ROCKMART (Ga.) NEWS ON THE DEATH OF B. F. DENTON

The Rockmart (Ga.) News of July 28 has the following to say regarding the death of B. F. Denton, who was well known in Avon Park and had large property interests here:

"Rockmart and community received another of those sad shocks for which we are in a manner never prepared, when the report reached us last Thursday night a little before 10 o'clock that B. F. Denton of the firm of Henslee & Denton, had passed away."

"Mr. Denton for some weeks had not felt just as well as usual, and while those who knew him best felt some concern regarding his condition, he at no time seemed to realize that he was a very sick man. His demise was very sudden, the breath leaving him before medical aid could reach him."

"Had Mr. Denton lived until October he would have crossed the 50th mile-post along life's journey. He was born at Altoma, Hartow county, in 1871, his father's name being the same as his, Benjamin Franklin Denton, a name handed down to the oldest son of the Denton generation. When a small child he was bereft of his parents and was reared by relatives, who lived in Paulding county. It was therefore in Paulding county that B. F. Denton spent his boyhood years. When about twenty-five years of age, some thirty-three years ago, he came to Polk county and made us a useful citizen all these years."

"The earlier years of his life were spent in the pursuit of sawmilling and farming, and being energetic he accumulated quite a good deal of real estate and became one of our most prosperous farmers. Seven years ago he invested in Florida lands and his estate was greatly enhanced by a splendid citrus grove which is increasing in value annually."

"A little more than a year ago he entered into partnership with the thriving firm of M. D. Henslee, then becoming Henslee & Denton. This business venture, we understand, and we have every reason to believe it has been a very profitable investment."

"When quite a young man, Mr. Denton married Miss Mattie Noland, who survives him, and to this union were born seven children, three of whom have passed away, those surviving their father being Mrs. J. Abner of Hastings, Fla.; Mrs. G. H. Elberberry of Mayo, Fla.; Miss Johnnie Denton and B. F. Denton, Jr., of Rockmart."

"The funeral and interment was at Hills Creek church and was conducted by Rev. Warner Harris and Rev. Emory Head. The unusually large number of people from this community and other counties that gathered to pay this splendid citizen their last respect was proof of the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him."

AUTOMOBILE SIGNALS ARE VITAL TO SAFETY

(Times-Union)

Driving the one-horse shay or even a regular carriage, by whatever title it was called in the days that have passed, was something of an art. "Can you drive?" would be asked of a visitor, perhaps, and the cabmen and coachmen and drivers of teams and even single hitch would be expected to know the rules of the road and also to be able to handle the vehicle with results that would be expected of them. But things are different now. Anybody and everybody drives an automobile and in many sections of the country there is yet no regulations requiring an understanding of the powerful engine that moves the car. Some states require all drivers to pass an examination and secure a license; Florida allows the pet dog to take the wheel if the owner of the car feels disposed to trust it—but at that we have only a fair amount of trouble and fewer accidents than in some parts of the country. Maybe our comparative immunity is an account of generally having lots of room, and then again it may be that we take things easier than the nervous north or west or east.

The Baltimore American printed a list of signals the other day that are good anywhere, and probably are known to most car owners, but as the owners let the neighbor's rattle and boys run the car and all that it will not do a bit of harm to print the rules over again. For the general good and without suggesting that most people do not already know and observe them, the American's article on the subject is reprinted:

Proper signals are not acts of courtesy—they are absolutely vital to safety.

The driver behind you is not a mind reader, and every driver should guard his own safety and that of other drivers by following signals:

The outstretched hand—

1. When pulling away from the curb.

2. When turning at intersections.

3. When turning in street.

4. When changing course.

The arm above head—

1. When stopping.

2. When passing overtaken vehicles.

3. When approaching intersections.

Don't signal in a half-hearted way. Every day the danger is increasing. Strict obedience to the laws of the state is incumbent on every citizen.

There are nine million so-called "pleasure cars" in use in the United States. It would seem that anything tending to make the drivers and passengers and pedestrians and onlookers safer was worth while considering.

Motorcycles in Australia
The average price of a motorcycle at present in Australian cities is $826. In 1911 it was $318, and in 1914 $345. It appears necessary for every motorcycle to have a side car, which costs $267. Apparently it is cheaper to purchase a second-hand motor car than a fully equipped motorcycle.

Select Good Seed
Opportunity for southern corn growers to protect themselves against weevil infestation next year by intelligent seed selection in the field is pointed out by experts of the United States department of agriculture. It has been found that, in weevil-infested sections, the ears with tips protruding from the sheaves or with loose, open shucks, usually become infested, and often seriously damaged, before they can be safely stored and that many of them after several months in storage are worthless. Experiments have shown that shuck coverings extending well beyond the tips of the ears and closing tightly about the silks, if not opened by other means, will resist weevils successfully, both in field and in storage.

FLORIDA'S ROSEATE FUTURE

[Fort Pierce News-Tribune]

To say that Florida sits in the eye of the country is to speak the commonplace. No state in the union occupies a greater amount of favorable attention and none will profit more by this conspicuous position.

The place in the sun occupied by Florida is due to three great factors. First, the cosmopolitan population which on account of the polyglot nature of it attaches practically every state to this state. There are people here from everywhere. Doubtless every town in the state has a citizen from every state in the union.

At a meeting of a certain board of trade in one of the smaller towns in the central part of the state, the secretary asked for the states represented and to the amazement of all twenty-eight were counted.

This can be duplicated practically anywhere any time. The people come to Florida. They mingle and associate and are mixed in a wholesome mass. But they never lose sight of the state from which they came and on occasion they send accounts of Florida to the former home state and often make trips back to the state. All this brings the eye of that state on Florida. When it is considered that every state is being treated in this intimate fashion, it will be seen that a powerful influence is being exerted to place Florida in the eyes of the nation.

The desire of most people is to be comfortable. The hardy, pioneering instinct, the rough-and-tumble life is mostly a myth. People are looking for comfort. Not one in a million would deliberately choose to live in a tent. They want to live in a house, live in a bungalow. In the same way, the rigors and sudden changes in temperature in other states make the population yearn for a state where the climate is more conducive to continuous comfort.

In this no state can surpass Florida, and it is believed that none can rival Florida. The winters are mild and the summers not only healthy but comfortable. By the thousands, the visitors come in the winter. Famous resorts have grown up in all parts of the state, some of them well known all over the world. Baden-Baden is not more famous than Palm Beach, St. Augustine and St. Pete. There is nothing of Miami, Tampa and Jacksonville.

In short stories, novels, narratives of the places figures also frequently a story is located in the wilds of the state, the Everglades, the pine forests and the thousands of islands that fringe the shore line of this state.

By word of mouth, by letters, streamers and newspaper stories; by tourist, merchant, traveling man and events, the state is placed before the public. The very name of Florida is a household name—familiar, pleasant, beautiful.

It is considered that no one has traveled much who has not been at least once or twice in Florida. The old saying: "See Rome and die," has been brought up to date by the traveling habits of the American people and reads: "See Florida and die." If one hasn't been to Florida, why, one simply hasn't been anywhere. The plans of perhaps half the people of the United States are to go to Florida some time and see the sights that have been heralded by magazines and papers until they are as familiar as the sights about one's own town.

Third, the commercial aspect of the state is growing in importance and in the same period it is being lived in the state who do not know that the opportunity of a thousand years is knocking at its gates. Lying between the United States and South America, it will be the gateway for a commercial stream that will be great enough to float any people to affluence.

South America is just awakening to the vastness of the wealth of its resources and America is clamoring for the new market to supply the factories. The trade between the two Americas is already large, but the present trade is merely the earnest of the trade that shall be.

Florida will certainly profit by this, just as New York and other cities have profited by finding themselves on the highway of traffic.

It is small wonder that this state is growing. Its position is more than secure—it is solid. The present conspicuous position will develop into fame and into the luxury of profit.

Who lives in Florida now is "favorable" of the court circles of gorgeous opportunity.

The Farmer's Goat

Last year the Chicago board of trade handled 325,000,000 bushels of grain, but in the same period it bet on futures to the extent of 18,500,000,000 bushels. In other words, for every bushel of actual grain sold fifty-seven bushels of "phantom" grain were put up in a speculative deal. It looks like gambling on a small margin when the chance for future delivery of a bushel was one twenty-eighth of 1 per cent of the total. In what way does this kind of a game benefit the farmer?

How Poultry Diseases Spread

Poultry diseases spread principally in four ways: By the birds eating dead, diseased birds; by contaminated air in coops and small houses; through drinking water; and through the droppings of diseased birds. All diseased birds should be burned. It is the only sanitary way to get rid of them. Clean drinking water is essential, as disease is spread very quickly through unclean water, especially by the chickens that may be drinking from the same utensil as the old hens.

Learn Bee Keeping

The bee keeper in Florida who wants to learn good bee keeping can do it. He should write to Wm. Newell, Gainesville, for information. There are several good papers devoted to bee raising books and free publications by the United States department of agriculture.

Keep the Yard Attractive

The sight of weeds and untidy yards and lawns will produce an unfavorable impression upon visitors. When weeds grow in the door yard of a home, and litter is scattered about, it is evident that there is a sad lack of taste and cleanliness, or else the occupant of the house is lazy, shiftless and indifferent. That "cleanliness is next to godliness" is a tenet of Christianity, the truth of which none will dispute.

Fortunate Property Owners

The property of HILLCREST GROVE OWNERS is now in Highlands county. The creation of five counties out of old DeSoto means that each new county will have all its tax money and that our schools will be improved, roads built, property which has been omitted from the tax rolls or assessed at a ridiculously low figure, placed thereon at a reasonable valuation, which means more revenue and lower taxes eventually. Highlands county is undoubtedly the richest of the five counties and property owners in this county are indeed fortunate, especially if their property is located in or near Avon Park. "Hillcrest" lies just outside the corporate limits and right on the Scenic Highway.

Georgia's Pecan Crop
Georgia, as a general thing, will make a good pecan crop this year. All the older trees are loaded with nuts and the season will be a very satisfactory one. Groves fruiting fifteen to twenty years old are expected to bear a large crop. A conservative estimate of the South Georgia crop this season is given at 3,000,000 pounds, by some correspondents. Because of the short crop in Georgia last year and the total failure of the Texas crop, there are practically no holders over nuts, reporters say, and the growers will find all the markets clean this fall. High prices are anticipated for the new crop.

Growing Cotton in British Empire
The activities of the British cotton growing associations are outlined in the last annual report. It is noted that the report was for the year ending Dec. 31, 1920, and that steady progress is being made in furthering the growing of cotton in the British empire. As regards the production of cotton, the results for the year 1920 are very satisfactory, the estimated amount of cotton grown in new fields during the past year was 165,800 bales.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Program for the Week Beginning Monday, August 15

Monday—A four-reel picture in five parts. Also a two-reel comedy.

Tuesday—“Through the Back Door,” the greatest of Mary Pickford's pictures. It has been said to be the best by Miss Pickford herself. It is a picture that is full of the pathos of childhood. It will tug at your heartstrings as nothing else you have seen, mixed with some of the best comedy that will tickle any human. The first scene was laid in Belgium, where Mary takes the part of little Jeanne Bodamere, whose mother was forced to run away and leave little Jeanne by her new husband. The little girl followed her mother to America and here is where the fun starts. See “Through the Back Door” and you will see a picture the like of which has never before been shown in Avon Park.

Wednesday—One of the biggest Western pictures ever shown in Avon Park, featuring Roy Stewart. Also a two-reel Educational comedy.

Thursday—The same as Wednesday. Friday—“Down Home,” featuring the well known book, “Dabney Todd,” by F. N. Westcott, a brother of the author of David Harrow. One intensely gripping situation follows another in this stirring “heart interest” picture, and through it all, like a silver skin, runs a charmingly presented love tale. Chet didn't have fine clothes or “city ways,” but he had that which is best of all, an honest heart. And in the end it brought its just reward. Also a Fox Sunshine comedy.

Saturday—A special feature has been booked for this day. Also a two-reel comedy.

Reclaiming Jelly
Jelly which will not “sell” may sometimes be reclaimed by the use of pectin. A quart of grapejuice which had refused to become jelly was recently brought in the experimental kitchen of the home economics office of the United States department of agriculture at Washington. By the addition of a small amount of apple pectin, a firm, fine-flavored grape jelly was obtained. Because of the failure from which the sample was taken can now be redeemed. Pectin may be easily extracted from apples, also from the citrus fruits and kept for use with juices that lack this ingredient. Some fruits, such as strawberries and pears, do not contain sufficient pectin to make jelly. Pectin must be added.

Some Good Advice
Screen your house. Mosquitoes and flies are germ carriers. Can all you can. Canned fruits and vegetables are winter delights. Provide shade for your live stock. It's poor economy to have your stock exposed to the hot sun. House machinery that is not in use. Do not leave it exposed to run and rain. Grease polished surfaces. Kill weeds. Other times to do this are August, September, October, November, December, January, February, March, April, May, June and July.

Why Favor the Railroads?
The government allows the railroads to charge a rate that will insure 6 per cent on their income. Nothing has been done to secure any profit for the farmer. The present financial condition in which the low prices have placed the farmer compels him to reduce production and thereby force a fair price for his products. The prudent farmer will keep well within safe limits in his expenses this year.

“Every Knock is a Boost” for the Exchange Supply Company

Anything that thrives on “knocking” is pretty sure to be for the good of the public.

The degree to which the Exchange Supply Company has been assisted by “knocks” testified to its usefulness.

Citrus growers have learned that the fellow who talks loudest in opposition to the cooperative idea usually is one who will lose money by its success and growth.

The growers who are members of the Florida Citrus Exchange believe they are capable not only of marketing their crops but of buying materials and supplies at wholesale for economical production.

They have no desire to cut off any legitimate profit and when these growers hear men “knocking” the Exchange Supply Company it is natural for them to conclude “there's a reason why” behind the “knock.”

The Exchange Supply Company reduces grove and packing house costs for members of the Florida Citrus Exchange. See the nearest Sub-Exchange or Association manager about membership.

Room 6, First National Bank Building
Avon Park, Florida

To The Public:

With pleasure I beg to announce that I am now engaged in the Real Estate business at the above address.

I am prepared to take care of your business, negotiate mortgage loans, take entire charge of estates, collect rents and look after the general management of property, under the most approved modern methods.

If you have property to sell or rent, I assure you it will be to your interest to list your property with me for quick results. I will also be pleased to have you consult with me at any time with regard to buying property, when I will advise you of any special offering I may have.

Prior to January 1st I occupied the position of Tax Collector for De Soto County for several years, consequently am more familiar with real estate values than any other line of business. It was this knowledge, gained by years of experience, that induced me to engage in the real estate business.

Patrons may rely on my energetic and efficient attention to all interests given into my care.

No transaction is too small to receive my best attention—none too large for me to handle.

Very truly yours,

CYRIL BALDWIN
