TEXT OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

of the dispute and recommend such action as may seem best and most effectual in the circumstances.

If a state to which shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, and shall resort to war against a member of the league, the provisions of Article 16 shall be applicable as against the state taking such action.

If both parties of the dispute when so invited refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, the council may take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute.

Article 18
Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretary and shall, as soon as possible, be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.

Article 19
The assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the league of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

Article 20
The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings which are inconsistent with the terms thereof and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case any member of the league shall, before becoming a member of the league, have undertaken any obligations with the terms of this covenant, it shall be the duty of such member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations.

Article 21
Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

Article 22
To those colonies and territories which as a consequence of the late war have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the states which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples from a sacred trust of civilization and that securities for the performance of the trust should be embodied in this covenant.

The best method of giving practical effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples should be entrusted to advanced nations who by reason of their resources, their experience or their geographical position, can best undertake this responsibility, and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as mandatories on behalf of the league.

The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic conditions and other similar circumstances.

Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish empire have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognized, subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of Central Africa, are at such a stage that the mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience and religion, subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses such as the slave trade, the arms traffic and the liquor traffic, and the prevention of the establishment of fortifications or military and naval bases and of the military training of the natives for other than police purposes and the defense of the territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league.

There are territories, such as South-west Africa and certain of the South Pacific islands which, owing to the sparseness of their population, or their small size, or their remoteness from the centers of civilization, or their geographical contiguity to the territory of the mandatory, and other circumstances, can be best administered under the laws of the mandatory as integral portions of its territory, subject to the safeguards above mentioned in the interests of the indigenous population.

In every case of mandate, the mandatory shall render to the council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

The degree of authority, control, or administration to be exercised by the mandatory shall, if not previously agreed upon by the members of the league, be explicitly defined in each case by the council.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the mandatories and to advise the council on all matters relating to the observance of the mandates.

Article 23
In accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, the members of the league:

(a) Will endeavor to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children, both in their own countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend, and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations;

(b) Undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control;

(c) Will entrust the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs;

(d) Will entrust the league with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest;

(e) Will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communications and of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all members of the league. In this connection, the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-18 shall be borne in mind;

(f) Will endeavor to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease.

Article 24
There shall be placed under the direction of the league all international bureaux already established by general treaties if the parties to such agreements consent. All such international bureaux and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the league.

In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general conventions, but which are not placed under the control of international bureaux or commissions, the secretary of the league shall, subject to the consent of the council and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

The council may include as part of the expenses of the secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the league.

Article 25
The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purposes the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

Article 26
Amendments to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the league whose representative compose the assembly.

No such amendment shall bind any member of the league which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the league.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Murdoch, Fla., Oct. 14, 1920.
To the Voters of DeSoto County:
I wish to place my name before the voters of this county as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court.

In doing this, I am sensible of the fact that I should make some sort of pledge to the people of this county, and to give those who do not know me some information concerning myself.
I was born and raised a democrat, and have always believed in the principles of that party. I was unable to get my name before the people in the primary, because, at that time, the women of the country were not recognized as citizens. Since that time, however, the nation has granted to women their long delayed rights and I am a democrat, and I have no objection to the ticket as an independent. I am not an independent in fact, but a democrat, and I have no objection to the ticket as an independent. I am not an independent in fact, but a democrat, and I have no objection to the ticket as an independent.

I have a good education, both classical and business, have been in responsible positions for years and have handled such business work as manager of the Western Union Telegraph offices in Arcadia, Wauchula and other important cities, as well as the court, and I am, if I am selected by the people to fill this office, that I will give faithful and efficient service at all times. I realize the importance of this office, which concerns the business affairs of the county, records, deeds, etc., and I give the people the very best I can bring to the office in painstaking and careful service. I solicit your support and influence.

Mrs. A. V. Anderson, who had been spending several weeks in Michigan and Pennsylvania, returned home last Friday evening, to the delight of her many friends.

George S. Sloman, Jr., Otto Skipper and W. A. Roberts spent Friday of last week in Arcadia, Mr. Sloman making final proof of his homestead entry. Messrs. Skipper and Roberts were witnesses.

J. O. Park, who has been a valued and efficient clerk in B. H. James' grocery store for the last year, has severed his connection with that store and with the family has moved to Hollywood, Florida.

T. J. Nix and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson of Hazel, Ky., are recent arrivals in Avon Park. Mr. Nix has purchased property here and is down for the winter, while his son-in-law expects to make this his permanent home. A hearty welcome is extended to both.

The third week of the gospel tent meetings will open up Sunday night with an address on "The Signs of the Times; Are World Conditions Going to Improve or Get Worse?"

Many questions are handed in for the question and answer service at the close of each lecture. Several queries have been sent to the pulpit relative to the Sabbath question. During the week there will be several lectures concerning the Bible Sabbath.

Editor George Adams of the Avon Park Highlands Pilot paid Haines City a visit last week and on his return home wrote a fine boosting article for this city which we reproduce on our first page this week. The Groveland Inn, of which all our citizens are proud, receives a nice mention and the activities of Isaac Van Horn in behalf of the city and the entire Ridge also are recognized. In fact it almost seems that his work is more highly appreciated abroad than at home.—Haines City Herald.

Among the visitors to the Park this week are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hales of Washington, D. C. They are among the newlyweds, having been married Oct. 25. Mr. Hales is interested in the Florida Citrus Development Company, and is combining business with pleasure. He is connected with the pension office at Washington, which city has been his home for many years. He formerly resided at Rocky Mount, N. C., where he will visit with his charming wife before returning home. Mr. Hales is delighted with Avon Park and is contemplating buying a building lot in the Lake David development.

Last week we mentioned that Mrs. Sadie E. Farrington had severed her connection with the Hotel Avon and returned to Punta Gorda, her old home town. It has since been rumored that Mrs. Farrington will be offered the management of a large new hotel to be erected in Punta Gorda. Mrs. Farrington by her ability and friendliness developed a splendid business for the scenic Highlands Hotel Company, which in turn has been a great factor in the development of our locality and city, therefore it is with regret we lose her and her charming daughters as citizens. A host of friends wish for her continued success.

The members of the Brentwood Lake colony are enjoying weekly sewing meetings. These, together with the Magazine and Book Club, help make life worth living.

Mrs. Monte Nellums of Tampa, sister of "Daddy" Wolf, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dr. Bruce Marsh of Falkland, Miss, is spending the week here with the family of her brother. They arrived Sunday, Mr. Wolf meeting them at Zolfo and bringing them with the family of her brother.

We are pleased to announce that Miss Ruth Bass will again be connected with The Pilot as city reporter, beginning her duties next week. Miss Bass has with us for several months and gave excellent satisfaction, but was obliged to leave to attend to business matters of her own. These matters are now shaped so that she can devote a considerable portion of her time to our work, an announcement readers of The Pilot and Miss Bass' friends will be pleased to receive.

Miss Mary Hammond has accepted a clerical position with the First Trust and Savings Company.

Miss Sadie Myers, who is teaching school at Lakeland, spent the week-end at home with her parents.

I. H. Starkey and family, who have been living at Hollyhurst Plantation since last spring, have moved into the Park cottage on Lake avenue and will take charge of the telephone exchange. Mr. and Mrs. Parli, who have rendered such efficient service there for the last four years, will move to Hollyhurst. Mr. Starkey formerly had charge of the central office, so this will not be new work for him.

For paper-hanging see Morrison. Glen Masters has accepted a position at James' grocery store.

Dr. D. D. Crews spent Friday of last week attending an exhibit of modern dental appliances and machinery in Tampa.

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Riddle went to Tampa Monday morning to spend a few days in that city and St. Petersburg. The trip was in the way of an outing and the Doctor thought he would try his luck fishing in Tampa Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. English returned to Avon Park from Jacksonville Saturday and expect to make this their future home. Mrs. English was formerly Miss Irene Lockett and has many friends here who will be pleased to learn that she and her husband have decided to live in Avon Park.

C. E. LANIER, SECRETARY
TREASURER

of the dispute and recommend such action as may seem best and most effectual in the circumstances.

If a state as invited shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, and shall resort to war against a member of the league, the provisions of Article 16 shall be applicable as against the state taking such action.

If both parties of the dispute when so invited refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, the council may take such measures and make such recommendations as will prevent hostilities and will result in the settlement of the dispute.

Article 18

Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretary and shall, as soon as possible, be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.

Article 19

The assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the league of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

Article 20

The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof and solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

In case any member of the league shall, before becoming a member of the league, have undertaken any obligation with the terms of this covenant, it shall be the duty of such member to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations.

Article 21

Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

Article 22

To those colonies and territories which as a consequence of the late war have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the states which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization and that securities for the performance of this trust should be embodied in this covenant.

The best method of giving practical effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples should be entrusted to advanced nations who by reason of their resources, their experience or their geographical position can best undertake this responsibility, and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as mandatories on behalf of the league.

The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic conditions and other similar circumstances.

Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish empire have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognized, subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of Central Africa, are at such a stage that the mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience and religion, subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses such as the slave trade, the arms traffic and the liquor traffic, and the prevention of the establishment of fortifications or military and naval bases and of the military training of the natives for other than police purposes and the defense of territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league.

There are territories, such as South-west Africa and certain of the South Pacific islands which, owing to the sparseness of their population, or their small size, or their remoteness from the centers of civilization, or their geographical contiguity to the territory of the mandatory, and other circumstances, can be best administered under the laws of the mandatory as integral portions of its territory, subject to the safeguards above mentioned in the interests of the indigenous population.

In every case of mandate, the mandatory shall render to the council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

The degree of authority, control, or administration to be exercised by the mandatory shall, if not previously agreed upon by the members of the league, be explicitly defined in each case by the council.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the mandatories and to advise the council on all matters relating to the observance of the mandates.

Article 23

Subject to and in accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, the members of the league:

(a) Will endeavor to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children, both in their own countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend, and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations;

(b) Undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control;

(c) Will entrust the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs.

(d) Will entrust the league with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest;

(e) Will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communications and of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of all members of the league. In this connection, the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-18 shall be borne in mind;

(f) Will endeavor to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease.

Article 24

There shall be placed under the direction of the league all international bureaus already established by general treaties if the parties to such agreement consent. All such international bureaus and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the league.

In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general treaties, the league shall, under the control of international bureaus or commissions, the secretary of the league shall, subject to the consent of the council and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

The council may include as part of the expenses of the secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the league.

Article 25

The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purposes the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

Article 26

Amendments to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the league whose representatives compose the assembly.

No such amendment shall bind any member of the league which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the league.
