The W. P. A. and the Airport
So the W. P. A. has quit work on the airport due to a technicality. To us it looks like another deliberate attempt to sabotage the defense program and the letters W. P. A. should stand for Wilful Pernicious Activities as we are informed they have done the same thing in other places. They claim they did what they did because the airport was leased to a private individual. But can't they get it into their thick heads this private individual, A. I. Lowick, is under government contract and working for the army under the defense program. What does it matter so long as it is for national defense and the army wants it done that way for primary training of pilots.

From all indications the W. P. A. is deliberately trying to mess up the defense program. It has been well known for some time that this particular department of the government has been having trouble with communists and other radicals and these rats should be cleaned out from every nook and corner and red blooded Americans put in their place if these policies need to be filled.

And who is this man Harlow who seems to have given the order to stop the work here. He seems to be to just a jockey politician pitched into a nice "cushy" job by his political godfather Pepper.

The sonner the W. P. A. gets right on the defense program the better off the country is going to be.

City Appointments
So Miss Tompkins wants to make more jobs for the taxpayers to pay for. If it were her own money she proposes to throw away, well and good, but the money she is part guardian of in city affairs is paid by the taxpayers and they are due some consideration at the council meeting Wednesday night as she has a typewritten list. We did not see it closely but it apparently was a list of deserving supporters waiting jobs. It looked to be "as big as your arm" and if everyone on there got a job the city would be bankrupt in a month or less.

City Committees
We were very disappointed in some of the committees named by Council President Wednesday night. Take the airport committee for instance. Both may be a good man for some things, but what does he know about the airport. There is a War who has lived it for the past two years and completely ignored. And then again the finance committee. Anderson is O. K. but there is a War again who has worked hard on a bond refunding program and knows it better than anyone else and he is ignored again. And the parks committee. The chairmanship of this is distinctly a man's job and Miss Tompkins frankly told Parke Anderson she would expect him to be around the work. Mr. DeLaney, we don't like your choice of committees and (Continued on page five)

NEW COUNCIL NAMED DELANEY AS PRESIDENT

Met Wednesday And Filled Number Of Appointive Offices With Changes In Personnel

E. A. DeLaney was elected president of the city council and S. E. Both vice-president at a brief organization meeting held Wednesday morning after Mayor M. E. Covington and the new council were sworn into office by City Clerk Louise B. Armstrong. Other members of the council are Miss Matie Tompkins, C. Parker Anderson and E. H. Ware. This will make Mayor Covington's sixth consecutive term of office.

At the meeting Wednesday evening the new council filled a large number of appointive offices. All the different appointments for the various offices were typed and council members voted by secret ballot on each office with the following results:

City Clerk and Collector: Louise B. Armstrong, four votes. Mona C. Langford, one and Gene Stippner, one.

Assistant to city clerk and tax assessor: this resulted in two votes and action was postponed. Appointive were: for assistant to city clerk, Mona C. Langford and W. T. Hall; for tax assessor, W. T. Hall and L. D. Roberts.

Chief of Police: R. A. Manney, three; J. C. McCall two and C. E. Virginia, none.

Night Policemen: J. C. McCall, five; George W. Haynes, two and Thomas A. Childers and Sam P. Robinson, none.

Five Chief: Willard Giddens, four and Ellis Green, one. Assistant Fire Chief: R. L. Williams, Jr., three; R. E. Osteen and Thomas A. Childers and Sam P. Robinson, none. Superintendent of public works: J. J. Gill, three and T. J. Hartley, two. Other appointive were: H. T. Rutledge, France Holland and L. J. McConnell.

Sanitary truck driver: Willie Williams, five; other applicants were Earl Robinson, Ernest Elder and E. E. Shumaker.

Sanitary truck helper: E. E. Shumaker, three, Ernest Elder and J. M. Bishop, one each.

Park Helpers: France Holland and J. B. Culpepper with no opposition received a unanimous vote. The application of Alton Elder as caretaker of the Tourist bungalow was postponed on request of Miss Matie Tompkins who said she did not believe this was necessary now.

Driver of city truck: Ernest Elder, three votes after several ties. Other applicants were Claude W. Elliott, J. M. Bishop, J. D. Porter, H. T. Rutledge, Richard Hill, Walter Smith, John Simpson and Earl Robinson. Hill was given the job of helper on the truck.

PHOTO CONTEST WILL AID XMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN

Amateur Photographers Are Asked To Submit Photos Of Florida Lighthouses; Prizes Offered

Plans for an amateur photographic contest, staged under the sponsorship of the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association in connection with the annual Christmas Seal Sale, were announced here today by Rev. Luther Price, Highlands County general chairman of the Seal Sale.

The contest open to all amateur photographers, will be for the best photograph of a lighthouse in Florida. The competition has been arranged to focus public attention upon the Tuberculosis Seal Sale, since this year's seal bears the imprint of a lighthouse. Prizes of $25 for the best photograph, $15 for the second best and $5 for the third best, have been offered by the Association.

Mr. Price said the State Association has sent him a number of copies of the rules governing the contest and that they are available at the Jacaranda Drug Co. and the Avon Park Drug Co. and W. C. Beckett, for all local amateur photographers, who may be interested in entering the competition.

He pointed out that there are numerous lighthouses along the coasts of Florida or on islands adjacent to the mainland. Most of them have historic backgrounds and, he added, lend themselves admirably as subjects for pictures.

All participants in the contest must submit photographs that have been taken since July 1, and the closing date has been set for Dec. 1. No art of retouching will be acceptable but enlargements from a miniature or negative may be submitted, provided it is not more than 10 inches on the longest dimension.

Girl Scouts Met Monday at Armory

The Girl Scouts met Monday evening, at 7:30 at the Armory. The evening was spent in initiating two new members, Gloria Garber and Mary Rouse.

Plans were made for a picnic for Saturday afternoon. Everyone will meet at the Armory and will hike from there to the American Legion home.

Those present at the meeting were: Mae Porter Locke, Virginia Spencer, Jerry Connell, Yvonne Head, Alice Rouse, Mary Rouse, Gloria Garber, Wanda Chandler, Retha Mixon, Barbara Jean Bridges, Winifred Archer, Betty Jo Wells, and the scout leader Mrs. Durran Martin.

DRUNKEN DRIVING REAPS ACCIDENTS

Injuries Numerous, Automobile Damage Extensive in Week-end Wrecks

Drunk driving netted extensive automobile damage, injury to a number of people, and the arrest of five drivers in the week-end accident toll.

Most destructive accident of the week was a head-on collision that the air base site Sunday morning. The automobiles, both 1941 models, were completely demolished.

Jerry Close, a passenger in a light sedan driven by E. W. Johnson of West Palm Beach, was released from a hospital Wednesday night. Close suffered from severe head injuries. The other occupants of the machine, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Johnson, suffered from minor injuries. Johnson was charged with reckless driving.

The driver of the other car was Charles M. Calhoun of Tampa, who is in jail on charge of drunken driving.

Three negroes were injured late Saturday afternoon when a 1937 light pickup truck driven by W. F. Mixon ran into a truck loaded with negroes on route to Sebring from construction work at the air base.

As a result of the accident, L. J. Summers sustained a broken arm and minor injuries. Mixon is in jail on drunken driving charges.

A Sunday morning accident occurred when a west-bound sedan driven by Mildred Register of Winter Haven ran into a concrete post in Avon Park. He and the other passenger, Joe Lewis, also of Winter Haven, sustained minor bruises. The former is out on bond on drunken driving charge and the latter on charge of drunkenness.

Two other motor vehicle operators whose licenses were revoked because of drunken driving were William Reeves of Winter Garden and Barabas Nobles. The arrests were made north of Avon Park. Michael ("Dad") Grunder's car was badly damaged Monday afternoon at Lake Placid when hit by a dump truck from the airport belonging to Long and Clark, Inc. of Lakeland. Neither driver was seriously injured.

HALLOWE'EN SOAP DRAWING BIGGER-BETTER

Mayor Makes Annual Contest County Wide With More Prizes Both Cash and Merchandise Offered

The annual Halloween soap drawing contest will be bigger and better this year, Mayor M. E. Covington says. More prizes will be offered than ever before, both cash and merchandise as a number of merchants and businessmen have promised to help swell the prize list.

The date set for the contest is Saturday, November 1 and as in the past only ivory soap will be used for the contest drawings and this will be furnished free to the contestants.

Contestants will be invited from Sebring and other communities in Highlands county and special windows will be set aside for them, the mayor says. These contestants will have to register by Saturday, October 25.

Besides the usual $25 in prizes, additional ones are announced by Mayor Covington. He personally will give a Westclox wrist watch and the following merchants have agreed to contribute prizes:

Jacaranda Drug Co.; Carter's Groceries; Charlie Lanier, 5 gallons of gas; P. S. Jordan and Son; The Barnett Bank, $3.00 in cash; The Avon Park Times, a camera; The Park Theatre, a week's pass good for two.

Further details will be announced from time to time up to the date of the contest.

In former years Avon Park has received national wide publicity from this Halloween event and with it being bigger and better this year, far more advertising is expected for the city and Mayor Covington's program for the boys and girls of the county.

P. T. A. Iron Lung Program Thursday

What promises to be an interesting program will be presented at the high school auditorium next Thursday evening under the auspices of the Avon Park P. T. A. The program is the P. T. A. participation in the Iron Lung fund and the entire proceeds will be devoted to that cause.

The high school band will have a big place on the program and Harry Brown of Sebring will tell some of the advantages of having an iron lung in Highlands county. A Red Cross representative will also speak.

Various civic organizations are contributing numbers on the program and they will include: H. G. Petrey of Haines City will give a demonstration of his Seeing Eye Dog. This is sponsored by the Lions Club. The Rotary Club will contribute a playlet entitled "The Chamber Aids" reports say this was written by A. McKee Ellwell.

The contribution from the Women's Club will be a reading by Mrs. Harold Wooten and entitled "Listen My Son" The P. T. A. will present a quartette composed of Mrs. T. J. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Garber and E. L. Roberts and also a vocal selection by Miss Clio Metcalf. The B. P. W. C. will give "Smolder and Army" by the Sebring Air Base. The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will also have parts on the program.

A collection will be taken up at the close of the program and the entire offering will go to the iron lung fund and no expenses will be deducted.

Rotarians Had Club Reunion

Avon Park Rotarians enjoyed a club assembly and rib roast Wednesday night at Hart's Desire with District Governor F. T. Hastings of Sebring as guest of honor. Messrs. Matt Pichler, Doug Perry, Glenn Whitcomb and Harold Warden were the culinary artists and gave those present barbequed spare ribs, sweet potatoes, salad and coffee.

Two new members were welcomed into the club. They were Dr. R. H. Jordan and Bill Williams.

Mrs. Lamont Wolf of Sebring spent Monday visiting friends here.

FLYING CADETS ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING

Official Welcome Will Be Given Saturday Afternoon And Flight Training To Start Monday Morning

Florida's newest flying school, the Lockheed Aviation Military Academy where U. S. Army Air Corps cadets will receive a ten week primary flight training course under the supervision of the South-east Air Corps Training Center, officially got under way at 10 A. M. today when the first class of 50 cadets checked in and were assigned to their quarters.

Approximately thirty arrived early this morning by train on a special car while the remainder arrived by automobile. Lieut. Albert P. Sights, Jr., commanding officer, said that flight training would begin Monday morning.

Elaborate plans to officially welcome the cadets to Avon Park were completed Thursday night and residents of the city were invited to be present at the ceremonies to be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 P. M. in front of the hotel barracks on the Lake Lillian side.

The cadets, in uniform, will be lined up in formation and will be officially welcomed by Mayor Covington on behalf of the city. Charles Lanier, the Master of Ceremonies will preside and will introduce the Mayor. Willard Giddens, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Earl Ware, Past President of the City Council, Robert Austin, Director of the Sebring and L. Albert P. Sights, Jr., commanding officer.

The Avon Park High School band fifty strong splendid in their uniforms and under the direction of E. L. Roberts will furnish the music.

Arrangements were being made to broadcast the affair through the facilities of radio stations WLAJ, Lakeland, and WFLA, Tampa.

Lieut. Sights, the commanding officer said that Friday and Saturday morning would be devoted to assigning the cadets to their rooms and talks by himself and staff officers explaining to them the rules and regulations as well as just what is expected of each and every man. They will be examined by Flight Surgeon James B. Hill, who arrived Wednesday. He will have charge of the medical unit which will consist of four medical corps enlisted men for the present. Lieut. Hill, from Randolph Field, Texas was born in Nashville, Tenn., and is single. He will live at the Jacaranda Hotel. Lieut. Sights' staff of officers includes Lieut. Theodore H. Watson, Air Corps Assistant Supervisor, Lieut. Clarence W. Rios, Jr., Adjutant, Lieut. Donald T. Ben-nink, Operations Officer and Engineering officer, and Lieut. Earl D. Caton, Supply Officer.

The cadets will have been assigned to the new flying school come from various parts of the country and are a fine looking lot of young men. All of them expressed their hearty approval of Avon Park, their quarters and the present barbequed spare ribs, sweet potatoes, salad and coffee.

Two new members were welcomed into the club. They were Dr. R. H. Jordan and Bill Williams.

When they finish their eleven-day Monday visiting friends here.

MAJOR M. E. COVINGTON, being sworn into office Wednesday morning by City Clerk Louise B. Armstrong. This will be the mayor's fifth consecutive term of office and he is always re-elected by substantial majorities.

Navy Recruiting Unit In Sebring

A United States Navy Recruiting Mobile Unit will be in Sebring on October 18 and 19. This unit is equipped for enlisting men, completing all pre-enlistment papers.

FLIGHT SURGEON, LIEUT. JAMES B. HILL, who will have charge of the medical unit at the new Lockheed Aviation Military Academy, has been in Avon Park before as he formerly was District surgeon for the CCC for Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. He is a graduate of the school of aviation medicine at Randolph Field, Texas.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK—Although the answers to the famous inquiry of Pontius Pilate aren't all in yet, we assign a man to discover and tell us what is truth.

Dr. James P. Baxter III, president of Williams college, takes on this office.

"Tis Said, 'Truth' for Col. William J. Donovan, co-ordinator of defense information. His job will be to screen out of the mine-run of world information the dubious, tricky or deceptive items of propaganda or distortion and deliver to the President and the state department the chemically pure raw material for policy-making. This "fact-filter" appears to be news in the world statecraft.

In the midst of a long address which Dr. Baxter delivered in 1938 was the following pertinent utterance, foreshadowing his new undertaking:

"The first element of defense is truth. Identification of the seat to get at the truth, no matter what the cost of time and effort, characterizes real education."

Is it possible that this led Colonel Donovan to his truth-seeking? In the above address and on several later occasions, Dr. Baxter denounced "defeatism," and has been a spirited advocate of a "militant democratic faith," which would not wait until it was enslaved before fighting back.

After his graduation from Williams college in 1914, Dr. Baxter tried Wall Street for two years, with the Industrial Finance corporation, and then returned to Williams and Harvard for master's and doctor's degrees. He taught history at Colorado college and Harvard and became president of Williams in 1937. With him on the new truth-seeking board are six other professors, all skilled researchers in the etymology of the propaganda bug. They have as an unofficial precedent the extensive researches of the Institute for Propaganda Analysis.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT would have approved highly of this fellow townsman of Oyster Bay, Col. Van Santford Merle-Smith, just now active in the

Always Somethin' Stirrin' Wherever Merle-Smith Goes

At Sydney, Australia, as the newly appointed naval attaché. He is tall, handsome and physically impressive, always looking for action.

At Princeton, young Merle-Smith "hit the line hard," as a backfield football star; he was a half-dozen cavalry officer on the Mexican border, and in the World War, he mixed in the fighting wherever he could find an opening, was wounded three times and was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross; he had a flag at statecraft, at The Hague and in our state department; he engaged in the rough-and-tumble of Wall Street, winning every bet, and as a yachtsman could make more out of a hat full of wind than any body on the Long Island shore.

All in all, his career would make T. R. flash a couple of octaves of teeth and yell "Bully!"

He is the son of the late Dr. Wilton Merle-Smith, who was pastor of the Brick Church of New York, and has long been active as one of the leading Presbyterian laymen. After his graduation from Princeton in 1911, he took his law degree at Harvard in 1914. He was a member of the American secretariat at the Paris peace conference, and in 1920 was appointed third assistant secretary of state.

For several years after 1925, his yacht, Seven Seas, was about as he liked to competing craft, but more recently Colonel Merle-Smith has been shore-bound by ill health.

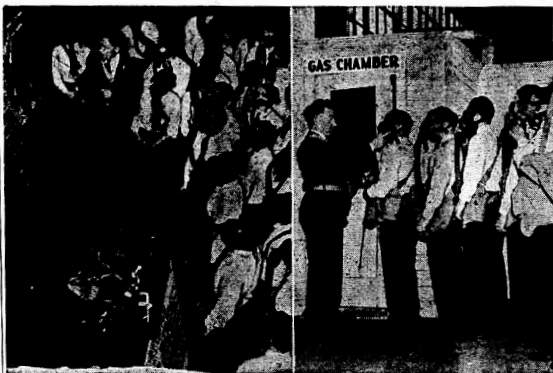

He practiced law with a distinguished New York firm, in the immediate post-war years, and entered the investment banking field about a decade ago. He is now a member of the advisory committee of the New York Trust company.

Colonel Merle-Smith is all probability will find action even in the Australian navy.

GEN. JORGE URIBO is named by a "constitutional congress" for his tenth consecutive term as president of Guatemala, his incumbency to continue until 1940.

He was first elected for a one-year term, survived two revolutions, and then set aside the constitutional limitation against more than one term. He is hard-boiled and diligent, but hasty educated and strongly pro-United States. He is startlingly like Napoleon in appearance, with a haircut like the little corporal's, understanding Napoleon in attitudes, dress.

DISPELLING THE FOG

By Charles Nicholson

Publicity Director, Democratic National Committee

Of all the absurdities, chargeable to the legislative branch of our government the pending investigation of the alleged war propaganda of the movies is probably the all-time banner product.

Senator Nye attributes the anti-Hitler films to concern for the cinema's British market, pointing out how much business Hollywood would lose if Great Britain was defeated. Whether the English bought more films than all the rest of Europe, which Hitler has closed to our movies, I do not know.

Strangely enough, the moving picture business is like all other businesses—it puts out its most available product. During the years it has filmed every thing from prehistoric troglodytes, to the supercharacters of the future. It has shown us the Knights of the Round Table, our Revolutionary heroes, the Lincoln County Cattle war, with Billy the Kid. In short, it has put on the screen everything it could think of that seemed likely to entice audiences—and has avoided everything that it feared would repel audiences. It showed the country with "God With the Wind"—despite the incidental flavor of the war between the States, and it put on Sergeant York, hero of the first World War. The York film, according to the logic of Senator Nye and his isolationist colleagues—the committee by Senator Wheeler for the investigation is four to one of that complexion—was for the purpose of stirring up hatred for Germany, and rousing America to war hysteria.

The question implied in Senator Nye's thesis is why Hollywood does not isolate itself from the simple answer is that the producers give the people what they think the people want. The Senator can quarrel, if he is so minded, with their business judgment but the doctrine of freedom of speech, etc., applies even to movies.

Sources for the Gossip, Etc.

Nobody has yet suggested a Senatorial inquiry, by anti-isolationist Senators, as to why no isolationist editorials appear in the Chicago Tribune and its affiliates, or in the Hearst publications. Yet that would be as logical as the postoffice censoring Nye and his running mates are putting on. In fact there might be a shade of better logic—if there were no such liberty of the press—or while nobody is compelled to read these newspapers or attend the movies, they do know, from the advertisements and the headlines, what film they will see when they go to a show, but they are not advised, before they pay for it, what the newspapers are going to say.

That the box-office viewpoint is not confined to the movies but is echoed by book sales is commented on sarcastically by the New York Herald Tribune, which writes that: "Of this week's best sellers, one has nothing to do with war or peace—the other nine were fear tend to create interventionist sentiment. For ten weeks now William Shirer's 'Berlin Diary' has led all the rest. For five weeks Douglas Miller's 'You Can't Do Business With Hitler' had been second choice of the readers."

There are, undoubtedly, isolationist books, and pro-Nazi books, on the shelves of the dealers, but some how the public isn't buying them, despite the grotesque reiteration by the followers of that creed that 80 per cent of our people are on their side. Curiously enough, the book-buying public, the newspaper reading public, and the moving picture public all seem to be going on the same pattern that actuated the vast majority of voters last year when they re-elected Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Presidency, though all the Nyes were proclaiming that he was a warmonger and worse.

The United States Senate has a lot of important business on hand—defense measures, tax enactments, besides the regular grid of legislation—and it would seem that the five Senators detached from their regular duties by Senator Wheeler might have been doing something more important than determining whether Charlie Chaplin was making fun or flummaging war when he strutted through the reels of that gay burlesque, "The Great Dictator."

Incidentally, what difference does it make whether the Hollywood magnates were actuated in their productions by Hitler-hatred, or box-office affection, or a mixture of both? During last year's political campaign, the picture houses showed both Democratic and Republican films, and nobody worried about their being plainly propaganda enterprises for two theories of government. Indeed, propaganda is behind practically every publication of any kind. A newspaper puts out the views of its owner though it is not unknown phenomena for the proprietor to conduct papers of opposing political faiths.

war; mass meetings are vehicles for individual causes, or for individual candidates. This letter is propaganda. Senator Clark and Senator Nye boom out their isolationist doctrine wherever they can get an audience and berate those who take a more realistic view of the nation's peril.

It is our national habit, inseparable from our freedoms. Nobody would change the system. Even the isolationists, sitting in judgment on the moving picture folk, deny that they would suppress the films to which they object.

Meanwhile, there is this comfort for Hollywood. Their pictures have received advertising they could not have bought for millions of dollars. Vast as are the aggregate audiences, a lot of people who rarely go to the movies are going to attend the showing of the films that have kicked up such a fuss. Incidentally, it is not an investigating committee; it is only a committee to determine whether the movies ought to be investigated.

If it was not for the solemnity and dignity of the Senators who have promoted the affair, some evil-minded person might attribute the whole business to the ingenuity of a Hollywood press-agent.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

BY RUSSELL KAY

One of the highest tributes ever paid to rural America is the fact that the United States Navy has seen fit to direct its national recruiting campaign to the nation's rural districts through the medium of paid advertising in country weekly and small daily papers.

No branch of our military service is more careful in the selection of its personnel or offers greater opportunities for education and advancement. From its inception the Navy has been a builder of character and a builder of MEN.

Unlike the Army, which draws men from selective service as well as through recruiting, the Navy must recruit all of its men. The nature of the service requires a longer enlistment period than selective service permits and as one naval official expresses it, "You can't make a sailor out of a man in 18 months." Faced with the problem of finding the right kind of men to man the new Navy ships which have been sliding off the ways ahead of schedule and in ever-increasing number, the Department found that the recruiting methods were not enough and that an effort would have to be made to speed up recruiting and increase enlistments not only to provide men for ships but likewise for the numerous defense bases established for the protection of the nation.

A careful check of Navy records over the years revealed the fact that the ablest and finest type of men in the service were the chaps who came from the small towns and villages—country boys, if you please. From the farms and the cross roads, Sons of hard working, God fearing men and women.

The type of training and bringing up these boys received ideally fitted them for a career in the Navy. Bright, alert, eager, respectful, strong and clean, they took to the Navy like a duck to water.

So, in need of more men, the Navy naturally turned to the field where experience revealed the best prospects were to be found. An able business man Secretary Knox looks on the Navy as a BUSINESS proposition, so in considering plans for a nationwide enlistment campaign, he decided to tackle the problem in a businesslike manner.

Instead of flooding the press with requests and demands for free publicity and patriotic cooperation, he turned to Benton, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Inc., one of the nation's foremost advertising agencies, and instructed them to build an advertising campaign for the Navy just as they would for General Motors, Coca-Cola or any other industrial organization, but designed particularly to reach the richest field in America—small towns and rural districts.

The campaign in Florida opened last week with paid advertisements of a thousand lines each, appearing in every newspaper published in towns of under 20,000 population. It is the largest advertising campaign ever conducted by any organization and because it is carefully and intelligently planned and is directed accurately to the prospect through the most influential and forceful medium in America today, the "Country Press" it will succeed and Uncle Sam will find his investment productive and profitable. The Navy again will have "led the way" with an example of efficiency that other departments of government may well follow.

In its recognition of Rural America and the Country Press, the Navy has made an investment of "good will" that alone is worth many times the cost of the entire campaign, even if no recruits were secured. But I predict that this advertising, backed by the enthusiastic support of every country editor and every rural community, will produce amazing results and that when the smoke has cleared away Florida will give the Navy more than her share of men.

A career in the Navy is one of the greatest opportunities open to the young man of America today. Not only does it afford good pay, good food, health and character building routine, free clothing, best medical care, travel, adventure and thrills, but it also teaches a man to be self-reliant, self-sufficient and through special training to make a comfortable living and become a useful citizen when his enlistment period is over. It gives a man a background he will value and treasure all the rest of his life. Ask your editor for a copy of "Life in the U. S. Navy" and learn the facts about the advantages and opportunities it offers.

NEW COUNCIL NAMED DELANEY AS PRESIDENT

The new council named Delaney as president.

City attorney was casually mentioned but no action taken except that Pres. Delaney said he opposed hiring a regular city attorney. The need of a man to look after the pump at Highlands Lakes water works was discussed and Anderson said he did not consider the city owns the plant and Ware expressed the same view.

There were several discussions and motions made during the talking on the applications. Miss Tompkins moved that the position of assistant city clerk and tax assessor be separated from that time.

Ware moved that filling of the office of superintendent of public works be postponed until the duties can be outlined and something worked out for a combination job that would pay a living wage. The same vote lineup was again in evidence but this time Delaney voted against the motion, and broke the tie.

Ware moved to vote on the position of assistant to the city clerk job. Anderson and Ware, no Delaney declined to vote to break the tie. Ware then moved that these two jobs be combined as at present. The same lineup in voting resulted and Delaney again declined to vote.

TODAY'S pattern is a new one-piece style which has every feature the fashion-wise school girls of today crave. The longer top, middy shaped, with the smart turn-down collar—and four-in-

Half a teaspoonful of soda added to boiling frosting will keep it from being runny.

A serve yourself center piece for the table is a time saver. Gaily decorated a large platter of cold meat, salads and hard cooked eggs, with relishes, buttered bread slices and dabs of jelly or jam.

To get the best service from felt hats, brush them frequently with a soft brush (not a stiff wire brush) with the grain of the felt.

If your family likes variety, add a little spice to your picnics. A quarter teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves will be enough for each 1 1/2 cups of flour. It is very good with fresh fruit or berry pies.

A leftover hint—Cover a casserole of savory macaroni and cheese, or spaghetti and tomato sauce, with chopped cooked ham blended with a dash of onion. Bake until hot clear through and serve.

Vinegar added to dried glass will make it usable again.

Put a drop or two of oil or some soap on those squeaky door hinges.

Fragrances must be dry when ironed. It will spot and streak if ironed when damp.

ACYCLE OF HUMAN BETTERMENT

ADVERTISING gives you new ideas, and also makes them available to you at economical cost. As these new ideas become more accepted, prices go down. As prices go down, more persons enjoy new ideas. It is a cycle of human betterment, and it starts with the printed words of a newspaper advertisement.

THE STORY SO FAR: Larry Cutler fell in love with Jacqueline Anthony, public stenographer at the Hotel Maynard, by watching her from the lobby. In an effort to meet Jack—as Jacqueline was called—he dictated an imagi-

"Vince"—that was the name Jacques bestowed upon her parent almost as soon as she was able to talk—was quite the most charming companion a child could know.

"And Vince?"

"There was no answering outburst. Vince assumed a politely injured air; if Jacqueline wished to throw aside the leisure and riches he was about to give her . . . After all, it was his money."

"What?"

In some fashion, the day dragged to an end.

morrow (vv. 32, 33). "Your heavenly Father knows that ye have need of all these things" (v. 32). Does not that settle the whole future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands, what could we do about it? Tomorrow with its joys and sorrows will not yet be here, and when it does come, God will be here as a loving Father to graciously provide for every moment of it.

What then shall we do? Verse
