

Highlands Tax Rate Sliced Eleven and One-Half Mills

Eleven and a half mills reduction in county taxes is the mark set by Highlands county's commissioners. The new budget and levy just completed shows a total of forty-six and seven-eighths mills in the Avon Park and Sebring districts and around thirty mills in the far south section of the county. The valuation is approximately 15 to 20 per cent. It is the second year of the new county—the first year's millage having been fifty-nine mills. The state levy brings the total in Avon Park and Sebring to fifty-seven and a half mills.

And with the huge reduction two new items have been added—an agriculture fund from a half mill levy and a special indebtedness fund of two and a half mills. Indebtedness against the county accruing from the purchase of equipment, books, and stationery, etc., which the county began business.

The general county levy includes eight mills for roads and ten for the schools, which have plenty of funds on hand and are not in need of any additional funds. The general revenue fund is five mills; widow's fund is three-eighths of a mill and the time and forfeiture fund only a half mill—it having a large surplus on hand now, due to the co-operation between the arresting, prosecuting and sentencing branches of the county. Sheriff Bob Hancock, Prosecutor Lawrence and Judge D. V. Rouse seem to believe in making the guilty pay well.

The general county levy is twenty-six and seven-eighths mills. The Avon Park and Sebring districts have a special levy of twenty mills each—three for school district, twelve for road bonds, holding over from the old No. 2 district of DeSoto county, and a five-mill levy for maintenance of roads.

The total levy—state, county and district—for the Bassenger section, will be fifty-seven and a half mills; the Venus neighborhood, forty and a half mills; the Hicoria and Lake Childs section, fifty and a half mills; the DeSoto City-Istokopa section, fifty-seven and a half mills; the Lake Stearns park, fifty and a half mills; the Indian Prairie county, south of Lake Stearns, fifty and a half mills.

All of these represent reductions from the previous year.

The commission also thought there will not be an item alleged through the reductions—sensible economy and a clean-cut business administration of affairs by the various county officers being given credit, making the cost possible.

The commission itself has been making road money go further than it has ever gone before and the general fund cannot have the treacherous "first year" of the county's history with a balance on the right side of the ledger.

Of course, if the county bonds to build the base for State Road No. 8, the coming year will carry a large portion of the sinking fund levy can be taken care of from what is now new money for general road maintenance and extension—a total of thirteen mills in the Avon Park and Sebring districts and eight to fifteen in the other districts. A levy of only ten mills, graduated according to the year progressed, would take care of the interest and retire a $300,000 bond issue (about the county limit right now) in thirty years. Almost ten mills of the present levy goes on keeping up what the county has added additional levy for a bond issue would not be great.

But, getting back to the coming year's levy—the special indebtedness levy will clean off the floating debt of the county—leaving a credit of indebtedness except bonds. It will amount probably, but it will be added to the school along with a few extra mills to provide for further development of the school system in keeping with the development planned for this year.

The assessed valuation of the county is $2,300,000 and the general county millage will net $77,800.

KILLED A BEAR

One member of the Bruin colony at Istokopa is missing this week as a result of the deadly micro-manipulation of one, Leon Milton, assistant-chief to Henry Krus, a newspaper editor. He was killed by a bear, a bullet from a .44 Colt caliber, which was shot at a comparatively short distance and the bullet took effect in the chest of the bear, who was with two others, was feeding near the mouth of Istokopa creek.

Several others in the party have tried thus far unsuccessfully to bag members of the somewhat numerous bear settlement around the Istokopa section, but Leon thus far has been the only lucky one.

The bear was properly butchered and distributed to those who relish bear meat. In fact, D. I. Meyer, owner of Meyer's Cafe, took advantage of the killing to offer roast bear as a part of his regular menu on Thursday.

SWIMMING PARTY

The public pier at Lake Jackson was the scene of a swimming party of happy girls Wednesday night. The group included Misses Mary Correll and Edna Saunders, Ellen Heckock, Orval McLeod, Espare Rogers and Annie Laurie Etheredge.

HOW TO SAFEGUARD THE PUBLIC AGAINST THE SPOILED CANNED FOOD

Food dealers may safeguard the public against unwholesome foods by making careful inspections of all lots received before they are offered for sale, says the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture. Although the food-canning industry is now so well developed that most of the products put up in this way are safe and good, the safety of the consumer may be still further increased if the retailer keeps in mind the following suggestions:

Inspect every container when you open the case. No "swell," "springer," "dipper" or "leaker" should be accepted or sold by you. In glass, examine the cover and the seal, inside the container, for signs of spoilage. Do not tolerate any spoiled product upon your shelves. If a lot shows many swells, reject the lot. Do not take the responsibility of sorting out a lot of cans and selling those apparently good.

You are entitled to demand a well-stocked and clean container, with a good vacuum, with clean and bright metal.

Your customers are entitled to the same protection. Even a single can should prevent the sale of a can to a customer.

No spoil can should ever be reprocessed.

The removal of every container showing a sign of swell will go a long way toward preventing food poisoning.

Rigorous withdrawal of all packs showing extensive spoilage is imperative.

BETTER PROGENY BY CULLING

That culling the poultry flock to get rid of all those birds except the vigorous, prolific layers results in noticeable improvement in the progeny is shown by recent investigations at the United States experiment farm, Beltsville, Md. The test mongers selected from the Rhode Island flock in the fall of 1921 laid seven more eggs per bird than the average of the original flock as pullets. They were used as breeders the following spring and the result was a 10 per cent increase in the number of pullets to commence laying in the fall of 1922.

Manahall states that the situation was serious last winter because of slow tax payment and especially in Sebring, where the tax levied had been exhausted by supplementing teachers' salaries. He says the entire school district is now in a state of financial distress and that the levy had been exhausted by supplementing teachers' salaries. CLUB BOYS' SUCCESS POINTS

Their cash crop, alfalfa, threatened with weed from a neighboring county and consequent quarantine, farmers of Fernley community in Lyons county, Nevada, have collected the alfalfa for some other crop to grow for sale. One farmer recalled that the alfalfa was being grown by the club boys according to methods shown them by the club boys. The alfalfa was harvested from nine to 13 tons an acre. He was so favorably impressed with the alfalfa that he decided to lease 40 acres of alfalfa land, planted potatoes, and obtained eight to nine tons an acre. Other farmers became interested, and in 1921, 300 acres of potatoes were grown in the community.

AIRPLANE PASSENGER SERVICE IN EUSTIS

"Airplane service to any point in the state can now be secured in Eustis," remarks the Lake Region. Referring to two aviators who have charge of the aviation field and have two excellent planes available for passenger travel, the Lake Region says: "The gentlemen are experienced flyers and have the confidence of a large number of citizens who have had the opportunity of flying with them. Trips over the city and county and to any point in the state can be made. This sort of a service would have been regarded as the writing of a crazy check a few years ago, but now it is only a reality because it shows the very commendable enterprise of Eustis in having the air service added to its well-known rail, water and highway accommodations. The only drawback is that the service is underground route—and as such a thing would mean that the service is not a long time."

MOORE HAYMEN MEN ON BOND

A. B. McFar and E. A. McFar, who are accused of the murder of their father at Moore Haven about a month ago, are being held for the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 each, after being arrested in Tampa and taken to their former home in Glades county.

Board of Trade Meeting Tuesday

The following letter from Capt. A. Binger, secretary of the local board of trade, is self-explanatory and needs no comment:

"Publishers Highlands County Messenger, Sebring White Way, Fla.
"Owing to regular meetings of town council and board of trade being scheduled for the first Tuesday of each month, there was no board of trade meeting called for Aug. 1. A call will be made for a meeting Tuesday night, Aug. 7, at 8 o'clock, at the board of trade room. Postal card notices will be sent and any advance publicity you may give will be appreciated.
"There has been a lack of interest manifested in board of trade matters, but if all the business people of Sebring would interest themselves to learn what we are trying to accomplish, and if anyone would like to visit with us most any day and follow the work we are doing, I believe they would see matters in a different light.
"In order that regular monthly meetings might be changed so as to fall on a date other than that of council meeting, it might be well to say that so much of our by-laws will come up for amendment and it is hoped that this notice will serve the purpose of that viewpoint, and it is hoped that we are almost a charitable organization, so I'm not submitting a write-up; just the above bit of information, so that you may, or may not, choose to BOOST in your own language the meeting for next Tuesday night.
A. BINGER."

Belated Tax Collections Made Surplus After Subscriptions

Replying to questions as to the status of the school funds now as compared to last February, when it was feared the schools might have been in a financial straits, Superintendent V. W. Marshall states that the need for funds at that time was due to slow payment of taxes and general estimates that fully 10 per cent of the taxes would not be paid, thus cutting the school funds in half. In fact, however, the collections now made, there was about $4,000 more due the board than it would have been if the schools had been intended to borrow against last year's taxes. The board would not allow the superintendent to borrow against last year's taxes. The board would not allow the superintendent to borrow against last year's taxes.

Marshall states that the situation was serious last winter because of slow tax payment and especially in Sebring, where the tax levied had been exhausted by supplementing teachers' salaries. He says the entire school district is now in a state of financial distress and that the levy had been exhausted by supplementing teachers' salaries.

The entire situation sums up in the fact that more taxes were collected than was estimated could be collected, and that the school funds were not in a state of financial distress. The school funds were not in a state of financial distress.

In other words the usually heavy payment of taxes acted as a windfall—though belated—and has helped to put the school system on a strong financial basis for the future. And Dr. R. H. Marshall, president of the board, says that the school funds are now in a state of financial distress.

Commencing Sunday night the Baptists of Sebring will commence a series of revival services, with Dr. M. H. Marshall, pastor, assisting the pastor. Rev. Preston Crews. As Dr. Bennett will be unable to attend Monday, Rev. Crews will deliver the first sermon himself while the night service will be conducted by Evangelist Will H. McLeod, who is spending a brief rest spell with his family at their home.

Dr. Bennett, who will preach throughout next week, is conceded to be one of the best ministers of his denomination in the state. At Plant City, where he is pastor, he preaches to large crowds at every service, and the men's Bible class of that church is said to be the largest denomination.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF SEBRING OFFERS A STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

In fact of the statement that the school board managed to realize a surplus of some $4,000 in the general fund, at the close of the fiscal year, which surplus is explained in an interview with the county superintendent, the following statement from the school committee, which was called upon to collect the local taxes, is given:

Sebring, Fla., Aug. 3, 1922. Publishers Highlands County Messenger, Sebring White Way, Sebring, Fla.
Gentlemen: It has come to the attention of the committee who had in charge the soliciting of subscriptions and collecting the amounts subscribed for financing the Sebring school during the seventh and eighth months of last year's school term that there has come to surface some doubt, question, argument or contention as to the amount raised and how disbursed, and in order that the public may have the facts disclosed, we have decided to make a public statement through your respective papers with this matter, the columns of your papers issued on or about May 12 or 13 will show the facts of the case.

That report shows a total subscription of $3,036.27; total amount of cash collected, $2,746.27; with a standing note for $10, and unpaid subscriptions amounting to $250. Of the $2,746.27 collected, $2,673.27 was deposited in the Bank of Sebring to credit of county school funds, $27 was expended by the committee for service and supplies required to keep the school going and which is charged against the county school fund. $150 went for postage and stationery necessary in collection of amounts subscribed. $7 cents was paid for a telegram to F. A. Sebring and 83 cents for the first of November. The first was conducted by Evangelist O. O. Roberts and resulted in the collection of $1,000. The second, shortly after the church was organized, the present pastor, Rev. Crews, was called to the church and the church has enjoyed a phenomenal growth. The church is generally well known and the leadership it is said to be nothing out of the ordinary for the same condition to apply to the regular midweek prayer services.

A cordial invitation is extended to everybody in Sebring to attend and take part in the services throughout the coming week.

SOLVE THE WINTER FEED PROBLEMS BY PLANTING HAY AND FORAGE CROPS

"Crops of cowpeas, sorghum, Spanish peanuts, and beggarweed sown during July will keep the land from laying idle, and will also help solve the feed problems this fall and winter," says W. E. Stokes, forage specialist.

Late plantings as a rule do not yield as high as earlier plantings. However, if the land is thoroughly prepared, and in the case of sorghums a little fertilizer applied, very good results may be received.

Brannan and Iron cowpeas planted in July in close rows and watered a time or two, will come off handily after the rainy season is over, giving a product if properly handled superior in feeding value to most any that is shipped into the state.

Spanish peanuts may be planted in July in 24 inch rows and allowed to grow to four inches in the drill. They should be worked with a weeder before the plants are 10 inches high, and with a small weeder, pushing a little dirt up to the vines. The vines should be cut and the nuts for hog feed, or let them remain in the field to be harvested by the hogs alone.

Built barnyard seed sowed at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds per acre should be drilled in rows and cultivated every six to eight days, and furnish excellent grazing and hay for fall cutting.

Late planted sorghum requires good preparation of the land, ample fertilizer and thorough cultivation. It should be drilled in rows and cultivated as you would corn. Where an earlier planting has been made a second crop can be had by fertilizing and cultivating the stubble after the first crop has been cut.

NEW AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION BULLETINS

Great interest is being shown in the development of a commercial agriculture in Sebring, and it is evidenced by the increased number of inquiries coming into the College of Agriculture, University of Florida, and from the many reports of success with this fruit in the state.

One of the latest bulletins, bulletin No. 35, is the title of a new extension bulletin by Prof. P. L. Lord of the College of Agriculture. This bulletin deals with the history of grape growing in Florida, soils, propagation, pruning, training, cultivation, fertilization, and marketing.

Several impromptu readings were also given. The Mispah class presented a play, "The Mispahs," a basket of flowers and served refreshing sherbet and home-made cake.

SEVEN RESPONSES

Publishers Highlands County Messenger, Sebring White Way.

The call for information by individual citizens, as per the coupons published in last week's issue of your papers, seems to have been abundantly received, as there have been only seven replies returned. These reporting the names of the following: Mr. J. L. McMurphy, B. L. Laird, D. S. Swarts, Chas. McCandless and Mrs. David C. McLeod.

Kindly use your own judgment about continuing the coupon for another week, as we are not sure how very much as though our people are not interested.

MISSIONARY SING

Mrs. C. F. Saunders was hostess to the Home Association of Sebring Tuesday evening at her home on Ridge-wood. The program consisted of a singing, a play, a story, and a prayer. Ellen Heckock and several interesting readings on missionary work. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. O. D. Kirk conducted the devotional exercises. Mrs. Saunders and her friends wish them a very happy and successful year.

STORY HOUR

Mrs. Tom Mitchell entertained about twenty-five little folks Wednesday afternoon at the library by telling stories and playing games. The names of the stories she told were "One Eye, Two Eyes, Three Eyes," "Bluebird," "How Maple Sugar Was Discovered," "The Whimsy of the Whimsy," and "The Whimsy of the Whimsy."

BILAND—CREWS

Bernard Biland and Miss Pearl Crews surprised their Sebring friends by getting married at Lakeland last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Biland will make Sebring their home. The Messenger has a friend who wish them a prosperous and happy married life.

SILK INDUSTRY GROWING

The American Silk Industry of St. Augustine is planning to establish feeding stations in Lakeland and five other towns to be decided upon later. Polk county is considered a very fine field, owing to the easy growth of the mulberry, which is the silk worm's food. Dr. Thomas DePamphilis, manager and director of the industry in Florida, has brought this industry up to the "A-1" standard during his 25 years in Florida.

YOUNGSTERS TO RAISE STOCK

One hundred and thirty-six boys and girls were enrolled in agricultural extension club at Lakeland for training in various phases of live stock work. The junior members of the club are 12 to 14 years of age, and the senior members are 15 to 18 years of age. A total value of $9,003.176.

Sebring Baptists to Enjoy Special Services for Week

Commencing Sunday night the Baptists of Sebring will commence a series of revival services, with Dr. M. H. Marshall, pastor, assisting the pastor. Rev. Preston Crews. As Dr. Bennett will be unable to attend Monday, Rev. Crews will deliver the first sermon himself while the night service will be conducted by Evangelist Will H. About the Ball Team

Our baseball team has lost a few games and we know, but why the howl that some of our so-called fans are putting up? The boys have played clean ball and at least half of the time they have played good ball. Not one outsider has appeared in their lineup and that is something that cannot be said of any team they have played against this year. It is no disgrace to lose to the best of any two towns in South Florida, just as long as we know that our team is a Sebring team. True, we all love a winner, but losers who never give up, surely the boys surely the boys, surely the best there is in a man, it is the way he accepts a defeat. The same is true of baseball.

Enforce the Speed Laws

Chief Dottery informs us that he is going to see to it that our speed laws are enforced. Even though we consider ourselves a potential offender, we are obliged to congratulate the chief upon his determination to uphold the law. Our limit of fifteen miles on a straight-away and ten miles around the one-way circle seems to be too limited, but the best way to get rid of an undesirable law is to enforce it. Many towns larger than Sebring are low twenty miles an hour outside of their immediate business districts and one which we have in mind (Orlando) allows twenty-five. However, our particular limits may be the very ones in Sebring's individual case. As it is, the chief is obliged to insist on the hick-down warning of "go slow and see our town or go fast and see our mayor."

Congratulations

It remained for Leon Milton, meat-store-chief of Henry Kraus to bug old Bush after a number of more or less renowned hantemen had tried for him in vain. Good work, Leon boy, and congratulations.

A WORD TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

The Messenger is in Sebring to stay. It was started here for the purpose of satisfying a very urgent demand for an up-to-date and independent newspaper. It is the purpose of the present management to see that it continues to satisfy that demand just as long as the demand exists.

The Messenger is not an organ in any sense of the word. It is a newspaper. Perhaps some few issues have fallen short of what you consider a real newspaper; in fact, we admit that we have been dissatisfied with the result of our efforts in this respect. But on the whole, we believe that a majority of our subscribers will agree with us that the Messenger, when measured by the generally accepted standards of journalism, is the nearest approach to a real newspaper that Sebring has ever had.

With the issue of last week, our first year of publication ended. A large majority of our subscribers "got in" on the first issue and consequently their subscriptions for the first year have expired.

We dare not be so bold as to expect every one of our subscribers to renew. We shall be surprised, however, if less than 50 per cent. do. We do not want your subscription unless you feel that the paper is worth it as to think that to get their two dollars' worth they must needs dictate to the editor as to his policy in regard to every matter that comes up. If there be any of that class we are glad that their subscriptions have expired. All we await is notice from them to cut their names from our mailing list. On the other hand we believe that the large majority will promptly renew their subscriptions as a recommendation of the clearly outlined policy of the Messenger under its present management.

For the purpose of hearing our books, we have enclosed following the bill of the Messenger a list of subscribers whose subscriptions expire during the present month to slip and fill out.

Labor and Capital

We are rather inclined to sympathize with Labor in that it was forced to organize against the granaries of Capital, but until some of the atrocious acts of the Labor Union during the present railway men's strike are cleared up by a convincing and complete denial from the union heads, much of our one-time sympathy and respect for the workman has vanished.

The more we live and learn, the more we become convinced that the average man belongs to by far the greatest class which is related to labor and Capital is between the devil and the deep blue sea—the Public.

me to the committee when I made a final report on May 12, 1922. Without thought on my part as to reward or compensation from them for my services, they unanimously voted the balance of $88.70 to me for services rendered.

The report was not given out at that time for publication for reason that committee did not wish to embarrass subscribers who failed to pay their subscriptions. In conclusion, had it not been that $217.48 of county funds became available during collection of these subscriptions and which was applied to payment of teachers, we would have faced a deficit of $128.78.

The original papers are now on file at a board of trade, and may be examined by any one who subscribed and not a part of all of their subscriptions.
