Five Projects Approved By City Council

Plan Total of $41,000 Improvements Thru Federal Aid

The city council met in special session Monday night and placed its tentative approval on five projects totaling $41,978 to be built with PWA and WPA assistance. They are:

Airport fighting and hangar PWA, $20,000.

Mall irrigation, PWA, $4650.

Donaldson Park recreational, WPA, $3500.

Trailer club house, PWA, $6000.

South Highlands avenue, WPA, $7,768.76.

D. G. Perry presented the airport PWA project, which calls for lighting with emergency lights and the construction of a new steel hangar, with a total value of $20,000. The sponsor's contribution will be 55 per cent. The project was tentatively approved and the committee was requested to proceed with plans.

E. G. Todd presented the Mall irrigation system PWA project with a total value of $4650, the sponsor's part of which was placed at $2500. The project was referred to the finance committee to work out more in detail.

Walter Betts presented the Donaldson Park recreational WPA project, calling for reconditioning of tennis courts, juvenile play ground, reconditioning croquet court, addition to the club house, two new shuffle board courts with shelters at end and extending over present ones, barbecue ovens, pier, clay walk along lake shore and a number of park benches. Total value $3500, sponsor's part approximately $575. This was approved and will be forwarded to WPA offices.

C. E. Lanier presented a project calling for a new trailer club house to be built in Donaldson park, and landscaping of the entire Park, the project to be self-liquidating, under WPA assistance, and to cost $6000. This met with tentative approval.

H. E. Keller presented WPA project for resurfacing South Highlands avenue, at a total cost of $7,768.76. This project has been ready for approval for some time. The sponsor's share is $2017, which the council approved.

E. G. Todd also asked the council for a long term lease to the Boy Scouts on lot 13, block 70, section 22, which is the north half of the old B & B building on South Forest avenue. It was leased to the Scouts for $10 per year for a period of 15 years, provided it is used only for Boy Scout purposes.

Lafayette Offender Arrested by O'Steen

Bryant Blackwelder was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of grand larceny by Officer Raymond O'Steen on request of the sheriff of Lafayette county. Blackwelder is charged with stealing two $50 bills from a tobacco farmer where he worked, O'Steen said. Local police were notified to be on the look out for him by the Lafayette sheriff, because he was said to have headed this way to visit relatives. O'Steen said he recovered one of the bills. The Lafayette sheriff came after Blackwelder Thursday.

MAD DOG KILLED

A dog killed by Chief McCarthy Thursday, and known to have bitten two other dogs and its owner, Mrs. Henry Shirley, was mad, according to a wire received Friday afternoon from the state board of health. The dog's head was sent in for examination, and the wire reported: "Dog head positive for rabies."

The dog was a house pet, Mrs. Shirley stated. He attacked her Thursday morning and clawed her skirt, finally biting her on the ankle, she said. Dogs belonging to Mel Bass and M. V. Pilcher, bitten by the mad dog, were shut up for observation.

Mayor Covington warned all dog owners that city police have instructions to shoot and kill all dogs found at large which are not wearing innoculation tags.

Death of Koetz Causes Another Special Primary

The death, Tuesday night, of Ferd Koetz, Lake Placid nominee for county commissioner of district four, made necessary another special Democratic primary in Highlands county.

The county Democratic executive committee, meeting in Sebring Wednesday afternoon, set October 4 as the date for the special primary to select his successor, who will run in the general election in November for the position. The nomination is a district election, and voters outside of the district will not participate.

The executive committee decided to hold a Democratic rally, and basket picnic October 26 in Tuscawilla park in Sebring. Prominent speakers have agreed to make addresses, Chairman F. M. Young stated.

Dies of Heart Attack

Ferdinand Koetz, 55, was found dead in his bed Wednesday morning, the victim of a heart attack. He unerwent an operation in a Sebring hospital about two months ago, and had apparently recovered. His death was unexpected.

He was born in New York City, and came to Lake Placid 13 years ago. He was mayor of Lake Placid, and was nominated in the May primaries as county commissioner of the fourth district. He was caretaker of the Lake Placid Club. He was a Mason and a Shriner, and was past grand master of New Jersey. He was a member of the Episcopal church.

Survivors are his widow; a daughter, Frances; a son, Ferdinand, Jr.; brother, Al Koetz of Newark, N. J.; three sisters, Mrs. William Mettler, of Bloomfield, N. J.; Mrs. Pen Toulson of Vineland, N. J.; and Mrs. Lovey Koetz of Vineland, N. J.

ANY CLOTHES, PLEASE!

Please!!! If you have any clothes you are planning on giving to the welfare committee of the P. T. A., won't you get them to Mrs. A. C. Wester, chairman, or leave them at the grammar school as soon as possible? The need was never so urgent as now, for all children's clothes. Most everyone has outgrown clothes in the closet, cedar chest or trunk. Get them out, and make some underprivileged child presentable to attend school, and make that child happy. The committee urges your immediate cooperation!

Touchton Leads As Druggists' Choice For Next Governor

According to a canvass of the state to learn the physician, dentist or druggist who would be most acceptable to the three professions as a candidate for Florida's governor, former State Senator Fred L. Touchton of Avon Park is leading among the druggists. Results of the survey, which have just been completed, were forwarded the past week to executive committees of the associations of the professions.

The canvass was undertaken by A. W. Morrison, Miami, secretary-manager of the Florida Pharmaceutical association, after it has been given the endorsement of the executive committee of th association. Morrison sent out nearly 3000 post cards, following up with letters as he saw interest being shown in the movement.

Touchton said here today that this complimentary gesture on the part of the professional men had brought him letters and messages of congratulations from all corners of the state and from people in almost every walk of life.

Scores of local people, old age pensioners, old timers, farmers and laboring people have come in to extend him good wishes and good luck if he decided to get in the race, he said.

Touchton, while in the Senate, was classed as a liberal, a humanitarian and a fighter for the "under dog." He took the part of the small merchants, and was a crusader against crime. slot machines, bolita and other unlawful gambling and was at all times for all moral and religious issues. He won the reputation in the Senate of being a square shooter on all public questions. He is public spirited, loyal to the state and believes in advertising the state to the world.

Concerning the canvass, the Miami Daily News gives the names of other proposed candidates in the three groups. The News says:

"Morrison's report to the executive committees of the Florida Medical society, Florida Dental association and Florida Pharmaceutical association, shows in the physicians' group, Dr. George Dame of Inverness, leading in indorsements by mail; Dr. C. E. Tumlin, Miami, leading in indorsements by telephone, with Dr. E. G. Peek a close second to Dame in mail indorsements, and Dr. W. M. Rowlett of Tampa, and Dr. M. A. Baltzell of Marianna well up in the list. Dame is now in the state senate.

"Among druggists, Fred L. Touchton, former state senator from Dade City, is leading; H. B. Douglas, of Bonifay, second; and George Moore, Clearwater, head of the state pharmaceutical association, and Victor Wray, Haines City tied for third place.

"Dr. T. Carlos Henslee, Miami dentist, is the only one in his group indorsed, but he has received high mention.

"Morrison said he expected the matter to be taken up by the executive committees of the three associations at individual meetings, and then the selection of a candidate for combined backing to be made at a joint meeting."

Pupils of First Grade Out at Noon First Six Weeks

Pupils of the first grade will be dismissed at noon for the first six weeks of school, Principal Stanley N. Reeves said yesterday. They will go to classes at 8:45 and will be dismissed at 12 o'clock, he said.

School will open Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The first day will be spent in getting pupils settled in their rooms, lessons assigned and books distributed.

ROAD JOB OPENED

The Kissimmee river WPA road project was opened Thursday morning and 20 men put to work as a starter to relieving unemployment, in the city-county campaign to give work to 100 additional men.

County Commissioner Wells stated this morning that the job can use 100 men if that number is available, and additional men will be put on as fast as they are certified for work, he said. The airport job is using a full force, but as more men are made available they can get on the river road job, he said.

Holland Stebbins has been assigned as superintendent of the project, which calls for the regrading and resurfacing of approximately 28 miles of road from Avon Park to Fort Kissimmee, at a toal cost of $33,000. Clay will be used for surfacing the road 12 feet in width. Most of this road is clayed from Avon Park to the Arbuckle bridge. This will be repaired and put in good condition, but most of the work will be done from the Arbuckle bridge to the Kissimmee, Commissioner Wells said.

Richard Ellis Bound Over On Serious Charge

Richard Ellis was arrested Monday morning on a warrant sworn out by his wife, and bound over to circuit court by Justice J. C. Ragsdale on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Arrest was made by Constable W. A. Roberts and Chief W. H. McCarthy.

In a preliminary hearing in Justice of the Peace court, Tuesday morning, Mrs. Ellis and other witnessts said that Ellis fired at his wife with a .22 rifle, after an argument. Mrs. Ellis said she ran around the house when her husband "went for his gun," and took out down the railroad tracks for town when he began shooting. Witnesses said he shot five or six times, and continued shooting around the house after she had fled, terrorizing the neighbors.

Bond was set at $2000, and Ellis was taken to the county jail.

Lunch Room Opens Tuesday, Sept. 6

Announcement is made this week that the P. T. A. lunch room will open Tuesday, Sept. 6. Underprivileged children will not be fed the first week, but arrangements are being made to take care of them the first of the following week.

Tuesday's menu will consist of hamburger sandwiches, meat sandwiches, honey and peanut butter sandwiches, fruit and vegetable salad, jello, and chocolate pie, milk and cold drinks. The second week hot lunches, as well as cold foods, will be served.

The aim of the lunch room this year is to serve better and more attractive food, and it is hoped that all parents will cooperate by allowing their children to have, at least, occasional meals at school. However, all students, parents of students, and teachers will be privileged to use the lunch room whether they buy their lunch there or not.

The lunch room which, this year, will be under the direct supervision of the P. T. A., will be in charge of Mrs. E. C. Wever.

State Hospital Head Speaks To Rotes

Says Proposed Site For Southern Branch Is "Ideally Located"

Rotarian J. H. Therrell, superintendent of the state hospital at Chattahoochee, gave an informative talk to the Rotary club and a large number of visitors Wednesday. He was invited here to give first hand facts to the people of Avon Park who are working to secure the proposed South Florida branch of the state hospital.

This he did by sketching a history of the institution, outlining the method of operation and telling of the curative work effected.

The state hospital is not an insane asylum, which is a place where crazy people are put away for the protection of society and nothing is done to help them back to normalcy. But the state insane hospital is an institution where insane people, of all degrees of insanity, are taken and treated and cured and sent back to society as useful citizens. The average conception of the hospital is 99 per cent wrong, Therrell said. It is no more a disgrace to be mentally ill than to be physically ill, and many people in all walks of life are partially insane, though they have never been inmates of the hospital.

Superintendent Therrell said that he had looked over the proposed site at Glenada Hills, which Avon Park is offering to the state, and said it was ideally located for the purpose. He said, however, that he had nothing to do with the selection of a site, which was left to the legislature.

Going into the magnitude of the state hospital, he said in part:

"The hospital is located in the northwestern part of the state, 45 miles northwest of Tallahassee. It is administered by the governor and his cabinet as directors. The physical property is composed of 10,003 acres of land lying seven and one-half miles from east to west and five and a half from north to south. Within the grounds there are four counties, two states and three navigable rivers — Decatur and Seminole counties, Georgia; Gadsden and Jackson counties, Florida; The Flint, Chattahoochee and Apalachicola rivers, all navigable pass through the grounds.

"We have 403 buildings, all hospital buildings being heated from a central steam plant. We operate the following departments:

"Scientific and clinical, waterworks, power plant, ice factory, saw mill, syrup mill, grist mill, mattress factory, foundry, industrial shop, construction, engineering, sanitary, commissary, supply, broom and mop factory, shoe shop, paint shop, casket factory, morgue and undertaking, furniture repair, laundry, art department, occupational therapy, picture shows, recreation, prison department, electric department distribution, canning factory, post office, trust department, accounting department, drugs, sewing rooms, streets and sewerage disposal, telegraph office, garage and filling station, dairy, chicken farm, hog farm, transportation, traffic department, horticultural, general farm, bakery, fire department, telephone system, barber shops, beauty parlors, administration, dental department, band and orchestra, canteen and drink stand.

IN TWO STATES
(Lakeland Ledger)

Gov. Olin D. Johnson, who carried the New Deal blessing in South Carolina, had made enough enemies to defeat a much better man in any contest and the renomination of Sen. Ellison D. Smith was a foregone conclusion. Since the president commissioned Johnson to lead the administration's forces, the defeat may properly be charged against him.

Johnson has spent most of his time warring with other departments of the South Carolina government and has lacked vigorous and constructive leadership. Johnson swung on to the president's coattails in the hope the he could fly on them to the senate.

Six years ago Smith won by a bare 5000 majority and he was slated for the discards but for the issues involved and the kind of opposition raised. In the nature of things, Smith profited in a campaign that bored deep into human emotions and in which the main issue was obscured by bitterness and prejudice.

In California Senator McAdoo, never popular as a vote-getter but the beneficiary of the first Roosevelt tide, had to contend against a panacea that lured the old folks like sweets tempt flies. Persons over 50 years of age to get $30 a week under Mr. Downey's plan. In a state where Upton Sinclair scared practically everybody, it was not surprising that a gentleman who could offer $30 a week ran like a scared rabbit.

Tuesday was not a gala day for the administration.

LIGHT IN THE SCHOOLHOUSE
(An editorial from THE ROTARIAN Magazine)

"Teacher's working late tonight," they used to say if they saw a light in the schoolhouse after, say 5 o'clock. But not now. More and more the ever-lighted schoolhouse is becoming a fact, as new communities brighten to the realization that, as an after-hours' center for adult cultural and social activities, it offers the finest opportunities.

Folk schools of countries like Denmark, where grown-ups often continue their classroom education all through life, have won wide attention. And an inspiring example of community education and neighborliness is found in the little town of Solomon, Kansas. Solomon has only about 1000 people. It has no picture shows, no clubs; yet approximately 5000 folks live within eight miles, and for most of them the high school building is a natural focusing point for recreation, entertainment, self-improvement.

The building is open five nights a week, except during summer. There is no attempt to formalize the school's open house. Half a dozen farm organizations hold their meetings in the school house. For the rest, people come, as to a reunion, to meet friends, to play games, to take part in plays and concerts, or to listen to them, to hear lectures, to play bridge, table tennis, basketball. Townsmen eagerly give credit for the idea to a certain public-spirited educator who, during his superintendency of the school, won for his plan the support of a progressive school board—and a place in the budget for lights, heat, and shower baths. No one, truth to tell, needed to be "sold" the ever-lighted school house idea.

All told, Solomon is a striking example of how a community may be vivified by having a common focusing point for neighborly activities and interests. The school itself takes on new life. There has been only one truancy in seven years. The school band of 100 pieces (the school's total enrollment is 150) has been heard in Kansas City, Missouri, and Chicago. Every boy physically able plays in intramural sports.

The world spends billions on education. In the United States parents support a 10-billion-dollar educational plant. The huge investment in every community can and should be made to yield a richer life for old and young alike. The light in the school house may point the way.

MR. LEE IS OBSTINATE
(Bradenton News-Advertiser)

Those who are even slightly acquainted with Comptroller Lee will not be surprised at his attitude concerning use of the $125,000 paid the state by the Florida Power and Light company on next year's taxes. It is only fair to note the company's gesture which represents an effort to help, but the interesting feature of the transaction to this family journal is Mr. Lee's refusal to permit the money to be used for new spending when in effect it has already been pledged for use in retiring overdue debts. The state, Mr. Lee says, was extended credit by Florida merchants on the assumption that the first available tax money would be used in retiring them. This is what he proposes to do.

It is regrettable that three federal aid projects may be lost because of the inability of the state to furnish its part of their cost. This, however, doesn't obviate the fact that the same money can't be spent twice and until now no better plan for the development and growth of individual or community has been found than reasonably prompt payment of debts. Of course the projects in question would be welcome. We need and should accept every federal dollar that can possibly be had. At the same time economic stability can't be had by the foolish practice of spending next year's tax money for things that can be done without while letting this year's current bills pile up. Just when will they be paid and with what. The News-Advertiser wouldn't presume to say these bills could have been paid, but they should have been. The state has no more business than an individual creating obligations it can't meet. We know that easy going plans are pleasant. But they are unwise. A few more Jim Lees at Tallahassee would help to remedy the situation.

FLORIDA BEACH AT FAIR

DeLand, Sept. 2 (FNS)—A Florida beach will border the state's exhibit along the shores of Meadow Lake at the New York World's Fair. Its cabanas, gaily colored beach umbrellas and palmetto thatched shelters will be seen from all sides of the lagoon against a background of vivid tropical plantings.

Between the stretch of white sand beach 450 feet long and the Spanish style Florida building over 1500 cocoanut and other types of palms will be planted.

Florida highways will be crowded over the Labor Day holiday. Drive carefully cautions the Florida Safety Council.

Definitions of a Boy

A boy is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite.

A boy is a noise covered with dirt.

A boy is a growing animal of superlative promise to be watered, fed, shelted and kept warm. He is a periodic nuisance, a joy forever—He is the problem of our time and the hope of the nation. He is a fellow teeming with cells of affection and filled with an ever-impelling desire to take exercise upon every occasion.

A boy is a fellow that should be called tornado because he comes at the most unexpected times, hits the most unexpected places and leaves everything a wreck behind him.

A boy is a fellow that Mother sends his older sister for with this admonition, "Go and see what Johnny is doing and whatever it is tell him to stop it this minute."

A boy is a fellow who is frequently excited but seldom happy.

A boy is a composite of human being, barbarian and angel. He is a fellow who can run like a deer, swim like a fish, climb like a squirrel, bellow like a bull, balk like a mule, spout like a whale, dig like a woodchuck, coo like a dove and act like a goose or a jackass according to climatic conditions.

THE MAN WHO IS TWELVE YEARS OLD

I know a man, and he lives near by
In the land called Everywhere.
He may not be a man by his hat,
Or the clothes he may choose to wear,
But 'neath his jacket with many a patch
Lies a heart more precious than gold—
The heart of a man 'neath the coat of a boy,
A man who is twelve years old.

We never can tell what the future will make
Of the lads that we carelessly meet,
For many a congressman is doing the chores
And presidents play in the street.
The hands that are busy with playthings now
The reins of power will hold.
So may we always take off our hats and proudly salute
The man who is twelve years old.

The above definition of a boy was given by W. A. Dobson, scout executive of Region 5, at a meeting this summer at the parish house. We are indebted to Mrs. E. G. Todd for the article which she secured from Mr. Dobson.

SCHOOLS OPEN NEXT WEEK

"Teddy" Roosevelt once wrote: "If you are going to do anything permanent for the average man, you must begin before he is a man. The chance of success lies in working with the boy, and not with the man."

Our homes, churches and schools stand for certain great ideals, and we try to realize them for our children. We believe that every child should be well born, well fed, protected and sheltered. He should have a chance to play, to work and to receive such an education as to fit him for life and usefulness.

Our society should furnish such conditions that he may grow up tall and straight, pure and clean, loving, intelligent and self-respecting. He should be prepared for a useful place in the community, a good chance in life and to get his equity in the social inheritance in arts, letters and science of our time. He should become conscious that he is the child of God and the heir of eternal life through grace.

The ideal of the modern teacher is to help in the work of attaining these rights of the child. The teacher is the guardian of the child's health and personality, as well as of his brain. the desire for service, love for children and loyalty to these ideals keep the teacher in his profession.

Home, church and school must combine all the powers they have to do this great job. If we all remember that it is a task supremely important, we shall be more likely to work at it.

We welcome our teachers to help us in the finest of all tasks.

THE NEW BRICKELL BUILDING

Surveyor John Hood placed the levels and laid out the ground lines for the new Brickell building, corner Main street and Lake avenue, Thursday and Friday of last week. Building materials are being hauled onto the ground and the workshop is under roof. The steel is on the way from Pittsburgh. This will be a notable addition to the buildings of Avon Park and the structure will be pushed with the energy so characteristic of Mr. Brickell. Charles Pabor is the general contractor. We understand all the business rooms and office suites in the building have been rented. Detailed information as to the plan of the building will be given in a later issue.—The Highlands Pilots, Dec. 26, 1919.

WATCH PARTY

A large crowd gathered at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night to speed the parting year and welcome the new. Dancing was indulged in and one of the most interesting features of the evening was a clog dance by Mrs. Phillip J. Leigh and E. O. Williams. Sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served. At midnight the bugle call was sounded and the New Year was welcomed with three rousing cheers and mutual wishes that happiness and prosperity would be everyone's portion throughout 1920. —The Highlands Pilot, Jan. 2, 1920

RUSSELL KAY

Daytona Beach: Democratic congressional nominees from the Fourth Congressional District, Pat Cannon, speaking before a large group of Townsend supporters at Lake Worth recently, termed Florida's Junior Senator, Claude Pepper, "The greatest Democrat of his time." Suggested that he would make an excellent running mate for whoever might be chosen by the Democratic party as presidential candidate in 1940.

Pepper enthusiasts in Miami, Palm Beach and other Florida cities have tried to start "Pepper for President" booms, but the Junior Senator modestly and rightly answered this effort with the statement that he held no such ambition at this time and felt his every effort should be given to the task at hand, that the people of Florida might have the best it was in his power to give them as their Senator.

Pepper is young, brilliant, able and his rise to prominence and success has been little short of phenominal. It is only natural that his friends should seek to push him forward to greater honors but in doing so they should keep in mind that he who rides the fastest, risks the hardest fall.

A few years seasoning in the senate won't in any way handicap the young man and his youth permits him to take advantage of such experience without jeprodizing his future prospects. Brilliant and able though he may be Claude is nevertheless still a "rookie." From the sand lots of Taylor county he has advanced to the big league with very little experience in the minor leagues as represented by the state legislature.

So far the Junior Senator has shown himself extremely level headed. Honors have been heaped upon him as on few men, in so short a time. Praise has been lavish. He has become more or less a national figure, but comets burn themselves out and "rookies" who advance too fast often "crack up." We don't want anything like that to happen to Claude.

I recall during the senatorial campaign, a group of us were discussing Claude in a Miami hotel room. F. M. Thomas of Miami, a staunch Pepper supporter, on that occasion mentioned Pepper as a presidential possibility, others may have done so before that and many have since.

Now no one would be happier than I to see Claude Pepper elevated to the presidency or the Supreme Court bench as suggested recently by Charlie Mitchell, for in my close association with the man I have come to admire and respect him for his character, sincerity and ability. But Claude has a man's sized job where he is. Furthermore he needs the experience that he can get nowhere else to better fit him for the greater honors that are to come. He is too good a man to push out of the picture and you know too much steam will cause even the best of boilers to "blow up."

If I were coaching on Claude Pepper's team right now I think I'd take my star "rookie" back into the dressing room and talk to him something like this:

Claude, you're a mighty good boy and a dang fine ball player. You've been getting some wonderful "breaks" and the crowd in the grandstand have made an idol out of you. You have proven swell copy for the sports writers and the news photographers. That's all fine, but it is the kind of medicine that some folks can't take. The road to success is rough and rugged and while you've traveled a pretty smooth highway so far I want you to remember that the crowd that yells its head off for you now and the sports writers who are playing you up for a hero, will be just as quick to crack down on you or jeer you off the field if you happen to make a few "bobbles." It's happened to a lot of good men son, particularly those who have tried to go too far too fast.

Sit steady in the boat, watch your batting average and take care of yourself, don't try to hog all the spotlight and let some of the other fellows take some of the bows. You're on a good team now and your best effort is needed to win the pennant; you'll be playin' in a World Series soon enough if you keep on the way you're goin'. Now get out there and "Play Ball," don't let the orchids and cheering go to your head. You've got plenty of time and if you watch your step and play the game hard and steady you'll go places. That's all son.

EXPERTS . . .
at your service

IN the classified section of most telephone directories you will find a heading "Electrical Contractors." If you have modernized your home recently or built a new home, you know what an electrical contractor does.

You know that he is a wiring expert. He knows how to design a wiring layout for a new house, or modernize the wiring in an older house. He can quickly analyze your house wiring and show you how for a few dollars, you can locate new outlets which will add to the service from your electrical appliances.

Most homes add several new appliances each year. Yet how many homes modernize their wiring to get maximum convenience from new appliances? What was adequate wiring a few years ago may be obsolete today.

Why not call your electrical contractor and talk it over with him. He is an expert and a local business man always at your service.

Sun Recipes

CUSTARD ANGEL FOOD CAKE
(Mrs. Earl W. Hartt)

1½ cups white sugar
½ cup water

Boil sugar and water until syrup threads when dripped from spoon.

8 egg yolks

Beat these to a thick froth

8 egg whites
1 teaspoon cream tartar
¼ teaspoon salt

Add salt and cream of tartar to egg whites and whip them until they stand in stiff peaks.

1 cup cake flour—sifted six times
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon orange juice.

Method: When the syrup forms threads when dripped from spoon tip (the frosting stage) slowly pour it into the beaten yolks, whipping constantly. When mixed, set aside to cool. While the cooling is happening, sift the flour 6 times—get the grated peel and juice ready, then whip the egg whites stiff, but not dry. Now, stir the flour smoothly into the cooled yolk mixture, add the peel and orange juice and finish by folding and cutting in, not BEATING, those whipped egg whites. Rinse a tube pan in cold water, spoon in the cake mixture and bake at this pace. Pre-heat oven to 250 degrees. Put in cake, leave for 15 minutes, then increase heat to 325 degrees. Continue baking for 45 minutes. Protect top with paper. Invert pan to cool cake and permit it to drop out.

RAISIN-PECAN PIE
(Mrs. J. Lawler Wells)

1 package raisins
1 cup pecan meats
1 cup sugar
Juice of 1 lemon and two oranges
3 tablespoons minute tapioca
½ teaspoon salt

Wash raisins, cover with water and boil until tender. Add sugar, lemon and orange juice, tapioca and salt, and cook until tapioca is clear. Add nuts. Put in baked pie shell, and top with whipped cream. Makes one large or two small pies.

This pie is an excellent cool weather dessert, and is especially delicious when served cold with hot coffee.

LOTS OF POPULAR NUMBERS IN SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Motion . . .

(By L. R. EVERS)

(This is another of a series of articles on "Machines and Things of Motion.")

Mechanical motions begin at zero. For instance, the leaves of a palm stir in a gentle breeze and begin to sway slowly to and fro. Anything, the equilibrium of which is upset, tends to return to its natural balance.

But as we observe the ninety some-odd materials and their by-products and the products of their millions of possible combinations of which our good earth is built, we find the speed of forward movement ever increasing, until the speed of light is reached. The back and forth movement as of the palm, which we call vibration or frequency, increases to the thirtieth power of ten and the wave length shortens to the cosmic rays, which are so short that they are capable of passing through most substances unobtructed.

The wave length of any motion, except mechanical sound, is said to be 186,275.75 miles divided by the rate of vibration or frequency.

The frequency of motion seems to increase in octaves or harmonics of which there are about 60 altogether.

Each octave seems to have a definite relation to its predecessor. For instance, if you break a piece of wood half in two 60 times, each part would be part of the same piece of wood.

Some of the better known motions in the order in which they occur by groups, are: Mechanical, one direction motion, as of a train; slow vibrations, like the palm leaves in a breeze, or the motion of a swing; sound waves, as noise, music, echo, etc. Others are: Radio, diathermy, electric rays, thermal rays, light or daylight rays in all their beauty in six or seven colors (as you like), ultra violet rays, x-rays or platinum rays, alpha rays, gamma rays, beta rays and cosmic rays.

Let us take a look at a few of the interesting things about sound. You have no doubt heard it said that if a tree fell in a lonely meadow, where there was no human being or ears to hear it, there would be no sound.

This is partly true, sound being a vibration which is heard or interpreted by the ears of man or animal. When the tree falls, the vibrations go out, but go uninterpreted and therefore can hardly be called sound in its fullest meaning.

As the world demands more speed, manufacturers strive to build faster machines. Here is an interesting thing about an airplane. Traveling at 750 miles per hour, its approach could not be heard because it would be traveling as fast as sound. If it traveled in a straight line it would not move away from that part of its own sound vibrations which traveled in its own direction. These vibrations would no doubt gain in volume or power. Wonder what the effect would be on plane and pilot?

Watch Hurricanes

MIAMI, Sept. 2 (FNS) — With the first hurricane threats of the season racing through the Straits into the Gulf of Mexico, what has been called the "largest life-saving institution in the world"—the famous hurricane watch of the Pan-American Airways System—has been ordered on its annual guard over the 22 colonies and countries of the Caribbean area likely to be in the path of tropic cyclones during the next three months. Although the season in which these overseas twisters may be expected begins in late June and usually extends until November, the airline so far this year has recorded only one storm of hurricane intensity. This developed off the north coast of Puerto Rico and after paralleling the island to eastern Cuba, disappeared into the Atlantic. Last week, however, a full hurricane blow swept over the little island of Cozumel, just off the Caribbean coast of Yucatan, swept up the Gulf and battered itself out along the Mexican and Texas coasts to the south of Brownsville.

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS by Kenneth Friedman

FLORIDA INDIAN BURIAL GROUND PROVES VALUABLE SCIENTIFIC FIND.

Archaeologists and scientists from the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., have been able to construct important historical information with remarkable accuracy from the ancient Indian Burial Ground at St. Augustine. From excavations made on the "Fountain of Youth" property, over a hundred burials have been exposed, including all ages and sexes. Strange as it may seem, the position of these burials actually reveals Florida history! Individuals buried with hands folded on the breast indicate Christian influence. Others buried in a flexed position indicate a burial by non-Christian Indians. Relics, such as beads, sherds of Spanish water jugs and hand wrought nails, therefore, establish the fact that this was a general burial place at the time of early European occupation just as surely as though it had been recorded in history. J. Ray Dickson, nationally known archaeologist, says that "no where else in the United States is there an Indian Burial Ground that shows such a marked degree of Christian influence". A building similar to those Le Moyne drew of Florida Indian structures back in 1564 now houses this outstanding scientific attraction.

Soap from trees? Yes sir, almost anything is possible in Florida! All one has to do to work up a good lather is to pluck a few fruits of the SOAPBERRY, a native Florida tree, and put the pulp in water. The pulp of the fruit is said to contain some 30% saponin and has often been successfully used as a soap substitute. That isn't all either! The seeds are exceptionally hard and have been utilized as buttons and beads.

Success Indicated For Grapefruit Juice Campaign

Tampa, Sept. 2. (FNS) — The Florida grapefruit juice national sales campaign pushed by more than 40,000 chain stores entered its concluding week with every assurance of success citrus officials state.

The campaign was made necessary because of a national grapefruit juice surplus of almost seven million gallons because the 1937 crop set a new high in juice content and there was a 20 per cent greater crop than had been estimated.

Success of the campaign indicates that Florida citrus growers are going into the new season with the old pack of 6,750,000 gallons entirely out of the way if sales throughout the country continue at the present rate.

High in his praise of he wonderful cooperation given by the National Association of Food Chains and the Florida Chain Store Association in the emergency, S. W. Teague of the Florida Citrus Exchange said: "Growers are assured of a fair price for their product, consumers are being educated to the value of grapefruit juice as a healthful and nutritious drink which they are getting at a low price, and many Florida communities, dependent on the prosperity of growers for their trade are able to face the future with a greater degree of optimism."

GOVERNOR CONE IMPROVED

Jacksonville, Sept. 2 (FNS) — Steady improvement in Governor Cone's condition is reported by his physician and while he is not entirely out of danger, all indications are that he will pull through. Dr. Stanley T. Erwin, his attending physician, expressed himself as well satisfied with the Governor's progress but said his recovery would be slow and it would be some time before he could resume his duties.

Governor Cone entered a local hospital on July 29, after suffering a heart attack. His condition improved up until he contracted a severe cold, but he has apparently passed through the critical period resulting from this set-back.

Municipal Health Laws Urged By Hotel Commision

Tallahassee, Sept. 2 (FNS)—W. M. Taylor, state hotel commissioner, announced the inauguration of a drive over the state toward the enactment of municipal health ordinances for restaurant employees.

"These ordinances will be operated similarly to the regulation of the state hotel commission and in conjunction with the state hotel law," Taylor said.

"The city of Tallahassee recently passed the first of these ordinances, placing upon the shoulders of restaurant proprietors the responsibility of having all employees certified as to their health, and it is the purpose of the hotel commission to have similar ordinances adopted in as many Florida cities as possible."

The Tallahassee ordinance, Commissioner Taylor explained holds proprietors in violation of municipal law if all employees have not had health examinations by qualified physicians, and are in possession of health certificates.

"This act places no greater burden on the employer, but it does assure enforcement of state and city laws, and the whole thing works together to assure greater protection for the public in this respect," Commmissioner Taylor explained.

He added that requests will be made of cities throughout the state that they adopt similar ordinances at the earliest possible date.

Prisoners	240

"Mental patients to population in the United States shows: One patient to each 270 of the population. Florida has one mental patient to each 413 of our population.

"You will probably be interested to know how we feed so large a population. We have the largest kitchen under one roof in the world. A recent requisition passing over my desk called for:

22,800 lbs. dried fruit (assorted)
35,000 lbs. dried vegetables
16,000 lbs. green coffee
25,000 doz. eggs
6,500 lbs. Onions
52,000 lbs. Irish potatoes
61,000 lbs. sugar
2,100 lbs. Yeast
175,000 lbs. dressed beef
25,000 lbs. sausage
25,000 lbs. fresh and salt fish

"Our general kitchen has 7,200 square feet of floor space.

"Uses 48 feet of cooking ranges.

"Uses 24 steam kettles for cooking with 1,960 gallon capacity.

"Uses 48,473 pieces of tableware daily. Serves 14,400 meals daily.

"Has had the cost of 10 major food items increased 80½ per cent during the past two years.

"Serves 1,000 additional meals daily from the diet kitchen to the medical center.

"Quantity required of each item, when served at a meal in general kitchen:

1,400 pounds of steak
1,200 pounds of bacon
550 pounds of navy beans
2,200 pounds of Irish potatoes
125 pounds of ground coffee
650 dozen of eggs
35 bushels of apples (fresh)
550 pounds of prunes
4,000 pounds of turnips (fresh)
800 pounds of cake
1,800 pounds of tomatoes (fresh)
15,500 light rolls or biscuits
200 gallons of canned fruit for pies

"However, this is but the material and mechanical equipment necessary to our work. We operate a hospital, a general hospital in name and in fact. The patient comes first, last and always before anything else or anybody else. His care and comfort, his treatment and restoration are our first, last and only objective.

"I wish you might have been with me in a staff conference one bright day last March at your hospital. The day is Friday, place chief physician's office, time immediately after lunch. The room is crowded with staff members. The doctor in charge brings up a case for final consideration with a recommendation for discharge as restored. The case history is read, the diagnosis and treatment given is reviewed. The doctors comment, discuss and criticise as only a bunch of doctors can behind closed doors. The patient is then called. He comes in—a handsome, six foot, two hundred pound, intelligent looking specimen of American manhood as you ever saw. He is an honor graduate of the University of North Carolina, an all-American end in his day, still in his early thirties.

"The question starts: he is examined, questioned, quizzed, cross-examined and grilled. These doctors have his record, they know his weakness, they do their best to 'break him.' You might think them cruel, but they owe a duty to society to protect it; they owe a duty to the patient to give him further treatment if he needs it before he is sent back to take up life again. The patient retires, his case is again discussed, then one by one they state their convictions.

"The patient returns for the verdict. Big and strong as he is he comes in shaking, almost white. And no wonder. What will the verdict be? Is he to go out into the world, back home to friends and loved ones, out to again become a useful citizen, carrying his share of the world's work, or is he to turn back into those grey walls for the rest of his days? His is a case of neuro syphilis. It carries at best two to five years of life, but they have started treatment in his case early. The malaria therapy treatment has been used. The verdict is announced,—"Unanimous for discharge."

"That is some of the work we are doing at Florida State hospital.

"It is a noble thing to remove an appendix, set a fracture, or nurse through to recovery a case of pneumonia, but when you give back to man his reason, his mind, you have done a far more noble thing. You have given him the thing that raises him above the animal. You have restored the thing that makes him akin to God himself. You are not only a body but a mind and soul saver. You have made a man."

Rotary visitors were Mayor Covington, Fred L. Touchton, C. H. Shepherd, W. M. Reck, Ray Rutherford, Demos Mandis, Alfred Englemann, H. E. Keller, I. H. Ford, all of Avon Park; R. E. No Blondes for John Nesbitt With Three Reasons Why Not

John Nesbitt, star of "The Passing Parade," shown with some good reasons blondes are scarce in Hollywood radio studios.

Hollywood, Calif. — Blond actresses, thicker along Hollywood and Vine than freckles along a farm boy's nose, have lost a sharp decision in their personal battle with the movie capital brunettes.

Although there is no noticeable drop in the coast sales of peroxide, still the fairhaired beauties have been remarkably unsuccessful in making the grade as radio actresses. Their brunette sisters outnumber them fifty to one.

John Nesbitt, star of "The Passing Parade," topnotch program originating each Sunday evening from the West Coast studios of CBS, and employer of innumerable actresses on his shows, agrees that the fair haired beauties are most remarkable for their absence.

"Possibly it's because their more volatile natures don't fit them for broadcasting," he says. "Blondes have never been noted for their even temperaments and radio demands a tremendous patience and exactitude."

Nesbitt himself admits that he casts brunettes in favor of blondes on his programs. "Blondes are lovely creatures," he explains, "and very talented. That's just the trouble. They distract the actors."

PIG PENS NOT ALLOWED

Quite a few complaints have been received by the Health Department lately about people keeping pig pens in the city. Pig pens are a nuisance because it is an impossibility to keep them clean.

For the above reason notice is hereby given to all people who are maintaining pig pens to abolish them and dispose of their pigs, else make arrangements to have them cared for by people who live outside of the city limits.

The city ordinance and the state law is very explicit about this and it will be enforced.

Local Drug Stores Observe Advertised Brand Week, 1 to 10

Avon Park drug stores are cooperating in the observance of National Advertised Brands week, in which drug stores throughout the country are featuring nationally advertised merchandise at reduced prices.

Managers of both local drug stores got together Thursday and agreed to observe the week from September 1 through the 10th. This movement was prompted by national and state associations of Retail Drug Stores in the interest of nation-wide fair trade legislation, which has brought about better price equalizations to the consuming public and patrons of all drug stores throughout the country.

In observance of this week, local drug stores are announcing special prices on standard advertised brands. Reductions are worth while an it is a goood time to stock up on this merchandise.

Scouts and Near Scouts Entertained By Camp Committee

The local troop of Boy Scouts was entertained Monday night at the Legion home with a supper and program arranged by the local troop camping committee with Irvin Ford, chairman. Prospective scouts were also invited and all had a swell time on the shores of beautiful Lake Lotela.

After a bountiful supper of Scandinavian stew, slaw, pickles, buns, and the greenest circus lemonade — and the most delicious — that has ever been served, Calivin Bryant blew "assembly." Everyone adjourned to the club house where songs were sung and Fred Treat of the Tampa Bay Council gave a short talk on scouting. Dr. Stanley N. Reeves explained some of the benefits of becoming a scout and also explained a method by which prospective scouts could get uniforms.

Twenty new scouts were enrolled and instructed to meet at the scout house next Monday night at seven thirty. This will be their first regular meeting and all boys wishing to become scouts are requested to attend. An interesting program is being arranged.

MRS. HEAD AT CONVENTION

Mrs. Ola L. Head, president of the Department of Florida Auxiliary of the United Spanish-American War Veterans, is leaving today for Portland, Oregon, to attend the national convention, being held at that point. Mrs. Head plans on being away about a month. During her absence Mrs. David Stuckey will keep the Avon Insurance office for Mrs. Head.

GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Tillman Crosby, arrested here last week charged with breaking and entering and petty larceny for pilfering drinks, cigarettes and other small items from filling stations, was given a suspended sentence of one year by County Judge Joe Kinsey last Friday.

Negro Youths Sent Up For Petty Thievery

Five negro youths, ranging in ages from 14 to 17, were arrested by Chief W. H. McCarthy and his force Monday, breaking up a gang that has been engaged in a series of petty thefts about town.

Sam Taylor, E. J. Taylor and Will Moore, Jr., were sentenced Thursday by County Judge Joe Kinsey to serve three years in the state industrial school at Marianna, and Alfred Boyd and P. D. Hardy were bound over to the circuit court on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor.

The arrests followed the burglary of Charles Cooley's home in the south side Monday night, when Boyd and Moore, both 18-year-old negroes, were caught hiding under his bed. A scuffle ensued and the negroes escaped. They carried Cooley's trousers with them, but Cooley had hidden his wallet before retiring and they got no money.

Chief McCarthy got Warden Helms' dogs from the convict camp and trailed the negroes through the crate mill plant, where officers caught them. When arrested they confessed to a number of petty thefts and implicated the other three negroes, who were later picked up by the police. The negroes admitted stealing 75 cents from the Drummonds home, also some groceries and a pair of shoes, a quantity of Stanback from Pendleton's warehouse, fountain pens, eye shades, lip stick and other small articles from Ward's 5-10c store, and other burglaries.

Colleen Moore's famed miniature doll house, built at a cost of nearly a half million dollars, will be on display in Tampa September 8 to 16. Proceeds from the small admission charge will go to charity.

School Opens With 646 Enrolled

$5 Decrease From Last Year's Figure

Avon Park schools opened Monday morning with a total enrollment of 646 pupils, as compared with 651 last year, a loss in attendance of 5. The smaller enrollment was shown in the elementary grades.

He said that pupils who were late would be required to make up after school double the time lost, and no absentees would be granted except in cases of illness, and death in the family.

Dr. Reeves said he considered he had a well rounded faculty this year and predicted a year of outstanding accomplishments in all departments.

First Car Grapefruit Shipped from Avon Park on Monday

The first car of grapefruit was shipped from here Monday by the Avon Park Citrus Growers Association, and was reported to be very satisfactory for this season of the year, according to Paul Rumpus, manager of the Exchange house.

The fruit went to Nashville, Tenn., and was believed the earliest ever shipped from the Avon Park area. It brought a good price. Five more cars will go out within the next three working days, Rumpus said.

"This fruit not only passed all tests, but is of good eating quality," Rumpus said. "There is a difference in fruit that just passes the test and fruit that is fit to eat. This fruit was good enough that it brought us inquiries from dealers in nearby cities, and we expect to fill orders as long as we can get fruit of this quality."

Touchton Speaks to Wauchula Baptists

Former State Senator Fred L. Touchton spoke to the Baptist Brotherhood in Wauchula Thursday night on the subject of Religion and Politics, and the relationship of one to the other.

Touchton commended the manpower of the churches of America who have "stayed with their guns" during the last few years of the depression which has broken down the morale of the people of so many other countries, whose people in these uncertain times are being submerged into the greatest maelstrom of crime, degradation and sin that the world has ever witnessed.

Blood-thirsty, power drunken dictators lusting for more territory, for more riches and more humble people to be subject to pay homage to them, have almost totally wrecked their nations and made small hells here on earth, he said.

Touchton added that some of the slime in the form of Nazism, Facism, Communism and other kinds of isms is gradually seeping into our own country, contaminating our independence and our own beloved Americanism, which our forefathers fought so gallantly to gain in the early days of this country.

In conclusion, Touchton remarked that to stem the tide of all this foreign forms of isms, the manpower of the churches must

Wagner Faces Tough Rebuilding Job for '38 Team

Avon Park's high school Red Devils held their first workout session this week, with 30 boys reporting. Only six letter men turned out, but three others away on vacation, are expected in a few days. Most of the candidates reporting to Coach Wagner and Assistant Coach Smith are from last year's reserves and B team, and it is chiefly from these that the new team have had at least four games team haev had at least four games experience.

Venus School Bus Driver Is Charged With Recklessness

Charging that Hugh Farrington, Venus school bus driver, had been driving his bus recklessly, a delegation headed by Scotland Millar asked the school board Tuesday to dismiss him from the job. The board heard the complaint, but refused to take action, and Millar took the matter to State Superintendent Colin English.

Millar wrote English Tuesday, charging that Farrington drove the bus at 40 miles per hour, and drove as high as 60 miles per hour; that he drove the bus with the door open and with children standing near the door; and that he did not stop at railroad crossings.

Millar stated that about 25 school pupils had gone on strike, and refused to ride with Farrington. This is Farrington's seventh year as bus driver. He is a son-in-law of W. H. Cannon, Venus member of the school board.

$5000 Negro Hospital Is Proposed

Mayor Covington Is Head of Committee To Work Out Plan

A proposition brought before the city council Tuesday night for the establishment of a negro hospital met with approval of the mayor and council, and Mayor Covington was asked to select a committee and look into the matter.

The proposal was submitted by Charlie Hall, colored, who asked that a PWA project be sponsored for such a hospital, at a total cost of $5000. This would be handled under the plan through government grant of $2250 and loan of $2750. He estimated repayment on a 30-year basis at interest would cost $200 annually, and that lights, water and a custodian would cost $700, making a total annual charge of $900.

The city owns the Knights of Pythias building, a two-story frame building, which councilmen considered using for the purpose. This would either be remodeled or moved to a more suitable location, it is said. Mayor Covington endorsed the idea strongly and suggested that negro welfare organizations in the north would give financial assistance to building and furnishing such a hospital. Col. F. N. K. Bailey also spoke in favor of the plan and offered his assistance.

Covington agreed to work out a more detailed proposition and submit it later.

T. J. Harris was granted a permit to put a wood yard in the rear of the fire station for a period of 15 months.

The sale of nine lots to Mrs. J. M. Lyle in exchange for $900 worth of sidewalk certificates and interest was approved.

John Hood appeared for Mrs. Charles Clements and asked to redeem the north half of the old B&B building, which had been forclosed for taxes, amounting to $1,248.90. Hood made a cash offer of $250, which was taken under advisement.

BASIS FOR TAXATION
(From Ocala Star)

Great interest is being manifest in what or may not be done at the 1939 session to bring about fundamental changes in the system of levying and collecting taxes in this state.

Mr. Wood (Speaker designate of the 1939 house of representatives) has intimated, in his post-causus statement, that it will be necessary to submit a constitutional amendment to bring about the changes he thinks should be made. That, of course, would be in line with suggestions that have been made from time to time, by individuals and organizations, that real estate should be assessed on a different basis.

Under the present system conditions have been brought about which resulted in, first the Futch law, and later the Murphy law, in a desperate effort to bring back to the live assessment rolls millions of acres of land which have become delinquent. It should be pointed out that now is the time to bring about fundamental changes in the ad valorem levy if the full benefits of the Murphy law are to be realized, as many contend that lands restored to the books on the low dollar redemption plan will soon again become delinquent unless something is done to lower the taxes assessed against them.

In line with the theory that land should be taxed on the earning value—or sale and use-value—St. Elmo Acosta of Jacksonville, a former member of the legislature and for many years city commissioner, has suggested that such a provision should be included in any taxing plan that is adopted. In presenting that suggestion Mr. Acosta uses this argument:

"The present system is absolutely unfair to property owners. The ad valorem tax system should be abolished and property should be taxed on a percentage of rental or use value. That is the only fair way to tax it. Under our ad valorem tax system the county and city assessors place an arbitrary value on property and it is taxed on that amount. The owner has a right to appear before the taxing authorities if they object to the valuation placed on the property but very few appear either as result of fear, not wanting publicity, or for other reasons and few of those who do appear receive sufficient reductions on the assessments to warrant their trouble.

"The old theory that vacant land should be taxed heavily to make property owners improve it won't work now with so many houses, offices, lots and warehouses vacant. Those lands if built upon in most cases would result in the money invested bringing no revenue from such building. High taxes discourage development rather than encourage it."

Top prices for this section were paid to farmers at the Williston Market for hogs last week. Best grades brought $7.05; No. two's brought $6.60; three's, $6.40; four's $6.35; five's, $6.30, and roughs, $6.05.

from the Shop Window

By Harold E. Jordan

Well, here we are again looking out the Shop Window. The panes are somewhat free from cobwebs now so we'll resume writing for our reader (the proof-r). The view is restricted by a tumble-down dwelling house only a few feet away. So you can see why the rambling of ye scribe are introspective. At the present time, however, a mass of pink vine is covering the space. You wouldn't suspect what a lot of rubbish those heart-shaped clusters of beauty cover! Wonder why I think of politics?

Perhaps that's unjust. Politics, it seems to me, are more stupid than dirty. Which may, or may not, have anything to do with the observation that I think I'll run for chief pilot at the airport although I have never even been up in one of them flyin' contraptions. But, Lordy, what a handshaker I am!

What's this world comin' to? Someone intimates that the usual political dog-fight is to be abandoned for a kinda brotherly love. Doggone, what're they goin' to do with that political faction that was started for the purpose of bein' anti-someone (you know who)?

Work, as surely as sleep, will take one's mind off his worries, BUT, bless your heart, one can't and/or won't work and sleep 24 hours a day!

I thought I would make a little sermon on the following quotation from the house organ of The Trundle Engineering Co. But decided to pass it along without comment. If the shoe fits, Mister, wear it, it might do you some good:

There was a man who lived by the side of the road, and he sold hot dogs.

He was hard of hearing, so he had no radio.

He had trouble with his eyes, so he read no newspapers.

But he sold good hot dogs. He put signs up on the highway, telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried, "Buy a hot dog, Mister?" and people bought.

He increased his meat and bun order. He bought a bigger stove, to take care of his trade. He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something hoppened. His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? Haven't you been reading the newspapers? There's a big depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Everything's gone to pot."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell off almost overnight.

"You're right son," the father said to his boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Regarding a certain incident in this fair city, Louie (Louie can be anybody), made the following comment:

"Things have come to a pretty state of affairs when a man can't take a shot at his wife without someone makin' a case out of it."

One rainy afternoon two Chinese sat over their tea-cups recalling their happy moments, so Lin Yutang recounts in his book "The Importance of Living." They enumerated 33 of them of which the 32nd was the paying of one's debts. Right now, I don't think of any other moment which would give me more pleasure than that!

THAT'S DIFFERENT!

Officer O'Steen sauntered in the other day and casually asked if I had a pail.

I was on the point of saying that we did not when the officer continued, "Your car's on fire!"

Needless to say, while I didn't find a pail, it didn't take VERY long to locate something that would hold water.

P.S. While the damage was not so great, the hole was a nasty-looking affair and I want to issue a special warning to pipe smokers: Watch the sparks when you knock'er out.

HOME, CHURCH AND SCHOOL

Did it ever occur to you that the forces of unrest and destruction in our land, the men and the movements that are opposed to the present form of the organization of society and that are working openly and secretly for revolution are also actively opposed to the home, the schools and the churches as now constituted?

This opposition is logical and inevitable. The institutions that have longest existed, home, church and school, are essentially conservative. They brought civilization, under God, to its present condition. They have been leaders in all beneficient changes, for changes there have been. The time taken for working out changes have been the occasion for unrest. We need, and must have, better homes, schools and churches, and these three, have always led in human betterment. The world can trust God to lead them in bettering their methods, as he always has done, but no humanly devised substitutes can take their places.

All honor must be given to parents, to ministers and to teachers. They are the human representatives of the heavenly Father, of the Teacher and Savior of men.

Just now, when our city schools are starting their work, we who are citizens, should visit the schools often, speak encouraging words to, and of, our teachers. We should meet with them and other lovers of the best things in the P. T. A. meetings.

F. N. DEXTER.

The number of retail and wholesale dealers in alcoholic beverages in Florida totaled 9,555 for the fiscal year of 1938, the records of the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclose. This was a decline from the 9,609 listed for the fiscal year of 1937. However the number of dealers in malt liquors (ale and beer to you) increased to 1850 in 1938 over 1738 in 1937.

Scared to take it home!

Poor Bud! Can't blame him for not wanting to take that report card home. Bud is as bright as any pupil in his class but he's been handicapped by improper school lighting. Blinding glare and confusing shadows are straining his eyes and making him restless and inattentive. All Bud needs is the right amount and right kind of good-seeing light over his desk, and it is amazing how his grades will improve.

An important part of our Lighting Department's work is to prescribe scientific safe-seeing light in our schools. We believe this service will help the community protect the vision and improve the scholarship of its future Citizens.

An educational film on modern school lighting is available to interested groups on request.

FLORIDA PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE FOR C. E. LANIER

C. E. Lanier was the "victim" of an enjoyable surprise Monday evening when Mrs. Lanier invited 11 of his friends to dine with him. The occasion was his "twenty-first birthday," according to the candles on the cake and was a stag affair.

A cut-glass basket of roses formed the centerpiece for the table, which was beautiful in all its appointments, and tapers in cut-glass candlesticks, placed on the table and about the room, cast a pretty glow on the scene. A delicious turkey supper with all accessories was enjoyed and many stories swaped across the festive board. Mrs. Lanier and Mrs. W. C. Touchton, dressed as maids, gave service which could not have been excelled and thus ingratiated themselves with the guests, though it was a stag party.

Mr. Lanier was presented a collapsible canvas boat by his friends as a token of their esteem and friendship.

Those present on this happy occasion were: C. E. Lanier, H. A. Winter, J. D. Raab, C. A. Skipper, T. H. Lander, Carlos Skipper, Dr. W. C. Touchton, Charles Moffett, J. V. Chapman, W. R. Sparks, E. G. Todd, Herbert Reck, Mrs. Touchton and Mrs. Lanier.—Highlands County Pilot, Dec. 6, 1923.

MR. AND MRS. MANDIS WERE HOSTS AT CARDS

Members of the young married set were delightfully entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Demos Mandis. Pretty garden flowers were used in decorating and added much to the pleasure of the party.

Several progressions of five-hundred and social conversation were enjoyed during the evening. At the close of the play, the hostess served refreshments of chicken salad, Boston brown bread, sherbert, cake and coffee.

Those sharing the evening's pleasure were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lander, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lacey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hartt, Mrs. Charles Moffett, Miss Nan Straubel, Judge D .V. Rouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Mandis.—Highland County Pilot, Jan. 1924.

MRS. CLOUD ENTERTAINS METHODIST TEACHERS

The teachers council of the Methodist Sunday School met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. L. Cloud. A business meeting was held, and later a social time enjoyed. Mrs. Cloud served a delectable refreshment course, consisting of sandwiches, creamed chicken on toast and iced tea, late in the evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allaben, Mrs. John Jackson, Mrs. J. B. Walker, P. M. Stivender, J. W. Durrance, Mrs. Charles Harris, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gribble, Mrs. J. W. Merideth, Mrs. A. H. Able, Mrs. Neal Trent, and Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Cloud.—Highlands County Pilot, June 5, 1924.

Miss Margaretha Vogt, Miss Martha A. Jeuther, and Miss Laura Bayha, all of Philadelphia, were among the visitors in the Ridge Metropolis for several days this week. The three ladies are interested in Hillcrest properties and are planning to spend a number of vacations here. This was their first visit and they were astonished at the low temperature here at this season as compard to that of the Quaker City, Avon Park having much the better bargain to offer. They made the visit here during the summer season against the advice of many friends and were most agreeably surprised.—Highlands County Pilot, July 15, 1924.

All but two members of the 1938 Gator pigskin squad were on hand for the opening workout of the present season last week. Fullback Elmer Ricou and Quarterback Jack Blalock were on the sick list and will not be permitted to don uniforms until they have their doctors' permission.

500 To Take State Welfare Board Tests

Jacksonville, Sept. 9. (Special)—Slightly more than 500 Florida residents will take the next merit system of examination of the State Welfare Board, to be held on September 17, according to announcement today of Ivey Futch, state board member and chairman of its merit system committee.

Those who pass the examination will constitute an eligible list from which district directors, unit supervisors and visitors will be selected as vacancies occur in the State Welfare Board employed personnel.

The examination will be the fifth held by the Welfare Board since its induction into office on July 1, 1937. As a result of the four previous examinations, 609 persons were declared eligible of whom 341 were employed at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1938. Eligibles obtained through these four examinations and two conducted by the former State Board of Social Welfare brought the eligible list to 1,028.

Only those who have successfully stood the examinations may be employed by the State Board for social service work. Clerical and other employees are not subjected to educational or other tests.

The State Welfare Board, according to its annual report, has adopted as a fixed policy the employment only of residents of Florida, if such are available. The large number taking the examinations indicates that there will be no future occasion for importing trained workers, according to Mr. Futch.

TO REVIVE DEVELOPMENT OF EVERGLADES PARK

Jacksonville, Sept. 9. (FNS) — To give impetus to the development of the Everglades National Park, which has been in a state of inertia, Harold Colee, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, has appointed a committee to compile facts and figures on the proposed park and to formulate a report to be made at the next meeting of the directors at Hollywood next December. Bryan C. Hanks of Miami, was named chairman of the committee, and Mrs. J. Ralston Wells, Daytona, T. F. Fleming, Ft. Lauderdale, Walter Hays, Orlando, and T. F. Smith, Miami, are the other members.

Florida shipped 80,287 cars of citrus fruits during the 1937-38 season, the Federal-State Market News Service states in a report for the year prepared by H. F. Wilson, head of the service. The record for the previous season was 77,813 cars. The past season showed a more equitable and wider distribution of Florida oranges, the report says.

Mrs. Peden Hostess At Bridge Luncheon

A lovely affair of Saturday was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Freed Peden at her home, the guests including members of the Sans Souci club. This was the first club affair of the fall. The rooms were effectively arranged with late summer garden flowers, with bouquets of zinnias and petunias predominating.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reck Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reck, beloved residents of Avon Park for the past 20 years, celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary on Monday, and in observance of the occasion their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Todd, entertained at an informal "At Home," in their honor, on Monday evening. The guests included a few friends of the early pioneer days in Florida.

The spacious rooms of the lovely Todd home on Lake Lotela were thrown ensuite, and were most artistically decorated with golden and orchid blossoms. Tall table baskets of golden and orchid chrysanthemums, and bowls of beautiful roses lent the desired color effect, and blended perfectly with the other appointments.

The hosts and Mr. and Mrs. Reck received their guests in the library. They stood before a stately arrangement of palms and fern, flanked on either side by pedestal baskets of golden dewdrops. Mrs. Reck wore a handsome gown of black point d'esprit, and carried a colonial bride's bouquet, fashioned of chrysanthemums and tied with narrow gold ribbons.

The dining table was overlaid with a lace cloth, 50 years old, and centered with the four-tiered wedding cake, with three branched amber crystal candelabra, holding lighted golden tapers on either side, the soft glow of the candles lending an enchanting atmosphere to the table appointments. A low bowl of golden and orchid chrysanthemums was in the center of the buffet, and single amber candle holders were at each end.

The lower tier of the white frosted cake bore on each corner a large golden heart, and a golden rose with a spray of green leaf, decorated each corner of the other three tiers, the top tier, bing surmounted with a miniature bride and groom, underneath a golden wedding bell, suspended from a fern entwined miniature arch. The ice cream was fashioned in the shape of a golden slipper, and heart shaped mints, with "50" embossed across the center, were placed in crystal compotes on the table. The refreshment plates were covered with lace cellophane dollies. Punch was served during the evening at a prettily arranged table on the verandah.

The favors for the ladies were adorable little old fashioned nosegays formed of a frill of lace cellophane dotted with tiny shells in pastel shades, the base held in place by an oblong golden shell, to which was attached a small card, with the names of the honor guests, "Anna-William, 1888-1938" inscribed in golden letters. The favors for the men were boutonnieres.

A delightful feature of the evening's pleasure was given the guests when they viewed samples of the wedding gifts, which were on display, and which included pictures, silver and pieces of china. Dresses, in the styles of year's gone by, and a varied assortment of trinkets were arranged in an upstairs room for the guests to admire. The dress, worn on this occasion by the honoree was 40 years old.

Assisting the hostess in entertaining were Mrs. Letta H. Reck and Misses Letta and Josephine Reck of Lakeland, and Mrs. M. E. Covington, Mrs. G. P. Thayer and Mrs. C. E. Lanier.

Mr. and Mrs. Reck were both born in western Pennsylvania, Mr. Reck's parents moving west when he was a child. Both were children of college professors, and each graduated at the college with which the father was connected. Mrs. Reck is a graduate of Thiel College at Greenville, Pennsylvania, where her father was a professor of Greek and Mr. Reck graduated at Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, where his father was professor of English.

Though their wedding was only a family affair, three ministers took part in the ceremony, Prof. Titzel, Mrs. Reck's father officiated, assisted by his con, the Rev. George E. Titzel, and by Dr. H. W. Roth, president of the college, who had also served as best man at the wedding of both parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Reck made their home in Rock Island, Ill., before moving to Florida in 1914, to make their permanent residence, going first to Sebring, where they lived for four years before coming to Avon Park, where they have since lived.

Two children have blessed their union, Herbert, for many years of Avon Park, now of McAllen, Tex., and Winifred, now the wife of E. G. Todd, of Avon Park. One son, Randolph, died in infancy There are eight grandchildren: Misses Letta and Josephine Reck and Ryland Reck, of Lakeland, Herbert Reck of McAllen, Tex., and Donald, Herbert, Howard and Norman Todd of Avon Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Reck have always identified themselves with movements that were for the advancement of Avon Park, and have been ever ready and willing to do the things that would help to build the town, and that were for the good of the community. Mr. Reck is prominently connected with the Scenic Highlanders and the Chamber of Commerce, and both are active in the affairs of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer. As a result, the couple is looked upon as among the staunchest citizens, outstanding in their optimistic views of life, and are loved and respected by their hundreds of friends and acquaintances in this section of the state, who are extending sincerest congratulations on the passing of the fiftieth milestone of their happily married life.

The many friends of Mrs. W. H. Yates, who has been enjoying a vacation trip with relatives in Scotland and England, will be pleased to know that she will sail Saturday for the United States. Mrs. Yates will visit in New York City and Brooklyn before returning to her home in Avon Park.

Miss Ruby Clyde Henderson of Gainesville left Wednesday, after visiting her friend, Miss Sarah Browning, at the Jacaranda hotel for several days. Miss Browning is one of the new teachers in the school this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dilley, accompanied by Miss Dorothy McNicholas spent last Sunday in Winter Park where they went to visit Miss Paula Jones of Washington, who was visiting friends at that point. Miss Jones and Miss Frances Jones of Bartow returned with them in the afternoon, Miss Paula Jones coming on to Avon Park for a short visit as the guest of Miss McNicholas. She left the first of the week for Jacksonville, and planned to return to her home in Washington from there.

For 35c dues, you will be a member of the P. T. A. for the full school term.

Motion . . .

(By L. R. EVERS)

(This is another of a series of articles on "Machines and Things of Motion.")

REFLECTION

Reflection is one of the commonest of our everyday experiences. Defined it sounds highly technical. But in order to get down to an intelligent understanding of it and how it affects us, the theory may be stated comprehensively:

When any object, in contact with other objects, is suddenly disturbed or caused to vibrate it continues to vibrate at its own natural period, beat or frequency which depends upon the nature and dimensions of the object or substance disturbed.

To begin with, let us keep in mind that objects and things, such as the pendulum as noted in a previous article, have their own natural beat or motion. To illustrate further, people have a natural beat to their walk which we often recognize in those footsteps we hear most often. Those who are blind have developed that sense of perception until it is almost uncanny in the way in which they recognize objects and people. But the sound of footsteps is a vibration, or radiation, if you please, which one hears and becomes a reflection only when enough energy is given off to cause it to rebound from another object.

As a consequence we may note that heavy, slow moving objects often show no evidence of their motion beyond their own orbits. In other words they radiate no energy or waves. We perceive their motion by sight or actual contact. The energy by which we see them is not their own but comes from another object. They act as reflector. A perfect example of this is a common rope swing. We see it move in definite vibrations, yet such movement causes no sound, sends out no light or causes no other radiation until interfered with by other objects.

So much for simple vibration. When an object, however, crashes or an explosion occurs, it sends a single wave of great proportions and is heard as such. One immediately thinks of the shot of a gun. This sound wave from the gun is a form of radiation. It moves outward in all directions until it spends its energy. If a large portion of this wave strikes a large obstruction, such as building or cliff, it is reflected and returns—the shot is heard again. This form of reflection we call an echo.

Echo is sometimes used aboard ships to determine ocean depths. A sound wave is sent downward through the water. It travels until it strikes the bottom and is reflected. An instrument called a sounder measures the time it is gone. Knowing the speed of sound in water, and the time it is gone, produces a formula by which the depth may be calculated.

This fact may some day be used aboard airplanes to determine accurately the distance to the earth or to other major obstructions. It will work as well in total darkness or in fog as in clear daylight.

Reflection, however, is not as simple as it sounds since objects in motion or waves of radiation when striking an obstruction may do one of three things: They either penetrate through, are absorbed or are reflected. The determining factors, therefore, are the nature of the radiation and the substance contacted.

We may get a clearer idea if we cite some examples. A rubber ball penetrates air but is reflected by a brick wall. Sound waves penetrate water; are absorbed by felt; but are reflected from a hillside. Light waves penetrate glass; are absorbed by black color; and reflected by white color. X-rays penetrate the human body; are absorbed by lead; and are reflected by a platinum plate.

Experiments and observation, however, have produced a certain definite law, as in all natural phenomena. The law of reflection, briefly and clearly stated, is:

The angle of return is always equal to the angle of approach when measured from a line perpendicular to the plane of reflection.

It is this fact which makes possible the reflector types of microscopees, telescopes and many other useful and interesting instruments.

FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS

by Kenneth Friedman

That Florida's soil and climate are admirably suited to the growth of numerous tropical fruits has long been known, nevertheless a papaya tree bearing 68 fruits for a total weight of 166 lbs. is believed to be something of a record even in this state of agricultural advantages. The above tree was grown by J. J. Lindsey at Everglades Nursery near Fort Myers.

One of the most remarkable catches in the annals of Florida fishing history was accomplished several years ago near New Smyrna when a shark weighing over 500 pounds was caught by Pat Kelly, then only 13 years old. To the amazement of all on board Capt. Addison Clark's yacht "Bunk", the huge fish gave birth to 14 little sharks when brought to the stern of the boat. Two of the new arrivals were born after the fish had been safely landed.

Complete Revision Of Tax Structure Essential says Solon

Jacksonville, Sept. 9.—Edgar Waybright, who as State Senator from Duval county in 1927 sponsored the first sales tax bill ever introduced in the Florida legislature, said in a statement today: "It is extremely fortunate for the welfare of Florida that the sales tax bill, as written at that time, was not enacted into law, as complete revision of our tax structure is essential to sound progress."

"Later developments have convinced me," said Senator Waybright, "that we were entirely correct in our conclusions in 1927 that the sales tax principle is the most just and equitable method of taxation. But, that we were honestly in error as to the method of applying the principle to form an equitable system of taxation for the future welfare of Florida.

"The development since that time of the statewide movement to abolish the ad valorem method of taxing property and the discussions resulting from that issue have convinced me that the sales tax principle must, in the interest of the general welfare of the state be coupled with complete abolition of our ad valorem method of taxing property.

"We must recognize in a program for equitable tax revision that property as such is a dead thing. In itself it has no value and represents no ability to pay taxes. It is the proceeds derived from the energy and ingenuity applied to the use of property that represents ability to pay taxes.

"This being true a tax system to pay must be based on the proceeds be based equitably on ability to derived from property."

"If this principle is adhered to in the revision of our tax structure," said Senator Waybright, "then we will have applied the true principles we had in mind originally in promoting the sales tax, and the tax will be just, equitable, collectible, and do more to build and develop the economic welfare of the state than anything that has happened since Florida was founded.

"On the other hand, if we merely add a retail sales tax to our present antiquated, dilapidated inequitable tax system we will have simply added another tax burden which will help to more rapidly sink our state into the mire of depressed economic conditions."

Chambers of commerce of all cities in Pinellas county have joined in an attempt to make this county the site for a new state hospital for the insane. The last session of the legislature authorized the appointment of a committee to make plans for the establishment of such an institution in South Florida.

The new "cold light" which has been recently perfected will be used to illuminate the Florida National Exhibit at the New York World's Fair next year, but there will be nothing cold in the reception which the thousands of visitors will receive in the $300,000 Florida exposition building, housing the state's greatest presentation of attractions.

A contract for the sinking of a new 900-foot deep-water well at Orlando was let last week. The new well is expected to increase the city's water supply about 3,000,000 gallons daily.

Children Should Be Given Examination By Family Doctor

Labor Day, for some people may have meant a holiday, but to the children in this county, Labor Day simply meant the beginning of work for the next nine months.

During this time, the children will be called upon to solve many problems and, to do their work with the greatest efficiency, they will need all their facilities at their command. It is useless to think that a child can do his best work if he is handicapped in some way.

The best way to start the new school year right is to have your family physician make a physical examination of your child and, in the event there is anything wrong, the correction may be made before it is too late. The Highlands County Health department recommends that all parents, who are beginning their children in school for the first time, should, by all means, have this examination.

Perhaps, your child is one of the few who has not had toxoid given for diphtheria, eyes tested for visual defects, vaccination for smallpox, or teeth examined by your family dentist. By all means, see that these things are done for the benefit of your child. Give him an even start with his class.

RUSSELL KAY

Clearing out a desk drawer the other day I came across an old circular prepared by a citrus nursery to promote the sale of a new type of orange which was given the slogan of "The $10 a Box Fruit." It was printed about 15 years ago. The concern that issued it has long been out of existence. Throughout the state may be found here and there some types of this particular variety. If there are any records of oranges brining $10 per box they have entirely escaped my notice.

However, the circular was an enticing piece of sales literature. The fruit illustrated in full color was certainly inviting and if one were to read that circular today, with no citrus experience or knowledge of the industry, they probably would find themselves eager to plant an orange grove in Florida, with nothing to worry about as far as the future was concerned except how to beat the income tax.

And I'm tellin' you, turning from that Pollyanna circular to look at the citrus situation in Florida today sure gave me an awful letdown. If conservative estimates are correct, we are preparing to enter another chaotic citrus season with a crop of fruit that even statisticians couldn't lay end to end and get any kind of an intelligent answer out of.

In spite of the fact that Florida growers have been "cooperating" for thirty years or more, there is less harmony with more individual interests farther apart than at any time in our history. What we seem to need in the citrus industry in Florida more than anything else is for somebody to write a book on "How Citrus Growers Can Make Friends and Get Along with Buyers, Shippers and Politicians."

They tell us our one great need is organization, but if you ask me, we've been over-organized for years. We've spent so much time "organizing" we ain't had time for anything else. We've had Growers Committees, Growers Leagues, Growers Exchanges, Growers Cooperatives, Growers Associations, Growers Commissions and Growers this and that, with dues and assessments, commissioners, directors, managers, coordinators and what-have-you, 'till any Florida citrus grower who hasn't belonged to at least a dozen such groups and helped to finance and promote a lot of others is mighty hard to find.

When we add to the various Grower organizations the various Shipper and other allied groups, boy I mean we got as fine and complete an assortment of high class "organization" as can be found anywhere, and at the same time we find the industry as a whole about as beautifully "DIS-ORGANIZED" as selfishness, greed, politics and personal interests can make it.

One outfit wants a marketing agreement—another doesn't; those that favor an agreement can't agree on what kind. Some think fruit should be "color added" while you will find others who are bitterly opposed to it. Some want more advertising, others don't want any. So altogether we have just naturally "organized" ourselves into one sweet helluva mess.

Just to help matters, the Citrus Commission faces a possible shakeup this month when the terms of five members expire September 10. They serve beyond that date subject to the appointment of a successor and Governor Fred hasn't had much time lately to give a whole lot of thought to the question of "Successors." But men don't function with any degree of efficiency or enthusiasm when they serve with the well known axe hangin' over 'em. So if the changes are to be made they should be made quickly or the commissioners whose terms expire should be reappointed at once and thereby be placed in a position to give their best to the industry.

Growers organizations ambitious to "knock shippers' ears down" find themselves confronted with shippers' organizations bent upon "keeping the growers in line" and all this is topped off with an inharmonious political situation that breeds only doubt and suspicion and leaves little opportunity for intelligent constructive advancement.

Because it has neglected to properly publicize its aims and accomplishments there is doubt in the minds of many that the Citrus Commission is justified and it is possible an effort will be made to dissolve it at the coming legislative session. The Commission, however, is needed as the spokesman for the industry. Relieved of political pressure and given the full support and cooperation of all citrus interests, it can perform a valuable and helpful service. Constant inter-industry strife and bickering will not help in moving and marketing our tremendous crop. That the industry as a whole can get together for the welfare of all, seems too much to hope for, but unless it does the coming season offers little hope to the man who has his all wrapped up in citrus.

Young scholars need hot nourishing luncheons to keep vitality high the whole school day.

HEIGH-HO! BACK TO SCHOOL THEY GO

—and school day luncheons must be hot and nourishing

By Dorothy Greig

MUCH as we love our offspring, it's certainly a relief to see them marching off to school once more. As for the mothers they leave behind them, part of their cheerful share in the school year routine is seeing that Johnny and Mary get good hot luncheons when they come rushing in at noon.

School day luncheons should be nourishing; provide abundant energy. Yet they should be light. A bowl of steaming soup is always a fine beginning, of course. It supplies the hot food every school luncheon should have—and it is easy to prepare. Just open the can, add water or milk, and heat.

1 can condensed chicken noodle soup
1 can milk (using soup can for measure)

Add the milk to the chicken noodle soup, and heat. Then add the cooked carrots, cooked potatoes and cooked celery and put all into a buttered casserole. Cover and cook all together in a 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes.

Amateur Radio Operators Form Emergency Service

Tampa, Sept. 9. (FNS)—Florida amateur radio operators this week organized an emergency communication system which can be put into service at a moment's notice should other forms of communication be disrupted.

The organization was made under the Army Signal Corps and the Florida National Guard. It comprises four networks for both telegraphic and radio-phone service, which will be able to maintain communication with the rest of the nation in the event regular commercial systems fail.

The emergency set-up includes the army, national guard, naval reserve, coast guard, and more than 100 amateur stations in Florida, all coordinated into an efficient system on the same lines as that being used in similar organizations throughout the nation by the Army Signal Corps.

In order to assure the efficient working of the system, preparedness drills will be held every Monday night with the national guard control station at Lake Worth calling the roll of members by wireless.

The Florida National Guard, of which Adjt. Gen. Vivian Collins is director, now has a system of 67 stations on its roster and plans to have at least one active station on each network in every city in the state.

All members of the system are provided with passes which permit them to pass military lines during emergency periods and have standing orders to communicate with their control stations upon notice.

"Wrong Way" Heads Wrong Way After It Wins Race at Meet

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9. (FNS) —There must be something in a name, or at last that is what Art Stein, local model airplane flier, thought when his gas-powered model plane named "Wrong Way" after "Wrong Way" Corrigan, won the grand prize and the West Coast championship at the statewide Model Plane meet here last week by staying visible in the air for seven minutes and 55 seconds, and then headed for Ireland or China or some other distant land and has not been seen since.

Dale Williams, Jr., of Lakeland, won second prize in the gas-model division with an entry which stayed visible for five minutes and 56 seconds and then disappeared in the same direction.

Walter Seegmiller of Lakeland won first prize in the endurance contest for planes powered with rubber bands with a time of four minutes and 51 seconds. Second place went to Randall Davis of St. Petersburg for a time of three minutes and 18 seconds. Kenneth McGilvay of Lakeland won third place.

Touchton Speaks to Wauchula Baptists

"mobilize" to get the great masses of people who seemingly have forgotten God to return to their churches to help fight for Christ and His cause. He advocated a crusade to clean up the politics of the country because our politics are so often interferred with by people of the underworld, and crime runs amuck throughout the country. It is high time the the churches look into our state and national politics as well as local—and promote the cause of Almighty God at all times," he said.

Touchton was accompanied to Wauchula by C. D. Noland, president of the local Brotherhood and B. F. Martin, Men's Bible class teacher.

BUILDING MEMORIAL TO MEMORY OF PASTOR

At quarterly conference of the Methodist church officials and members held Sunday night by the Rev. Blake, presiding elder of the Lakeland district, action was taken which will make the proposed building for young people a memorial to the late A. H. Hancock, beloved pastor for more than four years. His great objective for the church was adequate quarters for the young people's worship, and the church feels that such a building will prove a fitting memorial to his years of devoted service to this community.

While no aggressive campaign for funds to erect the building has been started, $300 is now pledged and members and friends of the church will be given opportunity soon to assist in erecting this memorial building. First response to a recent request for city bond coupons to apply on paving against the new property, given the young people by W. O. Percival, came from Walter C. Mitchell, who sent five coupons from his summer home in Wellesley Hills, Mass. Other local citizens have promised additional coupons which will be sufficient to retire the paving indebtedness.—Clermont Press.

The late Rev. Hancock was formerly pastor of the First Methodist church, Avon Park, and the many friends of the family will be interested in the preceding article.

Poorly Nourished Women— They Just Can't Hold Up

Are you getting proper nourishment from your food, and restful sleep? A poorly nourished body just can't hold up. And as for that run-down feeling, that nervous fatigue,—don't neglect it!

Cardui for lack of appetite, poor digestion and nervous fatigue, has been recommended by mothers to daughters—women to women—for over fifty years.

Early Decision Is Expected In Dade Gas Tax Appeal

Tallahassee, Sept. 9. (FNS) — When the supreme court resumes work with the return of the justices after Labor Day, an early decision is expected on the appeal of Dade country on the much mooted special gasoline tax laws. This decision will dispose of more than $1,000,000 now tied up in the state treasury and is expected to have considerable effect on the action of the 1939 legislature on gasoline taxation and road building.

The conflict in the distribution of gasoline taxes arose out of an apparent conflict between numerous special acts passed by the legislature and the general act of 1931. The special acts giving various counties the right to use their share of the gasoline tax, while the 1931 act provided that the state road department shall use the money for the construction of roads in the counties.

Comptroller J. M. Lee refused to distribute the gasoline monies to the various counties in the spring of 1937, basing his action on the opinion that the general act of 1931 could not be changed by special acts. His action stopped payments to 33 counties affected by speial acts of the legislature.

In a taxpayers suit in the circuit court of Leon county, Judge J. B. Johnson held the special acts were unconstitutional. The supreme court split 3 to 3 on the question, leaving Judge Johnson's decision standing as a bar to the distribution of the gasoline tax monies under the special acts. In order to secure the benefits of the gasoline tax monies, 27 counties waived their rights under the special acts and agreed to the disposition of the monies under the general act of 1931. Eight counties refused to waive the special acts and are still contesting Judge Johnson's decision.

Dade county has the largest stake in the million-dollar pot, having $560,686 impounded in the treasury. The other counties have a total $488,757 to their credit. While the early decision of the supreme court is expected in the Dade county case alone, all counties are eagerly awaiting the opinion.

Gas tax distribution is certain to be a major battle field in the 1939 legislature, and it is quite possible that the supreme court's decision in the Dade county case will determine the lines on which it will be fought.

State Caucus To Nominate '40 Governor

Touchton Leads State Poll in Medical Balloting

Former State Senator Fred L. Touchton will attend a caucus Saturday morning at Perky, 152 miles south of Miami on the Overseas highway. There representatives of the allied medical professions — the doctors, dentists and druggists —will make political whoopee, and for all anybody knows might make political history. For representatives of these professions will select a candidate from among their kind as a standard bearer in the 1940 gubernatorial campaign. And he will have the combined backing of these important groups. All of this has come about as the result of a poll conducted by A. William Morrison, Miami druggist, who is secretary-manager of the state pharmaceutical association.

Avon Park interest centers in the caucus from the fact that Fred Touchton stands at the head of the list in the recent poll. At the close, September 10, in a field of 13 proposed candidates, Touchton had 104 votes. He is followed by Dr. C. E. Tundis, Miami, with 87 votes; Dr. Geo. Dame, Inverness, 78; Dr. E. G. Peck, Ocala, 72; Dr. W. M. Rowlett, Tampa, 67; Dr. T. Carlos Henslee, Miami, 55; Dr. Russ Williams, Miami, 24; Dr. N. A. Baltzell, Marianna, 22; Victor Wray, Haines City, 22; George Moore, Clearwater, 13; H. B. Douglas, Bonifay, 12; C. G. Hamilton, Pompano, 4; L. F. O'Quinn, Miami, 3. A total of 558 votes were cast in the poll.

In addition to Touchton's vote of 104, he will receive the support of Dr. Rowlett, with 67 votes, who has withdrawn and announced that whatever weight his influence possessed would go to Senator Touchton.

Touchton says that the legal and banking professions have been in the majority in furnishing material for Florida's chief executives since the birth of the state. So the leaders of the medical professions decided that people would relish a change and decided to offer a man of their selection for Governor in 1940.

Dr. Rowlett of Tampa, secretary of the state medical board, received 67 votes quickly in the campaign, and asked that his votes and support go to Touchton. This immediately pushed Touchton far in the lead over all candidates in all three professions and he has held this lead right up to the present.

Residents of Dade City, DeLand and Avon Park, which "Dr. Fred" calls his "three homes" have been watching the result of the poll with interest. City officials, county officials and many prominent people and scores of individuals who know him, have sent their good will notes in to the balloting office in Miami. Letters and post cards endorsing "Dr. Fred" went from school teachers, laborers, lawyers, mayors, sheriffs, and people of all walks of life from these towns. Even Georgia friends have taken a hand. Friends of his native city of Valdosta, hearing of his proposed candidacy, have written endorsements and encouraging letters for him.

Perky, on the Florida Keys, site of Saturday's caucus, is a development of unusual beauty, it is said, and is unique as a meeting place.

VOTE!

On next Tuesday the people of Highlands county will be called upon to select a nominee for the office of County Judge to fill an unexpired term of two years, caused by the death of the late Judge Selwyn Ives.

Because this is a special primary, and there is but one office at stake, it is quite natural that interest in the election is not as rampant as in general primaries.

However, the office to be filled is of utmost importance. The selection of a man for county judge is worthy of the care and consideration of ALL of the voters of the county.

So, GET OUT AND VOTE.

If you don't exercise your voting prerogative you are a FAILURE as a GOOD CITIZEN. And another thing, don't go around cussing your government, or the man elected, or the subsequent administration of the office. If you've got a preference in this race, get out and express it, or forever after hold your peace!

Increase of $95,100 in 1938 Tax Assessments Over 1937

An increase of $95,100 is shown in the 1938 city tax assessment roll over last year, according to figures compiled by Assessor Albert Garrett, and now ready for the approval of the city council.

The total assessment for 1938 is $2,599,187 as against $2,504,087 last year.

Part of the increase is accounted for by railroad assessments in territory "C," the outside territory. Through efforts of city officials, both the Seaboard and the Coast Line are now assessed in this territory for bond debt service, and this year's assessment amounts to $32,580.

Previously the railroads have paid no taxes for the years 1935-6 and 7 in territory "C," because no assessments were made. This discrepancy was uncovered by the present city administration recently, and they called upon Comptroller J. M. Lee to make the back assessment for those years. This was done, with the result that the railroads will be called upon to pay a tax of $1089.40 for the past three years on back assessments.

According to the records, the Seaboard will be asked to pay: For 1935, value $13,364 at the rate of 6 mills, a tax of $80.18; for 1936 value $13,393, at 20 mills, tax of $267.86; for 1937, value $15,821, at 12 mills, tax of $189.85. Total tax for the three years, $537.89.

The Coast Line will be asked to pay: For 1935, value $14,743, at 6 mills, tax $88.46; for 1936, value $14,462, at 20 mills, tax $289.24; for 1937, value $14,484, at 12 mills, tax $173.81. Total tax $551.51.

The completed assessment roll shows a total valuation of $2,288,-242 subject to operating and bond debt service. Of this total $1,061,-750 as shown in territory "C" is subject to the bond levy only. The same applies to the railroad assessments in territory "C." Homestead exemptions, subject only to bond debt levy, were placed at $310,945.

Water Has Bad Odor But Receives Okeh

Certain samples of water supplies by the Florida Public Service company have been found to have a bad odor, according to tests made by the State Board of Health, but the tests showed the water to be satisfactory sanitary quality, the report stated.

The matter is being referred to the division of sanitary engineering for study of further samples being submitted, District Superintendent R. R. Brown stated. Complaints have been received from several sections of town and an effort is being made to run down the cause.

Lt. Straubel Flies Army Plane Here; Two Pass as Pilots

Lt. Austin Straubel flew here Tuesday morning from Birmingham, Alabama, in an army Keystone twin motored bomber. He stayed over night to visit with his grandfather, H. A. Straubel, leaving at about 9:30 Wednesday morning.

Todd and Crosby were students of Certified Instructor Wayne Maynard and were also students of the ground school being conducted by Lee R. Malmsten under WPA supervision. The course, which has been running nine weeks, has three more weeks to go with sustained interest reported by the instructor.

Major Keenan and Wayne Maynard flew to Atlanta Sunday on a business trip.

WIDER PARKING SPACES ON MALL

Parking spaces on the Mall are being marked off this week by the city, new orange colored lines supplanting the yellow lines formerly used. The new markings allow about nine inches more space between lines for parking cars, and the angle has been changed to allow for easier parking. The increased width between lines and the wider angle will save many fenders and doors from being banged and scratched. Motorists generally have expressed approval of the new lines.

To Revive Chamber Of Commerce At Supper Meet Friday

The Avon Park chamber of commerce will be revived, after the summer recess, with a general membership supper meeting at the American Legion home next Friday night, September 23.

This will serve as the annual meeting, and following supper, election of seven directors will be held. Buffet supper will be served at 6:30 and the business meeting has been called for 8 o'clock.

Plans for the meeting were made at a directors' meeting in the Jacaranda hotel Wednesday afternoon. A nominating committee composed of J. S. Francis, J. L. Wells and M. V. Pilcher was appointed by C. E. Crabtree, outgoing president of the chamber of commerce. The committee will make its report at the annual meeting, and the election of officers will follow.

All persons holding membership cards for the year 1937-38 will be eligible to vote in the election.

Secretary Norton Smith announced at the directors meeting that all bills for the past year had been paid.

Demos Mandis, R. R. Brown and Lester Armstrong were appointed a committee to prepare supper for next Friday night's meeting.

Calls For Volume Prorate, "Current Control"

Clearwater, Sept. 15 (Special)—More than 100 members of the newly-organized Florida Citrus Growers, Inc., meeting here today, pledged unanimous support of plans to establish federal fruit marketing agreement on a volume prorate basis with a "current control" allotment.

The delegates, with a rising vote of thanks to the marketing committee headed by J. J. Banks of Orlando, urged that it proceed with its plans immediately. Banks said a draft of the agreement would be completed in about 10 days, with assistance of representatives of the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

Favors Current Control

In presenting the committee's report, Banks insisted that "current control" marketing restrictions would not work hardships on the small grower and small shipper, "as some shippers declare." He related the efforts of large shippers to obtain a marketing agreement on the basis of "past performance," and declared that failure of "past performance" agreements in Florida has "caused the citrus industry to be a flop."

The growers agreed to establish a trade journal and to ask the Florida citrus commission and auction markets to buy advertising space.

Officials reported the association now has upwards of 5000 members and is organized in 17 of the 20 citrus producing counties of Florida.

Green Fruit Criticized

Members of the board of directors, after approving a revised charter for their organization, applauded criticism of green fruit shipments, which were described in letters from northern markets. The letters were read by E. G. Todd, Avon Park, head of a legislative committee. The organization voted to hold its next meeting in Fort Pierce Oct. 30.

Chairman Barnett of the research committee urged broadening of the citrus advertising program, declaring that California spends five or seven cents per box for advertising oranges, while Florida spends one cent.

Want Experimental Groves

Committees endorsed the establishment of experimental groves in various sections of Florida and legislation more clearly defining the size of a field box, in which fruit is placed after being picked.

Today's session was conducted by L. H. Kramer, Lake Wales grower, and president of the state association. Delegates were welcomed by Frank Tack, president of the Clearwater chamber of commerce and Mayor A. J. Grant of Dunedin, who is also president of the Pinellas county unit.

Insurance Men Contact Rotarians

Frank Caton, of Orlando, an amateur magician and insurance salesman, entertained the Rotary club with a bag of tricks at Wednesday's luncheon. He gave a clever performance. He was accompanied by his brother, Bob Caton, and since the meeting they have been contacting numerous prospects whose acquaintances they made at the Rotary luncheon.

TOO SAD, TOO SAD!

We have heard much about the way the New Deal is taking the country to the dogs, and about how the terrific taxes are eating up the ownings of the rich. But the case of the estate of Dr. John T. Dorrance, as described in an editorial in the Chicago Times, is most revealing. The editorial from the Times follows:

"Wailers of the our-country-is-being-ruined-by-the New Deal School are going to have a little trouble explaining this one off:

"Back in 1930 Dr. John T. Dorrance, head of Campbell's Soup, died, leaving an estate worth $114,-850,000.

"It takes some time to settle such an estate. For instance, New Jersey had to collect $15,620,000 in inheritance taxes. And Pennsylvania took $14,948,000. Then there was one lawyer's fee of $31,000, another of $70,000, and still another of $176,250. And the executors, who guided this process through five devastating years of New Deal and depression had to have $311,980.

Meantime, during all these years the widow has been paid $35,000 a month — plus certain interest. One daughter and four sons got $10,000 a month.

"What with all that—especially considering the New Deal — there couldn't be much left of that estate, could there? That's right — only $127,908,000!

"Ruin—at a net profit of $13,-000,000!"

We'll take some, please. A lot! —Lake City Reporter.

New Musical Hit Coming to Park

"Gold Diggers in Paris," the sixth of the famous musical comedy series, will have its Avon Park premiere on Wednesday and Thursday at the Park Theatre. Rudy Vallee, crooning maestro of the airwaves, heads the cast and golden-voiced Rosemary Lane is featured opposite him, with Gloria Dickson doing a feminine menace. The Schnickelfritz Band, a specialty outfit that is taking the country by storm with their goofy antics, take care of the rhythm with Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Melville Cooper and Mabel Todd in charge of comedy. And then there are the Gold Diggers themselves, as luscious a group of chorines as Hollywood has to offer. Welded together by an hilarious story, "Gold Diggers in Paris" promises the maximum in entertainment value.

The annual "Know Florida Week," sponsored by Florida Kiwanis clubs, has been set for September 24-30, by official proclamation of Governor Fred P. Cone.

"Children Should Be Seen And Not Hurt," is Warning

Tampa, Sept. 16. (FNS) — The realization that 400,000 children started to school this month has aroused the people of Florida to safety protective measures so that no child shall be hurt during the term, is well illustrated in the many protective measures now being carried on in practically every community in the state, said Asher Frank, director of the Florida Safety Council, this week.

Practically every group is interested. The sheriffs of the state and the various police departments, the American Legion, and other groups are forming school boy patrols in every school in Florida that needs them. From Vero Beach comes a report from the American Legion: "Thanks for the thought; we have organized a school boy patrol in every school on our highway."

In Hillsborough county, chief traffic officer Grantham has assigned a patrolman to assist all the rural schools and form safety groups. In the city of Tampa, Sgt. Bell has charge of the safety school patrol. In Jacksonville it is Chief Doney and Sgt. Gordon, and in Miami it is Capt. Lennon. In Pensacola, Panama City and in fact in most every section of Florida, enforcement officials, the American Legion and others are doing their part to make Florida a safer state in which to live, concluded Frank.

Safety material is furnished free by the Council.

"CHILDREN SHOULD BE SEEN AND NOT HURT."

Tiny "Key to City" To Colleen Moore

Tampa, Sept. 16. (FNS)—Usually when a "Key to the City" is presented to anyone, they find themselves burdened with a more or less bulky object made of wood, guilded and decorated with flowing ribbon. However, the "Key" presented to Miss Colleen Moore by Mayor Chancey here last week was so tiny that few at the banquet table, where the presentation was made, could even see it. Less than a half inch in lngth and made of gold, it will in the future have a place among the other treasures in her unique doll house.

The luncheon honoring Miss Moore, given by the Tampa chamber of commerce, was attended by local civic and business leaders.

J. A. Waterman of Maas Brothers was praised for his part in bringing Miss Moore and the doll house to Tampa by both chamber of commerce officials and Mayor Chancey. Miss Moore also acknowledged her gratitude to Waterman for his altruism and public spirit in arranging for the showing of the doll house here for the benefit of charity. FLORIDA HIGHLIGHTS by KENNETH FREEMAN

While the airplane has been used as a vehicle of transportation for more than a quarter of a century, its adaptation to commerce was first exploited during the winter of 1914. At this time, the INITIAL AIR TRANSPORT LINE IN THE UNITED STATES was established in Florida, operating between Tampa and St. Petersburg for a period of three months each year and carrying both passengers and express. Since this pioneer commercial air service, the world has witnessed the development of one of the largest potential industries of this era. Today, there is a vast network of commercial air lines connecting Florida not only to all parts of this country, but to Cuba, Nassau and South American points.

In various Indian mounds throughout the state, many VALUABLE RELICS and scientific data have been found that have done much to acquaint us with the degree of civilization attained by the ancient Indian tribes of Florida. Several years ago many of these antique relics were uncovered on Weeden Island near St. Petersburg. Some were found to be masterpieces of aboriginal decorative art. The color range of the pottery itself was found to be as extensive as the hues of the rainbow. So valuable was this collection that the finest specimens were put in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

Hawaiian Spear Latest Confiscated Fishing Equipment

Tallahassee, Sept. 16.—A Hawaiian spear shot through a reed, the propelling power furnished by a rubber "sling" made from a discarded automobile tire and attached to the rear end of the reed, is the latest piece of confiscated equipment delivered at the office of the Commission of Game and Fresh Water Fish, having been brought to Tallahassee by Chief Conservation Officer Harry Stein after it had served as evidence in the case against Bill Whitman of Miami for taking fish illegally from Lake Apopka. Whitman, it seems, had acquired the spear last summer in Hawaii.

The operator of the spear does his "shooting" under water, fitting himself for this by wearing a glass mask over eyes and nose, and adjusting this to his face by means of the rubber rim around the glass. Before donning the mask the wearer fills his lungs with air. This enables him to remain below the surface of the water for four minutes.

Whitman was arrested by Conservaton Officer J. B. Walker of Lake county for shooting bass in Lake Apopka. He plead guilty to the charge when taken before County Judge A. S. Herlong, Jr., who fined him $25 and costs, total $49.02. Officer Walker confiscated the spear, but Whitman was allowed to keep the mask, as it was not the implement with which the shooting was done.

Whitman had been successful in his underwater foray, having bagged one 11¼ pound bass, several bream and one large gar. These were shot in a spring forty feet below the surface of the lake.

First intimation of Whitman's operation came from Volusia county when Dr. I. N. Kennedy, executive secretary of the commission, received information that a man shadowed by a boat operated by a woman was shooting fish under water at DeLeon Springs. Informant said that when an effort was made to accost the pair they made a hasty get-away in an automobile but not quick enough to prevent the license number of the car from being seen, which number was furnished by Dr. Kennedy. Through this clue Whitman was first connected with the shooting. It established the fact that the man arrested in Lake county by Officer Walker and the man operating in Volusia county were one and the same.

It has been reported that this Hawaiian gun or spear has been used in waters in Gilchrist county in the belief it is permitted under the special law providing that "gig" may be used in such waters. Dr. Kennedy, in replying to Conservation Officer Buchanan of Gilchrist, who reported the matter and asked for instructions, points out that the Hawaiian piece differs materially from the description of a "fish gig" given by Webster and other standard authorities, therefore can not be legally used under the provisions of the law.

Shooting Season on Marsh Hens or Rails Closes November 30

Tallahassee, Sept. 16.—The season for shooting rails or "Marsh Hens" in Florida which opened September 15 will close November 30, says I. N. Kennedy, executive secretary of the Commission of Game and Fresh Water Fish. He also points out the fact that the bag limit on these birds as fixed by the federal government is 15. Already over-anxious gunners who went out prior to the legal time set for opening the season on marsh hens and who also exceeded the bag limit on these birds have found thmselves in the toils of the law and realized what it costs to violate regulations.

Regulations for taking other than migratory birds in Florida appear on backs of hunting licenses sold in the state. Kennedy suggests that hunters familiarize themselves with these regulations.

Try to Avert "War" Between "Spongers"

Key West, Sept. 16. (FNS)—In an effort to avert a continuance of the war which has been raging intermittently for several years between the hook sponge fishermen of Key West and the sponge divers of Tarpon Springs, R. L. Dowling, supervisor of conservation, has assigned one of the conservation department's patrol boats to Monroe county waters to enforce the state conservation act which prohibits diving for sponges within the ten-mile limit of Florida waters and to protect the sponge divers who are operating in outside waters from molestation.

An announcement was also made by the conservation department that a notice had been received from R. J. Dill, state administrator of the Florida WPA saying that the oyster rehabilitation project for Hillsborough, Pinellas, Manatee and Sarasota counties will be started at once.

With the addition of these four counties, the state will have 19 oyster rehabilitation projects underway.

"Oyster rehabilitation work is performed by the unemployed labor in the various counties," Dowling said, "and while this type of labor is perhaps not the most efficient that could be secured, yet it is labor which must be given a chance to earn a living. By their employment in this type of work the counties are building up their natural resources at little or no cost to themselves and creating an opportunity for their citizens to engage in a profitable enterprise when the rehabilitated oyster beds are opened for production. We consider it a worthwhile enterprise from every angle, and are pleased that so many of the counties are cooperating in the project."

PROGRESS REPORTED ON FLORIDA'S FAIR EXHIBIT

DeLand, Sept. 16. (FNS)—Earl W. Brown, general manager of Florida National Exhibits, returned this week after a trip to New York, consulting with contractors engaged in constructing the Florida building on the World's Fair grounds.

"Wonderful progress is being made and there is no doubt that the structure in which Florida's exhibit will be housed will be under roof by Jan. 1, next, which is the contract date. That will give us till opening day, April 30, in which to install our exhibits and otherwise complete the interior of the building," Mr. Brown stated.

EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK TO ATTRACT MANY VISITORS

The Everglades National Park, when it is established, will attract as many visitors as any one of our other national parks, Ernest F. Coe stated during the International Civic Club council's goodwill broadcast over WSUN last week. He estimated the number of annual visitors would exceed a half million.

A Qualified Man For County Judge

The voters of Highlands county will be called upon next Tuesday, September 20, to select a nominee for the office of county judge to fill the unexpired term of two years.

In making this selection, it is of the utmost importance that a man qualified by experience and a knowledge of the law be named.

Duties of a County Judge

1. As a Trial Judge. This duty involves passing on the legality of evidence, charging of juries, rulings on disputed questions of law, handling of juvenile offenders, issuance of warrants, charging offenses, and knowing what offenses the facts constitute. All highly technical and requiring a knowledge of the law.

2. Acting as a magistrate in commitment trials, involving the determination of the legal grade of offenses, and whether the evidence is sufficient to warrant sending a case to the grand jury or state's attorney.

3. Preservation and protection of the rights and property of lunatics, infants and persons in similar circumstances—protecting those not able to protect themselves.

4. Probation of wills and administration of estates, involving one of the most technical branches of law. Interpretation of wills and descent and distribution of the property of estates, including protection of minors, widows and orphans in the investment of any monies or properties belonging to them.

T. A. McNicholas has been actively engaged in the practice of law for more than 25 years. As an orphan, he earned his living since he was 13 years of age, and worked his way through Mercer University to be admitted to the bar as one of the youngest lawyers ever to practice in the United States (at age of 17).

We know him, appreciate his ability and know that he will conduct the affairs of the office efficiently and impartially. We commend his candidacy to the voters of Highlands county.

MRS. NELSON SMITH

Miss Elspeth Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Griffin, of 1008 East Idlewild avenue, and Nelson Smith, of Avon Park, were married in an impressive ceremony Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Seminole Heights Presbyterian church. The Rev. Byron Connley, of the Nebraska Avenue Church of Christ, officiated in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Many graduated areca palms were arranged as a background for four tall floor baskets of white chysanthemums, placed near the front of the chancel, which was lighted by the soft glow of white tapers in cathedral candelabra.

A program of nuptial music was presented before and during the ceremony. Miss Edith McLeod sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" (Herbert), and "Because" (D'Harelot); Miss Marie Sanford, pianist, and Marion Lee, violinist, played several selections, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" (Stults); "L'Amour, Toujour L'Amour" (Friml); "For You Alone" (Guhl) and the traditional wedding marches. "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell), was played softly during the ceremony.

Wears White Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath-like wedding gown of white slipper satin, with a gracefully draped train. Tiny covered buttons fastened the bodice and trimmed the long leg o'mutton sleeves, and a cameo, surrounded by seed pearls, an heirloom in the bridegroom's family, was worn at her throat. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of net and seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Isobel McNeil, mai-of-honor, a cousin of the bride, was gowned in pennant blue silk lace, over a periwinkle taffeta foundation. A Queen Anne collar finished the bodice, which was trimmed with tiny covered buttons. Her turban, from which a short veil hung, was of the same color as her gown, and she carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Miss Mattye Pearle Spier, of Ft. Meade; Miss Fair Milteer, of Ft. Myers; Mrs. J. W. Godwin, of Jacksonville, and Miss Mabry Sumner were bridesmaids. Their gowns, which were fashioned similarly to that of the maid-of-honor, were of Biscay blue silk lace over cornflower blue slips, and their veil-trimmed turbans matched their frocks. They carried arm bouquets of pink rosebuds. All the women attendants wore cameos, the gifts of the bride.

Patricia Ann Smith, junior bridesmaid and sister of the bridegroom, was gowned in poudre blue net and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Bridegroom's Attendants

Walton Touchton, jr., of Avon Park, was best man, and groomsmen were Robert J. Schwind of Mount Plymouth; Ross Swartzel of Wauchula; Parke Anderson, of Avon Park, and Charles Renfro.

Mrs. Griffin, mother of the bride, chose a margo ice blue lace gown with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. F. M. Smith, of Avon Park, mother of the bridegroom, wore a ceil blue lace gown, with black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink rosebuds.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Griffin home. The bride's table was overlaid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with a two-tiered wedding cake, showered with white satin ribbons to which were attached the traditional wedding symbols. Crystal candelabra bearing tall white tapers were placed at the ends of the table. Pink roses were used in the decoration of the other reception rooms. Those serving were the Misses Barbara Batts of Avon Park, Jessie Mae Bravo and Louise Griffin.

During the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a wedding trip to Asheville, the bride traveling in a Franklin model of copper colored light wool with brown velvet trimmings. Her accessories were copper colored. —Sunday's Tampa Tribune.

Many Underpriviledged Children Aided; P.T. A. Asks Continued Support

More than 150 meals have been given to underpriviledged children in the P. T. A. lunch room since the opening of school this year, and approximately 100 articles of clothing have been distributed, according to the report given today by Mrs. A. C. Wester, chairman of the welfare committee.

Right now, Mrs. Wester says there is an urgent need for boys' clothing, all sizes, but an especial appeal is made for smaller sizes; and girls' clothing, ages 6-8, inclusive.

Anyone, who will donate food or money to the committee for welfare purposes, is asked to give the same to Mrs. Wester, Mrs. W. W. McFarland, finance chairman, or Mrs. Paul Garber, president. Mrs. Garber has suggested that someone might care to prepare a dessert, or some other special dish, at some time, as a supplement to the meals served these children, and this gesture will be gratefully appreciated.

The committee on clothing will be at the grammar school building from 10 'til 11:30 o'clock each Friday morning for the distribution of clothing. If convenient, clothing may also be left there at these hours.

Please accept this as a personal appeal for donations to the committee; every penny and every garment given, will be put to immediate use, and will help to make some child happy. The children whom you see, who need shoes, clean and whole clothes to wear to school, and who will, in a short time, be needing coats and sweaters to protect them against the winter's cold, appeal to you to do your best by them, dig down in the closets and cedar chests for those outgrown garments of your children's, that you are saving for what? Let us give according to our blessings! The result will be manifold. Thanks folks! We knew you would!

TEN POINTS FOR FRESHMEN LISTED BY COLLEGE HEAD

Ten things every freshman ought to know were set forth yesterday by President Ludd M. Spivey of the Florida Southern college as first-year students arrived to register for the institution's 53rd year.

He said they ought to know that:

1 Sophistication is not education.

2. One cannot be a dud in college and a doer after college.

3. True tolerance is intolerant of all wrong.

4. One needs to keep his feet on teh ground as well as his head in the air.

5. Credulousness is not open-mindedness.

6. It is possible for one to be more ignorant when he is graduated from college than when he begins.

7. One does not go to college to prepare to live. He goes to college to live.

8. World-mindedness is not opposed to national mindedness.

9. College is not divided into faculty and students. We are all students.

10 Goodness and knowledge are not opposed to each other.

38,000 Is Florida's Potential Case Load For Old Age Aid

Jacksonville, Sept. 14 (Special)—Florida's potential case load in the Old Age Assistance category is approximately 38,000 persons, according to "Public Assistance Statistics," a monthly publication issued by the statistical department of the State Welfare Board.

The estimate was made on the basis of the August case load and the present rate of rejections of approximately 25 per cent.

"During the month of August," the report reads, "the Old Age Assistance rolls reached the figure of 30,292 persons. This figure is far in excess of the total number of eligible aged a shown in original estimates. Despite the fact that the rolls at the present time largely exceed these earlier estimates, there are still 12,210 applications pending."

With the potential case load for August fixed at 42,502 and with rejections averaging one out of four applications, the number of eligibles is estimated at 38,000. It is probable that next legislative appropriations will be intended to meet the needs of this number of persons 65 years of age or more.

Applications are denied, it was stated, because of age requirements, residence requirements, citizenship requirements, resources, unwillingness to comply with property requirements, eligibility for another form of assistance, inability to obtain proof of age. Diposed of for other reasons are those who died prior to approval of applications, those receiving institutional care at the time of approval, those admitted to institutions prior to approval, those who withdrew applications and those who moved out of the county or district prior to approval of application.

During August 28 applications for Old Age Assistance were pending in Highlands county, nine were received, four were acted upon, three were approved and one was disposed of for other reasons.

FEDERAL EXPOSITION BUILDING MADE READY

Tampa, Sept. 16. (FNS)—Directed by officials of the federal government's exhibit staff, work began last week in preparing the new federal exposition building to receive exhibits of various government departments for display at the Pan American Hernando De Soto Exposition, January 31 to February 18.

When the interior construction is completed, according to plans of federal architects and exhibit specialists, material now under construction in Washington will be moved here.

Officials state that the federal exhibit at Tampa will be one of the most complete and comprehensive ever shown at any exposition.

Grepfruit production estimates point to the greatest crop that Florida has ever grown. While no reliable figures have been divulged most crop estimators place the total anticipated crop between 23 and 25 million boxes, including both the early and regular and the late bloom fruit.

Purchasing Power Of County's Car Owners Increased

Purchasing power of 1,427 light car owners in Highlands county has been increased during the past 12 years by $48,375.30 according to Main Street Chevrolet Co., local Goodyear dealer.

These figures are based on a nation-wide study just completed by P. W. Litchfield, president of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio.

"In the United States today there are 15,260,266 individuals who may be identified as a distinct group through their ownership of light automobiles in the Ford, Plymouth and Chevrolet class," Mr. Litchfield said. "They comprise about 64 per cent of the nation's car owners and, taken with their families, account for almost one-half the nation's total population. Improvements in product and method made by the tire industry during the past 12 years have brought to each individual in this group today a saving of $33.90 in his annual tire bill.

For proof of his statement, Mr. Litchfield cites the fact that tires used on light cars today give an average of 26,500 miles of service, as compared with 14,200 miles delivered by light car tires in 1926; that a tire and tube now costs $19.35 as compared with $23.95 in 1926; that today's tire gives $44.78 worth of mileage on the basis of 1926 values, thus reducing the customer's tire bill by $25.43 per tire. As the average tire is in service three years, saving for one year is $8.47 2/3, and on four tires for one year is $33.90.

"With $33.90 released to him for other purposes, he may pay a month's rent for an average urban home, buy an extra average suit of men's clothes or overcoat, pay an average family grocery bill for one month, or buy enough gas and oil for a 2,500-mile auto trip," the Goodyear executive continued. "Thus can the amount of the saving be translated into definite, tangible improvements in the living standards of the individual.

"The extra spending money accruing to this entire group of car owners reaches the staggering sum of $517,000,000 a year. Such a sum baffles comprehension. Stated in more understandable terms this sum, a round half-billion dollars, is an avenue, almost 500 miles long lined on each side with newly-built home in the $5,000 class, each with 52 feet of street frontage; 1000,000 of these homes, or modern living quarters for all of the people in a city the size of Columbus, Ohio; the total amount expended by our national government during the first 66 years of its existence; the cost of 10 or more super-dreadnaughts for our national defense.

"The story of the tire industry's contribution to public well-being is but one chapter in the record of service rendered by American industries. In other lines of industry, where technological progress has been exercised, other vast contributions have been made.

"Under the inspiration of a free competitive system, modern business steadily improves the products which it sells to the public and, in one way or another, constantly decreases the cost of these products to the public. Nowhere in the world is there a people so consistently well served. Nowhere in the world is there such a widespread creation and sharing of new wealth.

"Goodyear, quite naturally, is proud of its part in this record of accomplishment," he concluded.

SPENDING AT FOUNTAINS RIVALS JAP WAR COST

More than $4,000,000 is spent at the soda fountain every day by the American public—an amount equal to 80 per cent of Japan's daily expense in waging its undeclared war against China, according to figures compiled by The Liquid Carbonic Corporation, here.

International economists declare that the Sino-Japanese conflict is costing the island empire $5,000,000 a day. It is estimated that Americans spend 80 per cent of this amount on ice cream, fountain beverages and sandwiches purchased at soda fountains.

This $4,000,000 is spent at 120,000 soda fountains throughout the country, a great number in drug stores.

A recent survey cited by The Liquid Carbonic Corporation shows that seven of every ten persons entering a retail drug store patronize the fountain and that this department takes in 31c of every dollar spent in the establishment.

The cost of administering Old Age Assistance during the past fiscal year decreased from a high of $3.99 per case in November to a low of $1.29 in June, the State Welfare Board recently announced.
