Perhaps you know them all. I do! Each with their significance. Each molding in our mind sincerity or adhesion. But in retrospect, we are happy to have felt the hands of our friends warmly pressed within our own. It gives us that feeling that we do not travel the troublesome trail of life alone.

You and I both would like to feel handclasp that we have known. We would delight in recounting incidents about life, our hopes, our home.

Handclasp are the tokens that leave a lasting impression of direction and recognition, and an admiration—spare them not when you can give them with sincerity!

SURPLUS FRUIT CROPS WILL BE BOUGHT BY THE FEDERAL GOV'T

Price To Be Made Public In A Few Days; Payment To Be From Lakeland

Lakeland, Oct. 8.—The federal government will support the program of the Florida Citrus Commission for stabilizing fruit prices by purchasing surplus crops, Jesse W. Tapp, of Washington, assistant administrator of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration, told the industry meeting here today.

Mr. Tapp said the government price for grapefruit, which he described as agriculture's No. 1 surplus problem, would be made public in the next few days. His announcement that fruit will be purchased throughout the season, and payments made for it from the AAA's new Lakeland office, brought loud applause from the 600 growers, shippers and canners who heard him.

Praising the work of the Commission, Governor Sholtz appealed to growers to watch it and help it. "There are some in the industry who do not want the commission, or any control," he warned. "They don't want anything but to sharpshoot the market. It's your business. Don't let it become somebody's political football or machine."

Florida must maintain high standards of quality for fruit shipped to northern markets if the industry is to be stabilized, so growers can get profitable returns, year after year, for their crops, Mr. Tapp declared. "The new law, no use in spending half a million dollars a year in advertising, trying to build up the citrus business, if you are going to let the season be a disaster," he said in commending the Commission for adopting higher fruit standards.

A new citrus maturity law, allowing the Commission to change its standards within certain limits to meet unusual weather conditions, was advocated by Commissioner of Agriculture Mayo. He derided the tendency to ship fruit to market before it is fully ripe, saying "you cannot sell fruit that is without quality." He urged growers showing grapefruit standards this year to be far in excess of those of any previous season. He said the federal government in its use of the "color added" process for oranges, oranges Commission Mayo declared. Growers enthusiastically applauded his statement that "we are going to apply the inspection of 'color added' shipments to see that they comply with the requirements of the Commission and the federal government."

Chairman L. P. Kirkland said plans of the Commission and Control Committee contemplated the promotion of shipment to provide for the orderly distribution of all crops. He asked shippers to cooperate under the private limiting grapefruit shipments next week, but warned that "all violations, no matter who they are," will be reported to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for proper action.

Favorable features of the marketing situation, Mr. Kirkland declared, are the fine quality of this year's crop, the shortage of other fruits, the increased buying power of the consuming public, and the prospects of an increased pack of canned grapefruit. He said the new pack of canned products will take from 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 boxes of fruit, compared with less than 4,000,000 boxes of fruit, used this year last year.

"Do not rush your fruit to market. We cannot market this crop for what it is worth that way. The Commission and Control Committee have a program which we believe will make it possible for growers to get a reasonable return for their fruit. There is no place in this picture for selfish individuals who have no regard for the good of the industry. We must all work together and do what is right for the industry as a whole."

Details of the Commission's advertising, publicity and sales promotion activities were described by Marvin H. Walker, publicity director, and A. S. Walker, advertising agency representative. Walker predicted one of the 15-minute radio programs, featuring Harry Richman as master of ceremonies, which will be used to advertise Florida fruit this season. He also told of plans for newspaper advertising, which starts on October 12, in nearly 100 markets.

Chair Sholtz throughout the meeting was conducting a big consumer-producer campaign to move this season's large grapefruit crop. Mr. Walker said, which encompasses grapefruit production in $5,000,000 at the same time. He told of preparations for publicizing Florida grapefruit, emphasizing its quality, and the activities of the sales promotion committee in developing markets and advertising. He said the AAA toward the Florida fruit industry, Mr. Tapp said that "if the industry is to be maintained on a profitable basis the necessary plans and programs for dealing with the problems which have been discussed here today must go forward." He pictured grapefruit as the biggest problem, quoting official estimates indicating a United States production this season of from 27,000,000 to 28,000,000 boxes, compared with 21,000,000 last season. "Most of the increase is in Texas," he said.

"Many of you are, no doubt, interested in the amount of fruit which the government may buy and the price about that result," Mr. Tapp said. "No final determination on these points has been made. We are going to make every effort to adapt the size of our purchase operations to the requirements of the situation as the season develops. After purchasing operations get under way, we will be in the market, week after week, so long as the producers are faced with a serious surplus and price problem."

"In considering the matter of volume of purchases and a price, keep in mind that this program must stretch across the country and include citrus groves in all zones, California and Texas as well as Florida. The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has no authority to become the largest handler of citrus in the state of Florida, and we cannot be expected to pay a price which would inhibit producers about that result. But if the growers and shippers and canners of citrus fruits in Florida will push forward on this program for expanding trade outlets, improving quality, and improving returns to producers, I believe I can assure you that we will have adequate here throughout the season facilities which will effectively supplement those of the Commission and the Control Committee."

"Within the very near future we will make a full announcement regarding the quality of fruits which we expect to purchase, the prices to be paid and other details of the program. We do not want to set the price for Florida citrus through the price we pay for surplus fruit. We do want to aid every way in order that you may have a well-balanced program for obtaining as reasonable a price for producers as is possible in view of the supply situation. We will endeavor in every way to adapt our purchase program so as to accomplish that purpose."

"We have added regarding the enforcement of the program as to any shippers who do not comply with private orders issued by the Secretary of Agriculture at the request of the Control Committee. First, let me point out that the object of the Control Committee and the Secretary is solely to obtain compliance with the private orders and not to prosecute or persecute any shipper. It must be recognized, however, that if the program is to succeed in bringing about higher returns to growers, all elements in the industry must cooperate in conformity with the program in order to avoid discrimination as to non-cooperators. We shall have no hesitancy, therefore, where evidence of violation is shown, in taking the department of Justice to take such action as may be necessary to bring about compliance with the program."

Mr. Tapp added that the government would buy no fruit for its relief agencies from shippers violating private orders.

City Council Met Tuesday

Routine Matters Up For Discussion By City Dads

A variety of routine matters were under discussion by the city council at their meeting Tuesday night but the matter of the street lighting contract was not gone into except for the statement that it was reported that Frostproof had entered into a new contract with the Florida Public Service Co.

Miss Florence Eldridge, county nurse under WPA, exhibited posters showing scope of the work being done in her department. On being questioned by council members she stated her salary is $42.00 per month from the government and she is receiving $2.00 per week from the county, $2.00 per week from Sebring and she asked $2.00 per week from Avon Park to help with transportation expenses. She has to provide her own car, she stated. This was referred to the finance committee.

A copy of the West Palm Beach Post, containing an article on alleged bond racketeers was on the council table. The article was read by City Attorney S. C. Pardee and mentioned the name of the T. S. Cook Co., who are interested in Avon Park bonds. The story was not favorable to this concern.

George Kohler addressing council regarding the cutting and bringing of trees on Pine street by the telephone company. He said the trees are being destroyed and asked some action by the city. Council promised to contact the company and enter a protest.

Ray Rutherford asked to purchase the lot on Lake Lotela known as the Boy Scout lot. The title of the city to this is being built and City Clerk, Francis Shekley was authorized to prepare the deeds.

The council adjourned to meet again Monday night to discuss the budget.

Slot Machines Will Be Voted On in County

Haskins Representing Florida Anti-Slot Machine Association Presents Petitions To County Board Tuesday.

Petitions from all sections of the county asking the county commissioners to call a referendum on slot machines at the general election in November were presented at the board meeting Tuesday. They were presented by F. T. Haskins, Sebring attorney, who stated he was representing the Florida Anti-Slot Machine Organization of Jacksonville of which George E. Schring is county chairman. The petitions were said to contain 1205 names which will be checked with the registration books to see that the signers are qualified voters. If found correct the referendum will be held.

Resolutions passed at a recent meeting of the Avon Park Conservation Council were presented to the board and read by W. M. Hetherington. One resolution protested the killing of deer in the game preserve in the southern end of the county as proposed by the commissioners as the deer are said to be infested with the cattle fever tick. The other resolution asked for an additional game warden in the Avon Park territory and recommended Alderman Williams.

Following the reading of these resolutions a hot argument developed and it was shown that the commissioners had passed a resolution on July 21 on motion of Commissioner N. B. Jackson and seconded by Commissioner J. L. Wells directed to the State Fish and Game Board asking that the game preserve in the southern end of the county be opened for deer hunting when the season opens.

Chairman L. L. Henderson said he failed to see the point in presenting the resolutions to the board as they had already acted and they should be presented to the state board. Two questions were involved, he said, the interest of the sportsmen and the interest of the cattlemen and which are the most important to the county.

Commissioner Jackson said the clubs passing the resolutions do not understand the situation. Cattle dipping is costing the federal government a million dollars a year and the cattlemen will be ruined and will have to dip indefinitely if the infested deer are not destroyed. The deer can be replaced, he said and the state board is willing to do this and the cattlemen will act as game wardens free of charge. He did not believe the cattlemen are unreasonable and are just asking protection.

There was considerable discussion pro and con and the question was asked who kill the deer in this county when it is not done in other parts of the state nor in other states. The board took no action on the petitions.

The board passed a resolution on lost tax certificates by which an owner of such certificates would make an affidavit they are lost and on making bond for double the amount of the certificates, duplicates would be issued.

Another resolution authorized the purchase of 11 new ballot boxes from A. S. Johnson of Wausau, Wis. who had exhibited samples to the board at a previous meeting.

A delegation of Sebring citizens asked further funds from the county to complete the moving and erection of the new CCC camp.

NEW MATURITY REQUIREMENTS FOR GRAPEFRUIT

Citrus Commission Acts To Meet Demands of Federal Authorities

Lakeland, Oct. 7.—The Florida Citrus Commission today notified shippers that all grapefruit picked after today must pass the maturity requirements of the 1931 state law, as well as the present state juice test.

The higher standards were adopted after the United States Food and Drug Administration advised the Commission that artificially colored grapefruit failing to meet the solid-acid test previously used would be in violation of federal law and subject to seizure.

To meet the demands of federal authorities the Commission approved a regulation which defines the word "nature" in its grapefruit grading standards as fruit having the maturity defined in the 1931 law. The sliding scale solid-acid test required by the law was lifted when the 1935 legislation created the present juice test for grapefruit maturity.

Grade certificates will be refused by state inspectors after 12:01 a. m. Tuesday, October 13, on all grapefruit shipments which do not meet the 1931 solid-acid test as well as the present juice test, under the new regulation. The solid-acid ratio ranges from 5.5 to 1 to 6.5 to 1, depending upon the total soluble solids in the juice.

Adoption of the 1931 standards in addition to the juice test followed a threat by the Food and Drug Administration to confiscate grapefruit failing to meet the 7 to 1 federal maturity standard, when artificially colored and shipped in interstate commerce. The Washington authorities accepted the 1931 standards when it was pointed out that grapefruit in some parts of the state never meets the federal standard.

Chairman L. P. Kiser explained that approval of the higher standards was made possible only by the request of the Food and Drug Administration. He said the Commission has a no authority to change the state's maturity requirements or to confiscate fruit failing to meet the solid-acid test, but that the federal authorities do have this power of confiscation and they already have agents in Florida to see that the double test is enforced.

Limitation of grapefruit shipments next week to 250 cars, under the new volume prorata, was approved by the control committee. Allotments will be issued to each shipper who has filed his records, allowing him to ship his proportionate share of this volume during the seven days starting at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, October 11. The committee continued the grade prorata prohibiting the shipment of third-grade grapefruit, but lifted restrictions on sizes of first and second grades.

Enjoying good things is not evil, but becoming slaves to pleasure is.—Mary Baker Eddy.

They stated they had miscalculated on their first estimate of cost and would be short $800. Commissioner Spooner said he did not believe in paying out taxpayers money for this and Commissioner Jackson said he sympathized with them but the board could not do them any good and suggested a public subscription. The delegation left without getting the money asked for.

J. M. Stephenson complained about personal property assessment on the Highlands Hardware and Paint Co., which he recently sold. He stated the assessment was excessive and property was assessed which did not belong to the company. Both the board and Tax Assessor Cyril Baldwin said it was too late for them to do anything.

County Attorney M. L. McDonald reported suits had been brought by the Seaboard Air Line Railway and will be by the Atlantic Coast Line regarding 1935 taxes which they claimed excessive.

Round About Avon Park

by W. C. Beckett

The Mall.

That the Mall is the show window of Avon Park, as we have stated before, has been demonstrated by Mrs. Helen Randie, who is bringing her Sun and Diet Health Resort to Avon Park. Mrs. Randie stated that one of the things that sold her on Avon Park is the Mall. There is no doubt that this beauty spot in the heart of the city is worth thousands of dollars to Avon Park and will receive the attention and care it deserves. Superintendent Currie is doing wonders with the means at his disposal but we urge the city council to make appropriate appropriation than heretofore in the new budget. It will be returned to Avon Park many times over and will be a very profitable investment.

—O—

Street Lights.

With the coming of the Sun and Diet Health Resort to Avon Park we urge the city council to immediately act on the street lights, both the White Way and the Green system. The contract offered by the Florida Public Service Co. is fair, we believe, but we do not blame the council for wanting to get a better one if possible. The city needs street lights and must have them to be attractive tourists and keep them. So, come on, you city duds, and do your stuff and help dispel the darkness. Remember, there is full moon only for a few days each month.

—O—

Advertising.

The city council to be commended for the action they took Wednesday in appropriating $5,000 to advertise the attractions of Avon Park. This city must be known to the people of the country. It has had its light under a bushel so far, but now it is out. Nowhere in order to bring people here you must advertise and tell the nation what we have. Other cities have a sign, a sign, a sign, and Avon Park will too.

P.-T. A. Held Very Interesting Meet Thurs. Afternoon

The P.-T. A. of Avon Park held its monthly business meeting Thursday afternoon, at the high school auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. C. E. Lanier, "America the Beautiful" and "Old Folks at Home" were sung, directed by E. L. Roberts and accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr. Mrs. S. J. Pendleton lead in prayer. Good reports were given by all the committees.

Mrs. Lanier, Mrs. W. T. Coates and Mrs. E. G. Todd gave interesting talks on the state convention of the P.-T. A. held at Jacksonville last week. The theme of the afternoon program was "Honesty." Miss Gladys Helms and Evelyn Martin sang "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie" and "Rhythm in My Nursery Rhyme." Mrs. A. L. Kelley of Sebring urged all club members to vote on the proposed amendment to the state constitution. This amendment, she said, has to do with old age pensions, aid to the blind and mother's aid. Pamphlets dealing with this proposed amendment were passed around.

Mrs. Spencer, Highland's county child welfare director, gave a short talk. The speaker of the afternoon, Miss Louise Carr, technical consultant of child welfare department of the state board of social welfare, gave a very interesting talk which was enjoyed by every one.

The state president of the P.-T. A. is expected to attend the next meeting, Thursday, November 12, and everyone is urged to attend. The count of the mothers present was taken with these results: Miss Louise Pittman's 6th grade won the grammar school award, and Miss Erress Arant's 12th grade won the high school award.

Seaboard Orders De Luxe Coaches

Norfolk, Oct. 15.—With the addition today of a half-million to its purchase of coaches to its recent huge order for truck supplies, the Seaboard Air Line Railway is preparing for a season which, officials predict, will be the biggest in the road's history. The order, for ten de luxe coaches, of the very latest design and completely air-conditioned, was placed today by the Receivers, L. R. Powell, Jr. and Henry W. Anderson, with Pullman Car & Manufacturing Company.

The ten coaches, which will cost $500,000, will be placed in service on the Seaboard, between New York and Florida, beginning early in January. On Sept. 6th, Seaboard purchased 10,000 tons of rails, and large quantities of other track supplies.

Conservation Club Meeting Thursday Was Well Attended

Over 100 members and friends of fish and game conservation attended the regular meeting of the Avon Park Conservation Club Thursday evening at the American Legion home on Lake Lotella. Dr. Garner of Winter Haven, district member of the state fish and game board, was guest of honor and heard first hand expressions of opinion on fish and game protection and the killing of deer said to be tick infested.

A large signed petition protesting the killing of tick infested deer was presented to Dr. Garner and it was brought out that the deer in the southern part of the state do not carry the Texas fever tick as supposed but do have the tropical fever tick, a very different variety.

Out of town delegations were from Sebring, DeSoto City and Lake Field.

HEAR TALK ON SOCIAL WORK

Rotarians Hear Talks On Social Service Needs In Florida

Old age assistance, aid to the blind and mother's aid were discussed at the Rotary Club meeting Wednesday noon at the Jacaranda Hotel. The speakers were Mrs. Louise K. Carr, technical consultant of the child welfare department of the State Board of Welfare of Florida and Mrs. L. T. Spencer, supervisor of child welfare for Highlands county. They were introduced by R. R. Funder, who had charge of the program.

Mrs. Carr spoke on the proposed social security amendment which will be voted on November 3. Much depends on it as the state cannot provide the necessary money without it. A temporary plan is now in operation in which all counties contribute.

The amendment is not passed Florida will lose Federal money, the speaker said. She pleaded for the aged, the blind and dependent children to have a chance to live decently.

Mrs. Spencer said Florida is dragging her heels in assisting the needy. There is legislation on the statute books but it is no good without finances. She asked for information on needy cases and offered her help wherever possible.

Visitors at the luncheon were: Col. F. N. K. Bailey, Louis A. Meyer and Frank Butler of Sebring, P. E. Selden of Lake Wales, B. B. Rickman of Eustis, T. S. Thornton of Orlando and P. P. Bourne of Fort Pierce.

Threatened Hike In Citrus Freight Rates Dissipated

Orlando, Oct. 15.—A threatened eleven per cent increase in the cost of shipping oranges—which was to have been brought about by a proposal of the railroads to increase the estimated weight on standard box of oranges from 90 to 100 lbs.—now has been dissipated. R. B. Woolfolk, president of the Growers & Shippers' League, announced here today.

Testimony presented by the league and by citrus leaders showed that it would be unfair to charge at the rate of 100 lbs. per box, instead of 90 lbs., as has been done for many years. It was disclosed that the railroads have offered only 17,038 boxes of oranges, 16,024 boxes of grapefruit and 2,999 boxes of tangerines over a period of three years in conducting "tests."

Mrs. Woolfolk took the position these "weight tests" were inadequate and could not be accepted by the League as the "true average weights on citrus." Florida shipped more than 20,000,000 boxes each year the last season and it was felt the "samples" were too few in number to justify basing the "estimated weights" as railroads had proposed.

RED DEVILS ROUT BREWSTER IN LOOP BATTLE

Third Win For Red Devils; Brewster Resorts To Passing Attack

The brilliant Red and White football team which has taken the Lakeland Destroyers and the Lake Wales Highlanders, returned to all its splendor and glory last Friday night at Head Field when they won their second consecutive game of the season by dumping the weak, but game, Brewster team into the resin pit to the sweet tune of 28-6.

Each of these backfield acts, in the persons of Windham, McClelland, Merrivether and Early Lynn, who sacked a touchdown each, every reserve in the Red Devil line was used to the hilt and the boys from Brewster were entirely impotent against an attack that was dazzling in its power and merciless in its slaughter.

The full county boys found the Red Devil line a tough assignment and took to the air with those bullet-like passes, that kept the Devils uneasy.

Early Lynn went after the back, but they were not content with side meat, and before the game was over, they had the whole hog.

McClelland received the kickoff on his own 30 and returned to the 40. The Devils ran the ball to the 50, punted to Brewster's 27. The first tally was intercepted their pass on Brewster's 27. The first tally was intercepted their pass on Brewster's 27. The first tally was intercepted their pass on Brewster's 27.

Brewster received and Durance returned to his own 32. Sapp and Albrighton drove to their own 45 and Windham intercepted their pass and raced to his own 30. The ball was saved back and forward and Avon Park again was in scoring position when they took the ball on down on Brewster's 23. Gribble and Early Lynn drove the ball to the shadows of the goal line and Windham took it over right tackle for the score and Early Lynn hit the center slot for the point.

The Devils' third tally was not long in coming after they kicked to Albrighton, who returned to his own 25 and punted out on the 50. Merrivether fired a pass to Early Lynn, which was good for 30 and line studs parked the ball on Brewster's 11. Merrivether grabbed the ball on an off-tackle play and stepped over the goal line. Gribble blasted left guard for the point.

McClelland kicked off and the first half ended with neither team having the advantage.

Score: Avon Park, 21; Brewster, 6.

Brewster received, drove to their own 43, lost the ball on downs, and both teams resorted to a passing and kicking duel. When the smoke of battle had cleared, Watson, Brewster back, had kicked on his own 30. Brewster intercepted Avon Park's pass and Merrivether did likewise and kicked to Brewster's 21.

McClelland skirted right end for 20 and Early Lynn drove the line for a tie in first touchdown. McClelland's line played for the point was good.

Brewster's chance came when the Red Devil reserves took the field and had their pass intercepted on their own 10. Durance blasted the Devil line for their only score and the try for point was stopped short.

Avon Park received and the game ended with the Devils on their own 40.

Score: Avon Park, 28; Brewster, 6.

Tampa College High Gridders Meet Avon Park Tonight—8 P.M.

When the Red and White champions for the Ridge conference championship return to the gridiron was tonight at Head Field, they will face probably one of their toughest foes of the entire season, which will be the Tampa College High Tigers from Hillsborough county.

The boys from Tampa boast two wins and one loss, as compared to three straight wins for the Red Devils, however, those teams played by the Tigers are superior teams than the Devils have met thus far this season.

To remain in the win column, the Red Devils must play ball as one man. The speed merchants will have to have the whole-hearted cooperation of the blocking backs and that of the linemen, and if they play ball in this manner, they are sure that the Hillsborough county boys are in for one of the steepest declines.

The game is called for 8 o'clock. Be there!

PETERSON AND PEPPER SPOKE

Discussed National Issues Before Small Crowd Monday Night

A small, but attentive crowd heard Congressman J. Hardin Peterson and Senator E. Claude Pepper discuss political issues from the band stand at the Mall Monday night at six o'clock. T. A. McNicholas was chairman for the occasion and first introduced the congressman who spoke for "our Democratic ticket."

Peterson rapped the Republican charges of bondholding and a asserted that WPA projects bring money for labor in the country. He claimed the country had made great strides during the present administration and retail sales in Florida had increased to a great extent. The legislation concerning the purchase of public lands by the Democrats is the salvation of the people, he said.

Pepper followed along similar lines and claimed that President Roosevelt has not gone far enough in his plans and the present government is the only one who has ever helped the farmer with funds. The Republican doctrine is to let the top and let the bottom slide down while the Democratic idea is just the opposite, he said. The United States credit is better today than ever, Pepper asserted and added that the increase in income over-shadows the increase in debt.

Mrs. Hortense K. Wells of Lakeland, leader of the national committee, man also spoke briefly.

AAA ANNOUNCES PRICE PAID FOR GRAPEFRUIT

Growers Will Get 31 Cents A Box Out of Total Of 46 Cents Paid

Lakeland, Oct. 15.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced here Friday that it will pay 46 cents a box for grapefruit, loaded in cars, of which 31 cents will go to growers.

Shippers will pay the state's 5 cent advertising tax and 1 cent for inspection charge out of the 15 cents they receive, leaving 11 cents for picking, hauling, washing, grading and loading fruit in cars. Shippers will be in bulk.

Fruit will be bought for distribution through federal relief agencies as soon as an office of the AAA's commodities surplus section can be established in Lakeland, probably the latter part of October, it was stated. The AAA already has a field office here.

Chairman L. P. Kirkland of the Florida Citrus Commission, who attended recent conferences of growers, shippers and canners with AAA officials, declared that government's decision to purchase surplus grapefruit crops would stabilize market prices and greatly benefit the industry.

The AAA's notice to the industry said that fruit would be bought on a standard field box basis, that it must grade U. S. No. 3 or better, and that it must be inspected to show that it meets the natural quality of the grade required by the Commission. Shippers will be advised later of details of the purchase procedure.

With reference to division of the purchase price between shippers and growers, the government announcement said a committee of representative shippers, in consideration of the nature of the program and the necessity for emergency action, had agreed that the maximum deduction for all services, including picking, hauling, grading, inspection, advertising, etc., should not exceed 15 cents a field box.

All fruit purchased will be donated to the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for distribution to persons on relief (U. S. News).

The AAA announcement continued that it will be made in an orderly manner throughout the season, beginning in moderate volume and increasing to substantial quantities as the season progresses.

This procedure is necessary in order that proper safeguards can be exercised to prevent fruit purchased from entering regular fresh fruit channels.

"These purchases are intended to supplement the orderly movement of fruit under the marketing agreement and the purchase of canners. Purchases will be made only from those shippers who are operating in compliance with the general industry program here administered by the control committee. The program on the present basis is predicated upon the continued cooperation of the Florida citrus growers, fresh fruit shippers and canners in carrying forward an industry program."

"Growers can now hold their crops without fear that they will be unable to sell them later," said Commission Chairman Kirkland in commenting upon the government announcement. "We are assured by the AAA that it will buy fruit at the price announced throughout the season, as long as there is need for its assistance, and that its purchase program will include adequate protection for the grower."

"A part of the bargain, however, is that there be carried out the program of the Commission and control committee for maintaining orderly distribution and demand."
