THE PUBLIC IS MILKED

The announcement that a federal grand jury in Chicago had indicted 34 corporations on charges of conspiracy to fix and maintain non-competitive prices of milk came on the heels of another news story revealing that the Florida state milk board had rejected an application by Miami producers and dairymen for lower prices this winter.

In Chicago it is a federal offense to fix milk prices; in Florida the state pays a board to do the same thing!

The latest action of the board would be incredible except for the fact that its behavior in the past has been so high-handed that we aren't easily surprised by it any more. The consumers in Miami want lower prices, of course. The milk producers want lower prices. The dairymen want lower prices. The distributors want lower prices. But the milk board refused a hearing to the petition presented by representatives of the Dade County Dairymen's association. Mrs. Alderman, chairman of the board, refused to consider the petition on the ground that the association should have petitioned, not for a reduction, but for a hearing.

What the petition asked for was the maintenance of the present price of 16 cents a quart. The milk board in Miami (though not, alas, in St. Petersburg) has been reducing the price two cents for the summer, raising it back in the winter. Unless the board presently deigns to take some action, all milk retailers in Miami will be forced to raise the price to 18 cents December 1, whether they want to or not.

The Miami Herald comments as follows: "The milk board has developed a decidedly dictatorial complex. What Mrs. Alderman and her board ought to know by this time and what the various groups tried to tell them is that dairymen of Florida have learned a costly lesson. The industry here suffered last winter because of high prices. Consumption fell off. Children were deprived of proper amounts of health-giving, body building milk. Dade county dairymen declare that they can make profits at a lower price. They don't want to have to go through the wasteful and immoral ordeal of pouring the finest of food into the sewers because they cannot sell it. . . . The board is practically alone in its determination to punish consumers as well as producers."

It looks more and more as if the milk board wants high milk prices

regardless of the interests or wishes of consumers, distributors, or producers. The 18-cent-a-quart price decreed by the board for Miami this winter is nearly 7 cents a quart higher (63 per cent higher) than the average price of milk (19.34) in 51 cities studied by the Federal Trade commission. Obviously so much less milk will be bought at that price that public health and dairy profits will suffer along with the consumer's pocketbook. That conclusion is borne out, furthermore, by studies made by the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture, showing that low income families tend to buy more milk if the price is lower, because they have just so much to spend for milk and therefore get all they can afford.

Cows give milk whether it can be sold or not, but nobody gains when cows give more milk than can be sold at prevailing prices, and milk has to be poured down sewers at the behest of a milk board costing $50,000 a year which must come out of the pockets of consumers paying the high prices fixed by the board.

Much as we regret the fact, we're afraid it would be impossible to get a federal grand jury to indict the board for fixing and maintaining non-competitive prices of milk in Florida. Yet even the board would hardly deny that it is doing so.—St. Petersburg Independent.

A LAWYER ON LAW BUSINESS

We have often wondered why some of the smarter professional men, of one kind and another, did not awaken to the fact that their constant boosting of fees for services was driving business away—killing the fabled goose which laid the golden egg.

Some of the professional leaders have turned politician and have wrangled through many laws which gave them and their colleagues a practical monopoly on their particular type of business. For instance, the law prohibits anyone other than a doctor to prescribe medicine or to treat the sick, and many laws protect the lawyers in their professional capacity, with more being added all the time.

It was, therefore, refreshing and encouraging to see among the contributed articles in the Tampa Tribune the other day a comment by Lawyer E. E. Callaway of Lakeland upon this very subject, or a phase of it. Says Mr. Callaway:

"We lawyers, real estate men and abstractors, have levied such a high tariff or administrative cost against real estate transactions in Florida that we have not only destroyed our own business and income, but have destroyed hundreds of millions of dollars in values of the property owners of the state. Since the prosperity of Florida is so inextricably dependent upon the liquidity and stability of real estate, it would seem that those of us engaged in the above activities would take steps to adopt sound, sensible systems and procedure that would encourage investment in real estate rather than hinder it. The investing public cannot and will not pay the administrative costs which we demand, and the sooner we realize this and change the system, the the sooner prosperity will return to Florida."

That's a pretty drastic indictment but the evidence of its truth is too abundant and too obvious to permit any doubt. The tariff is too high for the traffic to bear. Here's hoping that others may see the light.—Arcadia Arcadian.

Florida's tremendous crop of oranges and grapefruit can be converted into a mighty river of juice and quickly consumed, if the Florida Citrus Commission will but its promotional efforts behind the Ec-glass campaign, advocated by Burton H. Schoepf.

Sweeping the state by storm, Burton H. Schoepf's nickle juice plan is now functioning in over 2,500 outlets. Schoepf states that by the time the tourist season is in full swing he estimated that close to 10,000 juice dispensing establishments will be advertising and selling Florida citrus juice at 5c per glass.

2500 Eligible to Receive Blind Aid

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 25 — (Special) Potentially there are 2,574 persons in Florida who are eligible to receive Aid to the Blind because of loss of sight or near-loss of sight, according to figures made public here at the office of the State Welfare Board.

The number is double the estimate of 1,280 eligibles resulting from a survey of the state made by a former State Board of Social Welfare in co-operation with the WPA, upon which legislative appropriations were based.

During the month of November assistance payments were made to 2,142 persons in the amount of $1,241.00, an average grant of $14.58. The cases receiving assistance when added to pending applications gives the potential case load, after allowances are made for rejections in proportion to past experience.

Eligibility to this form of assistance is determined by age, residence and other qualifications and is extended to those near-blind who have a central visual acuity of 20-200 or less in the better eye with correcting glasses or a disqualifying field defect in which the peripheral field has contracted to such an extent that the widest diameter of visual field extends an angular distance no greater than 20 degrees.

In Highlands County Aid to the Blind was received during November by 12 persons in the amount of $135.00.

Largest Shark Has Been Captured

The largest shark ever captured alive has just been placed in the world's only oceanarium at Marineland, Florida. Weighing approximately 600 pounds, this ground shark, which was caught through the injection of a drug by a special hypodermic harpoon, is 11 feet 6 inches long. Another ground shark, 8 feet 8 inches long, weighing about 400 pounds, was also added to the collection.

Both of these sharks were caught at Marineland, Florida, by Captain Eugene Williams and his crew on the PORPOISE, the fishing boat designed especially for transporting large specimens by Marine Studios, and from all appearances are healthy in their new habitat showing no ill effects from the anesthesia or from their trip in the well in the hull of the Porpoise. A number of other sharks have previously been captured and placed in the oceanarium, but on only one of these was the drug used.

As far as it is known, the largest shark caught up until now was 9 feet 6 inches long and was owned by the Sydney, Australia, aquarium.

NOTES FROM UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA — As these lines are read the University of Florida campus has taken on somewhat of a desolate appearance, for students are few and far between. The reason—this particular week-end brings the students the much-anticipated Thanksgiving holidays. The holidays begin Wednesday afternoon and will end Monday morning when classes are re-convened.

However, Florida Union, student activity center, will be a bee-hive of activity Friday and Saturday, but the activity will be by faculty members rather than by students. More than 300 delegates are anticipated for the eleventh annual convention of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association on the university campus. It marks the first time that the organization has selected a university so far from the center of its territory for an annual convention, and consequently reflects considerable "distinction" upon Florida's English and modern language departments.

Rightly so, the University of Florida's famed and highly successful swimming team has been officially designated as one of the institution's major sport teams. Compiling a record of three successive Southeastern Conference championships and undefeated almost as far back as most students can remember, the Florida natators have justly earned their new designation. Major sport teams now include football, basketball, baseball, track, boxing, and swimming.

Judge H. L. (Tom) Sebring, one-time Florida football coach (1925-27), and now judge of the eighth judicial circuit of Florida, will be the next president of the University of Florida Alumni Association. Judge Sebring was elected during the annual Homecoming business meeting of the organization and will take office next July 1.

Movies Brought To Small Places

PORT ST. JOE, Nov. 25—(FNS) Movies are to be brought into those sections of Florida which have no theatres by what is believed to be the "smallest theatre in the world," now being constructed here by Bill Turner, former manager of a local theatre.

Turner is building a miniature theatre, equipped with the latest motion picture machinery, on the chassis of a ton and a half trailer, planning on seating 50 people in the 45 by 7 auditorium. He expects to establish a circuit of one night stands, planning on only one performance a day.

Here's a Community Booster

I AM a booster for this community of ours. Do you know why? You see I work in the office of the electric company. My future depends upon the prosperity of this company which in turn depends upon the prosperity of this community.

It's different with most other businesses in a community. They manufacture in one community and sell in hundreds of other communities—miles away. Their success depends largely on conditions, not here, but elsewhere.

Our market is this community—and a few miles of surrounding countryside. Our success depends on the success of this community. The prosperity of this company rises and falls with the community it serves.

It stands to reason that my company and its employees want to see this community go ahead. It's the only way we can get ahead.

This company aims to give a type of service that will promote the welfare of the community and prove one of its best assets. Customers' suggestions for increasing the value of the service to them and the community will be appreciated.

More Interest Than Usual in DeSoto Exhibition

TAMPA, Nov. 25—(FNS) There is far more interest in the Pan-American Hernando DeSoto Exposition, to be held here January 31 to February 19, than there ever has been shown in any Florida Fair celebration in the history of that annual event, according to Albert Thornton, executive secretary of the huge exposition.

So many requests have been received from state editors and other interested Floridians for information on special day observances that the executive committee has been compelled to make arrangements for special days far in advance of the date they usually are prepared. The complete list, as announced by Mr. Thornton, follows:

Jan. 31, Landing of DeSoto Day, Feb. 1, Auto Race and Specialty Day (Negro), Feb. 2, U. S. Government Exhibit Day, Feb. 3, Children's Day, Feb. 4, Future Farmers and Livestock Day, Feb. 5, Sunday, fair closed, Feb. 6, Gasparilla Day, Feb. 7, Disturbed Federal and State Officials' Day—Auto Races, Feb. 8, Pan-American Day, Feb. 9, County and Community Exhibitors and Thrill Day, Feb. 10, All Florida School Day and Style Show Day, Feb. 11, Auto Race Day—Style Show, Feb. 12, Sunday, fair closed, Feb. 13, Shrine Day, Feb. 14, Tampa Day—Thrill Day, Feb. 15, Civic Club Day, Feb. 16, Tourist Day, Feb. 17, Cigar Industry Day and Veterans Day, Feb. 18, Auto Race and Carnival Day, Fair closed.

Lodges, civic clubs, fraternal orders, and other state organizations have shown particular interest in the exposition, and are planning on mass attendance on days of particular interest to their groups, according to reports reaching the exposition headquarters here.

Packing Houses Open Nickel Glass Stands for Juice

TAVERES, Nov. 25—(FNS) Co-operating splendidly on the nickel a glass citrus juice campaign inaugurated recently by Burton H. Schoepf, of Tamiami Trail Tours, Lake County, through its energetic Chamber of Commerce secretary Karl Lehmann, is battling about one thousand.

Lehmann reports that several packing houses have opened special stands to serve juice either free or at 5c a glass. Practically every drink stand, coffee shop, drug store and dairy stand in the county is now featuring and pushing the 5c glass with their demand steadily increasing. The slogan "All you can drink for a nickel!" The Clermont Exchange packing house has constructed a special room on the main highway and are serving freshly squeezed orange juice to the traveling public. One dealer has developed a new and popular drink known as "frosted orange juice" at a nickel a glass.

Attending a convention dinner at Orlando last week, Lehmann found the hotel serving tomato juice, and he pointed out that had the managing agent served fresh orange or grapefruit juice it would have cost them not so much as the tomato juice and would have been more appreciated by the guests and been of real help to the citrus industry.

Florida has 274,371 rooms available in hotels, apartment houses and rooming houses operating under the supervision of the Florida State Hotel Commission this season, according to statement released this week by Commissioner Taylor.

One of the colorful features of the Port St. Joe Centennial Celebrations, Dec. 7th to 10th, will be the parade of 20 historical, allegorical and industrial floats, one the Friday afternoon of Dec. 9th and the other, brilliantly illuminated, the night of Saturday, Dec. 10.

State To Enter Exhibit at Fair

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 25—(FNS) For the first time since the Florida Fair was started the State of Florida will enter a co-ordinated, official state exhibit at the combined Pan-American Hernando DeSoto, Florida Fair exposition to be held at Tampa Jan. 31 to Feb. 19. Decision to make such an exhibit was made at a state cabinet meeting Nov. 9. Previously, the various state departments entered individual exhibits, but the cabinet decided to follow the example of the U. S. Government, which is entering an exhibit which is destined to show every function of the national government in an interlocking unit. The state exhibit will be under the immediate direction of Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, and every state department will be represented.

Orange Juice Is Popular Seller

OCALA, Nov. 25—(FNS) Coffee and ice, as well as fountain drinks, are taking a back seat in popularity as a beverage for almost every meal since the introduction of the five-cent glass of orange juice, according to operators of most soft drink stands and restaurants here.

Ocalaans have been carried away with the idea, and are calling for fresh juice now instead of the usual soft drinks, while tourists hail the low priced juice as a wonderful means of advertising Florida oranges.

One stand manager has reported that his juice sales since the five-cent glass campaign opened have already equalled his juice sales all last season. "The beauty of it is that it is no harder to prepare a glass of juice than to fix any other form of beverage," dealers report.

An elaborate entertainment program is being arranged for entertaining visiting agricultural leaders of the nation. Commissioner Nathan Mayo, acting as host will conduct the party on a tour that will include visits to Clewiston, for an inspection of the cane fields and mill of the U. S. Sugar Corp. with a banquet at the New Clewiston Inn, a visit to Bok Tower and another banquet provided by the Chamber of Commerce in Orlando.

Welfare Board to Distribute Half Million Christmas

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 22—(Special) The State Welfare Board adopting the role of Santa Claus, will place nearly a half million in the stockings of recipients of Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind this Christmas. The checks will be mailed out early and will help to stimulate holiday shopping, expected to attain a new high, due to the receding of the recession.

The payrolls are made up here in the state office of the Board on a stagger basis. District One and Two being the first forwarded to the office of the state comptroller, from which the warrants are issued. Payrolls of other districts, in pairs, are then completed and rushed to Tallahassee, the last reaching there prior to the middle of the month.

Dates on which the warrants were mailed from the comptroller's office last month were: District One and Two, October 4; Three and Four, October 8; Five and Six, October 11; Seven and Eight, October 15; Nine and Ten, October 18; Eleven and Twelve, October 22.

The supplemental rolls, containing the names of those who have been found eligible during the past month, are compiled as quickly as possible after eligibility has been determined by district boards, all of which meet not later than the 15th of the month. Checks for these were mailed out last month on October 21.

The Comptroller will be requested by the State Board to speed up the mailing of checks to the supplementary list so that all recipients may have spending money for the Yuletide. Arrangements have been completed here for getting the payrolls to the Comptroller's office early.

The amount to be distributed in Highlands County will exceed that for October, when $1,884.00 for Old Age Assistance and $106.00 for Aid to the Blind was paid out.

I SHOULD BELONG TO THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE — Because, it helps create and express sound opinions on questions affecting the welfare of the city and community.

Fine Dairy Herds Will Be Shown

TAMPA, Nov. 25—Scrub cattle grazing along Florida's highways are not representative of the state's fine dairy herds and the Florida Dairy Association will prove it to the world at the Pan-American Hernando DeSoto Exposition, January 31 to February 19, when the first dairy cattle show will be sponsored by the organization.

There are 110,000 fine dairy cattle in Florida, 50,000 of them in commercial herds, and they are equal to the finest stock produced in any state in the union, according to C. E. Donegan, of Largo, president of the association. There are over 1,000 commercial dairy men in Florida and since 1932 they have met Florida's demand for fluid milk and not one quart has been shipped into the state since that year. In quality, Florida's milk matches in quality the best at America's best dairy centers. At offer, tests have proved, according to President Donegan.

In the Pan American show there will be 50 head of fine dairy cattle, selected from herds throughout the entire state.

Press Breakfast to Be Festival Feature

WINTER HAVEN, Nov. 25—(FNS) George Burr, Jr., president of the Florida Orange Festival, announced this week that the Annual Press Breakfast would again be staged as a feature of the 1939 Festival and promised that this famed gridiron event would top any previous affairs of the kind with an array of amateur and professional talent providing a "louder and funnier" program, "With Malice Toward None and no quarter for anybody." He named Secretary Russell Kay of the Florida State Press Association, general chairman, and advised additional men would be named shortly.

General Manager Al Schaffer of the Florida Orange Festival states that plans are progressing splendidly with a brisk demand for exhibition space. An elaborate entertainment program is being planned and all indications point to an outstanding show and a record breaking attendance. Dates for the 1939 Festival are January 16 to 22.

Orange Festival To Cost Plenty, But Worth It

WINTER HAVEN, Nov. 25—(FNS) It will cost approximately $21,734.59 to stage the annual Orange Festival here, according to the budget recently adopted by the Festival committee. Of this sum, about $3,562 will be needed to retire principal and pay accrued interest due since March 1, on outstanding bonded indebtedness for new buildings, according to George L. Burr, Jr., head of the Festival committee. The city of Winter Haven has underwritten the budget, agreeing to make up from city funds any amounts that may be needed to pay obligations in case unforeseen events make the fair financially unprofitable.

It would take something in the nature of a disaster to force the city to fulfill its promise, however, in the opinion of fair officials, for except for a few years when bad weather cut the crowds, the fair has usually returned a profit.

The steady increase in interest in the Festival has led officials to make rather definite plans for the future, and it has been tentatively agreed that, should the Festival prove a money maker this year, consideration will be given to the possibility of erecting additional permanent structures.

Tentative plans call for the construction of an auditorium, an outdoor theatre, and another exhibit building. School exhibit buildings are being enlarged this year, and the school parade is going to be far larger and more colorful than in previous years.

One of the main features of the outside revenue producers, will be a throng of 5-cent orange juice stands scattered throughout the festival grounds, with all oranges being squeezed within full view of the customer. These booths will, it is hoped, put a sizeable dent in the citrus surplus.

Schoepf Says Give Children Oranges

TAMPA, Nov. 25—(FNS) Protesting against the proposed destruction of several million boxes of Florida citrus through the conversion into fertilizer and other products, Burton H. Schoepf, head of the Tamiami Trail Tours, Inc., has written Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace to the effect that instead of thus destroying the fruit it be turned over to the schools of Florida to be served free of cost to the 390,000 children throughout the state.

Classing the proposed destruction of the citrus as "appalling", he suggests that turning the oranges over to the schools will serve the same purpose, and at the same time be of great value to the children. The oranges would be distributed at the direction of Colin English, superintendent of public instruction, and Mr. Schoepf volunteers his services in assisting in the distribution of the oranges. He asks immediate action on his proposal, calling attention to the success of the 5c citrus juice campaign as an example of the response of Floridians to the need of the citrus industry, faced with a huge fruit surplus. "You will endeavor yourself to the mothers of Florida if you will sanction my proposal and make it a reality," he states.

Miss Virginia Chandler, Bride Elect Is Honoree at Bridge Party on Saturday

Miss Virginia Chandler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Chandler, and lovely bride elect of December, was the honoree at a bridge party, given by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Chandler, on last Saturday afternoon. The rooms of the Chandler home were thrown en suite for the occasion and were beautifully decorated with roses and gladioli in pastel shades.

A pink and white color motif was reflected in the bridge appointments and other details of the party. The dainty tallies were handpainted in a bridal design, the work of the hostess, and were attached to a corsage of roses and baby breath. The scorecards were also beautifully handpainted, in a wedding bell design.

High score prize, a double deck of cards and scorecards in a white leather book, was presented to Miss Iva Phillips; second high, a box of Farley's sachet was won by Mrs. C. E. Ginn, Jr. and Mrs. Devon Reddick received modernistic coasters in a holder, as the floating prize. The honoree received a set of rock crystal in her chosen pattern, as a gift from her sister. All of the prizes were daintily wrapped and tied in pink and white. Mrs. C. H. Shepherd, hostess this time, presented Miss Chandler with a very useful Pyrex double boiler.

The delicious refreshments consisted of pink and white brick ice cream and individual cakes. Mrs. Chandler assisted in entertaining.

Miss Virginia Chandler chose for the occasion, an attractive teal blue alpaca afternoon frock, with wine accessories, and the hostess greeted her guests wearing a woods' brown triple sheer with matching accessories.

The guests enjoying this delightful affair were Miss Helen Pittman, Mrs. J. B. Hart, Mrs. Lester Armstrong, Mrs. Devon Reddick, Mrs. S. S. Thayer, Miss Millie Pearson, Mrs. Briscoe Willis, Miss Iva Phillips, Mrs. Nelson Smith, Mrs. Mildred Myers, Mrs. Chas. Sherman, Mrs. T. A. About 70 members were present, and guests from St. Cloud, Orlando and points out of the state attended the meeting.

Dowling Urges State to Replenish Supply of Fish

MIAMI, Nov. 25.—(FNS) "Every incoming tide brings a new supply of fish to Florida's long shoreline, but it is the state's responsibility to protect and build up this supply against the destructive practices of man, the great predator," R. L. Dowling, supervisor of conservation, told commissioners of agriculture from many states here to attend their national convention.

"We have a demand from the 25,000 regularly employed fishermen to conserve this food wealth and preserve the fishing resources of the future," Dowling said. "These interests will tell you their business is slipping. In the past they were unmindful of this necessary conservation work, but they are not any longer. We have big fish dealers any one of whom produced 10 to 15 millions of pounds of fish in past years whose production now is cut to three million pounds annually. These men appreciate and welcome the work of the conservation department," he said.

The supervisor of conservation was invited to address the convention by Nathan Mayo, Florida commissioner of agriculture. The visitors learned not only of Florida's agricultural resources, but also of the vast salt water wealth, including fishing, oystering, shrimping, and sponge diving, and they were told briefly of the state's minerals and the wealth of natural resources that underlie this rich peninsular state.

Florida's supply of seafoods is being drained not only by an increasing commerce but also by hundreds of thousands of pleasure fishermen who travel from all over the world to spend their leisure months in a state that affords the finest fishing. "This sport-fishing is a tremendous asset," Dowling said. "Every town and hamlet in Florida is benefitted by these millions of dollars the tourist spends while here to go fishing in our salt waters. This annual turnover is estimated at more than twice as much in dollars and cents as that represented by the commercial fishing interests."

The conservation department has announced that a program of conservation for sports fishing is under way, and the proposal is to protect the supply of fish, prevent destructive practices, and regulate the business so as to insure a continued supply and Florida's tourist attractions will remain in full bloom for all time to come.

New York Bees Thrive in Florida Winter Season

UMATILLA, Nov. 25.—(FNS) Residents of Umatilla are waiting curiously to see how many skele-ton hives of bees John DeMuth of Pembroke, N. Y., is going to bring with him Sunday, he arrives on his annual pilgrimage to Florida this year.

For several years now, DeMuth has brought several hundred skele-ton colonies of New York Bees when he comes here to escape the rigors of a New York winter, each with a hale and hearty egg-laying queen bee. During his stay here the New York bees thrive and multiply on the Florida flowers and sunshine, and when DeMuth returns north each spring, his colonies have multiplied and his bees are full of energy for a summer's work among New York's clover blossoms.

Bees brought north each spring are far better workers and produce far more honey than do bees that have hibernated for the winter, DeMuth asserts. By keeping his bees active the year round, he quadruples his colonies each year, and on his return, he brings colonies to sell, or he keeps to replace many destroyed during the long northern winter.

'Too Late To Classify'
RUSSELL KAY

While the Florida 'Gators have given a more or less sluggish performance this season, allowing themselves to be kicked and cuffed around with only an occasional warning snap of their jaws, Florida is not without football honors, for her practically unknown and unsung "Rattlers" have been gliding throughout the southeast, striking with deadly result at every foe, to secure for the second successive year the coveted title of Southern Conference Champions.

Among the south's institutions of higher learning, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College for negroes at Tallahassee ranks high, and every Floridian may point with pride to the record established in advancing the welfare of our negroes and the service it has rendered in publishing and promoting our state.

Handicapped by lack of funds, smiling "Big Boy" Bell, former Ohio State line star—modest and unassuming despite his amazing coaching ability—has taken the raw material at hand and given Florida A. & M. College a football team that for two years stands UNBEATEN.

While Floridians for the most part have given little thought or attention to their colored "Rattlers," we should not overlook the fact that this team, too, is "Florida's" and while it may be little known at home, it is known and respected throughout the south.

So far this season Florida A. & M. has piled up a total score of 160 points to their opponents' nothing. Among their brilliant victories was the defeat of North Carolina State 41 to 0 and Tuskegee 40 to 0.

On December 3 they tangle with Kentucky State in their Orange Bowl Classic at Orlando for the National Championship, and if Floridians want to see a real football game they'd better not miss it.

The brand of football these southern colored lads have been turning out is so good that "white folks" have been flocking to their games this year throughout the south.

As Southern Conference Champions, the Florida A. & M. Rattlers have been invited to play Langston University of Oklahoma, Southwestern Champions in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas, on Christmas Day. They have been chosen to meet the outstanding eastern team, playing in the Cigarette Bowl at Winston-Salem on January 2, while Atlanta wants them on the same date for the All-Star game in the famed Georgia Peach Bowl.

But lack of funds has so far prevented the acceptance of any of these invitations and it will indeed be a shame if, after their brilliant record, this great colored Florida team is denied the privilege of bringing additional honor and glory to the state, through lack of interest and appreciation on the part of its citizens.

After all, a Champion is a Champion, and this splendid Florida team has earned and deserves our support. Remember, Florida A. & M. is a Florida State Institution and the Florida Rattlers are Florida boys. Let's be public spirited and fair enough to let them finish at the job with Florida victories at Dallas and Winston-Salem or Atlanta.

And while we are on this subject of the achievement of Florida's colored citizens, few are aware of the fact that for years the negro cabaret at the Florida State Fair has stood as the greatest exposition of the kind staged in America, attracting national attention.

Likewise, Florida negroes have played their part in advertising and publicizing Florida to the nation through their participation in the magnificent Florida Exhibits at Chicago, New York and Cleveland and will again participate at the New York World's Fair next summer.

The Florida Orange Blossom Quartet, all students of the Florida A. & M. College, directed by Rudolph von Chariton, is known today as one of the finest negro musical organizations in the country, ranking with the famed Fiske Jubilee Singers. They have given Florida thousands of dollars worth of valuable publicity with their radio programs and recording. Numberless times they have been featured on Florida programs, coast to coast, with such artists as Major Bowes, Ed Wynne, Ray Perkins, Stoopnagle and Bud, Tiny Ruffner and Graham McNamee.

Oxford Group Ask "Moral Rearmament"

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—(FNS) All Florida negroes and news services will be asked to cooperate with National headquarters at the Oxford Group in the education of Floridians in the need for "moral re-armament" if the world is to remain at peace, and the bitter persecutions of individuals and races in Europe is to be ended.

This was decided at a meeting of Oxford Group team leaders from all over Florida who met at the Morrison hotel here Sunday, aided by Group members from Michigan, Illinois, Canada and Britain, to discuss the part Florida Group members should play in building up a new national and inter-national philosophy that will lead to lasting peace.

Miami, Ocala, Frostproof, Winter Haven, Tampa and St. Petersburg leaders cooperated in leading the discussions. British cabinet heads, as well as such leading American thinkers as Rodger Babson, gave the Oxford Group in England credit for being the greatest single force bringing about the temporary peace in Europe.

"The State Press Scrap Book" a unique radio program, conducted by Russell Kay, Secretary of the Florida Press Association, and designed to bring listeners the "The Best From the Press" goes back on the air next week over Tampa's pioneer radio station WDAE.

Florida Exhibit To Adorn New Pensy. Station

DeLAND, Nov. 25.—The entire eastern section of the main concourse of the new $40,000,000 Pennsylvania railroad station in Philadelphia will be transformed into a Florida exhibit from the middle of November until the first of April. It was announced today by Earl W. Brown, Manager of the Florida National Exhibits.

"So successful was our exhibit here last year in promoting railroad travel to Florida," said Brown, "that Pennsylvania Railroad officials have invited us to return. According to estimates compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad, over 30,000 people pass through this busy terminal daily, most of them representing long distance travel."

"The beautiful classic structure at 30th Street, said to be the finest railway station in the world, provides an ideal setting for our palms and tropical trees which tower to their full height under the vaulted ceiling."

"The Florida exhibit will be Spanish in style and spot-lighted to give the illusion of a Florida sky. Loggia groups of Florida birds and fish will work mark the entrance. Tropical plants, vines and shrubs, many of them in bloom, will form a luxurious background for spectacular dioramas depicting Florida scenes. Displays of citrus and other products of Florida will be arranged against a background of Florida palms and grasses."

"In the center of this miniature tropical paradise stands Ganere's beautiful statue of 'The Spirit of Florida'—the state's new exhibit. An information staff directed by Miss Virginia Chowning will answer inquiries and distribute literature of the state."

Would Prevent Shipment Citrus Prior to Nov. 1

ORLANDO, Nov. 25.—(FNS) The state legislature at its next session should change the citrus laws so as to prevent the shipment of any Florida citrus north before Nov. 1, and prevent spending of any advertising money by the citrus growers before Oct. 15, is the belief of Chester C. Fosgate, president of the United Growers and Shippers of Florida, who holds that such legislation would immeasurably help Florida growers by preventing unscrupulous shippers from trying to jump the gun on other shippers by sending unripe fruit to the northern markets.

It would also eliminate the incentive to arsenate fruit in an attempt to hasten maturity, and insure the northern buyers getting full ripened, fit to eat Florida citrus at all times.

"The grapefruit that brought so much ill repute to Florida citrus early this season would never have been shipped under the law revision that I propose," he stated.

By holding all advertising until mid-October, the ads will appear just in time to "sell" housewives on Florida citrus before the first of the fully matured fruit reaches the market, he stated.

Predicting the greatest tourist season in Florida's history, state Hotel Commissioner Taylor stated that better facilities are offered than ever before, with clean comfortable accommodations to meet any pocketbook.

For the first time in the history of the Florida PTA the organization will have a permanent headquarters when the state offices are moved into their new headquarters in Orlando, this week. Mrs. A. G. Wagner, of Chuluota, will be in charge of the office.

"Snow" Covered Eskimo Igloo To Rise at 1939 World's Fair

HIGHER than a five-story building, a giant Eskimo igloo with "snow" encrusted walls and "Northern Lights" playing from its ceiling is being built today by Carrier Corporation, Syracuse, N. Y., air conditioning pioneers, as its exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair in Flushing, N. Y.

The igloo will be 70 feet high, equivalent to a five-story building, of white stucco with a special crystal finish to simulate snow. Surrounding the Eskimo house will be pools, which, at night will reflect floodlights playing on the igloo.

The ceiling of the igloo will be illuminated to give the effect of the Aurora Borealis flashing on and off over frozen wastes of the North. Comfortable seats will be arranged in this part of the exhibit so visitors may rest and watch a travelogue of air conditioning around the world flashed on the massive walls of the igloo.

Connected to the exhibit by a glass-walled arcade will be an oblong building with a complete glass front and glass sides. Total floor space of the two buildings will be 10,000 square feet. Two giant 30-foot thermometers outside the igloo will show the temperatures on the World's Fair grounds and inside the cool igloo.

The object of the exhibit is to take the visitors behind the scenes of air conditioning and bring them down through the 27 years of successive developments since 1912 when Dr. Willis H. Carrier made the world's first air conditioning installation in a Brooklyn lithography plant.

A giant revolving globe will show graphically how air conditioning is being used throughout the world, from 1,000 feet up in an office to 5,000 feet below ground in a mine and from a tobacco factory near the Arctic Circle to a telephone exchange of the Equator in Sumatra.

In order to practice what it preaches, Carrier will air condition the exhibit with one of the largest tube systems ever used for public exhibitions, the use of which will be entered in glass.

Agricultural Men Leave After Big Florida Meeting

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 25.—(FNS) Regretfully bidding Florida "farewell" after what they termed the most delightful convention they had ever held, members of the National Association of Agricultural Commissioners, Secretaries and Directors left here Monday for their homes following a tour of all Florida, conducted as a part of their convention program by Nathan Mayo, Florida Commissioner of Agriculture who, at the last business session of the association at Miami was honored by election as president of the association succeeding A. A. Brock, California.

Feeling that such a tour of Florida's scenic and agricultural high spots would be only fitting in an agricultural meeting, Commissioner Mayo had arranged the convention program so that the delegates met at Jacksonville, and proceeded by motor caravan down the east coast to Miami for the business sessions, then going on down along the Overseas Highway to Key West, back to Miami for a tour of south Florida, then up through the rich ridge country to Jacksonville.

Highlight of the tour was the United States Sugar Corporation properties at Clewiston, where Jay W. Moran, general manager of the properties, took them on a tour of the entire sugar plantation, explaining each part of the growing and refining of sugar in detail, and related the manner in which restrictions on growing sugar cane is hampering the development of one of the state's greatest industries.

He pointed out that under new restrictions forcing cutting of the new crop a fourth, 25 per cent of the employees must be laid off, whereas by lifting the restriction the present output of sugar, in which 45,000 men are employed during the long season, could be increased tenfold, with tenfold employment of labor. The delegates praised the company policy of trying to pay a wage scale permitting an "American" standard of living for its workers, who are today the highest paid sugar workers in the world.

From there, Mr. Mayo led the delegates to the Singing Tower, Cypress Gardens, Silver Springs, and other beauty spots, as well as to the modern citrus and vegetable packing and shipping plants, stopping off to inspect several of the new state farmers' markets.

In an address at the closing convention session, Senator Claude Pepper urged expansion of the emergency work program until every employable man and woman in the country was at work. Until all are working, farm problems will continue to be pressing, but will disappear if the mass purchasing power were sufficiently increased.

Legion to Renew Universal Service Fight in Congress

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 25.—The American Legion will fight with renewed determination for enactment of Universal Service legislation by the 76th Congress.

This was one of the high lights of the 39-page report made to the annual conference of department commanders and adjutants at National Headquarters here, November 14, by John Thomas Taylor, National Legislative Director of the American Legion.

"Our Universal Service bills will again be introduced during the 76th Congress," Taylor said. "To bring to a successful conclusion the American Legion's fight of many years to have this proposal enacted into law it is necessary that every member of the American Legion and every member of the American Legion Auxiliary inform his or her Senators and Representatives that he or she desires our Universal Service bills passed."

Taylor pointed out that the 20th annual national convention in Los Angeles, Calif., adopted a mandate calling for presentation by the American Legion of its Universal Service legislation once again to the next Congress as a most effective contribution to the promotion and preservation of America's peace. The mandate declared that "equal service for all, special profits and privileges for none" in time of war must become a national policy to prevent future disgraceful profiteering at the expense of a nation in need, and to distribute the burden of war equally upon all citizens.

War Referendum

Director Taylor urged all Legionnaires to back up the National Legislative Committee in again opposing any and all resolutions providing for war referendums. He related that largely through Legion effort the Ludow resolution was beaten 209 to 180 on January 10, 1938, and added:

"The American Legion took a position in Los Angeles in opposition to the Ludow Amendment, it being felt, among other sound reasons, that such procedure would be dangerous to the welfare of our Nation, particularly in these times of undeclared wars. There is no doubt but that similar resolutions will be introduced in the next Congress and it will be the duty of our National Legislative Committee to oppose them."

Dies Committee
The Dies Committee which is investigating subversive activities in the United States was created at the behest of the American Legion and has the fullest support of the Legion by national convention action in Los Angeles and in the House. He stated that the National Legislative Committee would fight for adequate additional funds for the Dies probes.

"There is a considerable body in the House that might fight the passing of additional funds to Dies Investigating Committee for the completion of the work it has done thus far," Taylor reported. "However, your National Legislative Committee is prepared to bring to the attention of every member of the House and particularly World War veteran members of the House, the Legion's stand on this matter."

Widows and Orphans
The American Legion will continue its fight in the 76th Congress for government protection for needy World War widows and orphans, Director Taylor said. This will be in compliance with a mandate of the Los Angeles national convention.

Taylor described the gains already made by the Legion on behalf of the widows and orphans. At first protection was obtained only for the widows and orphans of veterans who died from full service-connected disabilities. Next the Legion succeeded in having this protection extended to the widows and orphans of veterans who had only a 30-per cent service-connected disability. The 76th Congress,

RIPE STRAWBERRIES

The first ripe strawberries grown in Avon Park this season that we have heard of were picked this week by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Francis, from a small bed on their home lot on Lake avenue. Mrs. Francis had been told that strawberries would not grow on this yellow citrus sand and decided to see for herself, with the result that this week they picked some as fine berries as they ever saw. —Highlands County Pilot, Dec. 16, 1932.

Avon Park is losing another good family of citizens for three months, W. T. Hall and family leaving Wednesday for Pike, N. H., where they will be located at the Lake Tarleton Club, a fashionable summer resort, for the summer. They go to New York for a few weeks en route to their new location. They will return in October. —Highlands County Pilot, June 15, 1922.

BUYERS OFFERING $1.95 PER BOX FOR ORANGES

ON THE TREE IN HARDEE
Citrus buyers are now in the field in Hardee county contracting and buying the golden fruit, and the prices paid, according to information furnished, ranges from $1.25 to $1.95 on the tree. So far, this is the best price paid for fruit this early in the season in this state for several years.

In some sections of the state, the crop is cut less than half, while in other sections it fares a little better, but very few groves have anything like a normal crop except along the Ridge, where a good crop is almost general.

The rains during the past month, however, have brought the groves out wonderfully and a splendid June bloom is reported throughout the county and prospects are fairly bright for a good late crop. —Highlands County Pilot, June 22, 1922.

BEAUTIFUL STANDARDS HERE

The two handsome silk standards for Highlands Post of the American Legion have arrived, a marvelous beautiful silk American flag and a silk legion post standard. These cost $142 and will be carried by the Highlands Post for the first time in Friday's parade. The post has also received the regulation legion caps for all members and these will also be worn in the parade. —Highlands County Pilot, July 3, 1924.

While the Florida Gators have given a more or less sluggish performance this season, allowing themselves to be kicked and cuffed around with only an occasional warning snap of their jaws, Florida is not without football honors, for her practically unknown and unnamed "Rattlers" have been gliding throughout the southeast, striking with deadly result at every foe, to secure for the second successive year the coveted title of Southern Conference Champions.

Among the south's institutions of higher learning, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College for negroes at Tallahassee ranks high, and every Floridian may point with pride to the record established in advancing the welfare of our negroes and the service it has rendered in publicizing and promoting our state.

Handicapped by lack of funds, sending "Big Bill" Bell, former Ohio State line star — modest and unassuming despite his amazing coaching ability — has taken the raw material at hand and given Florida A. & M. College a football team that for two years stands UNBEATEN.

While Floridians for the most part have given little thought or attention to their colored "Rattlers", we should not overlook the fact that this team, too, is "Florida's" and while it may be little known at home, it is known and respected throughout the south. So far this season Florida A. & M. has piled up a total score of 160 points to their opponents' nothing. Among their brilliant victories was the defeat of North Carolina State 41 to 0 and Tuskegee 40 to 0.

On December 3 they tangle with Kentucky State in their Orange Bowl Classic at Orlando for the National Championship, and if Floridians want to see a real football game they'd better not miss it.

The brand of football these southern colored lads have been turning out is so good that "white folks" have been flocking to their games this year throughout the south.

An Southwestern Conference Champions, the Florida A. & M. Rattlers have been invited to play Langston University of Oklahoma, Southern Conference Champions in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas, on Christmas Day. They have been chosen to meet the outstanding eastern team, playing in the Cigarette Bowl at Winston-Salem on January 2, while Atlanta wants them on the same date for the All-Star game in the famed Georgia Peach Bowl.

But lack of funds has so far prevented the acceptance of any of these invitations and it will indeed be a shame if, after their brilliant record, this great colored Florida team is denied the privilege of bringing additional honor and glory to the state, through lack of interest and appreciation on the part of its citizens.

After all, a Champion is a Champion, and this splendid Florida team has earned and deserves our support. Remember, Florida A. & M. is a Florida State Institution and the Florida Rattlers are Florida boys. Let's be public spirited and fair enough to let them finish the job with Florida victories at Dallas and Winston-Salem or Atlanta.

And while we are on this subject of the achievement of Florida's colored citizens, few are aware of the fact that for years the negro exhibit at the Florida State Fair has stood as the greatest exposition of the kind staged in America, attracting national attention.

Likewise, Florida negroes have played their part in advertising and publicizing Florida to the nation through their participation in the magnificent Florida Exhibits at Chicago, New York and Cleveland and will again participate at the New York World's Fair next summer.

The Florida Orange Blossom Quartet, all students of the Florida A. & M. College, directed by Randolph von Charitron, is known today as one of the finest negro musical organizations in the country, ranking with the famed Fiske Jubilee Singers. They have given Florida thousands of dollars worth of valuable publicity with their radio programs and recording. Numberless times they have been featured on Florida programs, coast to coast, with such artists as Major Bowes, Ed Wynne, Ray Perkins, Stoppand and Bud, Tiny Ruffner and Graham McNamee.

Oxford Group Ask "Moral Rearmament"

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 25.—(FNS) All Florida newsmen and news services will be asked to cooperate with National Headquarters at the Oxford Group in the education of Floridians in the need for "moral re-armament" if the world is to remain at peace, and the bitter persecutions of individuals and races in Europe is to be ended.

This was decided at a meeting of Oxford Group team leaders from all over Florida who met at the Morrison hotel here Sunday, aided by Group members from Michigan, Illinois, Canada and Britain, to discuss the part Florida Group members should play in building up a new national and international philosophy that will lead to lasting peace.

Miami, Ocala, Frostproof, Winter Haven, Tampa and St. Petersburg leaders cooperated in leading the discussions. British cabinet heads, as well as such leading American thinkers as Rodger Babson, gave the Oxford Group in England credit for being the greatest single force bringing about the temporary peace in Europe.

"The State Press Scrap Book" a unique radio program, conducted by Russell Kay, Secretary of the Florida Press Association, and designed to bring listeners the "The Best From the Press" goes back on the air next week over Tampa's pioneer radio station WDAE.

Florida Exhibit To Adorn New Pensy. Station

DELAND, Nov. 25.—The entire eastern section of the main concourse of the new $90,000,000 Pennsylvania railroad station in Philadelphia will be transformed into a Florida exhibit from the middle of November until the first of April, it was announced today by W. Brown, Manager of the Florida National Exhibits.

"So successful was our exhibit here last year in promoting railroad travel to Florida," said Brown, "that Pennsylvania Railroad officials have invited us to return. According to estimates compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad, over 30,000 people pass through this busy terminal daily, most of them representing long distance travel."

"The beautiful classic structure at 30th Street, said to be the finest railway station in the world, provides an ideal setting for our palms and tropical trees which tower to their full height under the vaulted ceiling."

"The Florida exhibit will be Spanish in style and spot-lighted to give to the estimator a Florida Spanish towers, heavily tiled and decorated with grill work mark the entrance. Tropical plants, vines and shrubs, many of them in bloom, will form a luxurious background for spectacular dioramas depicting Florida scenes. Displays of Florida and striking groupings of Florida birds and fish are seen against a background of Florida palms and grasses."

"In the center of this miniature tropical paradise stands Gander's beautiful statue of "The Spirit of Florida," theme of all Florida's exhibits. An information staff directed by Miss Virginia Chowning will answer inquiries and distribute literature of the state."

Would Prevent Shipment Citrus Prior to Nov. 1

ORLANDO, Nov. 25.—(FNS) The state legislature at its next session should change the citrus laws so as to prevent the shipment of any Florida citrus north before Nov. 1, and prevent spending of any advertising money by the Citrus Commission before Oct. 15, is the belief of Chester C. Fosgate, president of the United Growers and Shippers of Florida, who holds that such legislation would immeasurably help Florida growers by preventing unscrupulous shippers from trying to jump the gun on other shippers by sending unripe fruit to the northern markets.

It would also eliminate the incentive to hasten maturity, and attempt to hasten maturity, and insure the northern buyers getting full ripened, fit to eat Florida citrus at all times.

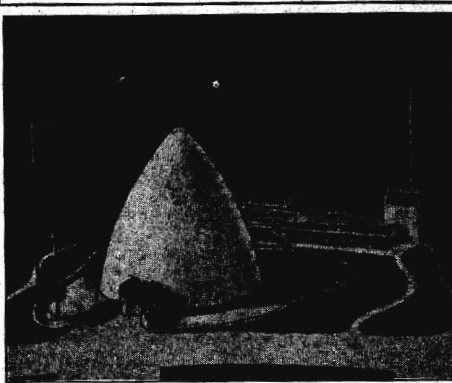

"The grapefruit that brought so much ill repute to Florida citrus early season would never have been shipped under the new revision that I propose," he stated.

By holding all advertising until mid-October, the ads will appear just in time to "sell" housewives on Florida citrus before the first of the fully mature fruit reaches the market, he stated.

Predicting the greatest tourist season in Florida's history, state Hotel Commissioner Taylor stated that better facilities are offered than ever before, with clean comfortable accommodations to meet any pocketbook.

For the first time in the history of the Florida PTA the organization will have a permanent headquarters where the staff offices are moved into their new headquarters in Orlando, this week. Mrs. A. G. Wagner, of Chuluota, will be in charge of the office.

"Snow" Covered Eskimo Igloo To Rise at 1939 World's Fair

HIGHER than a five-story building, a giant Eskimo igloo with "snow" encrusted walls and "Northern Lights" playing from its ceiling is being built today by Carrier Corporation, Syracuse, N. Y., air conditioning pioneers, as its exhibit at the 1939 World's Fair in Flushing, N. Y.

The igloo will be 70 feet high, equivalent to a five-story building, of white stucco with a special crystal finish to simulate snow. Surrounding the Eskimo house will be pools, which at night will reflect floodlights playing on the igloo.

The ceiling of the igloo will be illuminated to give the effect of the Aurora Borealis flashing on and off over frozen wastes of the North. Comfortable seats will be arranged in this part of the exhibit so visitors may rest and watch a travelogue of air conditioning around the world flashed on the massive walls of the igloo.

Connected to the exhibit by a glass-walled arcade will be an oblong building with a complete glass front and glass sides. Total floor space of the two buildings will be 10,000 square feet. Two giant 30-foot thermometers outside the igloo will show the temperatures on the World's Fair grounds and inside the cool igloo.

The purpose of the exhibit is to take the visitors behind the scenes of air conditioning and bring them down through the 17 years of successive developments since 1922 when Dr. Willis H. Carrier made the world's first air conditioning installation in a Brooklyn lithography plant.

A giant revolving globe will show graphically how air conditioning is being used throughout the world, from 1,000 feet up in an office to 8,000 feet below ground in a mine and from a tobacco factory near the Arctic Circle to a telephone exchange on the Equator in Sumatra.

In order to practice what it preaches, Carrier will air condition the exhibit with one of the largest type systems ever used for public exhibitions, the inner workings of which will be encased in glass.

Agricultural Men Leave After Big Florida Meeting

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 25.—(FNS) Regrettably bidding Florida "farewell" after what they termed the most delightful convention they had ever held, members of the National Association of Agricultural Commissioners, Secretaries and Directors left here Monday for their homes following a tour of all Florida, conducted as a part of their convention program by Nathan Mayo, Florida Commissioner of Agriculture who, at the last business session of the association at Miami was honored by election as president of the association succeeding A. A. Brock, California.

Feeling that such a tour of Florida's scenic and agricultural high spots would be only fitting in an agricultural meeting, Commissioner Mayo had arranged the convention program so that the delegates met at Jacksonville, and proceeded by motor caravan down the east coast to Miami for the business sessions, then going on down along the Overseas Highway to Key West, back to Miami for a tour of south Florida, then up through the rich ridge country to Jacksonville.

Highlight of the tour was the United States Sugar Corporation properties at Clewiston, where Jay W. Moran, general manager of the properties, took them on a tour of the entire sugar plantation, explaining each part of the growing and refining of sugar in detail, and related the manner in which restrictions on growing sugar cane is hampering the development of one of the state's greatest industries.

He pointed out that under new restrictions forcing cutting of the new crop a fourth, 25 per cent of the employees must be laid off whereas by lifting the restrictions the present output of sugar, in which 4,600 men are employed during the long season, could be increased tenfold, with tenfold employment of labor. The delegates praised the company policy of trying to pay a wage scale permitting an "American" standard of living for its workers, who are today the highest paid sugar workers in the world.

From there, Mr. Mayo led the delegates to the Singing Tower, Cypress Gardens, Silver Springs, and other beauty spots, as well as to the modern citrus and vegetable packing and shipping plants, stopping off to inspect several of the new state farmers' markets.

In an address at the closing convention session, Senator Claude Pepper urged expansion of the emergency work program until every employable man and woman in the country was at work. Until all are working, farm problems will continue to be pressing, but will disappear if the mass purchasing power were sufficiently increased.

Legion to Renew Universal Service Fight in Congress

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 25.—The American Legion will fight with renewed determination for enactment of Universal Service legislation by the 76th Congress.

This was one of the high lights of the 39-page report made to the annual conference of department commanders and adjutants at National Headquarters here, November 14, by John Thomas Taylor, National Legislative Director of the American Legion.

"Our Universal Service bills will again be introduced during the 76th Congress," Taylor said. "To bring to a successful conclusion the American Legion's fight of many years to have this proposal enacted into law it is necessary that every member of the American Legion and every member of the American Legion Auxiliary inform his or her Senators and Representatives that he or she desires our Universal Service bills passed."

Taylor pointed out that the 20th annual national convention in Los Angeles, Calif., adopted a mandate calling for presentation by the American Legion of its Universal Service legislation once again to the next Congress as a most effective contribution to the promotion and preservation of America's peace. The mandate declared that "equal service for all, special profits and privileges for none" in time of war must become a national policy to prevent future disgraceful profiteering at the expense of action in need and to distribute the burden of war equally upon all citizens.

War Referendum

Director Taylor urged all Legionnaires to back up the National Legislative Committee in again opposing any and all resolutions providing for war referendums. He related that largely through Legion effort the Ludlow resolution was beaten 209 to 180 on January 10, 1938, and added:

"The American Legion took a position in Los Angeles in opposition to the Ludlow Amendment, it being felt, among other sound reasons, that such procedure would be dangerous to the welfare of our Nation, particularly in these times of undeclared wars. There is no doubt but that similar resolution will be introduced at the next Congress and it will be the duty of our National Legislative Committee to oppose them."

Dies Committee

The Dies Committee which is investigating subversive activities in the United States was created at the behest of the American Legion and has the fullest support of the Legion by national convention action in Los Angeles, Director Taylor said. He stated that the National Legislative Committee would fight for adequate additional funds for the Dies probe.

"There is a considerable body in the House that might fight the granting of additional funds to Dies Investigating Committee for the completion of the work it has done thus far," Taylor reported. "However, your National Legislative Committee is prepared to bring to the attention of every member of the House, and particularly World War veteran members of the House, the Legion's stand on this matter."

Widows and Orphans

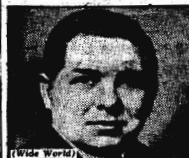

The American Legion will continue its fight in the 76th Congress for government protection for needy World War widows and orphans, Director Taylor said. This will be in compliance with a mandate of the Los Angeles national convention.

Taylor described the gains already made by the Legion on behalf of the widows and orphans. At first protection was obtained only for the widows and orphans of veterans who died from full service-connected disability. Next, the Legion succeeded in having this protection extended to the widows and orphans of veterans who had only a 90-per cent service-connected disability. The 76th Congress,

RIPE STRAWBERRIES

The first ripe strawberries grown in Avon Park this season that we have heard of were picked this week by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Francis, from a small bed on their home lot on Lake avenue. Mrs. Francis had been told that strawberries would not grow on this yellow citrus soil and decided to see for herself, with the result that this week they picked some as fine berries as they ever saw.—Highlands County Pilot, Dec. 16, 1932.

Avon Park is losing another good family of citizens for three months. W. T. Hall and family leaving Wednesday for Pike, N. H., where they will be located at the Lake Tarleton Club, a fashionable summer resort, for the summer. They go to New York for a few weeks en route to their new locale. They will return.—Highlands County Pilot, June 15, 1932.

BUYERS OFFERING $1.55 PER BOX FOR ORANGES

ON THE TREE IN HARDEE
Citrus buyers are now in the field in Hardee county contracting and buying the golden fruit, and the prices paid, according to information furnished, ranges from $1.25 to $1.55 on the tree. So far, this is the best price paid for fruit this early in the season in this state for several years.

In some sections of the state, the crop is cut less than half, while in other sections it fares a little better, but very few groves have anything like a normal crop except along the Ridge, where a good crop is almost general.

The rains during the past month, however, have brought the groves out wonderfully and a splendid June bloom is reported throughout the county and prospects are greatly bright for a good lake crop.—Highlands County Pilot, June 22, 1932.

BEAUTIFUL STANDARDS HERE

The two handsome silk standards for Highlands Post of the American Legion have arrived, a marvelous beautiful silk American flag and a silk legion post standard. These cost $142 and will be carried by the Highlands Post for the first time in Friday's parade. The post has also received the regulation legion caps for all members and these will also be worn in the parade.—Highlands County Pilot, July 3, 1934.

10 Honorary Game Wardens Appointed To Protect Game

Ten honorary game wardens have received their commissions from the Department of Game and Fresh Water Fish, it was announced here today by Ray Rutherford, president of the Avon Park Conservation Council. The honorary wardens were asked for by both the Avon Park and the Sebring game clubs, and five wardens were given to both areas. They will have the same police powers as regular game wardens, the only difference in their status being that they will draw no pay for their work.

The identity of the ten men is not known to the public, and will not be divulged, Rutherford stated. The ten commissions were received here and delivered by Rutherford Wednesday. Identity of the wardens is known only to Rutherford and Sam Cooper, regular warden. The advantage to hunters is that the county now has ten additional game wardens, Rutherford said. "We selected good men, and I am sure they will do their duty."

FLORIDA HENS SPEAK AT CONGRESS

Four animated hens will tell the public the advantages of living in Florida while playing bridge at Florida's exhibit at the World's Poultry Congress in Cleveland, July 28 to August 7, according to Earl W. Brown, manager of the Florida National Exhibits. The hens, mounted by J. E. Wallace, exhibits ornithologist, will chatter as they play through the aid of an automatic recording device.

One will say, "Conditions in Florida are so favorable for poultry that I've already laid more than 300 eggs so far this year so I have plenty of time to play bridge."

Another will say, "Yes, it is much better in Florida than up north where you have to lay eggs in snow banks."

And so on!

Construct Picnic Building at Park

Additional picnic and parking facilities are under construction at Highlands Hammock State Park. A combination building, 90 x 40 feet, will provide shelter in case of rain or cold weather and also have a concession room where sandwiches and drinks may be obtained. Toilet facilities also will be provided. The main part of the building is a 40 x 25 foot pavilion, which will have a large fireplace made of Ocala limestone.

Near the combination building, which is almost completed, will be parking space for overflow attendance at the park, and close by barbecue pits, fireplace and table and bench combinations will be built for the accommodation of picnickers. Smaller shelters also will be constructed on the picnic grounds, situated near the entrance to the park.

Later a museum will be constructed in the new parking area. Among the curios to be housed in it is the fossil of a giant turtle, whose age has been estimated at 20,000 years. It was excavated about four years ago in the Hammock when the drainage system was built. At present it is housed in a building in the hammock and is not on display. The bones will be reconstructed by a government expert.

Pine and cypress used in the combination building were obtained from the hammock and cut and dressed at the sawmill at the adjoining Florida Botanical Garden and Arboretum. Most of the hardware used in the building was made at the forge in the botanical garden. CCC labor is being used principally in its construction.

The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by January according to present plans.

School Day at DeSoto Exposition

TAMPA, Nov. 25.—(FNS) Convicted that every school child in Florida should have an opportunity to attend the Pan-American Hernandez DeSoto Exposition in Tampa this winter, Tampa's Junior Chamber of Commerce has assumed sponsorship of an All Florida School Day and has launched a campaign to attract representation from every educational institution in the state, Robert Hill, president of the organization, has announced here.

Special invitations have been sent to every school in Florida, arrangements have been made with Florida State Fair officials to admit every student and teacher free, and cash prizes and many commercial awards will be offered as inducements for schools to send motorcades.

Queen of Beauty To Be Selected At Park Tuesday

Avon Park's "Queen of Beauty" will be chosen at the Park Theatre next Tuesday night, when a beauty pageant and talent contest will be presented by International Beauty Pageants, under the auspices of the American Legion.

Between 18 and 20 young ladies will enter the contest, a representative of the pageant stated today. The winner will receive the title of "Miss Avon Park" and will represent this city in a state-wide beauty show to be staged at Coral Gables country club the first of the year. The winner will have all expenses of the trip paid, in addition to being feted at a ball and other entertainments, will have the opportunity of taking a screen test and radio audition.

The Tuesday night program will open with a beauty show staged for Avon Park's younger beauties—between the ages of 3 and 8—and the winner will receive a loving cup.

As an added entertainment feature, a talent contest, consisting of ten selected acts will be presented. These will consist of dancing, singing, comedy and musical numbers, and in addition to amateurs, will include several professional numbers, the sponsors stated. The winner of the talent contest will also be taken to Coral Gables for a statewide contest, screen and radio tests, according to the plan.

The beauty pageant and other numbers will be staged immediately following the first show at the Park. Regular admission prices will prevail.

Holiday Lights Illuminate Streets

The holiday spirit reigns supreme in Avon Park, as the downtown streets are all aglow with many brilliantly colored lights, forming a colorful illumination. Festoons of lights are strung up and down several sections of the mall, and the flag pole is encircled with long strings of lights leading to the top, and can be seen at a distance of a mile or more around. The beautiful tree in the mall by the band stand is decorated with gay streamers of lights, with a large star at the top. The lighting of the mall is augmented by individuals, who have decorated the front of their stores or business houses with similar lighting effects. The lights were turned on Thanksgiving eve, and will remain on until after the Christmas holidays.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNEX ENLARGED

The Sunday School annex of the First Baptist Church has been undergoing notable improvement for the past week or so, and being enlarged to take care of the increased attendance. The building will be completed Saturday, Rev. J. P. Dalton, pastor of the church stated.

started work on the entertainment features to make it one of the most attractive events on the 17-day schedule of the Exposition which opens January 31 and continues through February 18. School bands from throughout the state will also compete for cash prizes and Jaycee officials anticipate the entry of more than a dozen musical organizations in the contests. School buses will be utilized by many institutions to transport students to Tampa and the motorcades will be protected by the Florida Safety Council under the direction of Asher Frank.

Sale of Christmas Seals Starts Friday

Plans for the 1938 Christmas Seal Sale were nearing completion in every city and town in Florida today. With the opening of the sale on Friday, workers in every county hasten to fold thousands of sheets of seals, insert them in envelopes and prepare them for mailing.

The sale in this state is sponsored by the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association and its affiliated organizations. About thirty million tuberculosis seals will be sent out this week. Letters going to thousands of Floridians will carry two sheets of seals and a letter which tells what the seals have done in the past to curb tuberculosis here.

The 1938 seal has protection of the home as its general theme. The design of the seal suggests the slogan, "Protect Your Home From Tuberculosis." A young mother and two children are shown lighting the candle in the window of their home. The lighted candle is indicative of the enlightenment kindled by Christmas Seals. Mrs. George Voorhees is local chairman in charge of the sales and Mrs. Tom Mitchell of Sebring, is chairman for the county.

Cause for Thanks Many, Rev. Elliott Tells Rotary Club

Rev. A. C. Elliott, pastor of the Congregational Church, filled in on Wednesday's Rotary program for Rev. R. I. Brown, who was unable to fill a speaking date on "Thanksgiving Day Observance," due to illness.

Americans have many things for which to be thankful, Rev. Elliott reminded his hearers. We should give thanks for the land in which we live; thanks for the right to worship God as we see fit; thanks that we are free from dictators and have the priceless heritage of freedom, handed down by our forebears, he said.

But, eternal vigilance is the price of freedom, and that freedom which was bought at a price, must be preserved and handed down unscathed to future generations, said Rev. Elliott.

F. T. Haskins gave an interesting discourse on the oddities of literature, and Mrs. Charles Sherman's class of fifth grade students rendered several songs to fill out the program.

Walter Betts' team was announced as the winner of the attendance contest, and will get turkey at the "payoff" next Wednesday. The other three teams will be served chicken, stew and a sandwich in order of their finish.

Council Trades Lots With Church of the Nazarene

The city council agreed Monday night to a proposal to exchange four lots on W. Main Street at the corner of DeSoto Street, to the Church of the Nazarene for the property now occupied by the church and parsonage. The lots are listed as lots 2, 3, 6 and 7, block D, section 24.

Under the agreement, the Nazarene church property will be deeded by the city to the school board for school purposes. A proviso of the agreement is that the school board stand the expense of moving the church buildings to the satisfaction of the church.

Park Superintendent H. R. Currie's resignation was accepted by the council, effective December 1. Frank Camp was the only applicant for the position. His written application was received and filed. No appointment was made.

Wayne Maynard asked to be appointed manager of the airport. His application was taken under advisement.

The city bought a used truck from A. Matchett to be used by the street department.

Miami was chosen as host of the next sectional meeting of the Florida Institute of Accountants at the closing season of the Institute's meeting in Lakeland. The Miami meeting in May will be the general session for election of officers.
