AVON PARK'S HISTORY 1885 TO 1896

BY ITS FOUNDER, O. M. CROSBY

Ten Railroad Projects
Had you space I would like to tell you of ten railroad projects, especially No. 8, when I entertained a certain lawyer and promoter from Chicago, introduced by Mr. Ryan, but Mr. Ryan fully believed in them and was in no wise to blame otherwise. These Chicago men represented to me they could and would furnish the capital to build and equip a railroad and for weeks I drove over the proposed route, securing pledges of land, etc. Then, finally, they demanded $12,500 of my Florida Development Company 10-per-cent dividend paying stock, as my share of its cost. When I casually asked what guarantee I would have that the road would then be built, they said: "Oh, you will have to trust us for that." "Gentlemen, have you been here these weeks to work me for a sucker?" I replied.

The promoter, I am told, had to pawn his watch to get back to Chicago. This was in the summer of 1894.

Col. H. S. Haines, vice-president of the Plant system, invited me to Tampa to accompany him in his private car to New York City the summer of 1895. On the way talked railroad for Avon Park and he said he would propose to Mr. Plant on arrival that they would furnish the rails, engine and cars if we would tie and graft the road. Mr. Plant, however, refused to endorse the project. No. 9 was laid away to rest with the others. No. 10 had been alluded to by Mr. Lee, when, in our desperation, Mr. Burleigh declared a log road was far better than none at all. Clark D. Knapp (not O. M. Crosby, Mr. Lee) was elected president of the new company. A log railroad locomotive entered the Park the day from Bowling Green. This was placed on 4x8 timber rails and five miles were operated to bring logs to the mill and lumber to the town. And all this happened in the summer of 1895, or after the freeze. "What luck, what nerve! 'Better nerve than judgment,' I'll admit."

"Ye shall reap if ye faint not," I kept quoting that dreadful year, but the financial situation grew worse as our notes fell due. Nothing came from Mr. Bacon and the $50,000 sale of stock was cancelled.

Mrs. A. R. Dodge of Jacksonville had, I think, $3,000 in Florida Development Company stock and had endorsed so she had to pay a $5,000 note (the maker had defaulted). Mr. McBride of Rochester, N. Y., and DeLand, Fla., had loaned me $5,000 to replace another defaulted note and gave him a mortgage on Hotel Verona, which was later foreclosed. C. C. Chollar claimed the Avonland block for the $5,000 he had mother had invested in our stock. The $2,500 steam printing plant was lost by a small mortgage. The entire assets of the Florida Development Company were later sold by sheriff sale and bid in by Mrs. A. R. Dodge.

The Wind-Up
Jan. 6, 1896, the last meeting of the Florida Development Company was held—a sad one, indeed, in contrast with the glowing of about a year before. Judge Hanson of Tampa to whom I had gone for advice, said I could do no more to save the company and was myself on the verge of a mental collapse. He advised me to resign, which I did, and Lawyer Clark D. Knapp was elected president in my place. Then, with but ten dollars in my pocket, with no income or means even to take my wife and daughter away, I reached New York City on a guess, with two dollars in my pocket to begin life anew. Dr. A. L. Blue a day or two later found me on the verge of pneumonia, took me to his boarding house and cared for me for a year or more. In July I secured steamship passage for Mrs. Crosby and my daughter, who joined me there, where I solicited life insurance in the heartless city among strangers for ten years. Mrs. Crosby returned to Avon Park in the fall of 1896 and I did not see her but one week in twenty months. Why? Listen and read in admiration of her work.

Of the 421 open land installment accounts on the books of the Florida Development Company were 100 or more, representing 1,000 acres selected by the buyers, outside the 4,000 or more acres I had fully paid for, explained. The title to these lands was in jeopardy unless $5,000 could be collected on these accounts and paid to the Disston Company, when their titles would be perfected. It took twenty months for Mrs. Crosby to do this—twenty months of patient waiting with an impatient lot of purchasers. We meanwhile lived in privation, while my daughter taught in a private school in New York. I was crushed, alone in New York among strangers, often penniless and with a mediant attitude fatal to success as I solicited for life insurance.

I realize here that I have omitted a very important matter that should have been told in its proper place, viz., the summer of 1895.

The Philadelphia Land Company had not paid taxes on their Florida lands for two years and the book of Florida statutes I owned—new laws—stated that good and sufficient title would be granted by the state to purchasers, after the two-year lapse. Now, why should I pay $5 per acre to Philadelphia, when I could secure title for two years' taxes from the state at Tallahassee? My attorney agreed with me, I borrowed the money necessary on my life insurance, went to the capital, paid this money for over 2,000 acres, took my deed to the governor (Mitchell), who signed it, only to be informed later that my title was to be the Philadelphia companies had later paid up their back taxes, but I was never refunded this by the state.

This further explains the "flaws in titles" Mrs. Crosby and I have so often been called on to correct, which we have cheerfully done, as well as paid for these lands twice over.

The long story is closed, long as it is, yet is too short to tell all I would. Your space, Mr. Editor, forbids. It has not your polish, Mr. Lee, for I have tried to save words and space, regardless of style, but I have been paid 5 cents per word for recent magazine articles on "Salesmanship" and given many lectures on "Psychology" to such expert salesmen as National Cash Register, Burroughs's Adding Machine, Heintz 27 salesmen, and without pay to churches, schools, clubs, etc., the past ten years, since coming to Pittsburgh. I never had and never expect now to have more than a bare living at my age (69) and shall never cease to regret that I was unable to complete what I believed to be my life's work in developing the place I founded, named and loved—beautiful Avon Park.

God bless you all.

(The End)

GOVERNMENT TO ABANDON PRICE REGULATION

NOVEMBER FIRST
The government drive against the high cost of living, which has been set for Nov. 1, has cost approximately $500,000, according to figures at the department of justice, which has sent letters to all the fair price groups, notifying them of the commission of the campaign.

Department officials said the drive had been successful, but that lack of funds had forced the decision to dissolve the organization built up for the war on profiteers. They pointed out to collection of fines aggregating more than $275,000, assessed against convicted profiteers, as evidence of the success attained. Further fines might be collected, it was added, from the more than 1,600 persons and firms indicted through activities of the fair price groups.

Convictions obtained through the fair price commissions totaled 181, records of the department showed. There remain more than 200 other cases where arrests have been made, but the trials have not been held. Prison sentences imposed aggregate ten years and ten months in cases already decided. Officials said this represented more than forty convictions since most of the sentences were short.

A CORRECTION

"Bellevue, Pa., Oct. 11, 1920.

"Dear Mr. Editor:
"Your linotype, in the end of my Avon Park history of Oct. 1, made me tell a 'whoop' viz.: 'One hundred dollars down and $1 a month, 24 months, buys best 1-acre lot.' Should have been 'One dollar down,' etc. Also read 'Five dollars down,' etc., in place of 'fifty' on 10-acre tracts. 'I did not return from my second trip to Enclosed in 1881, but 1891, when the Florida Development Company was incorporated (1891). Please correct. Enclose check for $2 to renew my subscription on expiration. You are doing a grand work."

"Very truly,
O. M. Crosby."

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Subscribers are advised that the date opposite their names indicates the time their subscriptions will expire. Subscriptions are payable in advance and there is no exchange of the rule. Patronize our advertisers.

Election a week from next Tuesday.

Color and sweetness being added to our citrus fruits every day.

Plenty of quail in the woods and hunting season only four weeks off.

A vote for the small bond issue is a vote for a larger and more attractive town.

Avon Park automobile drivers should remember that persons who killed every thirty minutes by auto and govern themselves accordingly.

Geel but things must be booming over in Arcadia. With two reporters on the street last week the first prize secured just an even dozen local news items.

Ladies, don't forget to register for the town election. There are women candidates on the town ticket. You will also want to express your views concerning the park.

Isn't it about time to cast about for good timber to fill vacancies that may possibly occur in town offices. Some of the present officials may not again be candidates.

Josephus Daniels recently donated a sack and picked cotton with 300 Scotch lassies. Almost any Florida lass could induce a sack of cotton, even if he had no sack to don.

A town with a one and one-half million dollar valuation should not balk at a twenty-thousand-dollar bond issue, especially when it is for an improvement that means so much for the town.

The advertisements contained in The Pilot are good reading matter and in many cases points out the way to big savings in your purchases. Read them carefully from week to week and profit thereby.

The Apalachicola Times wonders "if there are any fat jobs in prospect if the state bonds are now being effective." Did you ever see anyone breaking his neck to force such an issue if there were not some fat job in connection therewith?

Next month The Pilot will have completed the first year of its existence—always the hardest year for a new publication, and conditions have been extremely trying. Several thousand weekly newspapers have gone out of existence during this time, but we have enjoyed a splendid patronage, which we can assure you has been appreciated.

Hereafter obituary notices, other than those we see fit to write, and cards of thanks will be charged for at the rate of one cent a line. No exceptions will be made to this rule. Cards of thanks are purely advertising matter, the patron using the columns of the paper to save writing or personally seeing those it is desired to thank. They are of no value as news matter. Obituaries, as a rule, are sent to the newspapers for publication, in order that relatives and friends may have a record.

In a news item referring to Mrs. P. B. Frizzell's name being placed on the ticket as a candidate for the office of county clerk, the DeSoto County News emphasizes the fact that the petition was signed by J. E. Bowdoin, defeated candidate for chief of police of Arcadia. We are informed that Mr. Bowdoin was not the only defeated candidate signing the petition and that among the names appeared that of Lem Sauls, the anti-unionist candidate for representative.

The first woman to announce her name as a candidate for public office in DeSoto County since Mrs. P. B. Frizzell of Murdock, who is an aspirant for the office of clerk of the circuit court. Mrs. Frizzell's announcement appears elsewhere in The Pilot. Owing to the fact that women had not been granted suffrage when the primary election was held, Mrs. Frizzell has been compelled to enter the race as an independent candidate, but she explains in her announcement that she is and always has been a democrat.

In this issue we close O. M. Crosby's supplemental history of Avon Park. In the closing words, if Mr. Crosby has stated facts, it is shown that the state of Florida did him a great injustice, by accepting payment of delinquent taxes on about 2,600 acres of land, granting him a deed to same and afterward that the title was no good, owing to the fact that the delinquents had later paid the taxes and refused to re-surrender Mr. Crosby's money. If such is the case our next legislature should take the matter up and see that justice is done Mr. Crosby.

PURE "TOMMYROT"

A state-wide, connected system of good roads in Florida will do the railroads considerable harm, because good roads mean more commercial traffic and less use of cars and trucks and more touring cars mean less freight and passenger cars. The railroads, through their well-known organs and through the aid of a desperate fight to defeat the proposed constitutional amendment. These organs and through the aid of a desperate fight to defeat the proposed constitutional amendment. These organs and through the aid of a desperate fight to defeat the proposed constitutional amendment.

The narrowness of the above picture in the charges made before the last primary election by the two of our Catts organs in the state is so manifestly untrue, supporting Duncan U. Fletcher for the United States senate and Cary A. Harbo for governor, who were controlled by the "interests." Such statements are only made by a few extremists, who hope to be personally by the defeat of public men and measures that will benefit the large majority of the people. We are surprised that Editor Garrett should place himself in the same category with these extremists by exploiting such a narrow-minded viewpoint.

Editor Garrett knows, if he knows anything at all, that the railroads, in the present deplorable condition, are unable to handle either the freight or passenger traffic in a manner satisfactory to the general public. He also knows that railroad officials are not so indiscreet as to benefit the entire public, thus adding fuel to the flames of an already existing fire. He also knows that the state of Florida controlled in any manner whatsoever by the "railroad interests."

Such charges as are contained in the Herald's editorial paragraph are "tommyrot" of the rankiest kind and only made to divert attention from the real issue.

It would be the height of folly for the electors of Florida to delegate unto the legislature of this state the power to issue at any time it saw fit bonds against the state in a sum not to exceed 5 per cent of the state's valuation, and that is exactly what the electors will do if the constitutional amendment is ratified. It could create an orgy of extravagance unparalleled in the history of any state and saddle upon our taxpayers a bonded indebtedness that would for many years to come keep investors out of the state.

There are very few newspapers in the state supporting the amendment, because according to legal technicalities, a high character of the ratification would place in the hands of the legislature of the state the power to not only bond the state for 5 per cent of its assessed valuation until it had been bonded for the proposed $20,000,000, but would allow it to continue issuing these bonds at every session, just as long as the members saw fit.

None will gain say the importance of building good roads, and the absolute necessity if the state would progress as its resources justify. But a different plan than issuing bonds with no definite and comprehensive plan for retiring the bonds, must be worked out before the voters, and especially the voters of South Florida will consent to issue the state into such an immense indebtedness.

The Times-Union has been accredited with being a "railroad organ," but in a number of years of residence in the state we have noticed that the Times-Union generally takes a stand on all questions of public interest that is for the welfare of the general public.

We know that certain railroad officials have openly advocated the building of good roads and the inauguration of auto service to assist in caring for the traffic they are unable at the present time to handle, owing to lack of rolling stock, motive power, and capital with which to place their roadbeds in good condition to operate trains over without danger to life and property.

Neither this paper or its editor appeals to the prejudice or ignorance of the voters, when it comes to issues. We appeal to their common sense and if that appeal appears to favor the railroads it does not signify that we belong to the railroad "henchmen."

There are those who are so unkindly of fair play that they would chortle in ghoulish glee over any misfortune happening to a railroad company, but thank heavens, we are not of that small calibre.

There are arguments both for and against bonding the state to secure the system of good roads necessary for the rapid growth and development of our resources. If the ratification of the amendment empowering the legislature to issue bonds does not delegate to that body the privilege of issuing more than a stipulated amount of bonds, and if it clearly defines how the proposed bonds are to be retired, then we are for its ratification, but we are of the opinion that that opinion will be worth much or little, that the amendment as it reads is ambiguous and does not cover any specific amount for which the state may be bonded.

Following is the amendment to be voted for or against at the election Nov. 2, the words contained in quotation marks being the amending feature.

Amendment to section 6 of article 9 of constitution of Florida. Section 6 of the constitution shall have power to provide for issuing state bonds only for the purpose of repelling an invasion or suppressing a rebellion, or for the purpose of redeeming or refunding bonds already issued at a low rate of interest, or for the purpose of acquiring, building and maintaining a system of good roads and bridges throughout this state under such regulations as may be prescribed by an act of the legislature; provided, that any bond issues authorized in pursuance hereof for the purpose of good roads and bridges shall not exceed in amount five (5) per cent of the total tax assessment of the state at the time of issue."

FORGING AHEAD, ALTHOUGH HANDICAPPED

Observe how the various towns in DeSoto county are progressing in the matter of schools. Mention already has been made of the fine new building recently completed and accepted at Moore Haven. A new building is in process of construction at Wabasha. Avon Park is planning an annex to the present school building to accommodate the overflow, with the expectation of erecting a new permanent building soon; school has been ordered opened at Buck Head, in the Fort Bassenger district; an assistant supply teacher has been ordered employed in the Pine Level school, and it is probable that a school will be established in the Adrian district. All this shows progress indicates a great country, and is one of the best recommendations that can go out to people in other states who are hesitating about a new location.—DeSoto County News.

The above mentions but a very little of the building really going on in DeSoto county, but what is mentioned, it will be noticed, is mostly in the proposed new counties, which are forging ahead at a rapid pace, despite the handicap under which they have been working.

In Avon Park the annex to the school house has been completed, three new teachers installed and still there is hardly enough room to accommodate the increased attendance. This building is but a small part of the building activities that have been going on here for the past year. A $75,000 brick business block is rapidly nearing completion, a handsome brick garage has recently been completed, a large electric mill (the second one) and an immense sawmill have been erected and equipped, a $25,000 church edifice is under course of construction, two new additions have been made to the freight depot, a twenty-four room addition has been built to the Hotel, and many other improvements have been completed or are in course of construction.

They are all signs of a quiet section of Florida is building activity quite so apparent as in Avon Park and when we get the new county these activities will be small as compared to what will come.

"FLORINDA"

We are in receipt of a handsomely bound volume of poems entitled "Florinda," by D. Lee, author and publisher. The volume contains 194 poems, splendidly printed on deckle-edge paper, and it will be particularly interesting to the people of Avon Park on account of its intimate acquaintance with the author. Mr. Lee is a forceful writer and his knowledge of and love for the state of Florida is imparted in every line of "Florinda." "Song of the Bird," "Sunset" (A Florida Forest Camp), "Where You Put Here," "A Camp in Florida," "The Maid of Avon" and other inspired poems will appeal to those who appreciate the song of Florida written in verse. The book is priced at $1.50 and is well worth the money.

Going up: Our subscription list. Nine hundred and seventy-seven to be exact.

This country doesn't need any particular saving, if the people will only learn to save.

Rubber as an article of commerce is said to be 100 years old. "And some of our worst 'rubbernecks' are nearly that old."

If the brewery in which it is alleged Harding owned stock, brewed beer containing less than one-half of one per cent. Harding ought to be defeated.

The Haines City Herald is now running an editorial page—something every paper should do. A newspaper without an editorial page is in as bad a predicament as a horse without a tail in fly time.

Wonder if there's any merit in the charge that the Polk county commissioners will not repair the roads in the scenic Highlands section, because they want to hog all the travel for Bartow and Lakeland.

Times-Union: "Selling an orange grove for $5,000 an acre near Frost-proof in Polk county, puts Florida on a par with the best in California. In five years the citrus industry in Florida will have far surpassed the orange crops in the Pacific coast state." And the quality of Florida citrus fruits has always surpassed that of California fruit. If Florida fruit were as extensively advertised as its western competitors, in a few years time California citrus growers would be casting about for another line of endeavor.

"Some of these Florida places are getting ahead faster than the steam locomotives scarcely keep up with them. Just now we were reading of a motor lawn mower user in Arcadia. A Jacksonville view to be rather proud over her one-horse lawn mower," says the Times-Union. After seeing some of the high-priced labor-saving machinery which has been purchased by various counties and has been left out in the weather to be consumed by rust, we have reason to doubt the wisdom of the view that he is expending the taxpayers' money in this manner. Just why men who are supposed to possess sufficient business acumen to handle hundreds of thousands of dollars of public funds will expend these funds for expensive machinery and fail to provide housing facilities where same can be kept out of the weather and in condition for service, is a mystery to us.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Murdock, Fla., Oct. 14, 1920. To the Voters of DeSoto County: I wish to place my name before the voters of this county as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court.

In doing this, I am sensible of the fact that I should make some sort of an explanation of my action, and to those who may not know me some information concerning myself. I was born and raised a democrat, and have always believed in the principles of that party. I was unable to get my name before the people in the managers of the state at the time of June primary.

I have a good education, both classical and business, have been in responsible positions for years and have handled such business work as manager of the Western Union Telegraph offices in Arcadia, Wauchula and other important cities, as well as managing the affairs of the Murdock Mercantile Company. I am thoroughly conversant with the duties of clerk of the court, and promise, if I am selected by the people to fill this office, that I will give faithful and efficient service at all times. I realize the importance of this office, which concerns the business affairs of the county, records, deeds, etc., and will give the people the very best I can bring to the office in painstaking and careful service, soliciting your support and influence.

FLYING EXHIBITIONS ARE TO BE GIVEN EVERY SECOND FRIDAY IN MONTH

Capt. A. H. Gikerson, executive officer at Carlstrom Field, has asked the newspapers to announce that Capt. Ralph Royce, commanding officer, had changed the flying exhibitions from every alternate Friday to every second Friday in each month. He states that this change has been made in order to enable the officers and enlisted men of the field to render more elaborate programs.

Hundreds of people go to Carlstrom Field to witness these flying exhibitions, last week the crowd being composed of more than 800 persons from all parts of the county. The soldiers are preparing more elaborate programs for the future than have been given in the past, which means that they will perform stunts in the air that are akin to a titration with Death.

The county commissioners appointed the following election officers for this precinct, to serve Tuesday, Nov. 2: D. G. Skipper, Fred Smith, Elmer West, inspectors; William King, clerk; E. N. Dickinson, sheriff.

It is especially Article 10. Before taking a decided stand in the matter, we advise a careful perusal of the text.
