BURNING OVER THE WOODS

(Florida Times-Union)
The practice of burning over the woods for the sake of securing a supply of fresh young grass for range cattle not only destroys the humus in the soil and thus in time defeats its own object by starving out the grass or destroying its succulence, but it also affects the timber and naval stores industries. It is making poorer, year by year, the soil on which it is practiced. Two representatives of the United States forest service after a survey of the timber resources of Duval county, find that the stands of second-growth timber are scant, some very much so. Nature attempts to repair the ravages of wayward man, but the latter can in a few hours destroy what she has been several years in constructing. The young saplings cannot survive two or three annual burnings, sometimes not one. Florida has so many natural advantages that one is disposed to wonder at first glance that she has been so slow in developing her natural wealth until one takes into consideration the spirit that resists eradication and insists upon burning over the forest floor for the sake of fresh pasture for herds of half-wild, stunted, tick-bitten cattle for which there will soon be absolutely no market anywhere. Schemes to reforest the state, or even to conserve what wealth the state has left in forests, will be hampered or defeated so long as the custom of annually burning off the dead grass in the forests and woods is sanctioned by the law. It is hampered by the law it may be difficult to break up the practice. However, the range in Florida is almost entirely in the hands of private owners. The new regulation of interstate commerce commission regarding shipment of cattle under quarantine will help to promote the eradication of ticks under fence and the eradication of the cattle fever tick.

If the people of Florida were represented properly and adequately in its legislatures, if the state had not so many "rotten boroughs," it might be expected to line up with other southern states and develop its resources. The senseless waste of its mature trees and destruction of saplings in a section handicap to progress. When the law requires every cattle owner to keep his stock under fence and makes him liable for damages when they break out and devastate the crops of other people immigration from other states will be encouraged and the state will soon boom with population, real estate prices will go up and the taxable wealth of Florida will increase. In that day there will be no excuse for incendiarism in the woods and reforestation of the waste places of the state can proceed.

Always Ahead

The farmers of Florida are digging their potatoes, while the farmers of the states north of the Ohio and Potomac are getting ready to plant.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

P. M. Stivers was among the Avon Park people attending the land sale at Lake Stearns Monday.

J. D. McEwen spent Tuesday in Gaines City and Wednesday and Thursday in Punta Gorda and Moore Haven.

The Hotel Avon will soon put on a new appearance, as two "expert" landscape gardeners have been engaged to beautify the lawn, setting out shrubs and flowering plants.

C. W. Johnson of Cleveland, O., who had been spending several days at the Avon, departed for his home last Friday. Mr. Johnson is interested in "Hillcrest" groves and contemplating making this his home in the near future. Herbert Beck took Mr. Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Timm to Haines City, where they entrained for their homes.

The Hotel Avon lost two of its popular winter guests last Friday, Dr. and Mrs. H. Timm, who departed for their summer home in Brooklyn, N. Y. They have been at the Avon since last December and a more congenial couple would be hard to find. They expect to return to Avon Park next winter and will receive a hearty welcome from their friends.

CONVERT BEAUTY INTO A COMMERCIAL ASSET

[Chicago Journal]

Why shouldn't a "city beautiful" come down from the realm of dreaming into the practical idea that converts beauty into a commercial asset? The science of architecture is like Greek to a layman. But the architects have a multitude of different ideas and opinions. The only hope for a real "city beautiful" is to find some coherent architectural standards and stick to them. Architectural fads are just as ephemeral, as noisy and as discordant as the jargon of sounds that profane the name of music. Yet every American city has lapses from the canon of good taste in almost every block of dwellings. Business architecture has suffered less, because the modern skyscraper sacrifices everything else to utility. Now that real architecture, again shows some signs of renaissance in the business structures there may be more danger ahead.

How Long Can We Wait?

The recent federal highway act provided for the construction of a connecting system of highways consisting of not more than 7 per cent of the roads in each state and made an initial appropriation of $75,000,000 to be used in conjunction with state funds. The system to be built is now being outlined and will comprise about 35,000 miles of road, included in which there will be about 60,000 miles that are already completed. With an annual program based on a federal appropriation of $75,000,000 and assuming that the state will continue to match the federal funds in the same ratio as heretofore and that the average costs of the roads built will be $20,000 a mile, officials say it will take fifteen years to complete the proposed system. If the federal appropriations are made at the rate of $100,000,000 a year the system can be completed in ten years and if only $50,000,000 is appropriated annually it will take twenty years to build it. The question is: How long can we wait?

Not All Gone Yet

The Horse Association of America has sent out data to show that there are more than nineteen million horses and mules in this country. With the coming of the automobile and truck, we have looked for a comparatively small number of beasts of burden, but we find that seventeen million of these animals are on the farms of the country and only two million in the cities.

GOOD ROADS

During the five months ending Dec. 31, 1921, states, counties, cities, towns and townships in Florida have paid this state far to the front in the good roads movement by paying a total of $11,250,000 in bond issues for new roads and $1,661,000 for new streets, a total of $12,911,000. Official reports show that in addition there is a total probable expenditure of $6,520,000 for roads; $315,000 for streets still under contemplation of the bond issues voted. There were sold during the five months' period mentioned a total of $910,000 worth of bonds for road improvement and $767,000 in bonds for street improvement. During the present season Florida is leading the states of the south in both street and road construction.

The asphaltic types are being adopted more and more extensively because of the fact that Florida has abundant in local materials used in asphalt for the construction of the latest types of highway surfaces, especially sheet asphalt, the particular type of which so large a mileage is being constructed in this state at this time. This choice is due to the fact that city and county officials in Florida have been sounding the expenditure of other states and municipalities on the matter of the best road types; it is a type particularly adapted to heavy country roads and to heavily traveled city streets.

Florida is the largest state in area east of the Mississippi except Georgia and has the smallest population of any except five.

That Florida has probably the greatest area of undeveloped arable land in the south, practically every acre of which is capable of producing some useful crop, while her waters abound in the best of fish and her unequalled stretch of sea coast, with sea food, are the impelling reasons for this general attention to the improvement of the road system of the state. Floridians know that, even in a state blessed with as many streams and lakes as this, good roads are indispensable for the development of agriculture and the increase of wealth. Then, too, the wish prevails to afford our citizens an opportunity to see more of the most picturesque parts of the state and to demonstrate its capabilities of offering comfortable incomes to settlers. The United States department of agriculture says that road building is now one of the nation's leading industries and surpasses such great industries as steel and iron, and even the automobile industry in all its many branches, as statistics prove, approximately a million men having been employed last season in road construction in the various states. Florida has felt the urge, and that has put the state at the head of her southern sisters.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Supply Decreasing

The world's horse supply is today more than two million head less than seven years ago. The horse and mule reduction has been principally in the United States where the number reduced on the farm was 800,000 and the cities have lost one and one-half million since 1910. The only other countries that have any large number of horses and have reduced their stock are Brazil, Australia and Japan. The European countries almost universally have a larger number on hand than before the war. These countries increasing most are France, Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom; British India and Canada also show increases. Even the war Russia had nearly one-third of all the world's supply, and the United States was next with one-fifth. The latest facts for the twenty-nine countries having comparable data shows that before the war they had 67,673,000 horses and mules against 65,539,000 at this time.

Competing With Henry

Automobile manufacturing companies are very optimistic about the demand for cars during the spring and summer. Truck sales are reported to be on the increase, and total sales are expected to show a decided improvement over 1921. William C. Durant, president of the Durant Motors, has accepted a contract to build large quantities of the four-cylinder, five-passenger Star, selling at $348. It is believed that this announcement means that a group of prominent parts manufacturers have banded together to enter the field with an assembled car that will compete with the Ford.

Patronize Reliable Dealers

With the great popularization of radio has sprung up a mushroom growth of wireless equipment manufacturers who are flooding the market with supplies. Some are unquestionably satisfactory, but some are grossly inferior. Buy your equipment from a reliable dealer only. Never take anything that is supposed to be "just as good." The time is coming when any home can be connected with New York, or Chicago, and hear concerts, bands, sermons and speeches.

Imports from Egypt

The exports from Alexandria, Egypt, to the United States for 1921 were valued at $32,132,702 against $38,209,233 for the preceding year. The largest single item of export was cotton, of which 93,310,249 pounds, valued at $32,043,595 were exported to the United States as against 115,462,842 pounds, valued at $74,408,021 in 1920.

A Question

Colonel Nutt is credited with saying that the "Florida liquor law is the most stringent in the country." But the colonel does not explain how such a great number of liquor runners get by the prohibition enforcement officers.—New Smyrna Breeze.

Watch the Signs

If you want to know the names of oil companies from whom you can safely buy stock, go look on the tanks and filling stations. They never carry the name of a wild-cat oil company.—Ocala Star.

FLORIDA IN SUMMER

[Times-Union]
St. Petersburg is acting wisely in preparing for entertainment of visitors in the summer time. That city is one of the greatest winter resorts in the state and its winter climate is known all over the United States, as is the winter climate of Florida in general. But it is equally important that people should know the summer climate of this state and the comforts and pleasures of the beaches along its twelve hundred miles of water front.

When we say it is as important that Florida's summer climate should be known as well as her winter climate, we do not mean to be understood as saying that if the summer climate of this state were understood we would have as many guests within the borders of Florida in the summer as we have in the winter. In the vast stretch of country east of the Rocky Mountains Florida has almost a monopoly of a winter climate that would attract visitors, while many other states have parts that are equally as attractive in summer. Some wish to go to the mountains and of these we have none. Others wish to go to the seashore and of seashore resorts, while we have been beautifully supplied, we have not a monopoly. The time can never be made to come when Florida will attract as many visitors in summer as in winter, but the seaside resorts of the state should attract quite a number from other states, for the climate and the bathing is as pleasant here as elsewhere, if not more so, and the fishing is better than anywhere else.

But the attraction of visitors in the summer time would mean the attraction of permanent settlers. Everybody knows what Florida is in the winter and those who come in the winter need not be told. But very many of the majority of those who come in the winter think that at other times of the year this state is unpleasantly hot. Those who spend a few pleasant weeks in Florida in the summer would know that this is not true. They would know that this state is one of the pleasantest in the Union for all the year residence and we would secure more permanent settlers from the smaller number who would come in the summer than from the larger number who would come in the winter.

I do the very best I know how; the very best I can, and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right will make no difference.—Abraham Lincoln.

Co-operation In Advertising To Sell Your Brand

There's hardly a citrus grower in Florida who doesn't believe that co-operative advertising will help, not only the whole industry, but will help him individually.

The co-operation the American Fruit Growers Incorporated offers is an opportunity to cash in on a sound trademarking and advertising plan that advertises not only a general trademark but the brand of the individual or the association to the wholesaler, retailer and consumer.

Economy and power is achieved by advertising all A. F. G. products under a uniform trademark.

The growers' individuality is preserved, in addition, by providing for him keeping his own house brand.

A. F. G. advertising accentuates the grower's brand and creates a demand for the best product of his grove by his own trademark as well as the A. F. G. trademark being indelibly imprinted on the skin of the fruit.

Consumers have not only come to demand fruit, branded with the A. F. G. and Blue Goose trademarks.

They have learned to distinguish the house marks under the A. F. G. trademarks and to call for fruit by these names.

Ask shippers who sell through the A. F. G. how it helps keep up their averages on returns.

INTERESTING SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT GOSPEL
TEST MEETING NEXT WEEK

There has been an encouraging attendance at the Walker-Watts gospel test services this week and the program for next week bids fair for an increased attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Watts captivate the audience with their beautiful songs from night to night.

Mr. Walker handed us the following program for next week:

Sunday night—"Did a Good God Make a Bad World?" Many claim that if the Christian's God is all powerful and knows the end from the beginning He could have prevented sin invading our world with all the poverty, suffering and misery that it has caused. We are going to clear up these mysterious questions Sunday night. Do the scriptures teach there is a real, personal devil? If so, where did he come from and why did the Lord permit him to exist? Don't fail to hear this lecture.

Monday night—"An Introduction to the Man of Galilee." In what sense was He unlike other men? Did He share the hardships and temptations in common with the human family? What has He been doing in heaven since leaving the earth? After hearing this sermon the Man of Galilee will seem more real to you than ever before.

Wednesday night—"How to Get Right and Keep Right With God." The experience of a great many is similar to that expressed by the man in the testimony meeting: "Ibrithon," he said, "I've belonged to the church ever since I was 17 years old. I got religion then; got saved, I reckon. And I have always wanted to go to heaven ever since. But I ain't never been satisfied exactly that I was goin' to get there. Seems like something is lacking." I'd get into a revival and get happy, but a few days after it was over it would wear off and I would not so near happy as before, nor so near. The fact is, brethren, the matter of just where I stand is perplexing but I'm striving on the best I can." How many thousands of church members there are who say: "That's my case as a 7?" Now, really, how may a bad man become a good man? What are the evidences of acceptance with God? How can we know for a certainty that we are all forgiven every minute? We are going to get at something definite and satisfactory that you will never forget, in the sermon Wednesday night. You'll be glad you came.

Thursday night—"Where Did So Many Denominations Spring From?" Who shall decide, when doctors disagree, and soundest casuists doubt, like you and me?

The poet here propounds a question that has troubled many for ages. When great authorities disagree and a man cannot depend upon his own reasoning powers as to what is truth, what is he to do? Is there no way of knowing for a certainty who is right and who is wrong? How are we to know when we arrive? Why do great men differ so widely in their opinions as to what is truth? Is it God's plan that men shall always grope in darkness and confusion and never know for sure that they have found the truth? After all, does it make any difference just as a man is honest in his opinions? What is the real basis of honest opinions? There will be a big crowd present to hear this talk. You ought to be there.

Friday night—"If You Break One You Break Ten." The text for this sermon will be: "Whosoever shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point he is guilty of all." James 2:10. Did you ever hear a preacher preach that the Ten Commandments were abolished at the cross? Does such preaching have any influence in "checking" the great "crime wave" that is sweeping over the land? Can a man keep the Ten Commandments? Was the commandment which says: "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God" abolished? Do we have "nines" commandments now instead of "ten"? This lecture is bound to "stir" something over the town and if you hear the scores of scriptures that will be read Friday night you'll know what to do.

Come once and you'll come again.—Contributed.

be more important to the father than making money, to the mother than to shine as a queen in society. And the clean-hearted boy never loses, even purposely. Isn't it worth while to help him retain the God-given attribute of youth and thus strengthen him for the temptations, the dangers, of his later years? Thus to help the boys demands somewhat of sacrifice, somewhat of patience, but isn't it worth all of both, and more, in order that your boy will be the man you want him to be?—Times-Union.

SURVEYS OF ROAD BUILDING MATERIALS LESSEN COSTS

Road material surveys now being made in several states will give contractors a more definite basis for bidding on road work and result in cheaper costs of construction, says the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture.

In making these surveys, supplies of stone, gravel, sand, slag and other materials are located, samples tested and information secured as to accessibility, freight rates and other factors. This information is of permanent value as supplies are rarely exhausted. By furnishing a contractor information as to the location of satisfactory materials one element of risk is removed, and some of the states report that they have definite proof that such service has resulted in decreased bids.

The bureau of public roads in the course of its operations has tested some 9,000 samples of rock, sand, gravel and slag and reports are available giving the location from which the sample was taken, together with results of tests. There are now sixty-eight laboratories engaged in testing road materials, and data is being rapidly accumulated even in states that are not at this time making an intensive survey.

THE CLEAN-HEARTED BOY

So very much is being said, much of it thoughtlessly, with reference to the so-called degeneracy of the boys of today, that if one listens to all the condemnation, all the fears expressed for the character of men of the succeeding generation, one gets the real cause for apprehension, for "abusers of horrors" in contemplation of the future and what it has in store for the men and women of tomorrow. Therefore, it is a source of intense relief that one reads the hopes of the faith in boys, expressed by Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, in his address to the Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., who is in a position to know boys even more intimately than do most of their parents. As quoted in the Literary Digest, Dr. Stearns in an address to the New York Yacht Club, said:

"The influences which should help guide young people are often lacking. Religion does not have a hold on our children.

"It is pretty nearly gone from the family life, unless it is simply an outward expression of manifestations, and it is not very difficult to get young people to stray away and scoff at the church. When one goes into social life there is nothing there to tell a boy that he should believe that womanhood as a whole is pure and modest and high-minded and far better than he is, and demands of him for his own sake and for hers, that he shall live clean and meet her on an equal plane. Those are the ideals to which we anchored in our youth; but there is nothing in the painted, larcenous, back-bitten girl that a boy generally meets in modern social life, with all her extravagances and her eccentricities, however superficial they may be—and I believe that in the majority of cases they are superficial—but there is nothing to indicate to the boy that that is what the woman expects and demands of him. The boy cannot anchor to that. I have never talked with boys that they had not come back and come back splendidly, and admit those things. They were ready and glad to do anything they could to establish better and finer standards and ideals and conditions, but they tell me again and again: 'Mr. Stearns, even our parents do not set a proper example; even our parents appear to ignore these things.'

"Gentlemen, that is all I want to leave you with, that if you expect your boys of the coming generation to be the kind of men you have them be, every one of you then prove a little more that you want to help to set these things right and to re-establish old standards of morality, to which the boys can anchor. If necessary, be willing to make a little sacrifice, as our parents did for us, that we might be bigger and better, in order that they may enjoy what we enjoy as the result of those same sacrifices on the part of our elders."

This, that Dr. Stearns says, is more nearly an indictment of parents rather than condemnation of youth. Who will say that it is not deserved, that there is in it too much of truth? Are children, especially boys, too much neglected by their parents, especially by their fathers, who need, every now and then, to be reintroduced to their sons, especially in the years of their youth? The answer is for every individual parent.

Dr. Stearns, as above quoted, appealed to every father who heard him, who reads what he said, to "prove a little more that you want to help" to encourage "your boys" to be the sort of men it is desirable that they should be, "to make a little sacrifice for them" to make them want to be in your confidence, rather than in that of strangers, to help them realize their ambitions, guiding these ambitions in the right direction.

The average boy is clean-hearted, naturally. To keep him so ought to

Florida Property Is Increasing in Value Every Day

Particularly is this true of property on the Scenic Highlands and in and adjacent to Avon Park. Our city is growing rapidly, new buildings being started nearly every day. Of course this adds to the value of all property, whether in the city or adjacent thereto.

"HILLCREST"

is close to the city limits of Avon Park. Its groves are increasing in value every day. The trees are growing nicely and show a healthy appearance, making an investment with the Scenic Highlands Development Company an attractive one. In fact, one has but to see the young groves, note the painstaking care being given the trees, consider the location and then ascertain what grove properties are selling for all around us, to become convinced that "HILLCREST" is a gilt-edge proposition.

THE FORD TOURING CAR

HERE is the greatest motor car in all the world. Great because there is more of it in use than of any other car in the world. Great because that in our demand for a million and a quarter Ford cars this year fully 50 per cent of that demand is for the Touring Car. Surely every Ford touring car is a car of great service. You see it wherever you go, day or night, shine or rain, summer or winter—the ever-faithful Ford Touring Car is delivering service and satisfaction, pleasure and economy, in a larger measure than falls to the lot of any other one piece of mechanism in the world.

We can now deliver Ford cars to you with reasonable promptness. Leave your orders without delay, if you would be wise. The prudent man carries his umbrella when it is dry, because any fool can carry one when it rains!

Never forget that right hand to every Ford Touring Car is that ever-dependable and universal "Ford After-Service." Here we are, with the genuine made Ford parts, Ford mechanics, and Ford equipment, to give service to Ford cars instantly, so that your car is never out of commission.

The ego displayed by cub newspaper (7) reporters is to say the least, amusing.

Canned editorials may be better than the ones we write, but we don't like the earmarks.

The free publicity agent is receiving little favorable publicity at the hands of the Florida press. The boys have cut their wish list.

In Tampa they get in jail for selling whiskey. As for those who get there it is alleged they can buy all the whiskey they want (if they have the money).

Every day or so we get some valuable "news matter" from the department of agriculture, telling us how to successfully grow crops that cannot be grown in Florida.

"A new broom is said to sweep clean, but the favorite tool among the politicians is the broom," says some wisecracker. Possibly so, but there are a number of those observed, who prefer the hammer.

Plant City strawberry growers have received nearly three-quarters of a million dollars from their crop this year. And we have just as good strawberry land around Avon Park as can be found around Plant City.

Times-Union: "Thousands of Americans are going to Europe where their money is badly needed and will be welcomed." Who would have thought particularly near their money, they'd have a much better time here than in Europe.

Enactment by the legislature of a stock law and making live stock owners liable for all damages done by their roaming stock will be necessary before the clean-up campaigns being waged in many communities can become permanently effective.

Florida highways in other sections of the state are littered from one end to the other with rusty tin and dilapidated old signs of every description, which mar the natural beauty of the landscape. Signs on tree trunks, fences, bridges, etc., should be abolished.

Times-Union: "Horse sense," remarks the Asheville Herald, "restores stable conditions." But how about employing common sense that will maintain common sense as well as require restoring? And we arise to remark that "automobile sense," in the matter of purchasing, there would have more to do with maintaining stable conditions than "horse sense."

An extensive cattle feeder in Ohio has recently been in correspondence with some cattlemen in Florida regarding the purchase of several hundred steers for fattening, but as there is no way to get the cattle out of the quarantined area under existing conditions, the cattlemen are not able to deliver the stock in Ohio. This condition is going to continue until a legislature provides for the only method which will open the outside markets, the compulsory state-wide systematic dipping of cattle every fourteen days, as required by the federal government.

Carl P. Weidling, managing editor of the Fort Lauderdale Herald, has announced his candidacy for a seat in the lower house of the next legislature to represent Broward county. Mr. Weidling would make a splendid representative, for in his position as editor of a live newspaper he is bound to keep in touch with the needs of all parts of the state. Then too he has the ability which, coupled with a wide acquaintanceship with prominent men all over the state, places him in a position to wield a powerful influence. The people of Broward county will make no mistake in sending Mr. Weidling to the legislature.

Capt. W. W. Williams of Venus, county commissioner from No. 5 and a candidate for the office to succeed himself, spent Tuesday evening in Avon Park. Captain Williams has made a valuable member of the board of county commissioners and if the people of district No. 5 know when they are well off they will not only a progressive and impartial man, but he knows the needs of his district and the county and has consistently worked to bring about results that would benefit both. Highlands county has been well represented both on the board of county commissioners and the school board, by the men serving from Venus, the Hon. M. A. Miller having proven himself a valuable member of the latter board.

REV. TAYLOR'S ADDRESS

One of the most intelligent citizens of Highlands county, who attended the political rally at the Avon Park Venus Saturday, writes as follows concerning the speech made by the Rev. John A. Taylor, candidate for representative:

"John A. Taylor, candidate for membership in the house of representatives, was the first speaker and if the voters are an asset to the winners of this office, the place would be his without a doubt. As Mr. Taylor himself remarked, he did not get much response from his audience, and took it that silence gave consent, and out might have been that on the part of some of the hearers. Mr. Taylor stated clearly his stand on many of the important issues of the campaign.

His ambitions for the educational advancement of the county in making standard high schools and the transportation of children from the rural districts possible, are to be admired, but it can easily be seen by any one knowing the school laws of the state concerning the requirements of standard high schools, and also knowing the sized with which the rural districts are one, that the Rev. Taylor was not in the legislature. These things done unless he spends the next year in the legislature. His address to the women took the form of great praise of their worth and his great desire to make it a division of the legal equal of the men. But when he told how fearful one must be in the women and reverse of a great thing like our antiquated constitution and the law of referring it to committees (usually meaning the graveyard) one realized he was holding a little then. Announcement that he is a candidate for state representative from Highlands county has been sent out by Editor George W. Adams of the Highlands Pilot, published at Avon Park. His platform contains several laudable features which he stands for, among them being full publicity by all expending bodies handling public funds; publicity of laws enacted by municipal, county and state legislative bodies; establishment and maintenance of fish hatcheries in Florida; amendment of state corporation laws to bar "blue sky" concerns; reforestation measures. Mr. Adams' campaign, of course, is local to Highlands county, but it is well enough known in this county, of which he was a resident before division, to deserve more than passing mention. If he is seen to Tallahassee as representative of his county, he will serve faithfully and well, there can be no doubt. His upright character and native ability assure him a following which it is to be hoped will be sufficiently large to put him into the legislative halls at the state capital.—Desoto County News, April 14.

Acadia merchants believe in advertising and that it pays them is evidenced by the fact that they keep continually at it. But actually, it is the success of advertising. A couple of weeks ago the Desoto County News came out with a sixteen-page edition and last week the Acadia Enterprise went to press with a sixteen-page edition, a twenty-four-page edition, sixteen of which were used by F. Morgus Sor. Such advertising as this is the size of Acadia is wonderful and out of the ordinary in larger cities, like Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami or Pensacola. It's the spirit that wins here. Acadia merchants are to be congratulated upon having two newspaper plants equipped to handle a volume of advertising on short notice.

George W. Adams, editor of the Highlands Pilot of Avon Park, has announced his candidacy for the legislature with a constructive platform which includes revision of the constitution, the eradication of no-fence laws, and the provision of a high educational standard and money to pay for it, a no-fence law, limitation of the number of ticks, compulsory spraying of groves and other good measures. How George Adams came to this conclusion is not clear from his platform we do not know, but we do feel assured that he is strong for conservation. George should have no opposition, as he is a vigorous and energetic fighter for progressive legislation.—The Florida Fisherman.

Florida has no objection to electing to high office a man born in another state, only it wants him to have lived here long enough to know a few people by their first name.—Tampa Tribune.

SELECT THE RIGHT MEN

[Tampa Tribune]
With the close of state and county election registrations, and the assumption that all who registered will complete the requirements for voting by paying their poll tax, the next problem that faces the potential voter is selecting the right man, especially for legislative seats.

There are certain things which Florida needs badly, and which it looks to the next legislature for. One among all which is going to cause the most work and activity is the question of "open range" or a "no-fence" law.

J. Walker Pope, one of the liveliest business men of the state, a Winter Haven resident, is thus quoted by the Polk County Record:

"Throughout the state, he says (and he has been traveling for several weeks past), an active interest in the open range question is being shown. In counties where the development of the citrus industry is the paramount interest, the advocacy of fence laws is, of course, most widely spread. But everywhere, the interest increasing over that shown during the big campaign last year, in which he was active, in Lake county, where development is in comparative infancy, the demand for fence laws is especially keen he thinks."

Those who fought a fence law to compel cattle owners to assume the burden of keeping their live stock off the lands of others at the last session, are ten-fold more determined this spring, from all reports, to fight out of existence any possible chance of a no-fence law being enacted next time. They are already offering all kinds of trades and compromises and promises relative to "assisting" in a compulsory "tick dipping law" if the advocates of compulsory fencing one's own cattle against damage to others, will just not urge, or even talk about a no-fence law.

At the last session, the no-fence advocates were told solemnly and repeatedly, "If you will lay off until we get our tick eradication bills through we will help you, but if you introduce any no-fence legislation before we do get the tick dipping act by, you and we both will get nothing." The advocates of the no-fence movement "laid off" as asked; and the result was that the free range men ran away with the legislature, hog-tied it and repealed every controlling act which had been put on the books in years.

That is what they are after now. It is "The true of the bean" all over again, and when we do not shoot at the "horrible hair thing," while it is coming toward us "with hands raised as in prayer," we are flirting with death, or at least maiming for life, for as sure as we permit this Adam-Zad to get within reaching distance of the legislature, without being armed against it, it will "slap the face" and jaw off that body.

Your duty is plain and urged. Select men for the legislature whom you can rely on to do the right thing. Now, because you have them pledged, will advocate, and fight for the eradication of both the cattle tick and the free stock range in Florida. Thousands of acres are being sold this year for development and for those acres, unless the purchasers for development purposes are protected against the range cattle and hogs with their damaging habits and customs, there will be no development made for years.

Select a determined, dependable no-fence man for your legislator, and stick to him and see that he is elected.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Circuit Court, Twelfth Judicial Circuit of the State of Florida, in and for the County of Highlands. In Chancery.

Scenic Highlands Development Company, et al., vs. Oliver M. Crosby and wife, Emma M. Crosby, George Richardson, et al. The above-named defendant, George Richardson, if living and if dead, all parties claiming an interest under the said George Richardson, deceased, or otherwise in the following described property, to-wit: Lot 3, block 1, section 11, township 28 south, range 28 east.

It appearing by sworn bill and affidavit of complainant's solicitors filed in this cause, that they do not know and have been unable to ascertain whether you are dead or alive and if alive you are a resident of a state other than the state of Florida, that your place of residence is unknown, that you are over the age of twenty-one years and that there is no person in the state of Florida serving a subpoena upon whom would bind you and relief being sought against you in said cause.

This is therefore to require you to be and appear and answer the complaint at the office of the clerk of the above-sited court at Sebring, Florida, on or before the 10th day of June, A. D. 1922, and in default of such appearance you are notified that the allegations in the said bill will be taken as confessed by you.

It is further ordered that this order be published in the Highlands County Pilot, a newspaper of general circulation published in Highlands county, Florida, for a period of eight consecutive weeks next preceding the said appearance day.

Given under my hand and seal, at Sebring, Florida, this 25th day of March, A. D. 1922.

C. F. SAUNDERS,

Sensible people will not drink boot-

State Division—Capital Removal

Most of the "Peninsular" folks want the state divided. The reasons are that the people of the south state pay 80 per cent of the state's taxes. The people of the north state are of a different type of human. They are more and better and different citizens. They are builders and progressives.

They are of the higher intellectual and industrial world. The inhabitants of the south state are growers of fruit and vegetables and are not tanners, farmers and sheep growers.

The people of the south state are not wine raisers and their industries and their avocations made of them a quaker witted and more active race of men and women.

The counties of the north state and the west arm of the state are the "backward" type. They of the north and west state do not affiliate warmly with the people of the south state, either socially, intellectually or politically. The people are so markedly different in race, in habit and in the fiber that there is little hope that they will ever reach a perfectly fused citizenship. The people of the south state will not yield a point of political prestige, European culture, wealth and position or power. As bankers and fiduciary agents, the people of the south state will not retard the development of its area as do the bankers and trust companies of the north and west states. The south state increases in population each decade and the west and north areas decrease in population.

This is why the north and west state are rightfully called "backward." It is very plain to the people of the south state that they must be divorced from the people of the west and north state, that state division is uppermost in the thought of the south state people. Every man in the south state is at heart, whether he so utters his decision or not, a state divisionist. Each man in the south state knows that the south state can only be retarded by the west and north portion of the state so long as the great state of Florida remains one unit.

The people of the west and north state will not permit the name "North Florida" to be written into its new charter when the state is divided. They are perfectly willing that the southern portion shall be called "South Florida," but the integrity of the name "Florida" must never be broken and to the north and west must remain the name Florida forevermore.

But the people of South Florida do not care for the political powers of the "other" Florida have done all that they can do and will be permitted to do in holding back the progressive spirit of South Florida and the people of the south state will not tolerate the oppression longer and pay for this throttling in taxes to the north and west state politicians and their constituents.

The heads of the departments of state government make a showing for the west and north state which means that the south state has but little and insignificant representation in the governing body politic.

The railroad commissioners are all from north and west state. The state geologist is a Tallahassee. State auditors are west and north state men.

The state chemist is a resident of Tallahassee. So also are his assistants.

The inspectors in the chemical division, under the commissioner of agriculture, a Holmes county man, are north and west state men. The shell fish and hotel commissioners are west state men. This is the story of the amalgamated association of west and north state men.—West Palm Beach Sun.

HOW TIMES CHANGE

Times do change. For instance, a half century ago Horatio Greely, one of the greatest men of his time, was made famous through a bit of advice given young America of that day in which he urged them to go west in search of their fortunes and future.

Today John Wanamaker, millionaire merchant prince of Philadelphia, pioneer in the merchant world of the east, advises young America to come south to Florida, where opportunities are rich and the future is bright. Wanamaker knows what he is talking about, else he would not have piled up mountains of money in business. He predicts Florida's population will double in five years, and that the young live wire will grow up prosperous with the Sunshine State.

Wanamaker, however, does not mean that every Tom, Dick and Harry should hit the trail Florida-wards in expectation of finding a pot of gold at the rainbow's end. Wanamaker means that there are opportunities aplenty for any man with vision and some capital. He doesn't urge them southwards on a job hunting expedition. He urges young America to come here and invest in the state, work hard and grow prosperous in its growth.

While Florida is one of the oldest states in the Union, it is yet in its infancy. It is, as Wanamaker says, a sleeping giant, just beginning to stir.—St. Petersburg Times.

FLORIDA PEAK WILL BE BIRD SANCTUARY

A special from Lake Wales to the Christian Science Monitor, under date of April 24, says:

"Fourteen acres of land at the peak of the hill near here, known as Iron Mountain, the highest point in Florida, has been purchased by Edward W. Bok of Philadelphia with the intention of establishing on the site a park and bird sanctuary. Mr. Bok, it is said, has told friends he expects to give W. H. Orested, landscape architect, now here, a carte blanche in laying out and beautifying the property."

"Iron Mountain, included in the Mountain Lakes Corporation, is 324.9 feet high and, according to the United States geological survey, is the highest point yet measured in Florida. It also is said to be the highest land with sixty miles of the Atlantic ocean of Gulf of Mexico between Orange Mountain, N. J., and the Rio Grande river."

Japanned English

An enterprising Jap student at one of America's inland colleges, who landed here with practically no English in his vocabulary, secured a job on a farm during the vacation season. He assimilated the language sufficiently enough and soon had a workable command of words—enough to get by with; but the feminine nouns properly applicable to the various domestic animals came near proving a German Marine. One morning he came running in very great haste to the master of the house, gasping as he ran: "Please, honorable Boss, come quickly—hen-pig, she have pups!"—Everybody's Magazine.

MASONS ALWAYS PROMINENT IN EVERY MOVEMENT

Masonry, as an organization, as of course every Mason knows, does not engage in politics nor meddle with political parties, nor with governmental policies.

Nevertheless it is a fact of history, in which all Masons take pride, that during the past two hundred years, Masons have been prominent among the leaders in every movement for reform in government, for the liberty of the people, and for the betterment of social conditions.

The leaders among the men who drafted the Declaration of Independence, with but a few exceptions, were Masons.

And of the men who signed that important document, twenty-four of the fifty-two were Masons. Likewise, the men who led the gallant armies that won the independence of the United States of America, with few exceptions, were Masons, and the first man elected to the presidency of the new-born nation, was a Mason.

Of the twenty-nine presidents of the United States, thirteen have been Masons.

George Washington, the first president, was raised in Fredericksburg Lodge, Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 4, 1750.

Thomas Jefferson, the third president, was made a Mason in colonial times, and with Thomas Paine, attended the Lodge of Nine Sisters in Paris, France, during the French Revolution.

James Monroe, the fifth president, was made a Mason in St. John's Army Lodge in 1777, while serving from a wound. He was a colonel of a company of Virginia troops in the War of the Revolution.

John Quincy Adams, the sixth president, was raised in St. John's Lodge, Boston, Mass., in 1826.

Andrew Jackson, the seventh president, was a member of Philanthropic Lodge, Clover, Bloomington, Tenn., and served as grand master of Masonry of the state of Tennessee in 1821-1823.

James K. Polk, the eleventh president, was raised in Columbia Lodge No. 124, Columbia, Tenn., Sept. 1, 1820.

Andrew Johnson, the seventeenth president, was made a Mason in Greenville Lodge No. 119, Greenville, Tenn.

James G. Garfield, the twentieth president, was raised in Magnolia Lodge No. 26, Columbus, O., Dec. 22, 1864. He was also a Local Arch Mason, Knight Templar and Scottish Rite Mason.

William McKinley, the twenty-fourth president, was raised in Hiram Lodge No. 21, Winchester, Va., May 9, 1865, just a month following the close of the Civil War.

Theodore Roosevelt, the twenty-fifth president, was raised in Matinecock Lodge No. 806, Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1891.

William H. Taft, the twenty-seventh president, was made a Mason at St. Charles S. R. Lodge, grand master of Ohio, at Cincinnati, Feb. 18, 1900.

Warren G. Harding, the twenty-ninth president, was raised in Marion

Lodge No. 70, Marion, O., Aug. 20, 1920. He is also a Royal Arch Mason, a Knight Templar and a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason.

COME TO FLORIDA

Why come to Florida? Because—

It's not so cold in winter. Doesn't take a fortune to keep the family health warm. Not so much danger of la grippe and pneumonia. It's not so hot in summer. The mercury never gets above 96, whereas some places we've heard of have seen better than 106. There's always a breeze.

Florida has lakes in which there are real fish; also Gulf, Atlantic and bay beaches where bathing girls—real bathing girls—are to be seen.

It has fruits—the best that nature provides—so bountifully—oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes, persimmons, mangoes, guavas, strawberries.

It has vegetables—potatoes, tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, lettuce, celery, cabbage, onions, okra.

A man on an acre of ground can make a living for himself and be free from the cares of city life and trying climates.

Let some people don't know this. They laugh when you tell them about it.

Ignorance, of course, but it happens to be their state of mind. Some won't believe when you do tell them.

Most people with sense will believe it if you put it up to them strong enough.

Florida folks, why don't you all get together and send out about a million postcards in the next few months, telling all of your acquaintances in the north and east about the delights of summer in Florida? It will pay a hundred fold. It will make your state grow and prosper.—Tampa Citizen.

PREFERS COMMANDMENTS TO A LONG PRISON TERM

As an alternative to going to prison for ten years for robbing a store of $600, Guy Robbins, a farm hand, has agreed to obey ten commandments laid down by Circuit Judge Senter.

The rules follow: Go to church or Sunday school at least once each week. Give up cigarette smoking for one year.

Stay away from pool halls one year. Read books selected by the public librarian and report to the probation officer what he had read.

Keep employed constantly and keep account of expenditures.

Stay off streets at night except on business.

Keep all laws of state, city or village. Drink no intoxicating liquor.

Pay all court costs in $5 monthly installments.

Report to circuit judge the first day of each court term.—Florida Times-Union.

One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, it is said, but in small towns they get a pretty good line on each other.

GUIDING THE AIR

Commercial aviation, particularly in Europe, is fast approaching a point where it is an accepted mode of travel, and the success of the shorter routes has led to the establishment of lines of international scope.

There is no doubt that the history of these longer routes will be only repetition of the success of the short one and that the flying companies feel assured of this, is evidenced by the plans they are making for the safety and comfort of their passengers.

As the longer air routes become more popular, as they surely will, there will be more and more necessity of night flying and the companies are anticipating this by the erection of lights of high intensity along the line.

Lights of limited intensity and with a visual range of from twenty to forty miles have been in use on the London-Paris route, but these will be dwarfed by the light that is now being installed on the top of Mount Africa, near Dijon, France. This will be of one billion candlepower and will be visible, it is claimed, at a distance of nearly 200 miles under favorable conditions, and will be one of the guide-posts on the international airway between France, Italy and Spain.

Guided by such giant beacons, the airman will fly confidently through the darkness to the landing field where is located the traffic control office. As the airman approaches the landing field, automatic lights will show him the direction and strength of the wind, while the controller of the field will give him by wireless telephone any special information that he may wish for his flight.—Everett J. Lovett, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

South Florida New Episcopal Diocese

The new mission church in 1922 and 1923, the history of the Episcopal church in South Florida occurred at the annual convention of the churches of the state at Miami Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, when the missionary district of South Florida was elected to the diocese of South Florida.

This action followed announcement that the $100,000 endowment fund necessary as a pledge of the permanency of the new diocese was completed, the work having been done largely through the efforts of Bishop Cameron Mann.

Erection of the former missionary district into a diocese gives South Florida four clerical delegates to the triennial convention of the Episcopal church of the United States, the first held at Portland, Ore., beginning Sept. 6.

CLAYS OF FLORIDA ARE TO BE INVESTIGATED BY FLORIDA GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

The state of Florida has an abundance of clay suitable for the manufacture of various clay products. There are several plants now making common building brick and some making drain tile and building tile. Florida also produces quantities of highest grade ball clay or kaolin. This is shipped out of the state to potteries in the north for manufacture into various porcelain wares. In the production of fullers' earth, a variety of clay used in the clarifying of crude oils, Florida leads all the other states of the union. The total value of clay and clay products for 1920 was $2,975,732.

Provisions have been made for the preparation of a detailed report on this important natural resource. Professor Olin G. Bell of the department of geology, Cornell University, will have active charge of the investigations. Mr. Bell's association with

Dr. H. Ries, director of the department of geology of the institution mentioned and a recognized authority on the clays of the United States, gives assurance of the reliable character of the report.

Field work will begin in the latter part of June and will continue for several weeks. Samples of clay will be collected and analyzed and tested in the laboratory of Cornell University. The state geological survey invites the co-operation of everyone interested in this matter. Correspondence should be addressed to Herman Gunter, state geologist, Tallahassee.

Samson Trucks for Every Farm Use and All Deliveries

The result of ripened experience in invention, designing engineering and manufacturing

HERE IS A TRUCK ADMIRABLY SUITED FOR THE AVERAGE HEAVY LOADS OF THE FARM, AS WELL AS FOR CITY AND TOWN USES, FOR LOADS THAT DO NOT RUN ABOVE ONE AND ONE-QUARTER TONS. IT FILLS THE HAULING AND DELIVERY REQUIREMENTS OF NINE OUT OF TEN LINES OF BUSINESS AND IS ECONOMICAL ON TIRES AND GASOLINE.

Farmers can cut hauling and delivery costs right square in two with Samson Trucks. According to statistics, compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture, it costs an average of twice as much to haul farm products by wagon as it does to transport them by motor truck.

The new Samson Truck will save big money for the butcher, grocer, hardware man, implement dealer, ice man or any other line of retail business, because they will not eat up all the profits in first cost or upkeep. They are the ideal truck for the merchant or manufacturer.

Complete With Front Fenders and Platform, Bumper, Seat, Seat Cushions, Lamps, Horn

IN 1/2-TON AND 1 1/4-TON CAPACITIES ARE NEW, DIFFERENT AND OUTSTANDING. THEY ARE BUILT TO SERVE AND FILL THE LONG FELT NEED OF THOROUGHLY DEPENDABLE TRUCKS AT RIGHT PRICES FOR HAULING AND DELIVERING EVERY KIND OF COMMODITY IN CITY, TOWN AND COUNTRY.

The superior points and special features of these two trucks put them in a class by themselves—entirely apart from every other truck on the market. The special features are worthy of the most rigid and closest investigation from truck buyers.

Samson Trucks have the rare combination of wide utility and great economy in first cost and upkeep. They are the product of ripened experience in invention, designing and engineering. The low prices of Samson Trucks are the result of quantity production.

HOW ORANGES WERE INTRODUCED INTO FLORIDA

The incoming pioneers of Florida found many groves of wild oranges. John Francis Tenny, who came from Vermont in 1839 and settled near Palatka, close to Federal Point, states that there were at that time three orange groves in that vicinity; also one at Hart's Point, opposite Palatka, and two at Orange Mills. In a paper read fifty years ago before the State Fruit Growers Association, A. J. Harris, a prominent pomologist, identified with citrus culture in the state, read a paper on the history of the wild orange in Florida. He said there were two varieties, the sour and bitter sweet, but very much akin. After careful study and investigation he had arrived at the conclusion that they should be classified as the Bigarade or Seville, as they were sometimes called, due to the fact that the Moors had planted about that Spanish city, great groves of this variety.

Every Apple Shipped Affects Citrus Prices

Every apple, every pineapple, every fruit sold in America's market has some effect upon the prices of citrus. Every grower will admit that while no one fruit entirely replaces another the sale of each fruit is dependent to some extent upon supplies and offerings of other fruits.

Recognizing that fact isn't it well for the Florida citrus grower to keep in touch with the supplies and movements of all other fruits during his marketing season.

It may be impossible for the individual grower or association to maintain representatives in every production district in America for quick and accurate information of supplies and shipments but he gets the advantage of such information by marketing through the American Fruit Growers Incorporated.

The A. F. G. has representatives in every important production section in the country.

It handles forty-five kinds of fruit and vegetables and is always in touch with production and marketing conditions in each line.

Its representatives keep each other posted. The A. F. G. Orlando headquarters not only gets first-hand information from its own representatives on citrus selling conditions in the market but information on shipments of all other commodities.

American Fruit Growers Incorporated

them, possibly more for their own use than to use them for planting. He found many people who believed the fruit was indigenous to the state, but offset this with the argument that the Spanish historians never made mention of finding such a fruit in a strange land; furthermore, the groves of this fruit were usually found in the vicinity of ancient Indian camps. This he took as evidence that the Indians had carried the seed from the central seat of civilization about St. Augustine into the interior; this was strengthened by the fact that the groves were most frequently found in the vicinity of lakes or on the margins of rivers, such spots are usually selected for the site of a camp.

The largest of these wild groves covered hundreds of acres, such being the one at Orange lake, in Marion county; the next in size were those at Lakes Griffin and Harris, in Sumter county, and also at Lakes Ware, Bryant, Joseph, George and Ahapoka. The groves named as being bordered by these self-planted groves were the Ochlawaha, Withlacoochee, St. Johns, Halifax, Indian; some few were found west of the Apalachicola. He stated that none were found south of the thirtieth (Melbourne) or north of the twenty-eighth (Green Cove Springs) degree of latitude.

Many of these native groves were cut down during the process of clearing the land for cultivation to cotton or other crops. As early as 1870 some use was made of the blossoms for extracting from them their volatile oil which was used in making perfumes; from the skins of the fruit was distilled citric acid, which found a market in Philadelphia at $1.50 a gallon for a well reduced or heavy boiled fruit extract. Mr. Harris stated that as early as 1869 a Mr. Stockwell had a grove of trees at "Palatka" that he had huddled and two years later Mr. Harris himself began building sour stock, as the small trees are called, in sections for sweet oranges. Exchange.

WHAT IS EFFICIENCY?

What is efficiency?
It is doing things, not wishing you could do them, dreaming about them or wondering if you can do them. It is the power to learn how to do things by doing them, as learning to walk by walking, or learning to sell goods by selling them.

It is knowing how to apply, theory to practice.
It is the trick of turning defeat into experience and using it to achieve success.

It is the ability to mass one's personal energy at any given time or place. It is skill in quick mobilization of one's resources.

It is making everything that is past minister to the future.

It is the elimination of the three microbes of weakness—regret, worry and fear.

It is self-reliance clothed with modesty.

It is persistence plus politeness. It is alertness, presence of mind, readiness to adjust one's self to the unexpected.

It is sacrificing personal feelings to the will to win.

It is the measure of a man, the real size of his soul.

It is the ability to use one's passions, likes, dislikes, habits, experience, education, mind, body and heart—and not to be used by these things.

It is self-mastery, concentration, vision and common sense.

It is the sum total of all that is in a man.—Exchange.

A Real Benefit

"How I envy you your group of children," remarked the bachelor to his long-married friend.

"Children certainly do brighten the home," replied the other, gratified.

"What? Oh, yes, yes, of course. But what I was thinking of—look at the tax exemption you can claim on them."

A Woman's Reason

Congresswoman Robertson says she is a republican because Andrew Jackson, not her grandfather, in jail. And an exchange says this is a better reason than many people can give for their choice of a party.—Gulf Coast Breeze.

Everybody is talking about the problems of marketing nowadays. Much there not to be a lesson taken from the bees? Just see how they sell their honey.

Bradley Wilson says: "Common sense is the most talked of, and least used, of any of the human senses."

"Do you want a job diggin' potatoes?" asked the farmer.

"Yes, provided it's diggin' 'em out of gravy."

"They Satisfy"

REPORT OF PRESIDENT WALDEN OF AVON PARK WOMAN'S CLUB

In reviewing the work done by the Woman's Club in the past seven months, I find that we followed pretty closely the outline made at the beginning of this club year in which we decided to give the most of our time to community work, to health work and to education. Not all has been done that we set out to do, but on the other hand we have made a mighty effort where we did not expect to do anything.

I was elected your president Oct. 7, 1921, and have presided at every meeting save one since that time. Oct. 17 I was elected chairman of the Child Conservation League, which then voted to become the child welfare department of the Woman's Club, and I was present at every meeting of that department until March 23. We then decided to adjourn immediately because the attendance had dwindled to three or four members and no member on the program was present. In justice to those who have small children, let me say that the weather was bad on several of the afternoons when the meetings should have been held and that the sun shone gloriously every other day in the week.

I made no note of the letters written last year, but this year I have sent seventeen postals, thirty letters, five telephone messages, 18 S-Sing and three newspapers to our visiting officials.

The most important work of the club has clearly been the raising of funds for the school when it was announced that they would close for lack of county funds. This was community service of the highest order, rightly belonging to the order of American citizenship, as it has been classified by the general federation, and we all took hold with a right good will. The proceeds of all of the entertainments given since the middle of February went to the school funds, and we succeeded in adding two months to the grades and three months to the high school, by the united efforts of all of the church societies, the picture show, Woman's Club and school commission's helping. Also under the head of community service may be mentioned our letters to the mayor on the violations of the prohibition amendment, the violations against the ordinances on gambling and the intimidation of some members of our colored population; the notices to the marshal for inspection of several public nuisances; our celebration of Armistice Day; our selection of the name Verona for the new park; the purchase of lamps and payment of bill for lighting the community Christmas tree; the donations of camphor trees by one of our members for Verona Park; by donating $17 to lighting and water fund for the school; the repairing of the tier in front of the school house; the donation of a table to the school. This record would not be complete if I did not mention some of the failures in our community work. We failed to have our curfew ordinance enforced, and we failed in securing two ordinances asked for and submitted to us, one for jay walking, the other in providing that Avon Park become a bird sanctuary. We failed to organize a Boy and Girl Scout movement, though largely because no leader for either could be found. But one of the best things we have succeeded in doing is in putting aside the sum of $135 for a sinking fund for our community house, which brings our club headquarters so much nearer realization. Also under the head of American citizenship we may class our letter to President Harding asking for the appointment of Mrs. Alice Ames Winter, president of the G. P. W. C., to a place on the council of the arms conference at Washington, D. C. Likewise the letter to Col. W. H. Thompson of the advisory committee of the conference protesting against the use of submarines, poison gas and other means of destruction. The lessons in citizenship, the study of the town charter and the procuring of 200 copies of a moral code for boys and girls which are to be used in the near future, are all activities in the study of Americanization.

While the chautauqua of Feb. 24-27 has no official mention in our minutes I may fairly claim that the successful raising of the $500 fund was in a measure due to efforts of our club members. And the refusal to entertain the proposition for its return next year was altogether due to the club.

Our charity work has been a creditable part of our year's accomplishment. We took care of one family, furnishing groceries, clothing and housing part of the time until the death of the mother, donating also, rather on this and other cases $21.91. The different club members who served on this relief committee and who gave service that can never be paid for in money deserve the highest commendation. At Christmas funds to the amount of $81.07 were raised by the raising and nearly all of it was sent on baskets for the worthy poor. Besides local charity the club gave $10 towards the girls' scholarship fund, $5 towards a victrola as a Christmas present to the home for epileptics and feeble-minded at Gainesville, and $15 to the home for orphan children at Jacksonville. Our health work, under the classification of public welfare, has been as important as our community service, and we have worked at it unceasingly from first to last. The first public health lecture was given Oct. 24 by Dr. H. Hixon, executive secretary of the Florida Health Association. This lecture and the sale of Red Cross seals amounting to $103.30 were under the direction of Mrs. Henry Stevenson, chairman of the public welfare committee. By reason of the sale of seals we were rewarded by the health association by holding of a one day tuberculosis clinic. This clinic was held by one of the best specialists in Florida, assisted by two special nurses. Forty-one subjects were examined, nineteen of them colored, with one suspicious case; twenty-one whites were examined with two positives, four suspicious and many cases found of diseased tonsils, adenoids and four hookworm suspects.

An address by Mrs. Lewis on the health work in Arlington county, Va. public schools, showing the progress made in teaching personal hygiene to the pupils was given Dec. 10 and was full of interest. Your president recommended this address to the Sebring Woman's Club, which took prompt advantage of it and asked Mrs. Lewis for a program for their club. The pupils of Miss Sadie Myers also gave a very interesting program showing the amount of work that has been done in one room in our schools along that important line. Ordinances on pure food and the protection of food from flies were studied and grocers notified of need for stricter sanitary measures. Also a correspondence was carried on with the state board of health concerning the small-pox and typhoid situations from which we are promised a visit and a lecture from some state health officer during our health campaign. Our educational work has included many activities from which your president has benefited more persons than any other member of the club. The first was the annual meeting of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs held at Gainesville Nov. 15 to 18, 1921, to which the club generously paid my expenses. This meeting gave me my first opportunity of getting acquainted with Florida club women, of hearing some very fine music, and getting first-hand information of the splendid achievements in domestic science and of the very great needs of the state to change laws to meet present conditions. At the convention I took many notes and afterwards had time to digest and classify the various subjects treated and while there I was in constant contact with the fine womanhood of Florida. The Lawrence of Sebring on "Woman in Politics," the symposium on "What

"Joy rides" frequently result in funeral dirges.

The character assassin is unusually active right about now.

If you want to learn just how ornery you are, run for public office.

It took some candidates a long time to learn just where they stood. But the "bosses" told them what to say.

How to adjust a carburetor is a more important question now than how to cure shoulder galls on work horses.

Only two more days in which to pay your poll taxes, which will qualify you to vote in the primary election, if you have registered.

Times-Union: "Would you call a prohibition orator a waterpout? No, but if you get near some of them, we would advise wearing a gas mask."

No one has as yet announced as a candidate for county superintendent, subject to the democratic primary election in June. Time to come out, gentlemen.

Times-Union: "When the United States navy is completely scrapped what will we do with all the admirals and captains?" Foulsham, think of course.

An honest candidate has the courage of his convictions and would rather be defeated than do an issue or give out a false impression as to his attitude toward constructive legislation.

Every 100 per cent American's duty is to qualify to vote and then go to the polls and exercise the right of franchise, voting for the man who conscientiously think will best fulfill the duties of the office.

Times-Union: "The reason a married man envies a bachelor is because only about two weeks out of the year can a married man feel like a bachelor feels all the time. And which of the fifty-two weeks are those, please?"

When general farming becomes one of the important agricultural pursuits in Highlands county, the Pilot will devote all the space necessary to encourage that industry. At the present time, however, our space is worth more for other purposes.

Judge Rhonda M. Call has decided that "prohibition agents must account to the courts for every dollar in exorbitant figures they seize in any raid." That's going to be pretty tough on some of the agents who have been in the habit of holding out a few bottles of the best for their own personal use and that of their friends.

"Van Horn Has Right Idea" is the heading in the Herald over an article in which the editor of the Florida Pilot expresses his ideas with reference to certain matters of public import. The best of it is that Editor and Citizen Van Horn does not keep his ideas to himself, as do many who otherwise might help in the work of progress and advancement of the state.—Times-Union.

The gasoline tax law has been declared unconstitutional and some are urging an immediate extra session of the legislature to pass a constitutional law. With the amount of money (not expended) in South Florida for good roads, for which we believe an extra session will not meet with much enthusiasm. We don't get the road money anyway, consequently that I cent a gallon reduction in the price of gas "helps some."

Polk county superintendent of public instruction makes the announcement that salaries of teachers in that county will not be reduced next term and that the term will remain the same eight months. No sensible school board will even think of reducing salaries, if teachers competent to earn their salaries are obtainable. Quality counts and when you secure an article of quality you must pay quality prices. The public does not want anything shoddy in the way of school teachers.

Ex-Governor Albert Gilchrist should receive a splendid vote in Charlotte, DeSoto, Hardee, Highlands and Glades counties. The ex-governor rendered these counties a splendid service when the county division fight was on and his loyalty to the state is unquestioned. We heard a so-called newspaper man say a few days ago that he could not conscientiously support ex-Governor Gilchrist because he thought should happen to be elected and the question of repealing the Volstead act came up, Mr. Gilchrist would favor its repeal. We do not believe anything of the kind and in our opinion there is no comparison between the ex-governor and his opponent, when it comes to statesmanship. The best that can be said for Park is that he is a shrewd politician and the worst we know is that he can't do us any harm.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SECURE NEEDED LEGISLATION

[Times Times]

The folly and imprudence of the cattlemen in opposing tick eradication is being demonstrated almost daily. Not very long since a big cattle feeder in Ohio wanted several hundred head of steers for feeding, and not knowing the conditions that prevail in Florida, corresponded with some well known cattlemen of the state as to the prospect of supplying his needs here. Yes, they had the steers to meet his wants, and would be only too glad to sell them, provided he could get permission to ship them out of the state. The federal quarantine requirement of a tickless cattle out of the state was an insuperable barrier, and the prospect of a favorable sea-faring steersman was dashed away. The glorious triumph which the stockmen achieved in the last legislature in doing away with compulsory dipping has proved a boomerang which is constantly returning to plague the inventor. It has cost the stockmen many times over the expense and trouble of dipping in the destruction of an outlet for their stock.

The present stock law of Florida is a relic of a by-gone era. It is a menace to the settler and a great hindrance to the state's development. It is undemocratic in that it grants special privileges to a small minority of the people, against the protests of a great majority. The time is now ripe for the abolishment of this ancient privilege. The stockmen have had a bitter lesson, and it is believed they will not oppose the enactment of a statewide compulsory dipping law. Such a law is their only salvation, for it would be the height of folly to try to control the tick with all the markets of the nation closed against them. But the eradication of the tick will be a long and tedious process, and would be accompanied with many backward and hindrances. In closed pastures it can be done within three years at most. And in closed pastures the only possibility of improvement of the stock of cattle must be done before Florida can take its true position as one of the great cattle states of the Union.

So that he could return to his wife and enjoy her love again, Louis Dawson of Milwaukee, Wis., walked into a police station and confessed that he had forged checks worth $301. He had signed his brother's name to such checks and had cashed them at Springfield, Ill., were seeking him, he admitted.

The Public Will Approve

The supreme court in a decision just filed holds that a person who causes the death of another by negligence while operating an automobile may be guilty of manslaughter. The opinion is by Judge West and is concurred in by all the other judges. The charge was that the defendant, Joseph C. Hobbs of Duval county, in doing away with a compulsory dipping has proved a boomerang which is constantly returning to plague the inventor. It has cost the stockmen many times over the expense and trouble of dipping in the destruction of an outlet for their stock.

Will Aid Pecan Growers

Steps have been taken by the United States department of agriculture to aid pecan growers who have suffered severe losses during the past season because of the unusual outbreak of pecan kernel spot disease. The finest varieties of pecans have been attacked, particularly the Schley, and many splendid groves, bearing well, have shown severe losses at harvest because of the disease. This condition has greatly interfered with the marketing of the crop, because just as they were about to bearing.

Let the People Decide

North and West Florida say we can't have the family name, but must rig up another name for our state when it is divided. That's all right about the name, sports, we will have the name issue printed on the ticket and vote on whether we get it or not. That ought to be fair, hasn't it? Arcadin Enterprise.

The store of A. N. Williams, Mer Rouge, La., was robbed recently, a pair of shoes being the only loss. Apparently the shoes didn't please the burglar, for he made a second trip to the store. He returned the shoes but in their place took a pair more comfortable. On his second visit he also helped himself to canned goods and $5 in cash.

Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Parker went to Tampa Sunday, returning with Capt. and Mrs. P. G. Murphy, the captain and Mrs. Parker driving back two new Studebaker cars.

Mrs. Willie Williams and two sons of Fort Bassinger returned several days here last week. They were guests of Mrs. Williams' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Roberts.

L. H. Parker, who has for some weeks been engaged in architectural work in St. Petersburg, spent the week-end here with his family, returning to the Sunshine City Monday.

B. H. Griffin, C. J. Wilson, Harmon Head and W. E. McCarthy, baseball fans of Fort Meade, were in Avon Park the latter part of last week on business connected with the summer schedule for the coming season.

Clare Mann, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Thompson and H. E. Woodruff made an automobile trip to Brooksville Tuesday morning for a few days outing. At Brooksville they visited the Wernickes and Hinkleys, former Avon Park residents.

S. Y. Hart, H. F. R. Reck, Roy Masters, H. A. Jones, A. J. Nichols, directors of the Avon Park Citrus Growers Association, and N. G. Langford, local manager, made a trip to Hartow Monday to attend a meeting of the Polk County Sub-Exchange.

W. T. Leadbetter and H. D. Everett of Cloudland, Ga., were registered at the Penn-Cent Wednesday. The gentlemen were here in an effort to interest some of our citizens in the Cloudland Park Club on Lookout mountain, but with what success we are unable to state.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pearson were in Avon Park Monday calling on friends. They were en route to their summer home in Nashville, Tenn. A letter from them, written at DeLand, states that they will return to Avon Park early next fall. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson have a host of friends here to welcome their return.

Miss Vera McGinnis returned today from Winter Park, where she had been attending Rollins College. Miss Vera has made such rapid advancement in her studies that her final examination was given and certificate awarded twenty days before the close of the term. This is a showing of which Miss Vera and her parents and friends are naturally proud.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, mother of Mrs. A. McKee Elwell, who has been spending the eight months here with her daughter and son-in-law, departed for her home in Pittsburgh, Pa., Tuesday. Mrs. Thompson fell in love with Avon Park and Avon Park people while here and says she would rather live here than in any other place she ever saw. We trust she will soon return and make this her permanent residence.

C. V. Smith, worshipful master of Pougham Lodge No. 2277 P. & A. M., accompanied by Walter Scott, Paul Vinson and Sam Dickinson of Sebring, attended a Masonic school instruction in Wauchula Thursday of last week. Four fellowcraft Masons were raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. A splendid luncheon was served by the members of the Wauchula Lodge and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance.

The Rev. C. E. Gutteridge spent the fore part of the week in Tampa.

Clifford Pierce of Fort Bassinger spent a short while in Avon Park Monday evening. Mr. Pierce is a candidate for county commissioner in his district.

P. G. Murphy drove to Tampa Sunday evening Monday afternoon. He was after more Studebaker cars, with which he is supplying many of our citizens and tourists of the surrounding country.

W. H. Farnell of Crewsville was in the city this morning, on his way to visit Tom Watson and Florida Favorite waterfowl. Mr. Farnell has a splendid crop of about six acres of this delicious fruit.

C. W. Palmer returned home from Haines City Monday night. He left Tuesday for Arcadia, where he will have charge of the erection of a school building for which W. L. Smith & Co. have the contract.

R. C. Epperson returned Saturday from Sebring, where he had been looking after business interests for two weeks. He says that section of the state is saturated with waterfowl, but that it has not been broken.

Capt. W. W. Williams of Venus, county commissioner from that district, was an Avon Park visitor Monday. He is expected to be re-elected to the position he now holds, which will be a mighty good thing for his district, as well as the county at large.

Fifteen of our young people enjoyed a picnic on the south shore of Lake Jackson Sebring Wednesday night. The party was composed of W. O. Spear, Miss Joy Parker, Alvin Dutton, Jack Dowling, Fred Crews, Myrtle Conoley, Melville Bass, Ellie Harris, Parker Anderson, Margaret Bell, N. Smith, Bensley Palmer, Rollie Lawton, Elizabeth Andrews and R. J. Ford.

R. C. Petersen, who now holds a responsible position with the Candler Lumber Company, at Kissimmee, spent the week-end here with his family. He has charge of the Kissimmee office of the Candler Lumber Company, whose main offices are in Atlanta. The Petersen family and household goods were moved to Kissimmee this week. Avon Park citizens regard this as a most estimable family, but congratulate Kissimmee upon its acquisition.

H. P. West arrived in Avon Park yesterday morning for a short stay. He is here to look after his property interests on his Lake Lotella property by Contractor D. E. Farnell. Mr. West is to make this one of the most beautiful places in this section of the country and is sparing no expense to carry out his idea of the house beautiful. Avon Park people will be pleased when Mr. and Mrs. West make this their permanent home.

Theodore Adams, father of the Pilot's editor, departed Monday for Chicago, where he will visit another son for some time and then pay a visit to his old home in Bristol, Ind. He had been making his home with his son George for the past three years and if his health will permit will return to Florida next fall. He was taken as far as Haines City by P. H. Adams, entraining there for Jacksonville, from which place the remainder of the journey will be made on the Dixie Flyer, with no change of cars between Jacksonville and Chicago.

A number of Miss Myrtle Conoley's friends gathered at her home Friday evening, celebrating a pleasant surprise upon her, the occasion being her 15th birthday anniversary. The time was agreeably passed playing games, etc., and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Miss Myrtle was the recipient of many appropriate gifts. The guests were Bertha Conoley, Lola Stapp, Carolyn Park, Ora Hargraves, Nona Crews, Elizabeth Clark, Bertha Raines, Mary Sapp, Luntia Adams, Mrs. Edna Jones, Bernard Clark, Norwood Lockett, Dewitt Garrett, Forrest Noland, Elmer Stuckey, Forrest Park and Rudolph Conoley.

Mrs. John A. Caldwell and baby Helen returned Monday from a pleasant week's visit with Thomas and Rebecca, in college at Winter Park, near Orlando, where all were week-end guests at a delightful house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Overstreet. The "Rollins" boys and girls did good work in the college play, "Notre Dame of Youth," presented in one of Orlando's prettiest theaters on Friday night. Mrs. Caldwell also speaks in high praise of the exceptionally attractive May Day celebration on the college campus, in which many of Avon Park's young people took active parts. The Rollins-Glee Club added much to the occasion. The club has enjoyed a very successful year, having given recitals in various places, especially enjoying the East Coast, giving their twelfth recital at West Palm Beach.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Program for the Week, Beginning Monday, May 15

Monday—"Lying Lips," a picture that will make you lean forward in your seat and will hold your interest from start to finish. Remember that Monday's picture is always a big one and "Lying Lips" is one of the greatest of the year. Also a two-reel comedy, making a two-hour show.

Tuesday—"A special production has been looked for this day. Watch the screen.

Thursday—"To Much Wife," featuring Constance Binney. This is a picture spiced with just enough comedy that goes a long way toward making the moving picture business the world's third greatest industry. Don't fail to see the picture, a two-reel comedy.

Friday—"Reckless Chances" Ten strong men were against him and what they wanted was his life's blood. There has been a man who has had a chance for his life against ten times his number, especially when they are professional soldiers. But he simply could not die. See the picture and you will not regret it. Also the ninth chapter of "Hurricane Huteh."

Saturday—"The Desert Blossom," with William Russell. This is the third of the new western pictures we have contracted for. Also a two-reel comedy, "For Land's Sake."

Sunday, May 13, Tom Mix in "Rough Diamond." Monday, May 22, "The Silent Call."

Conserve the Forests

To the lover of Nature, forest conservation means more than increased timber supply. It means the conservation of wild life; it means multiplicity of homes for our feathered friends. Bird sanctuaries are absolutely essential if we are to protect and preserve our native species of wild birds. Increased bird life means added prosperity; it means delight to the eye and music to the ear. Our literature is rich in its mention of bird life, in song and story. It is important, however, that two features of our future generations the living wild birds of Florida. The children of the future must have an opportunity to get their conception of birds from Nature, the possession of the earth.

The Avon Park and Fort Meade ball teams are crossing bats here to-day. It is too early to tell the result of the game, but we can safely say the Fort Meade aggregation will get a good run for its money, even though it is an exceptionally strong team.

Hares and Rabbits

What's a hare, and what's a rabbit? Many confuse them. In the first place, the hare never burrows. The young are born on the surface. Their eyes are open from the first. A hare a week old can almost care for itself. The rabbit litters in a burrow, dug by its own or previous maternal care, and from its own body sticks, fur to line the nest and cover the young. They are blind, naked and helpless at birth, and their eyes may not open for twelve days. Litters include from six to twelve. Only the wild cotton tail usually is able to nest in tall, tufted grass. The male hare is plumper of ear and of body than the rabbit, and has more noticeably developed hind limbs. Thus the Belgian hare, no calmer, falls outgaitedly into the rabbit group along with the Flemish, Blue, New Zealand Red, the Giants and many others. So also do the Lops, the Himalayans and the Dutch. All these will burrow if allowed to do so.

The watermelon crop this year promises to be a large one. It will be largely a waste of time and money to plant this small ones. Large ones can be had by pruning down the vines from one to three on a vine. Large melons are always picked out by consumers.

STORY OF FLORIDA IS

RICH WITH ROMANCE

In the days of long ago Florida called to the Spaniards to come to the cities of Eldorado and the fountain of youth. The Spaniards' call is far-reaching. It is answered by people from every other state in the Union, so appealing is its invitation and so satisfying the visitors stay within its boundaries.

Florida as yet is an untamed field for fictionists, the facts of the early days read like romance, and one can find a background of the most fascinating setting for an old-time story or a modern one.

Florida, we are told, was the scene of the first settlement by Europeans upon what is now the territory of the United States. Historians and poets write of the oldest settlement of the New World naming Jamestown and the Plymouth Colony, forget or unknowing of the fact that St. Augustine is now than a generation older than either.

Florida is at once the oldest and newest country on our Atlantic seaboard or on our Gulf Coast. There is found a mixture of the antique and the most modern. The oldest town and the newest. The ancient gates and battlements of St. Augustine lead due to the unfolding of a tale more marvellous than one can readily believe is based on fact.

The story of Pensacola living under several flags, reads like an epic poem. A life-time could be spent in studying about the days when the land was left their couch in the musical names of the rivers, towns, lakes, etc. The war with the Indians of Florida is a story of the bloodiest ever carried on with Indians. One of the most deadly battles of the civil war was fought in Florida and its point of members engaged the aggregate loss was greater than Gettysburg or Chancellorsville.

DeSoto made his starting point within the borders of Florida. Florida is rich in legends and romance. The state stands out with interest as having within its borders a race of people who recognize no government and no laws but their own—the Seminoles.

Home of Many Famous Persons Florida is the chosen home of many famous people. We learn that it took the health-giving air of Florida to bring General Andrew Jackson back to health. Harriet Beecher Stowe was made well by the revivifying air. Sidney Lawler, the author of the South, loved Florida and had reason to bless this great sanatorium of nature for renewed health.

In Campbell's Historical Sketches of Colonial Florida we read a historical romance which in itself is the basis of a wonderful story yet to be written. In the teaching of the great Tecumseh, the Shawnee, who came among the Seminoles and Creeks in 1821 and excited their hostility against the Americans, we find this basis: "Superstition and necromancy, too, were employed to enforce his teachings. A comet, which appeared in the last days of September of that year, was pointed as a sign placed in the heavens by the Great Spirit as a promise of wrath and destruction to the white man and a promise of redemption to the Indian. He had the temerity, even to foretell a great natural phenomenon which he was to be the proximate cause, as an evidence his mission was inspired. When I speak of Detroit I shall show my foot and the earth will tremble and rock, and strange to relate, at about the time of time the comet appeared, came an earthquake was felt throughout the Creek country, when from all sides came the cries of awestricken Indians: 'Tecumseh has reached Detroit and stamped his foot.'"

To each of his converts he gave a red stick, an emblem of war and hence the hostile Creeks became known as "Red Sticks."

Around the fact of Murat, the exiled prince, having lived in Florida during almost the entire territorial period, might be woven an interesting story, as also the hiding for two months of Judah P. Benjamin, the Confederate secretary of state.

A Land of Great Accomplishment Take the accomplishments of men of modern times. The greatest boon to humanity ever invented, artificial ice, is the product of a great Florida mind, John Gorrie, of Apalachicola, whose statue finds a place in the national hall of fame at Washington. A Florida sculptor has the honor of making this statue, C. Arlan Pillus of Jacksonville.

One of the most stupendous engineering feats of history was accomplished in Florida—that of building a railroad from the mainland to Key West, a distance of 130 miles across marshes, islands and the sea. Roman interest stories without number could be based upon the work, privations and hardships encountered by the engineers and workmen who were chosen to put this great venture through.

Governor Broward's great scheme of draining the Everglades would make a foundation of the greatest reclamation story ever written. The working out of Charles Willis Ward's hobby, the conservation of game birds, would be highly interesting to all nature lovers, for Florida has many rare birds left in spite of plume hunters, and to describe them in their natural habits would be a task of ineffable pleasure to one with adequate command of beautiful language.

Florida proved the land where which drew nationally noted people to make winter homes here. Col. Henry Watkinson, the veteran editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal; Hon. William J. Bryan, "the peerless leader"; Mrs. Potter Palmer, one of the social queens; the wizard Thomas A. Edison.

and scenery weaves a poetic spell around the most prolific people. If one lives near the edge of the beautiful rivers, lakes or bays and is inspired by the swishing of waves, cloud reflections and picturesque water scenes or finds rest in the heart of the fragrance-filled pine woods, there seems ever to be something uplifting and hopeful.

Florida! What a magic lies in the word! To me it brings forth visions of fragrant, golden-fruited groves; moss-draped oaks and fern covered flames; golden glows of armada and flaming red poinsettias; foam flecked waves or glistening beaches; coral islands and phosphorescent paths in the water by the gently flowing boats.

Florida! In fancy I live again the lovely nights with music afloat, when gentle breezes, through honeycombed lodges, brought the calls and hums of the phippoorwill, when the air was soft and flushed and swallows dipped and flitted lightly over the lovely bay.

Such a scene as one could see across Sarasota Bay! "Sarasota Bay," brings to mind a beautiful legend written by George Fleming Chaplin. A legend told by the native and enlarged upon by an imaginative mind that Sarasota was the name for DeSoto's daughter Sara.

"Where the live oak and the bay tree And the palm and china tree Are ying with each other in Honor to the bay."

Where the winds so spicy laden, Bringing dreams of distant Adieu. Come curling and a whirling up The purple, dimpled bay.

of FLORIDA—by FLORIDA—for FLORIDA

Consider These Points

The history, aims and purposes of the Florida Citrus Exchange may not be told in a few words. They are identical with those of the citrus industry in Florida. The two cannot be intelligently separated.

After more than a dozen years of successful operation, the Florida Citrus Exchange today typifies the success of co-operative marketing carried on with the true co-operative spirit.

It is co-operative marketing that all the producers of the United States today are turning and everywhere the Florida Citrus Exchange is regarded as a model of efficient service to members.

Whatever the problems of the future they must be met by the co-operation of the growers—those who own the land and the trees which produce citrus fruit—and only the organized growers successfully may solve them.

The expansion of carlot markets for Florida oranges and grapefruit has been due to the efforts of the growers' own co-operative organization. Future expansion of such markets must be made by the growers.

The first commercial introduction of regular supplies of grapefruit into Great Britain, with accompanying educational work, is by a single one of the achievements of the Florida Citrus Exchange during the current marketing season.

Remember These Facts

Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit are accepted by the trade as nationally advertised products. And they are distinctly Florida products. Likewise, distinctly citrus.

Hundreds of thousands of housewives who demand Sealdsweet from their grocers associate the name only with oranges and grapefruit—from Florida.

While the Florida Citrus Exchange preserves most cordial relations with co-operative marketing organizations everywhere, it has no entangling alliances.

A freeze in California or a drought in New York State for this reason may only bring the benefits of better prices to members of this organization.

Any member of the Florida Citrus Exchange always in position to obtain the "high dollar" for his fruit whenever there is a market upturn. Nothing could demonstrate this better than events of last ninety days.

In number of members, storage and volume of fruit, the Florida Citrus Exchange shows constant and consistent gain. There must be reasons for these facts. Investigate and you will readily find what are these reasons.

The FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

WE, the growers who compose the Florida Citrus Exchange, take justifiable pride in this, our Sealdsweet trademark.

IT is ours. It belongs to no one else. It cannot be taken away from us. Its value increases from season to season. That value and its increase, belong solely to us.

We are constantly working to uphold the good-will value of our Sealdsweet trademark by advertising to consumers and to dealers; by consistent grading and packing practices; by intelligent co-operation with the trade.

We do this secure in the knowledge that the Sealdsweet trademark must remain a distinct asset to the citrus industry of Florida, and to Florida alone. It cannot be adversely affected by association with the products of any other section, or with other than citrus fruits.

During this last season we have made an increase of forty per cent in the private-sale, carlot markets in which Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit have been sold, as compared with any previous year in the history of our organization. This is indicative of the progress which this co-operative body has been making, and is making, in every department of its operation.

The close of the season will find the Florida Citrus Exchange in the strongest position that ever it has occupied, having marketed successfully the largest volume of fruit in its history; and having made every possible preparation for the greater tasks which lie before it in protecting the interests of Florida producers, who must look to it, and to it alone for the solution of their problems, as citrus production further increases in the groves of the state.

In the ranks of the hundred-and-one associations of this organization there is room for every grower who has the ability to co-operate—"to conduct yourself that others may work with you." For detailed information consult the manager of the nearest Association or of the sub-Exchange in your territory; or write to the Business Manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, Tampa, Florida.

Remember, there is no capital stock; there are no initiation fees; there are no membership dues.

times before during the season, and previous sales had brought him more than enough to pay for the production of the berries. Except for the cost of picking and crating, further gathering from the field this season will be clear profit.

We have no hesitation in urging all who can do so to plant berries. Bradford county land seems to have been made to order for this crop. The berries thrive on even raw wire grass land, and they are not so particular about perfect drainage as other crops. Strawberries are both for the man of means and the poor man. The former can plant a field of many acres, provide housing facilities for workmen having big families to tend and harvest the plantings, buy fertilizer and berries to the depot in a truck. Doing things on a big scale lowers cost of production. The poor man can buy a few acres of raw land on installment payments at a low price per acre, put up a cheap cabin, good enough for this mild climate, and after the land is broken up his children can prepare the beds, set and cultivate the plants while the father gains his support by working for others. One or two crops of berries will enable the new settler to stay at home and clear more land. At first he will need no draft animal. If he lives near a shipping point, he may bring his crates to the station in a wheelbarrow or else neighbors, having conveyances, will transport his berries for him. There is no trouble selling the berries for cash at the shipping points.

The tractors, which are becoming more and more numerous, will encourage berry planting, as with their help the breaking up and tilling the soil can be done quickly and cheaply.—Starke Telegraph.

A NEW INDUSTRY COMES TO FLORIDA

(Tampa Times)
The infinite possibilities of Florida soil and sunshine in the production of articles of use and beauty, are very far from being exhausted yet. The state's pre-eminence in the growing of citrus fruits is conceded whenever our product is placed in competition with that from other parts of the world. But citrus is only one of a long list of fruits which thrive to perfection in the soil of Florida. We have avocados, mangoes, guavas, persimmons and pineapples and many sub-tropical and tropical fruits which our climate enables us to grow. In winter gardening we have no effective competition. We send thousands of carloads of delicious vegetables to the frozen north every winter, loaded with pretty nearly everything in that line, from strawberries and celery, to potatoes and peppers. The state would seem to be a natural field for intelligent effort, backed by a modicum of industry, to command success. Nevertheless some few men come down here, and make an earnest effort to succeed, but owing to some failure of their own, perhaps the inability to comprehend the changed conditions of southern farming, they fail, and go back north disheartened and disgusted with Florida. But there are other men, who come here under the most discouraging conditions and make brilliant successes.

One such has recently come to our notice, and we are glad to chronicle his success. He is a man who has done in Florida, by intelligent application of known principles, backed by industry and ambition, A. A. Mack, who has been in the state for more than four months ago. Harry R. Mack came to Florida, with little money in his pockets, but a practical knowledge of floriculture in his brain, and the spirit of willing work in his hands. He went in debt for a little piece of land, and the clearing of same, in the Seminole Heights region. He suspected that his own personal efforts had much to do with the clearing of the land, and his careful management for crops. At any rate the ground was made ready, and bulbs of gladioli, ordered by the hundred thousand, stand from northern florists, were injected in the raw Florida soil. It looked like a risky venture, but his neighbors and friends and predictions of failure were not wanting. But Mr. Mack knew what he was doing and went steadily on his way, giving his gladioli the maximum of watchful care and tending, but using little fertilizer. The plants grew and thrived under the stimulating influence of Florida sunshine and rains. When bloom time came they rewarded Mr. Mack with 100,000 of the finest blossoms that ever gladdened the eyes of a lover of flowers. They reared their lovely heads on long sturdy stalks, showing the perfect adaptation of soil and climate. Mr. Mack advertised at once to fame and affluence. The "Gladioli Farm" became the resort of numbers of flower lovers. Florists all over the country heard of his gladioli, and were awed by his success. He was not content with this, but was worried about finding a market. Export freight rates bothered him not at all, and he began to look for water transportation. The fastest express carried his flowers to distant cities, and the mail brought him orders for more. Simply to see the gorgeous blooms was to fill one with an irresistible desire to buy. Better than all else he had had, in the new and untried Florida, was that which is attractive in every phase, for what can afford greater pleasure and satisfaction than adding to his wealth and charm to this work-a-day world. It is unnecessary to wish him success, for he is the kind of man that commands it.

Good Advice

Decayed weeds, trash and rubbish in the back yard and vacant corners furnish the most cordial invitation to the mosquito and fly. If these guests are desired, forget spraying cleaning that is due.—Key West Citizen.

AVON PARK THE PEERLESS

An old conundrum comes to our mind: "What is it God never saw, George Washington seldom saw, and we see every day?" A peer, an equal.

A chain is only as strong as its weakest link, and a town is only as beautiful as its most unsightly spots. As proof, think of the impressions you have received going through different towns. On seeing anything or any place for the first time, the mind unconsciously appraises its good and bad qualities, its attractions or defects and it is only what meets the eye, perhaps, but the hurried glimpse from a moving auto, that gives us a lasting impression, an impression that we will pass on and our opinion may become an innocent factor in the growth and development of a town, a free advertisement for or against the place.

Listen to tourists discussing places they have gone through: "That's a good town, they show civic pride there." "I'd hate to live in that place, no progressive people there; they have vacant lots for dumps, and you could lose yourself in the high grass and weed along their streets and in their yards." "I wouldn't like to die in that town, for fear I'd never be buried. They are hurried and care behind the times." These are actual remarks by people who had simply driven through the places referred to, and are only a few of the hundreds of remarks we constantly hear. "God gave us our relatives, but thank God, we can choose our friends," is a trite saying that people looking this direction for a permanent or winter home, can mentally paraphrase: "God made Florida, but thank God, I can select the part of it I want to live in."

"The Ridge"—the "Scenic Highlands"—is beyond any question the beauty spot of Florida, the scintillating sunburst on the bosom of the state. If we were blind, the remarks of visitors would tell us that; the increasing number deserting the coasts to come to this Highland lake region (it is nothing less) the fact the raving words of people who have spent many winters on the East and West Coasts, when they visit the section for the first time, and their verdict: "I never dreamed Florida had a part so beautiful as this," would be convincing proof.

And our own town, Avon Park, located in the widest section of this Ridge, with its lovely lakes, its rolling lands, its wooded knolls, its large developments, each with its beautiful homesites, its wonderful climate, high enough to get the constant breezes with their tang of salt from ocean and Gulf. Summer and winter temperatures tempered by the numberless lakes, large and small, so that summer visitors ask: "Why don't you advertise this as a summer resort?" A region where almost anything will grow, and every month of the year has its fresh fruits, varied and delicious, with Nature so lavish, there is no reason why Avon Park should not be the sparkling center of this gem of Florida.

It all rests with the citizens—not with the council, not with the board of trade, not with the school board, or even with the Woman's Club, which like the ladies' aid in the church, is often considered the burden bearer on which all responsibility can be placed—not on any department or organization does this depend, but on you, and you, and you, on each individual citizen rests this responsibility. As soon as each person in Avon Park does all in his power to have a clean town and beautifies his place to the best of his ability, the deed is accomplished.

And here let us add, it is not the few large imposing places that make a beautiful town, they contribute, but it is the many neat, well kept, artistically arranged places that determine its character. A large painting by one of the masters is an object of wonder and admiration, but it is the dainty miniature with its delicacy that charms and holds the eye. A tiny bungalow of good architecture, tastefully painted, banked in flowers or greenery, with a well-kept lawn, is a joy to the eye and an ornament to any town; while a great house, poorly planned, glaringly painted with so much shrubbery, be it ever so beautiful, that you can't see the yard, is an eyesore forever.

If you intend to build, remember it costs no more to build an attractive house than a ramshackle one. A pretty color paint costs no more than a dull dark leaden color that has a depressing effect on the entire neighborhood. "If Your Wife Is Cross, the Reason May Be—Paint," in the April American, relating principally to interiors, is to the point and should be generally read and heeded, for the effect of colors and surroundings on health as well as appearances is well known.

Give the placing of your flowers and shrubbery thought, and make them the beauty adding setting to your house. And above all have a lawn, a sand yard never will set off your house however handsome it may be.

Clean-up week gives you an opportunity to dispose of all the defacing rubbish about your place and when you clean up and fix up now resolve that your place will from now be as clean and attractive as you can make it and that you will do your individual part to make our growing town "Avon Park, the Peerless."

HELP US HELP YOU AND ALL AVON PARK

Are all of the readers of the Highlands County Pilot making use of their opportunities to advance their own interests by helping to strengthen this paper? Non-resident owners of farm tracts and town and city lots must have a representative and agent on the ground to look after their interests; they have that in the Pilot. In the aggregate they have an immense investment. It is to their interest to maintain and strengthen a spokesman.

For the cities on the Scenic Highlands the great need is the development of the back country. The Pilot works to that end, too. This paper can carry on this work in just the degree in which it is supported. We ask that each friend of the paper do what he can to support it.

Florida Property Is Increasing in Value Every Day

Particularly is this true of property on the Scenic Highlands and in and adjacent to Avon Park. Our city is growing rapidly, new buildings being started nearly every day. Of course this adds to the value of all property, whether in the city or adjacent thereto.

"HILLCREST"

is close to the city limits of Avon Park. Its groves are increasing in value every day. The trees are growing nicely and show a healthy appearance, making an investment with the Scenic Highlands Development Company an attractive one. In fact, one has but to see the young groves, note the painstaking care being given the trees, consider the location and then ascertain what grove properties are selling for all around us, to become convinced that "HILLCREST" is a gilt-edge proposition.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

"THE FORD TOURING CAR"

HERE is the greatest motor car in all the world. Great because there is more of it in use than of any other car in the world. Great because that in our demand for a million and a quarter Ford cars this year fully 50 per cent of that demand is for the Touring Car. Surely every Ford touring car is a car of great service. You see it wherever you go, day or night, shine or rain, summer or winter—the ever-faithful Ford Touring Car is delivering service and satisfaction, pleasure and economy, in a larger measure than falls to the lot of any other one piece of mechanism in the world.

We can now deliver Ford cars to you with reasonable promptness. Leave your orders without delay, if you would be wise. The prudent man carries his umbrella when it is dry, because any fool can carry one when it rains!

Never forget that right hand to every Ford Touring Car is that dependable and universal "Ford After-Service." Here we are, with the genuine made Ford parts, Ford mechanics, and Ford equipment, to give service to Ford cars instantly, so that your car is never out of commission.

REPORT OF PRESIDENT OF

I Would Like to See Done in Avon Park This Year" (which was of such interest that I wish we might have more like it); the "States Day" program, which we celebrated March 3, and found out how truly great each of the states in our country really is; the talk on the bond issue by Norton T. Smith, by which we learned many things on financing a growing town; and the address by S. J. Triplett on child labor laws, which for human interest and its educational value could not be surpassed and all of these programs were of high merit and a credit to the club.

Other educational matters were the endorsement of the different resolutions which were passed from time to time. Notably the one asking for the creation of a department of education with a secretary in the state. Also as important the one asking for a return in the state school laws by which members of the state board of education will be appointed from men and women trained as school workers and not ex-officio members as now made up of the governor, the attorney general, the secretary of state, the treasurer and superintendent of public instruction. To show our earnestness in support of this legislation we have endorsed the candidacy of Mrs. Edgar T. Lewis for state superintendent of public instruction. Another measure which we must work and vote for is the amendment to the state constitution providing for an optional levy of 10-mill tax for the support of our public schools. Florida stands next to the lowest in the states in the average length of school term, school attendance and money spent per capita for the education of her boys and girls, and ranks forty-second in the list of salaries paid to teachers, so it is vitally necessary that we women do all that we can to educate public opinion and work and vote for the legislation that will raise the standard of education in this state. The Federation Bulletin, which I hope you all read, is a really nice subscription for next year, though the price is now raised to 25 cents per year; the "current topics" called by one of our able members; the questionnaire from our federation chairman of education on Florida schools, which would furnish the basis for a whole year's profitable study for the club, have all been educational to the amount of work each member has put into it.

In local matters we have been urged in every letter from almost every federation official to induce our citizens to register and pay their poll taxes in order to vote in the June primary and the November election. We have succeeded so well in this campaign of education that seventy-six of our eighty-five members have done so. We have also been urged to nominate a candidate and work for the election of a county superintendent of public instruction and county school commissioners. We have made our selection for county superintendent of public instruction and I hope for the improvement of our schools in this county that our candidate, H. J. Munnam, will be elected.

I have been criticized for "bringing politics into the club," but I have no apologies to make to anyone for trying to carry out the policy of the state federation. Club women realize that in order to raise the standard of morals and education that we must use our new weapon, the ballot, to the fullest extent and in the most effective way. Our idea is not to create democrats or republicans, but to vote into office good men and women who are qualified to do the work we want done, regardless of party affiliations. Our social meetings will live long in our memories as the pleasantest of occasions, in the forefront of which I place with gratitude and appreciation of the fine spirit that prompted it, the beautiful reception given me by our registrar, Mrs. Williams Nov. 22, on my return from the federation meeting at Gainesville. It was one of the pleasantest occasions of my life, marking as it did the only time in my experience when everybody did everything for me and I had no responsibility except to enjoy it all. Again I wish to publicly thank Mrs. Williams for her gracious hospitality to myself and the club. The Halloween masque at Mrs. A. C. West's, where we had no end of jolly fun, was quickly followed by a reception by Mrs. Norton Smith at Red Top Ranch. This enjoyable occasion was the means of bringing many new members into the club. The Valentine dinner given by the Woman's Club for the board of trade was a combination social affair and community benefit for relief work and brought us the large sum of $140.75.

The social meeting at Mrs. A. C. West's on Feb. 17, when we entertained Miss Skinner, president; Mrs. Galloway, vice-president-at-large, and Mrs. MacIntyre, national vice-president No. 9 of the F. W. C., and also had as our guests the Sebring Woman's Club, was the source of new inspiration for our work. The result was the decision to organize the Highlands County Federation of Women's Clubs with officers from both clubs. The object of this organization is to cement the interests of the people of the county and more readily insure the betterment of the schools, obtain the services of a county health nurse, a county board of health and other things this new county has great need of.

The invitation to a social and art exhibit at the Arrowhead hotel from the Sebring Woman's Club was accepted and enjoyed by tens of our members. This closed the social activities of the club of our very busy winter. One of the other failures I must mention: We neglected to choose a club flower, the matter being postponed several times in the hopes of having more members at the meeting, and because we failed to select our club flower we failed to get the beautiful banner which was promised up by Mrs. Williams.

Jan. 19 we endorsed the 25 cents per capita tax for headquarters for the G. F. W. C. and later refused to pay it. The same day we endorsed a 10 cents per capita tax for the state federation endowment fund, and only one member has paid that.

In looking back over the winter's work we may very properly ask ourselves: Does it pay? Has it paid? If so, how much? Who got the most out of the club the past year? Clearly, the ones who put the most into it, and they are those with the larger interest in the welfare of others. The club spirit is the spirit of loyalty to humanity, of self-sacrifice to others, of devotion to an ideal, the ideal of co-operation. It takes mother-love, the desire to create well being for all mankind, to make a good club worker. That is an asset not yet recognized. But I predict that it will be some day. Town councils and boards of trade, mayors and marshals, secret societies and churches, will some day recognize the value of the wonderful work which earnest club women all over these United States are carrying on. This is the training which women need in the transition from house and home work to the larger work of government. It is already happening that women trained in club work are asked to use their talents in municipal, state, national and international work as salaried officials, as councilors with quick sympathies and sound judgments.

From the experiences of the past seven months I feel entitled to make a few suggestions for future work: (a) The creation of six departments outlined by the G. F. W. C. and state federations, in order to simplify the working out of programs. These are: 1. Education; 2. American citizenship; 3. fine arts; 4. public welfare; 5. legislation; 6. press and publicity.

(b) The department of education to take up the work of a parent-teacher association.

(c) The first vice president to be chairman of the program committee.

(d) The second vice-president to be chairman of committee on public entertainments and to present them.

(e) That the office of corresponding secretary be created and besides her usual duties she shall write up all notices of meetings, announcements, press notices for local and state papers and attend to the bulletin board.

(f) That only one business meeting a month be held, and that it be separate from the program meetings and that all members be expected to attend. That social meetings be held once a month and that department meetings be held only once a month in turn.

(g) That the wives of ministers and all grade teachers be made associate members (non-voting privileges).

While your present hitched the club wagon to a star, we had a lot of good hard bumps that reminded us we were still on earth. She hopes that you will forgive the bumps and all hopes that you will still keep your eyes skyward toward the ideals for which all club women as a body are striving. She thanks you for this opportunity of living the slogan we adopted: Service.

Wiser by many things, sadder by a few, and enriched over and over again by the experiences we have shared in the past season, I give my thanks to all loyal members and respectfully submit this report.

MAE WALDEN.

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is Mother's Day and every boy and girl, big or little, old or young, ought to be present at church, next Sunday to honor their mother. There will be special music and everything in connection with the service Sunday morning will be appropriate for Mother's Day. Come and honor mother with us.

Next Friday, May 12, our annual Sunday school picnic will be held at Buzzard's Bay, on the shores of Lake Lotela. Everyone in any way connected with the church or Sunday school is invited and will be expected to be present. There will be swimming and games of all kinds. We shall try to give everybody a good time. Come and help us to do it.

The Sunday school day exercises went off very well and the congregation, both youngsters and grown-ups, all in between, enjoyed the service immensely. Special days mean a lot of work for some one, but they are worth while every time.

The service next Sunday night will be in charge of the Epworth League, as it is their anniversary. They have a good program of music and addresses prepared and we look forward to having a right good time with the leaguers that night.

SABBATH QUESTION TO BE DISCUSSED AT THE GOSPEL TENT

Beginning Friday night of this week Evangelist Walker will deliver a series of lectures on the Sabbath, the law and grace. The subject of the lecture Friday evening of this week will be: "Which Day is the Christian Sabbath? Is It the First or the Seventh Day of the Week? How Can We Tell Which is the Original Seventh Day of the Week?" Propositions are made for a large audience to hear this much agitated subject discussed Friday night.

Sunday night the subject will be: "Who Changed the Sabbath? When? How? Why? Was it Done by Divine or Human Power?"

The program for the remainder of the week will be:

Monday night—"If You Break One You Break Ten." Jas. 2:10.

Wednesday night—"What the New Testament Says About the First Day."

Thursday night—"What Was Abolished at the Cross? Was It All Right for Christians to Lie, Steal, Commit Adultery, Break the Sabbath, Profane the Lord's Name, Etc., Immediately After the Cross? Did the Death of Jesus Bring the Ten Commandments to an End?"

Friday night—"The Harmony of Law and Grace? Does Grace Give License to Steal, Lie, Swear, Break the Sabbath and Other Commandments? Was It an Antinomian?" (Look up this word in the dictionary).

One interesting feature of the meetings next week will be the question and answer service at the close of the service every night. Write out your questions, a 5¢ item in the basket and they will be immediately answered from the speaker's platform. We anticipate many interesting questions of subjects to be presented next week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC AT BUZZARD'S BAY

Last Thursday afternoon the members of the Baptist Sunday school with some of their friends, the crowd numbering about 200, held an enjoyable fish fry and picnic at Buzzard's Bay. W. A. Hatchell supplied the fish, fresh from the lake and L. D. Roberts and D. T. Lockett acted as chefs, cooking the fish to the right turn. The Rev. Ed S. Barnes, pastor of the First Baptist church, acted as master of ceremonies and everybody had a most enjoyable time.

HIGHLANDS COUNTY SCHOOLS GET $962.00

The state superintendent of public instruction's report of the semi-annual apportionment of the 1-mill tax shows that the five counties formerly comprising DeSoto county will receive $6,557.60, divided as follows: Charlotte county, $476; DeSoto, $1,728.90; Gads, $431.60; Hancock, $2,729.10; Highlands, $962. The rate per pupil for average attendance was $1.30.

Caught 9-Pound Bass
A fishing party composed of C. E. Lanier, W. H. Hylton and Carlos Shipper spent Thursday afternoon on Little Bonnet lake casting for trout or big-mouth bass. They failed to land a large string, but Mr. Lanier did succeed in landing one that weighed 9 pounds.

SAMSON TRUCKS

COMBINE NEW IDEAS OF GREAT UTILITY AND ECONOMY IN TWO MODELS OF MOTOR TRUCKS FOR CITY, TOWN AND COUNTRY USE—AND AT PRICES WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERYBODY

SAMSON TRUCKS IN 4 AND 1½-TON CAPACITIES ARE NEW, DIFFERENT AND OUTSTANDING. THEY ARE BUILT TO SERVE AND FILL THE LONG-FELT NEED OF THOROUGHLY DEPENDABLE TRUCKS AT RIGHT PRICES FOR HAULING AND DELIVERING EVERY KIND OF COMMODITY IN CITY, TOWN OR COUNTRY

The superior points and special features of these two trucks put them in a class by themselves—entirely apart from every other truck on the market. The special features are worthy of the most rigid and closest investigation from truck buyers.

Samson Trucks have the rare combination of wide utility and great economy in first cost and upkeep. They are the product of ripened experience in invention, designing and engineering. The low prices of Samson Trucks are the result of quantity production.

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY TRUCK FROM ANYBODY AT ANY PRICE, SEE THE SAMSON ON DISPLAY AT THE STANDARD GARAGE AND GET FULL DETAILS AND PARTICULARS

Extension Bases - Demountable Cleat Bands - A Wonderful Invention

SOME OF THE GREATEST INVENTIONS OF MODERN TIMES ARE THE SIMPLEST. EVERYONE WHO SEES THE NEW EXTENSION BASES FOR FRONT OR REAR WHEELS OF THE SAMSON TRUCK INvariably SAYS: "WHY DIDN'T SOME ONE THINK OF THAT BEFORE?" THIS NEW DEVICE PUTS THE SAMSON TRUCK ABSOLUTELY IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES, BECAUSE THEY ENABLE THE OWNER TO DRIVE WHERE IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE TO GO WITH ANY OTHER TRUCK—THROUGH MUD, DEEP SAND, PLOWED GROUND OR CULTIVATED FIELDS.

Everyone who drives a truck or automobile knows what it means to go down to the axle in mud, sand or soft ground and have to be pulled out by a team or another automobile, costing valuable time and money—making the truck a dead investment many months in the year.

This new invention makes the Samson a continuous day-in-and-day-out truck. With these new extension bases, rear wheels carrying demountable cleat bands (equipped with grouters) sure traction is provided for every difficult road and field job.

Both sizes of Samson Trucks are also provided with the famous Samson single-plate dry-disc clutch. This feature alone is worth hundreds of dollars, when you stop to consider what it saves you in repairs by the elimination of sudden strain on motor, transmission and rear axle, common on ordinary trucks.

The Samson clutch will start the truck under a full load on any gear, smoothly and without a quiver; relieving shafts, bearings, universal joints and gear teeth from any undue strains. Starting, stopping and gear shifting is made easier.
