

Star Dust

★ Coy Beauty Queen
★ Summer Football
★ Ginger's Ma's Career
By Virginia Vale

TIMES certainly have changed. Miss Vera Dickens of Lynchburg, Va., was Ma Queen at Randolph-Macon college, and as a result pictures of her appeared in the news reels.

Whereupon Metro offered her a screen test, and possibly a contract. But she wasn't at all sure that she'd accept, said that the war isn't particularly interested in a movie career.

At Universal they're sort of out on a limb. When they sold the "Madame Curie" story rights to Metro, they made a deal which

Civil War Vets Reunite at Gettysburg

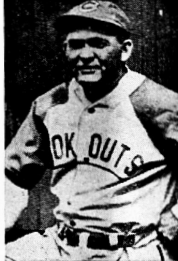

Two of the Confederate soldiers, who with Union veterans gathered at Gettysburg, Pa., to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the battle. Left to right are Gen. Sampson S. Simmons, ninety-four years old, of Los Angeles, Calif., who was a member of the Eighth Virginia cavalry; and R. D. Brooks, ninety-two, a member of the Seventy-fourth Virginia cavalry, talking with a friend between courses. Attended by World War veterans and Boy Scouts the aged veterans held their last encampment.

Swedes Celebrate Tercentenary

Prince Bertil and his step-mother, Crown Princess Louise of Sweden, who took part in the ceremonies at Wilmington, Del., to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Swedes and Finns on the shores of Delaware. Prince Bertil substituted for his father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, who remained aboard the Swedish liner Kungsholm which brought the royal party across the Atlantic for the festivities.

RAJAH'S NEW CAREER

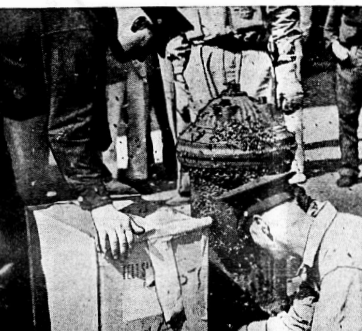

Rogers Hornsby, pictured in the uniform of the Chattanooga "Out-looks" of the Southern league, of which he is now manager. The Rajah, who managed four teams in the major leagues before signing with Baltimore in the International league as coach this year, inherited a tail-end team at Chattanooga, but hopes to build it into a winner.

TENNYSON SCION

Harold C. Tennyson, nineteen-year-old great-grandson of Alfred Lord Tennyson, English poet, who is making his first visit to the United States. Arriving in New York, young Tennyson left for the West coast to join his father, the present Lord Tennyson.

Bees Take Over Fire Hydrant

It was a good thing that a fire didn't break out in Detroit in the area of this fire hydrant which was taken over by a swarm of bees. Bee experts say that the bees crossed the Detroit river from the Canadian side and declared that the fire plug would be a good spot to rest. Two Detroit policemen are shown trying to get the bees to move away from the hydrant.

Civilians Welcome Rebel Army to Castellon

The civilian population welcomes soldiers of Generalissimo Francisco Franco as they arrive in Castellon de la Plana, where they are being welcomed by the city and housing provisions from the provinces poured into the city, adding to its food and housing provisions.

Improved SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago
© Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for July 17

DEBORAH: EMERGENCY LEADERSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Judges 4:1-9, 12-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Who knoweth what the Lord will do to thee?—Ezra 4:14.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Deborah Sang.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ready for Emergencies.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Emergency Leadership.

"Every man did that which was right in his own eyes." Such is the divine summary of what was wrong in Israel during the period of the Judges (Judg. 21:25). "There was no king in Israel"; no competent and inspiring leadership. The people lived according to the whims of the day, and as always, humanity left to itself drifted to lower and lower levels. This was true morally and spiritually and ultimately politically, for they came repeatedly into bondage to other nations and were only delivered as God raised up judges to lead them to repentance and victory, as well as to rule over them.

I. A People in Disorder (vv. 1-3). Any people that forgets God and begins to live after the dictates of the flesh will at length come to the place where some strong man with "chariots of iron" will rule over them. We, in America, look at the other nations of the world, viewing their plight with sympathy but without assuring ourselves that "it can't happen here." We ought to arouse ourselves and face the facts lest our own land, happy in its possession of God's great blessings of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," abuse those privileges, neglect the worship of God, spurn the leadership He gives us, and become "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof" (II Tim. 3:4-5). If we do not awake and repent the Lord may have to "sell" us, as He did Israel, into the hands of the oppressor.

II. A Leader Called of God (vv. 4-9). God always has His man ready for the hour of need—only in this case His man was a woman. Gloriously indeed is the record of faithful women who have ministered in the work of God's work on earth. Deborah was a woman of unique gifts—a poetess, a prophetess, and a warrior. To the title of "Lapidist," evidently a woman who cared well for her own household.

Breath and natural ability are much needed, especially in a time such as ours when few there are who even care to think for themselves and few who have any desire to develop native ability except for the purpose of "making money." But true leadership calls for more than talent and intelligence; it calls for a burning in the soul, a divine zeal, the urge of God in the heart. Deborah had this fiery touch upon her life. Barak, while undoubtedly a man of ability, evidently did not have it. Many excuses have been offered for the weakness indicated in verse eight. It has been said that he was cautious, or that he wanted to give the place of honor to Deborah as the leader of her people. These suggestions may be true, but somehow one has the feeling that what he really lacked was the "flaming heart." May God give it to us, that in our much doing of His work the divine fire may warm and inspire us!

III. A Divine Victory (vv. 12-14). God gave Deborah and Barak a great victory, but note that it was God and not man who brought about the defeat of Jabin (Judg. 4:15, 23). It was a complete victory and the enemies of Israel troubled them no more for many a day.

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith aptly points out that we should look "upon these conflicts in the book of Judges as certain symbols of the great conflict that every Christian knows as he wrestles, not with flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the world-rulers of darkness and spiritual wickedness in heavenly places. Victory is certain only when the Lord is with us and only when we walk in His will and contend against evil in His power. We are more than conquerors, but only through the Lord Jesus Christ" (Pellouet's Select Notes).

In closing this lesson the writer of these notes wishes to recognize the blessing of God in enabling him to complete two years of this service to Him and to His people. He also wishes to thank those readers in every state of the Union and in a number of foreign countries who have written him words of appreciation, encouragement and counsel.

Value of Meditation

It is not that the reader must, but he that meditates most on Divine truth, that will prove the choicest, wisest, strongest Christian.—Bishop Hall.

Attaining Perfection

The warm loves and fears, that swept over us as clouds, must lose their finite character and blend with God, to attain their own perfection.—Emerson.

Designs for Sheer Cottons

THESE pretty styles will make you and your daughter feel fresh and cool, and look smart and charming, when you go out to tea parties or dinner, these midsummer days. They have a summery, dainty effect, and yet they are not fussy. Make them yourself, and have something very individual as Irish edging, or linen lace. It's a pattern that you and your little girl will both like so well that you'll make many times over. It will be nice for school in fall fabrics, too.

1505 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material for dress alone. Three-eighths yard for bolero; 1/4 yard for contrasting collar, if desired. Two and three-eighths yards is required for trimming bolero and collar.

1545 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35 inch material. Three yards of lace edging for neckline and sleeves. One and one-fourth yards ribbon for belt.

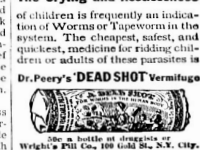

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1020, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Two sets of patterns, 15 cents (in coin) each.

Make the Most of It
Each time in fun comes but one time.

The Crying and Restlessness of children is frequently an indication of Worms or Tapeworm in the system. The cheapest, safest, and quickest, medicine for riding children or adults of these parasites is Dr. Pepp's 'DEAD SHOT' Vermifuge.

Brings Blessed Relief from aches and pains RHEUMATISM NEURITIS and LUMBAGO

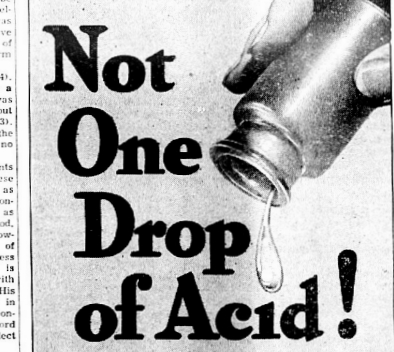

AT ALL GOOD DRUG STORES

Everything you want in NEW YORK!

● Bright around this quiet, congenial hotel. Rooms with bath from $2.50 single, $4 double. FAMOUS FOR GOOD FOOD.

Woodstock

43rd St., East of Broadway, TIMES SQUARE, NEW YORK

QUAKER STATE has accomplished a scientific "miracle"—produced from the finest Pennsylvania crude oil a motor oil so pure that the common ailments of sludge, carbon and corrosion are wholly overcome. Four great, modern refineries equipped with every scientific aid are at the service of the motoring public... deliver to you Acid-Free Quaker State which makes your car run better, last longer. Retail price, 35¢ a quart. Quaker State Oil Refining Corp., Oil City, Penna.

THE AVON PARK TIMES

Published every Friday at 123 West Main Street, Avon Park, Florida.

WILLIAM C. BECKETT Publisher

Entered at the postoffice at Avon Park, Florida, under the Act of March 3, 1917, as matter of the second-class.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Year in Highlands County $2.00
One Year outside Highlands County $2.50

ADVERTISING RATES FURNISHED UPON REQUEST

State Press Comments

THIRTEEN MILLION U. S. CHECKS

According to the United States a record number of persons during the next six months will draw checks against funds supplied by the Treasury of the United States. The total of checks received will be near to thirteen million. The previous high mark in the number of persons looking to the Treasury for checks was set in the last half of 1936. At that time the number was near eleven million. For five years past the list has been growing steadily.

"When this increase started in the early months of 1932 the total had reached 10 million," says the News. "Since that time there has been a sixfold increase. Farmers, unemployed industrial workers, destitute aged persons, high school and college students, war veterans, and regular Government workers are among those who are depending upon the Treasury for checks. Excluded from this total are the army and navy and the nearly two million families who are receiving direct relief from the individual states and cities, and who are supplied with an important part of their food by the Federal Government."

It is remarked that if the persons mentioned were added to the list of others looking to the Government for partial or full support, the overall would rise above fifteen millions. Only the individuals actually receiving checks are under consideration. To these could be added members of their families and other dependents who might have a direct interest in the check from the Government, which would bring the complete total of all persons affected by Government pay checks—pay in one way or another—to above forty million. This would include seventeen million for the National Relief Administration and Social Security program, eighteen million concerned with the farm program, and other millions dependent upon Government workers and on veterans' pensions.

Figured out in this way it can be indicated that Government checks have a definite meaning to nearly one-third of the population. The growing meaning of this fact is a matter of growing interest to the part of Government officials, of political scientists and of the taxpayers," declares the News. "All groups are impressed particularly by the evidence that the number of checks received and the amount of money received by these individuals show a consistent record of growth over recent years."

Recent developments show how this growth occurs. Four million farm families had been dividing up half a billion dollars in direct subsidies paid to them for conserving the soil. Each check, on the average, amounted to about $125. With prices for farm products receding, Congress felt pressure for larger checks. An additional $200,000,000 was quickly voted. There are nearly 3,000,000 individuals employed by the N. R. A. Most of these millions are employed in the unskilled occupations. Monthly wages in these occupations have varied in the different States creating sectional issues that can embarrass the representatives of some of them. To help to meet that issue and to add to the income of workers, wages are being raised in some States.

The variety of check payments, which is now approaching a record total, is very broad. Included are not far from 900,000 workers drawing checks from the Federal Government on the basis of regular employment. More than half of these workers are under civil contracts. Another nine hundred thousand individuals are drawing veterans' pensions. Regular, old-time, public works provide checks for another two hundred thousand. During the six months that began July 1, if the official schedule is fulfilled, more than two billion dollars will go to these check receivers. On an annual basis the total of Government aids that have been assumed in the past five years would amount approximately to four billion dollars. And much of that annual total must be borrowed, as it has been in recent years.—Jacksonville Times Union.

COLLECTING DUES BY FORCE

Probably few of those who heard of the performances of union labor in Flint, Michigan, recently were satisfied that such things should be allowed to go on without check or discredit by the Government. The picketing of plants of the automobile industry by agents of the unions who interfered with and physically maltreated members of the unions who were in arrears of their dues seems to be about as discreditable a proposition as could be imagined. The interference of union pickets preventing men from working at the Fisher Body Plant and this caused a shut down at the Buick plant. It is estimated that five thousand workers were idle for a time because some of the men who had joined the unions neglected or refused to pay the dues exacted from members.

With the Government urging industry to give more people work with many people—even as many as were so doing in the very depths of the depression—crying, begging, appealing for "relief" and with thousands being supported by the Government through unnecessary, and useless, recalled relief work—boon-doggings, and a dozen other "excuse" that have neither value nor purpose, that labor unions undertake to collect dues by assaulting those members who are behind with their payments seems to be intolerable. But the incident shows clearly that the unions are likely to press further for the "closed shop" and what is called the "check-off" system.

Under the check-off system, which requires the employer to become a dues-collecting agency for the union, the officers of the union, who are the principal shoozers for unionization of all labor, would always be sure of getting their salaries and being able to hire thugs and pickets and snipers and trouble-makers. The walking delegates, who travel constantly to find something upon which they can order a strike, are paid much more than ordinary workers get when employed in industry; and their only work is to make trouble. But with the depression and later the recession, workmen have often had but little money and no doubt many of these who had been builded and dragged into the unions have been hard pressed to get along with the money obtained when working. They have no doubt, many of them decided that paying for the high-salaried agitators, walking delegates, union officials was more than they could manage.

As the unions have not yet secured universal "closed shop" and the "check-off" system, in Flint the real money-making of the union leaders is in the strong-arm methods and in numbers and without mercy or pity drove away from the plants men who were backward in paying this debt. Of course if anybody or any organization other than the greatly feared Union which have union rights accorded them by a favorable administration, had undertaken to collect dues or money alleged to be due to anyone or anyone or organization, the Army and Navy would have been called upon to annihilate the "collectors." It seems to be perfectly proper and reasonable under existing laws and under the New Deal administration to "pick" anybody, any time, for any purpose. But previously to the Flint collection activities it had not been thought that picket lines would be allowed except in regard to strike.

The long and arduous hour in the land for repeal or modification of the unjust, unfair, one-way street Wagner Labor Act and no later than last week Senator Wagner was addressing the Constitutional Convention at Albany, pleading for a better social and economic approach to the questions of the day. Senator Wagner is said to have talked about the threat to freedom that comes from poverty and insecurity and the need of giving more power to government to promote the welfare of the people. But it is not presumed that he ever thought of the Wagner Labor Act, which since its enactment has seen constant turmoil between labor and industry. It seems likely that no single act of Congress in recent years has done more to breed hatred and retard economic recovery. Substituting the rule of the rule for the rule of law, might for reason, passion for justice, it has done absolutely the reverse of its avowed intent.—Jacksonville Times Union.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

BY RUSSELL KAY

It looks like poor Governor Fred don't anymore that get through being blessed out in one direction before they start pickin' on him from another. If he comes out and says something it's usually WRONG and on the other hand, if he tries keepin' "mum," they give him hell right on, so the poor guy has a hard time tryin' to figure out what to do.

While back, when he was millin' 'round with the Yankers in New York a flock of inquisitive reporters and C. I. O. boys back him into a corner and try to right-hall him into pronouncin' his "blessin" on Mr. Lewis' outfit. Instead of dishin' out a lot of solve and boloney Fred comes out and tells 'em how he and a lot of folks think about it and his frankness at that particular time did more than any other one thing to keep this state from bein' over run with a flock of agitators.

He may have been a bit unfortunate in the selection of words and the idea he was tryin' to convey might have been phrased in more diplomatic terms but nevertheless he expressed the right idea and it did Florida a lot more good than harm.

In spite of the fact a lot of newspapers jumped all over him. Groups and individuals condemned him while they raved and tore their hair. Even those who like he did about it but didn't have the courage to admit it, pretended to be horrified.

So havin' gone through one mess like that it is only natural that Fred might hesitate to speak his mind as bluntly and openly in the future, seemin' it didn't get him anything but a lot of grief.

The other day a group hopped up and asked him "What about the Naxos (Nazi) Bund in Florida?" Well, it was another beautiful chance for the governor to say the wrong thing, but havin' stuck his tail in the crack on other occasions, Fred probably figured he'd fool 'em this time, so instead of makin' any pointed remarks about what might not be done to a flock of goose-steppin' Hitler huns, should they happen to turn in their appearance down our way, he makes out like he don't know the answer and just ain't sayin'.

This time, because he don't let himself go and say what he probably thinks, they start climbin' all over him and as so as a flock of owls because the Governor don't say something about bolin' 'em in oil or hangin' 'em to a tree.

No matter what else may be said about the Governor, nobody can ever question his patriotism, his true democracy and his staunch Americanism. If I were a Bund starter I could think of a lot more healthier places to start one than the state of Florida, particularly with a chap like Fred P. Cone sittin' in the Governor's chair.

Americans for the most part are a patient, easy goin' lot, it takes plenty to get 'em stirred up, but when they do reach a point where they "view with alarm" they generally find a way to do something about it. While they may permit a few screwballs to parade for a time and shout for this or that, or stand by curious to listen to some red rabble rouser froth at the mouth, the great mass of our 120,000,000 citizens, like a well known soap, can be classed as 99 and 44-100 percent pure. Good sound, solid, level headed AMERICANS, that may appear harmless and indifferent, but they constitute a mighty "buss" that is plenty dangerous to monkey with.

Nazism, Communism and other nutty "isms" may get in our hair, but they seldom make any headway with more than a few millions, whose so-called minds are warped and whose sense of values are out of balance, and the old balance wheel of a hundred million or more can be depended on to sit steady in the boat and hold her in the channel.

The Tampa News, recently suggested that it might be a good idea if the REAL Americans would get together and pull off an "American Rally" and it is an excellent thought for while we resent attempts of this or that group to crowd some other "ism" onto us, we do mightily like to promote and foster "Americanism" and sell it to each other and the world at large.

Church Notes

UNION CONGREGATIONAL
Dr. Alfred C. Elliott, Pastor

July 17th—Sunday school in charge of Superintendent J. P. Garber, at 9:45 a. m. with classes to suit all ages. Bible classes for adults who are interested in Bible study. Young Men's Class taught by Dr. Elliott. Morning worship at 11:00 with sermon by Dr. Elliott, subject, "God's Condemnation of Negative Goodness." Young People's Pilgrim Fellowship Hour at 6:45 p. m. Marjorie McKnight will lead the meeting and Harmon Atkins will introduce the topic, "The Right to Serve." This meeting is open to all young people of high school age who are interested in the discussion of life's problems and seek an inspirational fellowship. To all who are lone and desire friendship, heavenly and seeking rest, joy and peace, and guidance, sinful and in search of a Saviour, the doors of this church stand wide open and its pastor and members say "Welcome."

METHODIST CHURCH
C. R. Minglehoff, Pastor

Come to Church School at 9:45 a. m. and last Sunday school at 10:00 a. m. Men, yes, a Bible Class for you.

You are cordially asked to present yourself at the 11 o'clock worship hour and join with us in the singing of gospel hymns and the presentation of the word of truth.

The senior group of the Young Peoples division meet at 7 o'clock. Come in for the rule of law, might for reason, passion for justice, it has done absolutely the reverse of its avowed intent.—Jacksonville Times Union.

The live wire juniors also meet at this same hour.

"Faith is the prayer meeting topic for 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Exercise some of it and pray with us."

Thursday the Intermediates meet in the recreational building. A fine crowd, a good spirit. Their theme "Happy Along the Way."

The Circus comes Tuesday at 3:00 p. m. Joint meeting at Parsonage.

C's of C. Urged
To Send Supply
Booklets To N. Y.

DeLand, July 14.—Secretaries of Chambers of Commerce through out the state, as well as other agencies interested in giving the widest possible publicity to the Florida Fair, are being urged to send supplies of descriptive literature to the Florida exhibit at the World's Fair in New York next year, for distribution among the 50,000,000 visitors expected.

"Our experience at Chicago, at Rockefeller Center and at the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland, have made us aware that the American public is always anxious to receive information regarding Florida," said E. W. Brown, General Manager of the Florida Exhibit, "and we are just as anxious to be in position to distribute it. Taking advantage of what we have learned at past exhibitions, we have planned to so place and man our information booths at the New York Fair as to be able to give personal attention to every inquirer after information relating to any phase of Florida life or activity which may be asked for."

"We are, therefore, particularly interested in having the active co-operation of chambers of commerce, realty boards, hotel associations and kindred organizations in spreading the gospel of Florida as widely as possible at the New York Fair where it will reach probably the largest aggregation of intelligent human beings ever to be assembled together," said Mr. Brown, in conclusion.

LEGAL NOTICES
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT TENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT OF FLORIDA
AND FOR HIGHLANDS COUNTY.
HERMAN MOORE, Complainant

MOLLIE MOORE, Defendant
STATE OF FLORIDA TO MOLLIE MOORE, Defendant:

WHEREAS, it appears by sworn Bill of Complaint filed in this court, that the Defendant, Mollie Moore is a resident of the State of Georgia, in the City of Ashburn, Georgia, a more particular address being at Ashburn, Georgia, and whereas it appears that the Defendant is now in the State of Florida, service of a subpoena, upon whom would bind her, the Defendant, Mollie Moore.

NOW THEREFORE it is ordered that you, Mollie Moore, be and you are ordered to appear in this court at the Circuit Court of Highlands County, Florida, on the 15th day of July, 1938, the same being a Rule Day in said court, at the Court House in said County, to answer a Bill of Complaint filed against you by Herman Moore, in and to the effect that you have wrongfully and unlawfully divorced a lawful marriage against you the said Defendant, and upon failure to appear, an order of said Bill of Complaint will be taken as confessed against you.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this notice be published in The Avon Park Times, a newspaper published in and for Highlands County, Florida, being a newspaper of general circulation, in said County and State, once a week for four consecutive weeks (4 publications).

Witness my hand and seal of said Court at Sebring, Florida this 15th day of June, A. D. 1938.

W. S. GARNON, Clerk of Circuit Court.
By LORNA A. JORDAN, Deputy
S. Columbia Pardee, Atty.
Avon Park, Fla.
July 1, 5, 15, 22, 29.

Saturday Night in Japan

"COME ON IN, the water's fine." Bathing in Japan is on a different plane from ours as these two American gentlemen can tell you. Tubs are perpendicular there, instead of horizontal, and you stand in the water up to your neck. But we shouldn't laugh at this somewhat primitive custom according to Consumers Information, which points out that only a hundred years ago, there were only 1,000 bathtubs in the United States. All of them were in the United States. It is among the few countries generally educated to the knowledge that health and cleanliness go together.

Motor Tag Receipts Surpass Last Year

Tallahassee, July 14 (FNS) —

At the close of business on June 30th, of this year the Motor Vehicle Department had passed the six million dollar mark in total collections for the first half of 1938, when the five million dollar mark was not reached until some time in October.

According to the report made public by D. W. Finley, commissioner of the department, a comparison of the records for 1937 and 1938 shows that a total of 416,421 tags were sold when the books were balanced at the close of June for this year, which represents an increase of 10,623 over the 405,898 tags reported sold at the same time last year.

Total revenue from the sale of tags for the first half of this year amounted to $5,823,154.32; an increase of $228,254.87 over the $5,594,899.55 received by the state from the sale of tags for the first half of last year.

However, revenue from the transfer of titles for the first half of 1938 was $8,165.80 less than that received for the first half of last year, with $150,048.85 being reported to June 30, 1937, and only $150,883.05 to June 30, this year.

According to Commissioner Finley, the drop in the title transfer this year is due to a decrease in the sale of new cars. He attributes the increase in the number of tags sold in spite of the decrease of new car sales to better cooperation of the dealers and the public in general with the Motor Vehicle Department and to a more thorough and complete check-up by department inspectors.

Several Hundred Electrical Engineers from the southeastern section of the United States will gather at the Miami Biltmore, Coral Gables, November 28-30 for their annual convention.

Florida's CCC Quota Is Increased By 840

Jacksonville, July 14 (FNS) — Florida's Civilian Conservation Corps quota was brought up to 4,500 during the present week through the acceptance of 840 enrollees supplied by the various welfare districts, according to announcement here of Clayton C. Coddington, state welfare commissioner.

The trainees were accepted by Capt. J. H. Burke, of Ft. Benning, Georgia, commanding officer of the army procurement party. Burke visited the various districts over a period of several days accompanied by Jack Horne, representative of the State Welfare Board in charge of CCC selection.

The number recruited by districts was announced as follows: District 1, 180; District 2, 80; District 3, 45; District 4, 82; District 5, 35; District 6, 65; District 7, 33; District 8, 40; District 9, 90; District 10, 40; District 11, 100; District 12, 67.

Despite the fact that but scant publicity was given, more than 4,000 young men had applied for enrollment, Horne stated. Since the state's quota is limited, four out of every five of these were denied the chance to secure employment and training in CCC camps at this time.

About half of the recruits will be assigned to Florida camps and the other half will be sent to the Pacific Coast, with the exception of a few who will be sent to Alabama, North and South Carolina and Louisiana.

Each of a $500 enrolled will be required to remit $25 per month to dependent relatives in the state, regardless of where assigned. This will mean a monthly payroll of approximately $112,500 to be dumped into the channels of trade.

Contract was awarded last week for the construction of a $100,000 meat packing plant at Tampa for Lynkes Brothers.

FIVE MILLION FOOT STOCK TO DRAW FROM
Virgins Long Leaf Yellow Pine, Rough & Dressed Lumber, Truck loads & Car Loads.

Write or Telephone for Prices
Roux Crate & Lumber Company, Inc.
Bartow, Fla. Phone 345

Photographic Enlargements

We have installed complete

Photo Enlarging

Equipment and, for a limited time, will give one 8 x 10 Glossy Enlargement with every new or renewal subscription to the AVON PARK TIMES at the regular subscription rate, $2.00 per year for delivery in Highlands County.

To secure the enlargements it is necessary that you supply the negative. Or, if you prefer, we can make an enlargement of one of the many photos we have taken.

Direct enlargements cannot be made direct from the photos themselves.

THE AVON PARK TIMES

SOCIAL and Personal News

Phone
37

Rev.-Mrs. Mingleford Honored at Supper

Rev. C. R. Mingleford, newly appointed pastor of the Methodist Church and Mrs. Mingleford were guests of honor at a supper given by the members of the Methodist Church at the church annex on Friday night.

Rev. J. P. Dalton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, East Waco, Dr. A. C. Elliott of the Congregational Church, Mrs. A. C. Wester, and J. D. Raab were speakers on the program. Rev. and Mrs. Mingleford both made short talks expressing their appreciation of the welcome that was given to them. Miss Carmen Booth and Miss Claire Vanderweide sang a delightful duet.

Pink crepe myrtle and green fern were used to decorate the tables. Lovely bouquets of pink roses were placed at vantage points in the rooms. Tall pink tapers also graced the tables.

Mrs. Zed Scarborough, Mrs. Fred Montecose, Mrs. E. C. W. art, Miss Mary Lydia Stebbins, Miss Lauretta Reed, Miss Helen Cannon and Miss Nellene Cannon assisted in serving.

About seventy five members of the church attended this delightful affair.

Lake Byrd Lodge Scene Of Camp

The annual G. A. and W. Y. A. Young People's Camp was held this week at Lake Byrd Lodge under the auspices of the First Baptist Church.

A study course was offered to those present and various forms of recreation. Registration included girls from Wanchula, Bowling Green and Avon Park, with a total of fifty three attending. Among those attending from Avon Park are: Louise Bishop, Mary Clements, Helen Merrill of Jakin, Ga., Ruth Pendleton, Margery and Betty Jo Wells, Miss Mildred Collins and Miss Gabe Coen are adult supervisors from Avon Park.

Mrs. Ralph Rogers Shower Honoree

Mrs. W. A. Luthy and Mrs. Raymond Gerard were co-hostesses at a shower given at the home of the latter on Monday night in honor of Mrs. Ralph Rogers.

Lovely pink flowers decorated the party rooms carrying out a color scheme of pink and white. Contests were enjoyed throughout the evening with Mrs. Henry Hagan and Mrs. Ben Cox winners of the prizes. Following the games were dainty and useful gifts were presented to the honoree.

Delicious refreshments of angel food cake, ice cream and fruit punch was served to the following who were present, Mrs. F. M. Johnson, Mrs. Raymond Dille, Mrs. Ben Cox, Mrs. C. A. Clark, Mrs. John Raab, Mrs. L. Kessler, Mrs. W. A. Luthy, Mrs. C. R. Mingleford, Mrs. J. C. DeShazo, Miss Lorena Parker, Mrs. C. Belin, Mrs. T. P. Turner, Mrs. C. H. Gerard, Mrs. Harriet Smith, Mrs. F. M. Wolf, Mrs. L. M. Marsh, Mrs. Oscar Bridges, Mrs. Henry Hagan, Mrs. Elmer W. Smith, Mrs. Mildred Wray, Mrs. Helen Mann, Mrs. Rex A. Reed assisted the hostesses in serving.

Mrs. Costine Is Circle Hostess

Mrs. Frank Costine was hostess to Circle Two of the Baptist Missionary Society on Monday afternoon at her home.

Mrs. B. F. Martin presided over the business meeting, and Mrs. S. J. Pendleton taught the lesson book study.

Home made ice cream topped with fresh peaches, and cake was served to the following: present Mrs. B. F. Martin, Mrs. Otto Skipper, Mrs. J. B. Sherman, Mrs. Wayne Majors, Mrs. E. B. Crosby, Mrs. Ray Wells, Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr., Mrs. David Stuckey, Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr., Mrs. M. M. Foster, Mrs. O. H. Head, Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Frank Costine.

Mrs. Wester Hostess To Methodist M. S.

An all day sewing meeting was held by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. C. Wester.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon to the following present: Mrs. J. D. Raab, Mrs. A. M. Elwell, Mrs. R. A. Gerrard, Mrs. I. Kessler, Mrs. J. B. Brooks, Mrs. L. M. Orr, Mrs. C. R. Mingleford and the hostess, Mrs. Wester.

CIRCLE THEATRE

FRONT 100 - BERNARD, FLA.

Sunday & Monday, July 17-18

BOBBY BREEN

"HAWAII CALLS"

with NED SPARKS

IRVING COBB

Raymond Paige and Orchestra

(Family)

Tues. & Wed., July 19-20

JOAN BENNETT

"I Met My Love Again"

with HENRY FONDA

(Family)

Thurs. & Friday, July 21-22

LORETTA YOUNG

"Four Men and A Prayer"

Richard George, George Sanders, David Niven. (Adults)

Saturday, July 23

"Trigger Trio"

COMING:

"THREE BLIND MICE"

(Loretta Young)

"TEST PILOT"

(Gable, Love and Tracy)

"KENTUCKY MOONSHINE"

(Rita Brown)

Circle One Met With Mrs. Jesse Bennett

Mrs. Jesse Bennett was hostess to members of Circle One of the Baptist Missionary Society on Monday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Bennett opened the meeting with the devotional and also presided over the business session. Mrs. Jack Dalton taught the lesson for the afternoon from the new text book.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess served peach ice cream and cookies to the present, who were: Mrs. Jack Dalton, Mrs. W. W. McFarland, Mrs. R. L. Adams, Mrs. Jack Witt, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Charles Clements, Mrs. H. H. Lawton, Mrs. J. H. Bishop, Mrs. W. D. Cameron, Mrs. J. H. Dean, Mrs. Delley Skipper, Mrs. Anna Lawton and Mrs. D. H. Bowman.

Mrs. Orr Hostess At Swim Party

Members of the Junior department of Young People of the Methodist church were entertained with a swimming party on Thursday afternoon at the home of their counselor, Mrs. L. M. Orr.

Swimming was enjoyed throughout the afternoon after which a delicious picnic was served.

Those present at this happy affair were: Patti Anne Carlson, Barbara Jean Bridges, Elizabeth Hall, Vivian J. Hight, Ina Jean Mingleford, Chas. Lewis, Caroline Holland, Betha O'Connell, Charlotte Orr, T. F. Hunt, Gine Mingleford, Mrs. J. C. DeShazo, Mrs. Fred Montecose, Jr., Rev. and Mrs. Mingleford, Mrs. W. Luthy and Mrs. L. M. Orr.

Mrs. Voorhees Club Hostess

Mrs. George Voorhees was hostess Thursday afternoon to the Thursday Auction Club at her home.

The party rooms were beautifully decorated with pink and green fern. Baskets of pink roses were placed at vantage points around the room.

Bridal was enjoyed throughout the afternoon after which delicious refreshments of sherbet, coffee and cake was served to the following: Mrs. O. H. Head, Mrs. Olive Anderson, Mrs. S. Y. Hart, Mrs. C. A. Clark, Mrs. L. Bass, Mrs. Jimmy Allen, Mrs. Bobbie Hagan, Mrs. Norton Smith, Mrs. Vickery, Mrs. S. V. Hunning, and the hostess, Mrs. Voorhees.

Mrs. Head Hostess To Ladies Aid

Members of the Congregational Woman's Aid Society were entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. O. H. Head at her home.

A short business session was held. Mrs. A. C. Elliott led the devotional. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and grape juice were served to the following present: Mrs. A. C. Elliott, Mrs. W. H. Yates, Mrs. Olive Armstrong, Mrs. Alice Tuten, Mrs. C. R. Ginn, Mrs. E. L. Thomason, Mrs. Walter Rutherford, and the hostess, Mrs. Head.

Mrs. Lawton and Mrs. Coen Hostesses

Mrs. R. L. Lawton and Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr. were co-hostesses to the Philatelia Sunday School class of the First Baptist church on Tuesday night.

A short business session was held with Mrs. Lawton presiding in the absence of the president. Devotionals were led by Miss Canup.

Following a social hour of games and contents, delicious refreshments of chocolate nut cake and cake were served to the sixteen guests present.

Births

Mrs. and Mrs. W. R. Fox Ruff of Arlington, Va. announced the birth of a baby boy at 4:45 p. m., Wednesday, July 13 at the Washington hospital. Mrs. Ruff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shepherd of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Culpepper of Ridge Gables are the parents of a 10 pound boy. The young man arrived Monday evening and according to the attending physician both he and his mother are progressing very nicely.

Miss Genivieve McClelland and Anna Beth Skipper of Ocala are spending some time in Avon Park, the guests of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Noland and son, Bill of St. Petersburg, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Noland over the weekend.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Miss Louise Rogers is spending the week in Lakeland visiting Mrs. Alma Rogers.

Mrs. P. L. Gordon and Mrs. T. Haney and Miss Faye Gordon were visiting in Lakeland Monday.

Miss Charlotte Atkins left Monday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Curtis Smith of Everglades City.

Mrs. W. M. Davis left Tuesday for Nichols, Ga. where she will visit relatives for several weeks.

Mrs. Wheeler Sheffield and children of Fort Meade spent Tuesday visiting friends in Avon Park.

Miss Grace Linden of Lovell, Ky. will arrive this week for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Oscar Bridges.

Miss Frances Louise English of Miami is visiting in Avon Park, the guest of her aunt Miss Audrey Lockett.

Mrs. C. D. Noland is leaving Friday for a short stay with her sister, Mrs. W. T. Camel of Rockmart, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Thomsen of Tampa spent the weekend in Avon Park visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thomsen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ayres and Mrs. Bertha Myers of Sarasota were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Thayer last week.

Miss Lillian Bort who has been spending several weeks in Miami the guest of her sister, Mrs. Novell Barwick, returned home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton McClelland of Clinton, N. C. called on Avon Park this week on account of the serious illness of Mr. McClelland's mother, Mrs. J. H. McClelland.

F. M. Wolf left Sunday on an extended trip to California where he will visit sisters who he has not seen for a number of years. Enroute he will visit relatives in Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Touchton and daughter, Betty, left Saturday for Atlanta, Ga. Touchton and Betty will stay for a visit with friends and relatives and Dr. Touchton returned Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hauptmann left today for Greenfield, Ia. where they will spend several days on business. From there they will go to Duluth, Minn. and return by way of a Great Lakes steamer.

Mrs. Hauptmann will also visit in North Carolina and plans to be gone about two months. Mr. Hauptmann expects to return in three weeks.

Fla. Buildin' Inspires World's Fair Designs

DeLand, July 14 — Florida's building at the New York World's Fair will furnish a motif for designers during the coming year, according to Clara Mason, design consultant on World's Fair, and Benadine. The beautiful exhibit building, designed by Harold Stewart, Architect, of Miami, is in a combination of southern Mediterranean and Florida architecture in harmony with its tropical surroundings.

"Much interest in Florida's proposed building for the New York World's Fair is being felt by designers and manufacturers who are designing Fair inspired articles," said Miss Mason.

"Postcards and views and merchandise of a commemorative as well as souvenir type are being worked on and we feel that the privilege of using Florida's building in designs will be an inspiration to American design, and of publicity and promotion value to the state."

Two Re-appointed To State Welfare Board

Tallahassee, July 14 (FNS)—R. Pope Rest of Pensacola and Alton Adams of Ft. Pierce were re-appointed to the State Welfare Board by Governor Conn last week, both to serve four year terms. The term of George T. Shannon of Tampa expired at the same time, but the Governor failed to name his successor. Other appointments announced during the week included Mrs. Kathleen Gillette of High Springs to succeed Mrs. Myrtle H. Palmer of Jacksonville whose term on the State Board of Beauty Culture expires June 27.

Roosevelt Plans To Land At Pensacola

Washington, July 14 (FNS)—Following a summer cruise, which will take him to the Cocos and Galapagos Islands, President Roosevelt said he would land at Pensacola, Fla. when he is made a train for Warm Springs, Ga. Plans call for a one day visit at Warm Springs and he will probably arrive at Pensacola on August 10. The length of time he will have in the city is not definitely known.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM CONGRESSMAN J. HARDIN PETERSON

IDAHO PHOSPHATE MEETING—When this appears in the paper, I will be enroute to Pocatello, Idaho, where hearings will be continued by the special phosphate investigating committee. I will be out of the state for about five weeks, as the trip takes approximately a week, and the hearings will last two or three weeks. This is my first trip west of the Mississippi since I have been in the very interesting country, taking in as many national parks as time will permit. My Lakeland office will continue open as usual, however, and my secretary there will be in close communication with me at all times, to persist where he has, and with assurance they will receive immediate attention. All mail should be sent to me at Lakeland as usual, and anything requiring my personal attention will be forwarded to me, until my return.

VETERANS' LEGISLATION—I am rather proud of a fine letter I received from a veteran, Leonard W. Rice, legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Washington. The letter, "Now that Congress has adjourned, I want you to know how much we, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, appreciate the splendid cooperation and active support which you gave on the floor of the House of Representatives in the committee, concerning the various broad objectives of the V. F. W. looking toward the betterment of the welfare of needy, unemployed and disabled veterans, and the dependents of deceased veterans, and aimed toward a better America for all Americans."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS—Among the examinations which are now pending are the following: home economist and associate home economist, $3,800 and $2,800 a year, respectively; social worker (psychiatric) $2,000; home extension agent and junior home extension agent, $2,600 and $1,800, respectively; junior and under blueprint operator, $1,400 and $1,200; junior and under photostat operator, $1,400 and $1,200; public health nurse, $2,000; graduate nurse (general staff) $1,800; nurse technician (bacteriology and serology combined) $1,800; junior aquatic biologist, in three optional branches, $2,000; chemical engineer (explosives, manufacture and plant management) $3,800; specialist in cotton classing, $3,800; associate specialist and assistant specialist in cotton classing, $3,200 and $2,600, respectively; assistant home economist, $2,600; junior home economist, $2,600; under machine maker, $1,260; photogravure, $1,400 an hour, 40-hour week; operating engineer (marine diesel engine), $3,800; medical officer, $3,800; associate medical officer, $3,200; regional director, social security board, $6,000; regional director, $3,800; associate marine engineer, $2,200; assistant marine engineer, $2,600; safety instructor (petroleum), $1,800; assistant safety instructor (petroleum), $1,620; junior script engraver, $1,152 per day, $2.16 per hour overtime ($3.00 per year) for appointment in Washington only; assistant messenger, $1,080, for appointment in Washington only; riveter, holder, shipfitter, liftman, boiler-maker's helper, machinist, electrician's helper, all with the navy yard at Charleston, S. C.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employee engaged in a bona fide executive or administrative capacity, although the regulations issued by the administrator will have to be studied to determine just what does constitute administrative work and whether office workers are to be so classified; any person in a professional capacity is exempt, with this exemption applying to such employees as junior accountants, law clerks, attorneys in law departments of corporations and similar professional employees, as well as professionals acting as independent contractors, such as attorneys and accountants on a fee or retainer basis, providing no contrary regulations are issued; regulations of the contractor in a retail or establishment, if the greater part of the selling or servicing is intrastate, with larger department stores or retailers situated close to a state line probably finding it advisable to classify their sales into divisions of those within the state and those outside, since the words "the greater part" will almost certainly exclude them from the act if more than 50% of their sales are within the state. Other exemptions will be discussed next week.

BUSINESS LOOKS AHEAD—Secretary Roper of the department of commerce sees a much brighter future for business in a statement just issued at Washington. "The recession seems to be scraping bottom," the economist states, "and business must take the bat with initiative and courage. Natural economic factors, coupled with the influence of constructive legislation enacted by a session of the congress outstanding for its accomplishment, point the way to an early favorable trend in the business cycle for which business should make immediate and adequate preparation. It does not mean by this statement to indicate that business is yet on a great unobstructed highway. Many obstacles exist, but I am saying that obstacles have been and are being removed and, with cooperation now to the part of all, a successful future will be found ahead."

Pursuit of Happiness—"Everybody says he favors the pursuit of happiness," said Uncle Eben, "but at present nobody seems able to be happy unless he's making trouble for somebody else."

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employ-

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employ-

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employ-

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employ-

WASHINGTON NEWS

Continuing the preliminary analysis of the wage-hour law started in this column last week, the legislation broadly speaking affects every one, excepting purely intrastate businesses. It affects all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or producing goods for interstate commerce. One analysis which is considered authentic gives the following: "Broadly speaking, the wage and hour bill will apply to all concerns engaged in interstate commerce producing goods for interstate commerce. Thus, any organization producing, manufacturing, mining, handling, or in any other way working on any goods, wares, products, commodities, merchandise or anything else capable of being shipped in interstate commerce will be included—and the United States supreme court has already ruled in a recent case (Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Company) that even though no materials are bought outside the state and the majority of the sales are made within the state, the entire operations are subject to federal regulation. Exemptions also creating a problem in the minds of businessmen and generally speaking the minimum wages and maximum hours will not apply to an employ-

To Enforce Closed Season On Turtles

Tallahassee, July 14 (FNS)—All Agents of the State Conservation Board have been instructed by R. L. Dalton, supervisor, to make special efforts during July and August to enforce the closed season on loggerhead, or sea turtle. There is a growing desire on the part of the public for the enforcement of the closed season on sea turtles, which constitute a valuable source of food supply. Many letters and messages have been received by Supervisor Dalton from sportsmen, throughout the state giving information as to violations of the law. The cooperation with the department is deeply appreciated.

The sea turtle is an ungainly fellow, sometimes reaching 800 pounds in weight. Turtles come ashore only to lay their eggs in the sand, and at this season is an easy prey for man. For this reason a closed season extending from May through August has been set aside for their protection.

The crab uses his two front claws as if they were a knife and fork. Taking the crackers in his left claw he lifts it daintily to his mouth. The lower part of his mouth separates into two divisions like tiny arms, which reach out and take in the food. He also uses these little arms to wipe his eyes which protrude a quarter of an inch from his head.

W. M. RECK
REGISTERED BROKER
REAL ESTATE IN ALL STATES
Rentals - Property Management
25 E. Main Street
Avon Park, Florida

NOTARY PUBLIC
Insurance
Manuscript and Letter Typing.
Margaretha Vogt
25 E. Main Street
Avon Park, Florida

BUILD YOUR HOMES

With F. H. A. Loans

We are now prepared to handle applications for new homes under Title 2 of the new F.H.A. Plan, with 5% money. Repairing and remodeling can also be done under this plan.

F. H. A. LOANS

NO MORTGAGE NECESSARY—5% INTEREST
For building that extra room, repairing, remodeling, re-roofing, painting and many other necessary things.

Phone 74 or call in, see us, and talk it over.

SMITH HARDWARE COMPANY

AVON PARK, FLORIDA

LESS THAN 1¢ A DAY

BRINGS YOU A WHOLE YEAR OF GOOD READING!

THE AVON PARK TIMES

(Regular Price for One Year—$2.00)

POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

(Regular Price for One Year—$2.50)

YOU GET THEM BOTH—A $4.50 VALUE FOR ONLY $3.25

KEEP UP with the Joneses, the Smiths and your other neighbors by reading this newspaper and—

KEEP UP with the rest of the world by reading POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

More than 6,000 pictures and 3,000 stories every year

Hundreds of money-making and labor-saving ideas, farm aids, household hints, home workshop tips. The latest inventions, new devices which you have never seen but which you will use tomorrow. Scores of building projects for the craftsman.

YOU SAVE $1.25 by signing this coupon and mailing or bringing it to this newspaper with your money.

Enclosed $3.25. Send me your newspaper and Popular Mechanics Magazine for one year.

Name _____
Street, Number, or R.F.D. _____
City _____ State _____

PARK THEATRE

AVON PARK, FLORIDA

CHILDREN 10c ALWAYS A GOOD 25c

Saturday, (Matinee 3:15)

Free Show, Everybody Welcome

ONE TOOTSIE ROLL FREE

Sunday, July 17 (Only)

JOE PENNER

"Go Chase Yourself"

Comedy: MUSIC WILL TELL

Monday & Tuesday, July 18-19

1 Hour of continuous laughter

"One Wild Night"

JUNE LANG LYLE TALBOT

Wed. & Thurs., July 20-21

EDITH FLOWELL

LEO CARRILLO

THE HOUSE OF MOONLIGHTS

by George Marsh

© PENN PUBLISHING CO.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

With Routh as the leader, followed in turn by Powder, Rogue and Shet as wheel or sled dog, the big puppies were started in the school of collar, trace and trail. On the young snow of those keen October days, when the wind had the edge of a knife, it was a joy to Alan and Noel to train dogs with such spirit and power.

Rapidly the winter shut in and the frost strengthened. Farther and farther out the ice sheet reached in the lake and, near the shore, became so thick that they raised their heads. But the big cache was now piled high with frozen fish.

Twice, when the river closed, they drove the dogs down to the cabin on the Talking to find all well with John and Heather and no news from McQueen.

And then, at last, came the Montagnais "Moon When the Snow Hangs in the Trees," and, in the middle of December, Alan and Noel started with the dogs to search for the headwater lakes of the Kokoskoi.

Over the barrens flanking the valley of the Sinking Lakes, they traveled to the northeast. But it was a long-faceted Noel who, despite the eager dogs over his sparkling tundra.

"No one ever goes into this country and come back," he reminded Alan as they stood on a high barren and gazed over the tundra, "and white waste to the north and east, seemingly as far as the sun slanted across its limitless expanse."

"Well," said Alan, "I'm sure your mitten hung to his neck by a thong and wiping the rim from his face with a bare hand, 'someone always has to be first, eh, Routh?'"

For days they traveled north of the valley of the Sinking Lakes but, in that direction beyond the dim blue hills they had often seen from the valley, they found no water courses flowing north; no headwater lakes.

One morning they headed into the southeast. In the sparsely wooded valleys, snow-white, arctic hares, their long ears tipped with black, jumped from willow thickets to race away at the coming of the dog team. Once, at a distance, three curious white foxes danced, curiously on the snow, suggesting the approach of the team, until the excited dogs, getting their scent, set up a frenzied yelping which drove them away over the tundra, like wisps of white smoke.

Because of the wood, the boys had stopped in a small valley, where a stream headed, to boil their kettle. After eating, they continued south and came to a small valley, where the hills to higher country. As Alan, who was leading the team, reached the tip of the valley and looked far into the east, he raised his dogs with a shout.

"Noel!" he cried. "Look at that lake over there! We've found it!" Noel joined him and the two gazed in amazement across the tundra. There, miles away to the east, beyond the low hills of the foreground, reached the level, white shell of an enormous lake, until it was lost in the haze of the distance.

"Why, it's as big as Lake Brien, isn't it?" Noel exclaimed. "That's right, Alan. It must be one of the lakes in the old men's tales."

The Indian stood in awe gazing at the white reaches of the lake, stretched the shimmering floor of snow and wind-scoured ice, and into the east, until it merged with the horizon.

"Eet ees ver beeg lak," he said. "Big river flow out of it."

"And that river must be a headwater of the Kokoskoi," cried Alan. "We're over the Height-of-Land. The river all run north, here! We've found it, Noel! We've found it!"

That night the boys camped on the shore of the great lake, where the break of a stand of black spruce. While the dogs lay curled in the sleepholes, Alan and Noel talked beside a roaring fire.

"We'll travel right across this lake until we find the outlet, Noel. Then we'll hunt to find a way to get into it with the canoes from the Sinking Lakes."

"Mebbe dis lak' not flow into de beeg river," Noel said. "Noel, this lake is surely the headwater of the big river, or of one of its branches. It's a headwater lake, far to the north and east, until it merged with the horizon."

the lake reached to the north, like the fingers on a hand, in three separate bays. And from each of these ran a small outlet.

"Look, Noel," said Alan, as they stood on a low hill and followed the channels of the three streams with the binoculars. "These outlets run right into the north through a flat valley and must join, I tell you, to the Kokoskoi water. To the east the ridges all run north and south—not a break in them. We've found it, boy! We're on the Kokoskoi!"

The Indian nodded his head in agreement. "Now we'll follow the east shore and see if this is the main discharge. Some of these lakes have two. But I'm positive, no water could run to the east, from the lay of the country, it's bound to travel north."

With the boys riding the toboggan, away galloped the dogs along the eastern shore. In an hour, looking across the wide expanse of ice into the southwest they could barely see the white hills from which they had discovered the great lake. In places, the hard snow, carved by the wind, dipped away for miles like white waves; in places the ice was scored almost clean of its snow blanket, making sliding a delight. On, up the east shore, the eager dogs took them at a gallop. But at the lake reached to the north, like the fingers on a hand, in three separate bays. And from each of these ran a small outlet.

"Look, Noel," said Alan, as they stood on a low hill and followed the channels of the three streams with the binoculars. "These outlets run right into the north through a flat valley and must join, I tell you, to the Kokoskoi water. To the east the ridges all run north and south—not a break in them. We've found it, boy! We're on the Kokoskoi!"

The Indian nodded his head in agreement. "Now we'll follow the east shore and see if this is the main discharge. Some of these lakes have two. But I'm positive, no water could run to the east, from the lay of the country, it's bound to travel north."

With the boys riding the toboggan, away galloped the dogs along the eastern shore. In an hour, looking across the wide expanse of ice into the southwest they could barely see the white hills from which they had discovered the great lake. In places, the hard snow, carved by the wind, dipped away for miles like white waves; in places the ice was scored almost clean of its snow blanket, making sliding a delight. On, up the east shore, the eager dogs took them at a gallop. But at the lake reached to the north, like the fingers on a hand, in three separate bays. And from each of these ran a small outlet.

"Look, Noel," said Alan, as they stood on a low hill and followed the channels of the three streams with the binoculars. "These outlets run right into the north through a flat valley and must join, I tell you, to the Kokoskoi water. To the east the ridges all run north and south—not a break in them. We've found it, boy! We're on the Kokoskoi!"

The Indian nodded his head in agreement. "Now we'll follow the east shore and see if this is the main discharge. Some of these lakes have two. But I'm positive, no water could run to the east, from the lay of the country, it's bound to travel north."

With the boys riding the toboggan, away galloped the dogs along the eastern shore. In an hour, looking across the wide expanse of ice into the southwest they could barely see the white hills from which they had discovered the great lake. In places, the hard snow, carved by the wind, dipped away for miles like white waves; in places the ice was scored almost clean of its snow blanket, making sliding a delight. On, up the east shore, the eager dogs took them at a gallop. But at the lake reached to the north, like the fingers on a hand, in three separate bays. And from each of these ran a small outlet.

"Look, Noel," said Alan, as they stood on a low hill and followed the channels of the three streams with the binoculars. "These outlets run right into the north through a flat valley and must join, I tell you, to the Kokoskoi water. To the east the ridges all run north and south—not a break in them. We've found it, boy! We're on the Kokoskoi!"

The Indian nodded his head in agreement. "Now we'll follow the east shore and see if this is the main discharge. Some of these lakes have two. But I'm positive, no water could run to the east, from the lay of the country, it's bound to travel north."

With the boys riding the toboggan, away galloped the dogs along the eastern shore. In an hour, looking across the wide expanse of ice into the southwest they could barely see the white hills from which they had discovered the great lake. In places, the hard snow, carved by the wind, dipped away for miles like white waves; in places the ice was scored almost clean of its snow blanket, making sliding a delight. On, up the east shore, the eager dogs took them at a gallop. But at the lake reached to the north, like the fingers on a hand, in three separate bays. And from each of these ran a small outlet.

route to the big lake, by way of a chain of ponds lying on the Height-of-Land. The object of their exploring trip was accomplished.

The Montagnais "Great Moon" of January with its searing winds and nights when the lake ice split with the boom of muffled artillery and the spruce snapped under the contraction of the frost, rode over the barrens, followed by the "Moon of the Eagle." Night after night the aurora lit the white tundra and streamers of pearly mist wreathed the big man in the other end of the canoe.

"I say I don't want to slave all summer and then fight for our dust. I'd rather fight now," Suddenly Alan's gray eyes softened, as he added, "But then, there's Heather. Their game is to trail us, then we would get to get that gold, and what would become of her?"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"Probably the ice at the foot of the lake is out by now," replied McCord, "and a good snow wind will start these big rats up here. I wonder how close behind us McQueen is."

"Not far, I'll bet. But he'll never get the two Conjuror River Indians to go down the river with him. We'll only have four to handle when the time comes. What we are going to do—let him dog us clear to the River of Skulls or—?"

"What if you say?" interrupted the big man in the other end of the canoe. "I say I don't want to slave all summer and then fight for our dust. I'd rather fight now."

"I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

"I've been thinking of her. I didn't want her to come. Now she's with us. I've turned Alan over. You mean? The cold eyes glittered beneath the lid over Alan's forehead. "I mean what? I think of Heather in their hands, I forget all law. It's a finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

McCord's big knuckled hands closed contently on his paddle. "A finish fight, John, and their lives. They're going to make it no quarter, or worse!"

Winners in Cake Recipe Contest

Some of the Prize-Winning Cakes Baked in the Experimental Kitchen Laboratory of C. Houston Goudias.

The home economists on the staff of the Experimental Kitchen Laboratory, maintained in New York city by C. Houston Goudias, who conducts our "WHAT TO EAT AND WHY" series, have reached their decision concerning the prize winners in the recent Cake Recipe Contest. Winners have already been notified, and have received their checks.

The first prize of $25.00 went to Mrs. D. F. Kelly, 1004 Charles St., Whitewater, Wis.

Second Prize Winners. The five second prizes were awarded to Mrs. H. Harshbarger of 2427 Fifth Ave., Altoona, Pa.; R. A. Williams, 12075 Rosemary Ave., Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. C. A. Burns, Box 788, Oakland, Miss.; Miss Sadie Cunningham, Avondale, Pa.; and Mrs. Laura Meyer, 107 Pleasant St., Plymouth, Wis.

Third Prize Winners. Mrs. T. H. Pione, Flaxville, Mont.; Mrs. Lester Ralston, 127 South 34th St., Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. Harry A. Kramer, 16 Marlin Road, Manor, Calif.; Mrs. F. D. McDonald, Route 1, Amherst, Tex.; Vera Tigar, Commodore, Pa.; Mrs. George Albhorn, R. D. No. 1, Mt. Pleasant, Wis.; Mrs. C. A. Robinson, Box 578, Emmett, Idaho; Jean Guthrie, 4712 Campbell St., Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Walter Richter, Bondville, Wis.; Mrs. P. C. Blakey, Alden, Mich.

Honorable Mention. Emerson Williams, Damon, Texas; Mrs. Simon Meen, Norma, N. D.; Mrs. Dick Collins, Masonville, N. C.; Mrs. E. F. Herman, Box 1118, Crosby, Miss.; Mrs. Paul Lorenz, P. O. Box 225, Strathmore, Calif.; Mrs. S. F. Armitage, Simpson, N. Y.; Mrs. Vida Hilger, Box 237, Rockland, Mich.; Mrs. Grace H. Peterson, Box 335, Amherst, Wis.; Mrs. Joe Furman, Bedford, Wyo.; Mrs. Joe Furman, 317 West Twentieth St., Sioux City, Neb.

Magnificent Cakes Entered. The judges report that they have never seen a finer collection of cakes assembled at one time. Because almost all the cakes were so exceptionally good, it was extremely difficult to choose the winners. But a most careful scoring system was used, and the cakes were checked for general appearance, including shape, size and crust, both color and character; flavor, including odor and taste; lightness; crumb, including texture, rated as to its fineness, tenderness, moistness and elasticity, color and grain.

C. Houston Goudias has said that he regrets that every woman who entered the contest could not win a prize. He offers his congratulations to the winners and his thanks to the many other homemakers who helped to make this Cake Contest such a splendid success.

Uncle Phil Says: That's Rehabilitation. Young men who are bad are usually so because they want to be bad. You've got to change their point of view.

You may admire those who are brilliantly sarcastic, but you can't love them. You can accomplish more by your own efforts than anybody can help you to accomplish.

Never hesitate to praise good work, no matter where, or by whom it is done. It is one of the only rewards that good work gets.

Try It on Crackpots. From the first, laughter has shattered whims and demagogues.

Whether stones are thrown or not, a man makes a mistake in living in a glass house. Somewhat the remark that "you can do more with five minutes now than you can do with a thousand years after you are dead" doesn't inspire us. We intend to leave a thing or two for people to do after we are dead.

Ask Me Another

A General Quiz

The Questions

1. What state in the Union is bounded by only one other state?
2. Why is Great Salt Lake salty?
3. Who laid out the city of Washington?
4. What is a legal holiday?
5. The lower house of the legislature of Maine always includes the representatives of what race?
6. Are there any women mail carriers?

The Answers

1. Maine.
2. Because it has no outlet, losing water only through evaporation, while the mineral content remains behind.
3. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a French engineer.
4. A day designated by law as exempt from judicial proceedings, services of process, demand, and protest of commercial paper, etc.
5. The Indians. One from the Penobscot and one from the Passamaquoddy tribes.
6. There are 250 rural woman mail carriers in sparsely settled regions of the United States.

Uncle Phil Says: That's Rehabilitation. Young men who are bad are usually so because they want to be bad. You've got to change their point of view.

You may admire those who are brilliantly sarcastic, but you can't love them. You can accomplish more by your own efforts than anybody can help you to accomplish.

Never hesitate to praise good work, no matter where, or by whom it is done. It is one of the only rewards that good work gets.

Try It on Crackpots. From the first, laughter has shattered whims and demagogues.

Whether stones are thrown or not, a man makes a mistake in living in a glass house. Somewhat the remark that "you can do more with five minutes now than you can do with a thousand years after you are dead" doesn't inspire us. We intend to leave a thing or two for people to do after we are dead.

UNA and INA Go Camping on the River...

"There's the Doorbell Again" SUPPOSE daily to your door came the butcher, the grocer, the clothes, the furrier, the furniture man, and every other merchant with whom you deal? What a tedium of doorbell answering that would mean!

It would be even more impractical for you to visit daily all these stores to find out what they have to offer and the price. And yet you need those merchants' service quite as much as they need your patronage. Contact between seller and consumer is essential in the supplying of human needs. Before a sale can be closed the goods must be offered. Every week, through the advertising columns of this newspaper, the merchants of this city come to your home with their choicest wares. Easily, quickly, you get the news of all that is worth while in the market-places of the world.

They are not strangers at the door, but merchants you know and trust. You are sure of high quality and fair price when you buy an article advertised by a reputable firm.

Early Irish Missionaries in Germany Able to Make Themselves Understood

Irish missionaries who came to central Germany from the Sixth to the Eighth century, bringing the gospel of St. Patrick had no difficulty in making themselves understood. That there were plenty of people who spoke Celtic languages at that time who spoke a Celtic language very similar to ancient Gaelic is the belief of Prof. Ernst Meier-Greif of the Dresden Technical college, notes a writer in the Kansas City Star.

Evidence is scraggy and scattered, but in Professor Meier-Greif's opinion sufficient. There are numerous place-names in central and western Germany that can be traced to a Celtic origin. A record of a notable sermon by a preacher named Gallus included the statement that afterwards it was "misinterpreted" to a German-speaking audience at Constance by an Irish priest; if Gallus had spoken German, the services of an interpreter would have been needed.

A telling point, the German scientist feels, is the total absence of any Celtic-German dictionaries or grammars dating from that period. Such bilingual aids are always among the first books developed in any foreign missionary effort. The only books of that date are Gospels and other devotional works in Latin, with glosses or marginal notes in Gaelic, never in German.

It is well known that the pre-German population of the Rhine and Danube valleys was Celtic. Professor Meier-Greif's hypothesis is that when the conquering Germanic tribes moved in, they made Celtic people of German descent a class of masters, under whom the descendants of the original owners of the land lived as an inferior class, speaking their own language. Only after the rise of a dynasty of Frankish Christian kings who sought closer contact with Rome, he says, did the common use of the Celtic language, and with it the predominant influence of Irish missionaries, die out among the mass of the populace.

Most Widely Inscribed Palindrome. The most widely inscribed palindrome, or phrase spelled the same backward as forward, is a Greek motto 23 letters long. "Wash my transgressions, not only my face" and which is carved on the fons of many Christian churches throughout the world—Collier's Weekly.

Fun for the Whole Family

THE FEATHERHEADS By Osborne

Quiet, Please

S'MATTER POP—Considering the Up and Down Season

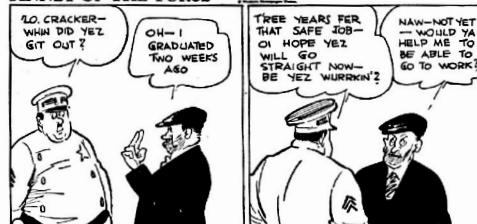

By C. M. PAYNE

MESCAL IKE By S. L. HUNTLEY

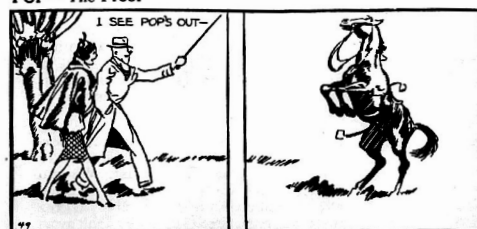

All Set Until the Next Letter

FINNEY OF THE FORCE By Ted O'Loughlin

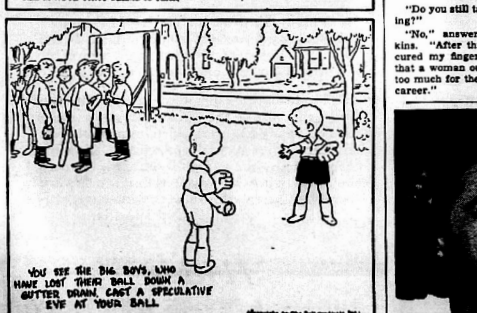

Quite Boring

POP—The Proof

By J. MILLAR WATT

THE MINUTE THAT SEEMS A YEAR By GUYAS WILLIAMS

DISCRETION

Vicious Circle

CONDENSED

IRIUM Conquers Surface-Stains for Pepsodent Users

Irium contained in BOTH Pepsodent Tooth Powder and Pepsodent Tooth Paste

"It's Pepsodent for me!" That's what thousands of people the country over are saying about the new, modernized Pepsodent containing Irium. Yes... and you'll say the same once you've used this remarkable fast-action dentifrice.

WHAT TO EAT and WHY ★★

C. Houston Goudiss Recounts

The Miracle of Milk

Noted Food Authority Explains Why It Is the Cheapest and Most Nearly Perfect Food

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

1 East 58th Street, New York City

OF ALL the foods known and used by man, milk is supreme. It is a miracle of perfection—a veritable elixir of life.

Milk has powers possessed by no other food. It builds sturdy bodies for infants; strong bones and teeth for growing children; helps to maintain vitality in adults; and to delay the onset of old age.

It contains a greater assortment of nutritive materials than any other single food. It is the foundation of every balanced diet. Considering the services it performs for mankind—from infancy to old age—it is the cheapest food we have.

Milk is so many-sided that I always think of it as the Benjamin Franklin of foods. It is a vast treasure chest of nutrients—the most complex product of nature's chemistry. It contains nearly every chemical element of the body itself, in proportions adapted for quick and easy assimilation.

Milk fulfills six essential requirements of a perfect diet.

First: It supplies carbohydrate and fat for heat and energy.

Second: It furnishes protein that is suitable for building new tissues and repairing the millions of cells that are worn out daily.

Third: It yields minerals which build bones and teeth and regulate the subtle internal processes of the body.

Fourth: It contains every known vitamin in some degree and is abundantly supplied with the vitamins necessary for growth, to the smooth running of the body machine, and to the prevention of many types of infection.

Fifth: It contains water, to act as a solvent, a carrier and regulator.

Sixth: It is easily digestible. This brief summary helps to explain the unique place of milk in nutrition. Think of it! In one food, we find protein of the highest type; carbohydrate and fat; all the vitamins; every one of the minerals demanded by the human body; water; and an easy digestibility that readily changes these ingredients into vigorous life.

The Biggest Food Bargain

We occasionally hear the charge that milk is too high in price—that it is a luxury to afford enough of this master food to supply a quart daily for every child—at least a pint for each adult. That is ridiculous! The cost of milk is much cheaper than the cost of illness. And milk is not a luxury, but an indispensable necessity.

I contend that no homemaker can afford not to buy milk in adequate amounts—that if she desires health, efficiency and longevity for her family, she must provide a sufficient amount of milk before she purchases any other food.

A Food for Children and Adults

Humankind needs milk as the flowers in the garden and the grains in the field need the blessing of rain.

Deprived of milk, children develop a multitude of ills. They become thin and weak; their resistance is low; they fall easy victims to the germs of disease; there is small hope of their reaching normal manhood and womanhood.

Nice is milk only a food for children. It is likewise essential for adults who desire to live longer, happier, and healthier lives—to

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO Balance Your Diet?

This Free Chart Makes It Simple as A-B-C Helps to Safeguard Health

Planning a balanced diet will cease to be a puzzle if you send for the "Homemaker's Chart for Checking Nutritional Balance," offered free by C. Houston Goudiss.

It lists the foods and the standard amounts that should be included in the daily diet, and includes skeleton menus for breakfast, dinner and lunch or supper, to guide you in selecting the proper foods for each classification.

A potent aid in helping you to plan a balanced diet to good new plans. Send for the "Homemaker's Chart for Checking Nutritional Balance," offered free by C. Houston Goudiss, 1 East 58th Street, New York City.

Send for This Free Chart

Showing which Foods are ACID and which ALKALINE

One of the principles in planning a balanced diet is to include as least enough alkaline, or base-forming foods, to balance the acid-forming foods.

To help you distinguish the foods that belong in each group, C. Houston Goudiss offers to send a free chart listing the principal acid-ash and alkaline-ash foods. Address C. Houston Goudiss, 1 East 58th Street, New York City.

fortify their bodies against the assaults of disease—to retain or regain mental and bodily vigor. It is indeed a Fountain of Youth!

—★—

Milk for Pep and Power

A quart of milk daily supplies from two-thirds to three-fourths of the total calories required by a year-old child. For a five-year old, it provides about half the day's fat requirements, and for a ten-year old, one-third. Even a moderately active man could obtain one-fourth of his energy requirements from a quart of this precious fluid. It is also interesting to note that five-eighths cup of milk is equivalent in energy value to one and one-third eggs, or two and one-fourth ounces of lean beef.

A quart of milk yields more than an ounce of pure protein of the highest quality. Moreover, nutrition authorities hold that under normal conditions, it is the most completely digested and absorbed of all food proteins.

—★—

Milk for Minerals

As a source of calcium, milk is indispensable. Without milk, it is practically impossible for the body to obtain enough of this essential of the minerals for normal skeletal development.

It has been estimated that when the calcium requirement is met through the use of milk, the need for phosphorus will also be adequately provided.

Though milk is not as good a source of iron as calcium and phosphorus, the iron in present and in a form that can be easily utilized by the body.

—★—

Milk for Vitamins

Milk is so rich in vitamins A and G, that the addition of a quart of milk daily to a good mixed diet practically guarantees against a deficiency of either of these precious substances which promote growth, help build resistance to disease, prolong the prime of life, and help to ward off old age. It also furnishes a considerable amount of vitamin B, which promotes appetite, aids digestion and helps to prevent a nervous disorder.

Milk contains a relatively small amount of vitamin D, but this can be remedied in both bottled and evaporated milk by irradiation, or the addition of a vitamin D concentrate. It is less dependable as a source of vitamin C than any other vitamin, as the amount it naturally contains varies with the diet of the cow and is reduced by pasteurization or evaporation. This deficiency is easily made good, however, by adding to the diet fresh fruits and fruit juices and raw leafy vegetables.

—★—

In Praise of Milk Producers

As milk is man's finest food, the men who are occupied with its production are engaged in the world's most important pursuit. They labor to provide the nation with a pure, safe, clean supply of the food that makes life worthwhile for children and helps to prolong life for adults.

Let no one say that milk is expensive. Rather let every homemaker come to realize that this magnificent food would be CHEAP AT ANY PRICE!

© WNU-C. Houston Goudiss—1938—48

Marvin Walker New Secretary Of Citrus Trade Association

Lakeland, July 14 (FNS)—Marvin H. Walker, former advertising manager and Secretary of the Florida Citrus Commission, later identified with Rutherford and Ryan advertising agency was chosen last week to serve as secretary and manager of the newly organized Florida Citrus Producers Trade Association.

S. L. Holland, Bartow attorney was appointed treasurer and counsel for the organization.

Officers were established in Lakeland and a meeting of the board of directors has been called for July 20 it was announced by president A. S. Herlong, Sr. of Leesburg. The new group was organized to promote the welfare of the industry. Its membership made up of cooperatives and grower shipper organizations represent more than half of the citrus production of the state.

Manatee County Has Growers Association

Bradenton, July 14 (FNS)—Manatee county growers were informed at the annual meeting of the Manatee county growers association that 752 carloads of vegetables had been marketed by the organization this season. The gross cash income to growers members was placed at approximately $500,000. It was the associations 25th year of operation, during that period in excess of ten million dollars has been paid to growers of the county, the report revealed.

Lion's Clubs of Florida plan to raise a $10,000 agricultural scholarship fund it was announced this week by Joe Tarantino, Lion District Governor.

To Washington—East—ride the Southern States Special FASTEST one-night-out train completely air-conditioned

...and the only one-night-out train with reclining seat coaches to Washington, without change of cars. Chummy lounge car... superb dining service... latest type sleeping cars. Go this way in speed, safety, comfort.

A. O. KINSEY, Agent
Telephone 21 & 169

THESE ARE LIFESAVERS

THAT'S what Consumers Information calls these workers in a Pittsburgh glass plant, who are testing and finishing non-shatterable glass for use in automobiles. It is explained that one of the greatest hazards in auto accidents used to be flying glass, which was the most common cause of injury. Now all American cars are equipped Cooperating with drycleaners throughout the nation, food and drug chain stores have inaugurated a national "Drink More Milk" campaign. Newspapers, radio stations, movie theatres are all cooperating in giving publicity to the slogan.

Survey Shows State Is Radio Minded

Tampa, July 14 (FNS)—A recent survey made by Variety Magazine shows that 297,000 Florida homes have radios today. Figuring the population of the state at 1,670,000 there is one radio for every six persons in the state. Duval County is listed first with 38,000. Duval second with 36,730, and Hillsborough third with 32,998. The survey also shows that Florida has 16 radio stations while Georgia has only 14. Florida also out ranks Georgia in the number of radio equipped homes.

Thirty Enrollments For Ground School

Thirty local applications have been received this morning for enrollment in the aviation ground school course which starts here next week. These do not include those expected from Sebring and Frostproof which will be received when the classes start.

"Oldest Matched Team In Country" (?)

This team of 25 year old Arabian horses owned by Oscar Ambrosion of Leland, Iowa are believed to be the oldest matched team in the country. The boys shown are Marvin and Roger Ambrosion, sons of Oscar Ambrosion.

HIGHLANDERS ASK REHEARING ON A. C. L. TRAIN

Want More Time To Get Facts Angled Cut In Rail Service

Acting in accord with a resolution adopted by the Seaside Highlanders in their meeting at Avon Park Saturday night, July 9, John D. Clark president, has sent the following letter to the Railroad Commission of Florida, asking for a rehearing on the matter of substituting mixed train service for passenger service on the Haines City branch, suggesting Friday, August 5, at Avon Park, as the place for a hearing.

If the petition is granted, the Seaside Highlanders will at once put a man in the field to gather from shippers the necessary statistics for a showing before the railroad commission. Since the original hearing was held June 8 on notice dated May 31 and of which the Seaside Highlanders only heard two days before the hearing, they feel that they are entitled to time to gather facts so they can make adequate presentation. Clark's letter:

To The Hon. Jerry Carter and Members,
Florida Railroad Commission,
Tallahassee, Florida.

Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the governors of the Seaside Highlanders, held at the Jacaranda Hotel in Avon Park, Saturday evening, July 9, a resolution was passed requesting me, as President of the Highlanders, to ask your Honorable Body to grant a rehearing on the Coast Line's application to discontinue passenger train service on the Haines City-Clewiston branch.

At this meeting discussion developed the unanimous conclusion that the 40,000 people living in the great producing area of Florida did not have time to gather the necessary facts which should have been presented at the Haines City hearing and now request an opportunity to do so.

The Highlanders' organization, with a membership of some 1,000 people in Highlands and Polk Counties is representing this great area. They realize that proper transportation facilities are absolutely necessary to the growth and prosperity of this newly developed and still developing area.

Important industries located around Lake Okechobee have joined with the Highlanders in protesting this application of the Coast Line Railroad to discontinue passenger service on this line.

Contribution to the difficulties put in the way of the public in gathering necessary facts to be presented at the Haines City hearing, was a general order from Coast Line headquarters, forbidding local agents to give out any information to the public relative to the volume of the business on this Haines City-Clewiston branch; therefore, we must procure all necessary facts from other sources and we promise to do so if an opportunity is given us for their presentation.

We believe, if given opportunity we can furnish proof of the following:

1. General traffic originating on this branch, considering the operations as a whole, is tremendously profitable to the Coast Line. We insist it is not fair to our communities to single out this branch to be termed the "unprofitable" services without giving due consideration to those which are admittedly "profitable."
2. Incoming freight on this line, consisting of fertilizer, fertilizer materials, lumber, packing house and canning supplies, general merchandise, building materials and other supplies, constitutes menhous aggregate tonnage, resulting in great revenues for the railroad.

3. The express traffic of fresh fruit and other perishable food products originating on this line is an extremely important source of revenue to the railroad company. Its efficient future maintenance is imperative to the convenience and prosperity of farmers and growers of this section.
4. The Commission will appreciate and the Coast Line must agree, that adequate mail and express service to 40,000 people scattered through an area of this kind cannot be given on mixed train basis. We are not objecting if some cheaper method of rendering this service is devised, but we do insist that these communities are entitled to an unimpeded mail, express and passenger service, which is impossible if the Coast Line's request is granted.

Allowing for the necessary time for you to receive, consider and act on this request for us, coupled with the period necessary to be given us in order that we may gather and assemble proof of these facts in suitable form for proper presentation, should not exceed 30 days.

Therefore, if your Honorable Body will give this case a rehearing, we can be ready within that time and if this does not seem unreasonable to you, we further suggest that 10 o'clock, A. M. August 5, 1933, be set as the time and date for this rehearing and the place, Avon Park, Florida at the Jacaranda Hotel.

Believe me, gentlemen,
Very sincerely yours,
JOHN D. CLARK,
President of the
SCENIC HIGHLANDERS

WILD LIFE AT N. Y. FAIR

An immense spectacula devoted to the wild life of the state, will be one of the outstanding features of the Florida exhibit at the New York World's Fair next year. It is being constructed under the personal supervision of J. E. Wallace, head of the natural history division of Florida National Exhibits.

A citizens' committee in Pensacola undertook this week to raise $250,000 in dechature subscriptions to satisfy the United States Maritime Commission of the financial stability of the Pensacola Ship Building Corporation and of the community's desire for a ship building program. It is hoped that Pensacola will secure a contract for the building of four ships to cost $7,550,000.

We buy your newspapers!
From 1000 to 100,000
NEWSPAPERS THAT SELL FOR BIG MONEY!!

We buy your newspapers!
We pay a minimum of $1.00 on acceptance! Many being as high as $5.00 and higher!

For Our Contributors

The highest payment made by the company is $100.00 per month for 100,000 copies of 100 papers
each 1000 copies
each 1000 copies
each 1000 copies
each 1000 copies

Write today for free literature telling how you can and how much that we buy from you! Address: Public Service, care of CO-OPERATIVE FEATURES INC.
200 North Michigan
Chicago, Ill.

Children's Home Society Has Local Committee Formed

Mrs. Nancy Powell, Special Field Representative of The Children's Home Society of Florida, Florida's great State-wide Child Placement Agency, was in Avon Park recently, for the purpose of organizing a Sponsoring Committee to promote the interests of The Children's Home Society of Florida in this area in many ways.

It is the purpose of the Home Society in organizing these committees to have a group of interested and public-spirited men and women, informed as to the work and purpose of the Society who will give publicity to the work that the Society has done and is doing all over the State to secure funds, food and clothing for the maintenance of the important work, to report children in need to the Society to secure good foster homes for the Society's homeless children and to remember the hundreds of homeless and orphan children under the care of the Home Society on special days and occasions, such as Easter, New Year's, Thanksgiving, Christmas, etc.

Similar committees have been formed in many counties of the state, and are to be organized in every county, as well as every city and town in the entire state.

The Children's Home Society of Florida, of which Marcus C. Fagg, (better known all over Florida as "Daddy" Fagg) has been the State Superintendent during the past twenty seven years, has given its aid and care to nearly thirty eight thousand homeless, orphan and destitute children, from one baby up to sixteen years of age, of all creeds and beliefs, and from every city, town and hamlet in the state, and has placed thousands of these homeless youngsters in the finest family homes in every county in the state, for permanent care and legal adoption.

The work of the Society is supported entirely and only by voluntary contributions of money, food and clothing. The Federal, State, County and Municipal Government does not support the work in any way.

The children that the Home Society receives are committed legally and permanently by the Court and Juvenile Courts of the State and come from broken homes—broken by death, desertion, separation, divorce, abuse, neglect, immorality, etc.

The Home Society does not accept or offer for adoption any child that is not normal physically or mentally—or who have a definite family history of epilepsy, etc.

feeble-mindedness or insanity, or active venereal disease.

49 children have been referred to the Home Society from this county and 17 of its homeless children have been placed for adoption in carefully selected foster homes in this county.

As soon as Mrs. Powell secures a sufficient number of representative citizens of this community who will serve on the Sponsoring Committee, a meeting of the group will be called, officers will be elected, sub-committees will be selected and the work will go forward in a more definite and organized way than heretofore.

The Avon Park sponsoring committee for the Children's Home Society has been announced as follows: C. E. Crabtree, Mrs. C. E. Crabtree, Mrs. E. G. Todd, Mrs. Sue Gregory, J. Paul Garber, Mrs. Demos Mandis, Mrs. Walter Betts, Mrs. H. E. Keller, W. C. Beckett, M. V. Fitcher, Mrs. C. R. Ginn, Mrs. C. R. Ginn, Mrs. G. P. Thayer, H. C. Price, Mrs. H. E. Godwin and Rev. R. L. Brown.

It is expected that Marcus (Daddy) Fagg will be in Avon Park early in the fall and meet with this committee to discuss plans for furthering the work of the Home.

F.S.C.W. Summer School To Close

Tallahassee, July 14 (FNS)—Summer school commencement address at the Florida State College for Women will be delivered Friday, August 5, by Superintendent of Public Instruction Colin Engleish. The Rev. Waldo E. Wood of Tallahassee Baptist Church will preach the baccalaureate sermon, the preceding Sunday, July 31, officials announced.

Want Ads

LEGHORN FRYERS, 22 cents a pound, Engelmann's Hatchery, 17 tf. c.

WE PAY CASH for used cars Hough Motors, 838 First St. Fort Myers, Fla. Phone 448. 11-4T.Pd.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS: a 11 popular makes, good quality, 75 cents each. The Avon Park Times of 50 cents.

FOR SALE: Four burner gasoline stove with back, nearly new. Cost $46. Can be had at a bargain. Mrs. W. C. Beckett, N. Butler Ave.

Before your newspaper is put to bed

●When we talk of putting a newspaper to bed we aren't trying to be humorous. It's shop parlance for going to press—the final step in the production of a newspaper.

Before your newspaper is ready to go to bed there's a long series of steps, representing the collective efforts of many minds and many hands. The issue you hold in your hands, for example, involved the gathering of hundreds of news items, editing, putting into type forms and, finally, printing. It could not be done without trained minds, trained hands and a heavy investment in expensive equipment.

●There are many other things, too. The selection of features that make your newspaper more informative... more entertaining. Each one of these features is carefully chosen with the thought that it will prove interesting to all or part of our readers.

Some newspapers seek to lessen the effort and expense of production by limiting their coverage of news and features. Skeletonized newspapers are cheap and easy to produce. But we prefer to offer our readers a complete newspaper. That is why you find in our columns the work of many of today's greatest newspaper names. And complete local news coverage—of course!

SUPPORT YOUR NEWSPAPER

CENTRAL FLORIDA SALES STORY IN PICTURES

● Many state and private organizations are actively promoting programs outside the state to bring people into Florida. The Florida Public Service Company is fortunate in having certain New England connections which permit it to help in the promotion of Central Florida in other states.

● Promotions outside the state are important. But promotion inside the state after visitors arrive is no less important. We who live here must see that the promises come true—that our visitors see and enjoy all the things they came to see—that they don't overlook any of Central Florida's many attractions. The price of disappointment is never to return, and the loss of a Florida booster.

● This week there is a display in our office of photographs entered in our contest. In the opinion of competent judges, they represent Central Florida's outstanding attractions.

● These photographs were selected by the judges for use in the window displays which this company has arranged in important New England cities next fall and winter. You are cordially invited to see this exhibit. It may help you to answer questions that tourists are surely going to ask you next winter, regarding things to see in Central Florida.

Florida PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY