

Fair Visitor . . . Relief Worker . . . Symphonist

Recent visitors to the United States, though for widely different reasons, include Miss. Teresa de Lopez Oquendo, left, wife of the president of Venezuela, who is here as a visitor to the New York World's fair, Miss. Kiyoko Fuyuki, center, member of the Finnish parliament, is in this country in an effort to speed up relief for her sickened country. She is working with Margaret Beever, former President. St. Thomas Beever, right, famed composer and conductor of the London Symphony orchestra, pictured on route to Australia, where he will conduct several symphonies.

Changes Charted in Heat of Sun

Scientists Make Analysis Of Data Gathered Over 15-Year Period

WASHINGTON—Seven radiation positions of the sun have been confirmed by Harvard university mathematicians, who have completed a rigid mathematical analysis of data gathered by the Smithsonian Institution over 15 years.

Measurements with delicate instruments on cloudless mountain tops scattered over the earth for the last 15 years have shown that the sun's heat received at the outer edge of the earth's atmosphere varies from day to day. The sun, upon whose radiation all life depends, is a variable star.

The increases and decreases, however, were interwoven into an almost inextinguishable pattern. Sometimes the peaks of two or more coincided and sometimes several depressions came together. Several years ago Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, found, by splitting up the total curve of the sun's radiation, that it consisted of 12 subsidiary pulsations, all of which had a least common denominator of approximately 23 years. That is, every 23 years the star went through a complete pulsation cycle.

The analysis, however, was extremely difficult. Some of the radiation differences, in so far as they could be detected by any instruments, were 0.000001 miles away, were very minute. All the complex effects of passage through the earth's atmosphere on solar radiation had to be discounted. There was at least a possibility that some of the apparent pulsations were statistical illusions, difficult to recognize.

Dr. Theodore E. Sterne of Harvard university undertook, with the aid of his graduate students, to analyze the data by a different, more laborious and more rigid mathematical procedure. A mathematician familiar with the pitfalls of statistical illusion, Dr. Sterne approached the problem with an objectively skeptical attitude.

'One-Term Man'

"Did you ever see such dirty things in all your life?" spat Jenny. The fight would have been better," thought Skinner, but he didn't say so. He and Mrs. Skinner found an empty house, one that Dr. Skinner, the Woodpecker, built so long ago that he had quite forgotten it, and in this they once more started housekeeping. It wasn't as pleasantly located as the old home, but still it was in the Old Orchard.

Bully and Mrs. Bully worked very hard to build their home in the house they had stolen from Skinner, and you may be sure that they were closely watched by their neighbors.

"Did you ever see such a mass of stuff for one home? Why, I could build three nests out of what they have already carried in there, and they are still bringing more. I see they use dead grass mostly, with some hay and feathers. They are not a bit particular where they get it, either, and some of it is dirty."

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Surgons Shift Heart Of 7-Week-Old Infant

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—University hospital surgeons said today that a 10-week-old infant whose heart was moved from the right to the left side was recovering and gaining weight normally.

The delicate operation was performed three weeks ago, surgeons said, on Elvira Baumann, the daughter of Theodore R. Baumann of Hope, Mich. The child was under an anesthetic for more than an hour.

Surgeons said a misplacement of the intestines, due to an opening at birth in the upper part of the diaphragm, collapsed the infant's lung and pushed the heart to the right side.

Minute Make-Ups

By V.V.

HAVE you seen black specks over the eyebrows where hairs grow? Those come from incorrect plucking. Only the tops of the hairs were taken off. The right way is to grasp the hair near the root with the tweezers. Pluck quickly toward the direction in which the hair grows. This leaves no trace of where it grew.

(Classified by Woman's Newspaper at Chicago)

hopped about looking at everything with her sharp eyes and jerking her funny little stick-up tail to emphasize her remarks.

"Anyone who is careless about her clothes and how she looks," said Mrs. Bully, "must be a thoroughly black housekeeper," continued Jenny. "I do detect dirt and dirty people. They are a disgrace to any neighborhood. The Old Orchard always has been a quiet, respectable place, and some of the very best families have lived here for years."

"Does that include your own?" asked Chippy Sparrow, while the others smiled.

"Perhaps do, and perhaps it doesn't," retorted Jenny. "I'm not ashamed of my family or any of my relations."

Jenny looked a trifle embarrassed, for it had become generally known that Bully is a relative of his.

"As I was saying," continued Jenny Wren, "some of the best families have lived here for years, but I am afraid they will move away if any more such dirty, common-looking, noisy people come here. Why, they'll make the whole neighborhood common! I think something ought to be done about it."

"But what can be done? This is a free country," said Brownie the Thrasher.

"Well, anyway, we needn't have anything to do with them. I won't for one!" snapped Jenny.

Before they separated, it was agreed that no one could even use Mrs. and Mrs. Bully.

© V. V. Burgess—WFO Service.

High Schools Also Turn Out 'Vocational' Grads

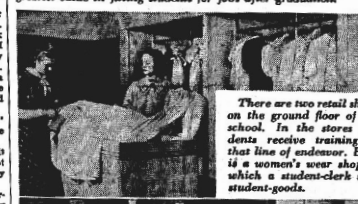

New York City's Board of Education does not confine its high school students to the study of languages and mathematics. On the contrary, there is an 11-story building, right in the heart of the garment center, wherein high school students receive the vital training necessary to those who would enter the trades. In the Central High School of Needle Trades, every trade, from retail merchandising and selling, to hand-made shoe manufacturing, is taught to girls and boys later to follow those pursuits in the commercial world.

Above we see girls in the class of draping of original patterns and costume designing at work in that department.

These two boys are engaged in the fur-working class, putting finishing touches to fur jackets. Vocational work such as this is of great value in fitting students for jobs after graduation.

There are two retail shops on the ground floor of the school. In the stores students receive training in that line of endeavor. Here is a women's wear shop in which a student-clerk sells student-goods.

Here the boys in the shoe-cutting department learn the making of shoes from leather, by hand. These shoes later are sold in the retail shops located on the ground floor of the school.

In this picture we peek into the classroom where girls are taught to work on sewing machines. The advantages of such training can hardly be overestimated, whether the girls intend to enter the commercial world or not.

Brooklyn students learn the correct way to cook and serve meals.

Favorite Star Quilts Are Prize Winners

Pattern No. 2454

STAR patchwork! Synonymous with this are three quilts which have been its consistently popular representatives from early American times right up to the present. Lone Star, Broken Star, Stars Upon Stars—all are equally lovely whether made in bright golden shades of yellow and orange, or in the delicate colors of the rainbow. And in this grand pattern, 2454, 15 cents, you receive cutting guides, color arrangements and estimated yardages for all three. Let your scrap bag assist in the making of star quilts—prize winning in design and beauty. Send order to:

ANNIE MARTHA
Box 186-W Kansas City, Mo.
Enclose 15 cents for each pattern desired. Pattern No. 2454 only.
Name.....
Address.....

The Tale-Bearer

Where no wood is, then the fire smokes out; so where there is no tale-bearer, the strife smokes. Proverb.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to ensure it first and "cure" it afterwards. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. You may not say yourself those dull headachy days, plus those ineffectual trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple commensurate "course of prevention."

If you trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the better way is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, dry but very nourishing cereal has just the "bulk" you need to keep your bowels regular, day after day and month after month. It's just the "bulk" you need by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If you consult a physician, it is wise to consult a physician.

Even There

"It's funny the way my plane crashed. I got into an air pocket." "Ah—and there was a hole in it!"

666 MALARIA COLD CURE

SAFETY—TASTELESS—SYMPTOMS FREE DAY
TRY "666" TODAY—A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

As He Figured It

"Johnny, aunt will never want to kiss you with a dirty face." "No, that's what I thought."

WINGS OF COOLNESS FOR THIRSTY FEET THAT SWEAT WITH MEXICAN HEAT POWDER.

Precious Few Women, like prices, find few real friends.

Why Suffer? MENEL'S MAGIC REMEDY

Rehearsal! Rheumatism! RUMBLE

SPECIAL BARGAINS

WHEN you see the special of our merchants announced in the columns of this paper you can depend on them. They mean bargains for you.

They are offered by merchants who are not afraid to announce their prices or the quality of the merchandise they offer.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Referring to himself as a "one-term man," nervously told Sam Boston Jones promises to "give Louisiana back to the people" as he takes the oath of office as fourth governor of that state.

Clubs and Parties . . .

By HETTIE H. NETHERINGTON — Phone 54

Wedding of Interest To Friends Here

William J. Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bishop of Avon Park and Miss Thelma Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hodges of Washington, D. C., were united in marriage on Friday evening, June 14, at 8 o'clock in the presence of the bride's family and a few close friends. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's brother, Harold Hodges in Fall Church, Va. The Rev. C. B. Austin, pastor of the West Baptist church of Washington, presided.

The ceremony was performed before the mantle, which was decorated with roses and greenery, to form an improvised altar, and the soft glow of many candles, in graduated heights, cast a soft illumination.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding gown, a white crepe summer ensemble with contrasting accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of sweetest roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bride was maid of honor, and were a bridesmaid and a flower girl.

Ted Hodges, twin brother of the groom served as best man. Mrs. Bishop is a graduate of Western high school in Washington, D. C. Her husband is employed by Pan American Airways.

Touchtons Entertain Thursday Evening
Beautiful bouquets of roses and arrangements of flowers decorated the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Touchton on Thursday evening, when they entertained club members at a delightful party.

After several progresses, high scores awarded, a serving tray was given to Dr. and Mrs. Touchton, and second high score prize, a tea set, was presented to Mrs. Touchton. Refreshing fruit punch was served during the game, and an ice course was served following the distribution of prizes.

Dr. and Mrs. Touchton's guests on this pleasant occasion were Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Hartt, Mrs. E. G. Todd, Mrs. C. E. Lanier, Mrs. Ruth Collins and Mrs. Walter S. Betts.

Roberts Are Hosts To Bridge Club

Three tables of players enjoyed the party given on Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roberts at their home on Lakeland, when they were hosts to members of their bridge club. The living room and screened porch were decorated with many bouquets of summer garden flowers in pastel shades. Tables were arranged on the porch, where the guests enjoyed the cool lake breeze.

High scores were scored and were tallied was given to Mrs. J. L. Roberts, who received a crystal radio set, second high score was given to Mrs. J. L. Roberts, who received a crystal radio set, second high score was given to Mrs. J. L. Roberts, who received a crystal radio set.

The tempting refreshment course consisted of fruit salad, crackers, olives, cranberry sauce and nut bread, and food tea.

Club members enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Milford Diller, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armstrong, Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Diller, Mrs. J. L. Roberts, and Mrs. Chas. H. Moffett.

Rogers Family Reunion Sunday
Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Rogers entertained members of the Rogers family at a delightful family reunion on Sunday at their home. The long tables, where the temptingly delicious refreshments were placed in the shade of the trees on the lawn.

Included among those attending the affair were Mrs. Anna Rogers and daughter, Sarah Vio, and grandchildren, Betty and Allen, and Mrs. J. H. Rogers and daughter, Charlotte and Joan, and Misses Rogers and daughter, Charlotte and Joan, and Misses Rogers and daughter, Charlotte and Joan.

After several progresses, high scores awarded, a serving tray was given to Dr. and Mrs. Touchton, and second high score prize, a tea set, was presented to Mrs. Touchton. Refreshing fruit punch was served during the game, and an ice course was served following the distribution of prizes.

Dr. and Mrs. Touchton's guests on this pleasant occasion were Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McWhorter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Hartt, Mrs. E. G. Todd, Mrs. C. E. Lanier, Mrs. Ruth Collins and Mrs. Walter S. Betts.

Guild Meeting At Home Mrs. Voorhees

Mrs. Margaret's Guild of the Episcopal church of the Highlands met at the home of Mrs. George Voorhees, Jr. at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening. After a brief business meeting, Mrs. R. O. Williams took charge of the devotional period, she gave an inspiring and beautiful message, "The Light of the Dawn", a message full of hope and faith.

Mrs. Ted Ward reviewed two chapters of the study book, "Right Here at Home", dealing with "Forgotten Americans", and "God's Image in Man", which she gave in a most interesting manner.

After adjournment, refreshments were served to the following ladies present: Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. Ted Ward, Mrs. Max Wild, Mrs. R. O. Williams, Miss Mabel Lee, Miss Margaret McKnight, Miss Alice Davidson, and the hostess, Mrs. Elliott.

Miss Wray Presides At District Meeting
Miss Mildred Wray, district deputy president of Rockland Lodge, presided at a closed meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Wray. Wray was presented a corsage as a gift of esteem and appreciation from the lodge in the district.

Those attending from Avon Park were Mrs. Mildred Wray, Mrs. E. Wray, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bridges, Mrs. C. Mann, Mrs. Howard Wray, Mrs. Clifford Thomas, Mrs. Nancy Bond and Mrs. Arnold Hanson.

An open district meeting will be held next Monday evening in J. A. Johnson, Jr., Mr. R. B. Thayer, and Mrs. W. Zimmerman.

B. P. W. C. Has Social Meeting
A most unique social night was enjoyed at the Deer Lake home of Mrs. Margaret Vogt as co-hostess. Members in evidence were Mrs. Mildred Wray, Mrs. Margaret Chandler, Mrs. Virginia Cloud, Mrs. Wilma Peden, Miss Mattie Tomlinson, the hostess, Mrs. Daisy Tea Dyck and Miss Margaret Vogt, and Miss Frances Hargrave.

After assembling, all marched down to a rustic table under the tall trees, the lake sending forth cooling breezes, where the lovely moon illuminated the scene, and then the fun began with the sudden burning of bags, out of which came cards, giving motives and stunts to be done, a number and house cards, giving motives and stunts to be done, a number and house cards, giving motives and stunts to be done.

Baptist W. M. S. Has Program Meeting
The program meeting of the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church was held Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Chas. H. Moffett as leader for the afternoon.

The meeting was opened with the song, "How Firm a Foundation", and Mrs. H. H. Shepherd led the devotionals, which included the scripture reading, Psalm 11:1-3 verses; and Hab. 2:1-3 verses, followed by prayer.

The topic for the afternoon was "Don't Give Up Africa", and those taking part on the program were Mrs. Paul A. McFarland, Mrs. David Stuckey, prayer by Mrs. J. L. Collins, Mrs. W. E. Crosby, after the closing hymn, Mrs. R. H. Lawrence dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Those present were Mrs. J. D. Sherman, Mrs. J. L. Collins, C. W. Pader, Mrs. Paul A. McFarland, Mrs. Anna Lawton, Mrs. H. L. Lawrence, Mrs. David Stuckey, Mrs. S. P. Longbottom, Mrs. H. H. Sherman, Mrs. J. R. G. Crosby, W. C. Twombly, and Mrs. W. W. McFarland.

W. M. RECK REGISTERED BROKER
REAL ESTATE IN ALL STATES
Resident Property Management
15 Southeast Avenue
Avon Park, Fla.
Dorothy McNichols

Covenant Circle At Elliott Home

The "Covenant Circle" of the Women's Missionary Society of the Union Congregational church, met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Elliott on Thursday evening. After a brief business meeting, Mrs. R. O. Williams took charge of the devotional period, she gave an inspiring and beautiful message, "The Light of the Dawn", a message full of hope and faith.

Mrs. Ted Ward reviewed two chapters of the study book, "Right Here at Home", dealing with "Forgotten Americans", and "God's Image in Man", which she gave in a most interesting manner.

After adjournment, refreshments were served to the following ladies present: Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. Ted Ward, Mrs. Max Wild, Mrs. R. O. Williams, Miss Mabel Lee, Miss Margaret McKnight, Miss Alice Davidson, and the hostess, Mrs. Elliott.

Summer Dance Held Saturday Evening
Imagining a series of weekly summer dances for the younger social contingent, the first was held Saturday evening, at the memory. Dance music was furnished by a victrola.

Included among those attending were Helen Jarrett, Betty Moffett, Mildred Wray, Gloria Rios, Martha McCord, Wella Pearl McGibney, Betty Touchton, Mary Clements and Virginia Harris.

Chaperones for the evening were Mrs. Chas. H. Moffett, Mrs. R. C. Jarrett, Mrs. Milford Diller, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. McFarland.

Miss Hartt Hostess At Dinner Party
Miss Jane Hartt was a charming hostess last evening at a six o'clock dinner at her home on Lakeland road, given in compliment to Miss Mary Lydia Stebbins, who is leaving Sunday for Tampa to reside in the remainder of the summer.

The caterpillar for the dining table was a bowl of roses and carnations in lovely arrangement. The rooms were decorated with roses and summer garden flowers.

The evening was spent informally. Friends sharing the delightful affair with Miss Stebbins and the hostess were Miss Blanche McCord, Miss Dorothy McNichols, Miss Mary McNichols, Miss Dora E. Hughes, Miss Barbara Pitts, Miss Nancy Betts, Miss Jane Clements, Miss Elizabeth Hetherington, Miss Margaret Loomis and Miss Mary McCarthy.

NEW MANAGEMENT PARK THEATRE
AVON PARK, FLORIDA
Program for Week June 22-29
Today (SATURDAY) Only
DOUBLE FEATURE
10c to all
Kay Kyser
and his gang in
"That's Right
You're Wrong" also
"COWBOYS FROM TEXAS"

SUNDAY & MONDAY
Matinee starts at 2 p.m.
The House Across The Bay with
GEORGE RAFT
10c & 15c all day
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
Mickey Rooney
in
Young Tom Edison
10c & 15c all day

MAGIC of the VOICE
RCA of the SCREEN
NEW MANAGEMENT PARK THEATRE

UNION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Dr. A. C. Elliott, pastor
Sunday, June 23: Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. Topic for adults: "Honesty is the Best Policy." We have a class for you. Come, and bring the children.
Morning service of worship at 11:00 o'clock, when Dr. Elliott will speak on "A Divine Fellowship." The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Young People's Pivotal Fellowship at 7:00 p.m. Betty Moffett will lead the meeting and Ruth Wild will introduce the topic: "Religious Freedom in a Democracy." Young people will be cordially welcomed to this hour of fellowship.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the church on Wednesday at 3:00 p.m. The "Quiet Hour" service will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Forty-five minutes of praise, and prayer, with a brief address by the pastor.

The Senior Church Choir will meet for rehearsal at the church on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. R. Mingledorff, pastor
That was a wise thing Doctor Johnson said in his old age: "I have been resolving these fifty-five years: now I take hold on God. Let us begin the beginning of this new conference year, take hold on God and do the work he would have us do." Let us begin the beginning of this new conference year, take hold on God and do the work he would have us do.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH SERVICES
Holy Communion 7:30 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Morning Prayer and Sermon 10:00 a.m.
Richard I. Brown, rector

CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

Church Edifice
Corner Pine St.—Fairfield Ave.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Services 11:00 a.m.
Subject of Lesson, Sermon: "Man, He Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force."
The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Joe Cooke Van Dyke, minister
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Preaching 11:00 a.m.
"Following Jesus."
These will be Mr. Van Dyke's last two sermons here before leaving for two months of evangelistic work in Tennessee and Alabama. His wife and daughter will accompany him to Columbia, Tennessee where they are to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Locke. He and family are to return to

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Joe Cooke Van Dyke, minister
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Preaching 11:00 a.m.
"Following Jesus."
These will be Mr. Van Dyke's last two sermons here before leaving for two months of evangelistic work in Tennessee and Alabama. His wife and daughter will accompany him to Columbia, Tennessee where they are to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Locke. He and family are to return to

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Joe Cooke Van Dyke, minister
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Preaching 11:00 a.m.
"Following Jesus."
These will be Mr. Van Dyke's last two sermons here before leaving for two months of evangelistic work in Tennessee and Alabama. His wife and daughter will accompany him to Columbia, Tennessee where they are to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Locke. He and family are to return to

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Joe Cooke Van Dyke, minister
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Preaching 11:00 a.m.
"Following Jesus."
These will be Mr. Van Dyke's last two sermons here before leaving for two months of evangelistic work in Tennessee and Alabama. His wife and daughter will accompany him to Columbia, Tennessee where they are to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Locke. He and family are to return to

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Joe Cooke Van Dyke, minister
Bible School 10:00 a.m.
Preaching 11:00 a.m.
"Following Jesus."
These will be Mr. Van Dyke's last two sermons here before leaving for two months of evangelistic work in Tennessee and Alabama. His wife and daughter will accompany him to Columbia, Tennessee where they are to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Locke. He and family are to return to Avon Park the first of September.

The regular schedule of services will be conducted at the Church of Christ here throughout the summer. Different speakers will be heard from time to time. Welcome! Prayer meeting, Wed., 8:00 p.m.

Business Good In North Garber Finds
J. Paul Garber returned Tuesday from a business trip to Washington and Pittsburgh and other points in the north. He reports Washington to be a busy place, and prospects are that congress will remain in session indefinitely. Leaves have been cancelled for government employees "in many departments," he said, due to heavy work brought on by the government's defense plan and the war. Pittsburgh is a busy place, with plenty of steel orders, and everybody there is working money. Garber said.

"SAFETY" Is Insured by your local Druggists in the JACARANDA DRUG STORE

They carry out your Doctors orders as specified. And they fill ANY Doctors PRESCRIPTION.

S. S. THAYER, PHARMACIST
Mrs. C. H. Lewiston

FINAL NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

Dr. Irby of Haines City, a licensed veterinarian, will be in Avon Park Monday, July 1, all day at the fire station for the purpose of vaccinating dogs in the city as protection against rabies.

Many dog owners did not avail themselves of the opportunity recently offered, and this is positively the last chance. All dog owners are warned to have their dogs at the fire station on the above date, or else their dogs will be killed according to the provisions of the ordinance provided.

The fee charged for each dog will be 80 cents.
M. E. COVINGTON, Mayor
City of Avon Park, Florida

Health-building foods may turn like a boomerang, spoil and cause illness if not properly protected by modern Electric Refrigeration. The value of this service does not lie in dollars and cents but rather in the precious well-being of your loved ones. You need a dependable Electric Refrigerator this summer to save you money and protect your family's health.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION Provides CLEAN
SAFE
COLD
LOW COST
Protection

SEE YOUR DEALER
Florida Public Service COMPANY

W. M. RECK REGISTERED BROKER
REAL ESTATE IN ALL STATES
Resident Property Management
15 Southeast Avenue
Avon Park, Fla.
Dorothy McNichols

Ice-cold Coca-Cola is all pure refreshment. Its taste satisfies completely and a refreshed feeling follows that leaves you wanting nothing more.

5c Drink
Coca-Cola
Delicious and Refreshing

THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA CO. BY AVON PARK COCA COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

TRAILER

By VERA BROWN

CHAPTER XIV—Continued

As Lynn came down the staircase she looked abashedly young. Wild thought as he watched her descend. They went off down a winding path to the pool. There must have been twenty people gathered about, most of them with highbills. Wild took Lynn directly to his mother. She seemed so much younger than Lynn had imagined that the girl was startled.

"What in the world kept you two in town so long on a day like this?" demanded Mrs. Austin with a lovely smile for Lynn.

"I didn't get through work until 8:30, Mrs. Austin. I hope I didn't disturb things."

"Good girl!" thought Wild as he glanced down at his mother. First round to Lynn. Mrs. Austin looked speculatively at the girl.

"Why, she's lovely!" Mrs. Austin's heart contracted. She had had a hunch all along. Wild had been so different this Summer.

Mrs. Austin was a clever, charming woman and she adored her boy. She had seen one son make a disastrous marriage. She was determined that Wild would not be taken in the same way.

"This is my brother, Chuck. This is Lynn," Wild was saying. Other introductions followed.

"Come, we'll take a plunge," Wild led her to the pool.

Lynn slid over the edge of the pool. It was warm and she was swimming again. Wild took a running dive and was beside her.

"I'll teach you to be one of these days," he promised.

The others were calling to each other across the water. Lynn felt a little out of things, and then chided herself for her thoughts.

"After all, I am an outsider."

Mrs. Austin gave the signal shortly to everybody. It was time to dress for dinner.

Dinner seemed interminable. Lynn sat down the table with Wild, between his brother and a young man from Asheville. Coffee was served on the terrace. Then Mrs. and Austin suggested bridge. Of course Lynn did not play.

"Then that means one table's out, unless Wild will play," a pretty brunette mused.

"Chuck won't, you know how he is," Mrs. Austin apologized for her elder son.

"Please sit in, Wild!" begged a pretty brunette, whose name was Marie.

Wild came over to Lynn with a shrug. "I guess I'm such a Never mind. They won't keep me late. Will you mind taking to Chuck?"

Lynn did, very much to her surprise. She was clear to her Chuck was just as annoyed. But there was nothing to do but smile gracefully and accept the situation.

The five tables settled themselves and there was a talk about states which Lynn did not understand. She went out on to the terrace. The night was gorgeous. Chuck followed her, glaring at his mother.

"Well, here we are!" he announced.

"Yes, here we are!" Lynn laughed. He was so frankly annoyed.

"I don't mind just being here alone. Run along. Really, I mean it."

"Mother would be furious. I can't."

"All right. Then let's promise each other we don't have to be polite. We'll just sit and brood!"

CHAPTER XV

Chuck laughed in spite of himself. "You're a funny kid, a lot younger than I thought you'd be."

"I'm nineteen."

"A terrible age!"

"It is! I feel a hundred years old."

"I suppose it's not much fun being on your own."

"It is, though. Things are going so well for me. I'm a lucky girl. Chuck looked down at the white blur of her profile.

"I didn't suppose working girls like to work." He was quite sincere.

"There's where you're wrong. I've not had an easy time since I got out of high school. But it is wonderful when you feel secure, able to take care of yourself."

Chuck was a little abashed. He had not expected such candor.

"They'd come to a stone bench and Chuck sat down and lit a cigarette."

"What do you, 19, know about troubles?"

"I know what it means to be hungry, not to know where my next meal is coming from, where I'm going to sleep! That's trouble enough!"

"Are you serious? A pretty girl like you?"

"Certainly, I am! The trouble with people with money is that they hunt around to find something to be unhappy about. I see it in the stupidest of them. They really want to change places with me."

"What do you know about that?"

"I'm 33. My wife has left me for another man. I haven't seen my son in almost a year. But it is even worse when he is. He's using him for a settlement. Those are the hard facts. Everybody knows them."

you'll hear from the girls before you leave!"

"You sound as though you minded the gossip more than the loss of your father."

Chuck struck the bench with his hand. Lynn suddenly felt sorry for him, for it was plain he was suffering.

"That's a lie! I loved him! I suppose I still do. But God—when your wife runs off with your best friend! I did everything for her, everything! She never told anything until I married her."

How different Chuck was from Wild! "I wonder what she'd say!"

Lynn spoke her thoughts before she realized what she said.

"What do you mean?"

"That maybe a gorgeous home and money were not enough."

"What more could a woman want?"

"Companionship, sympathy, understanding. I'd die, I think, without them."

Nobody had ever before talked to the eldest son of the Austin millions like that.

"She had a string of pearls which had belonged to her mother."

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

"I imagine one might be very timely here, if one didn't belong."

"That isn't 'belonging'—it's 'adding'!" Chuck turned impatiently.

"She showed me how much she didn't belong."

"She left the pearls when she left?"

"No; she had the decency to leave them."

"You shouldn't complain then."

Chuck had a sudden desire to slap this impatient young person's face.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

The girl was telling Mr. Austin about the little Vermont town where she was born. And then Lynn began a long story about his afternoon's girl, of which Lynn understood hardly a word.

Wild realized suddenly how hard was for Lynn to talk to these people. They had to have a nice time Sunday and Monday.

Wild apologized: "I feel miserable about deserting you tonight."

"You needn't. I enjoyed myself."

"You must be tired. I'll see you break away early. There'll be dancing tomorrow night, and it will be late then."

When she finally went to her room, Marie North came along with her for a little chat. Lynn had the feeling that the girl was frankly curious about her and had promised to make a report to the rest.

"That's a grand trick," Marie remarked as Lynn hung up in the clothes closet.

"It's one of mine. Remember, I model for her, you know."

"It must be fun working, having freedom from your domestic family," Marie remarked.

When Marie had found out where Lynn lived in New York, and whether she liked posing for Boucher, she left.

NATIONAL PATTERN DEPARTMENT

Reviewed by CARTER FIELD

Now that the country is awake, tax legislation will be given a thorough over-haul. Military authorities always have been slow to admit fundamental changes in equipment.

(See Syndicate-WFU Service.)

WASHINGTON.—The new law measure is not just going to be the sort of a promise which had been indicated earlier. It is going to be the result of considerable study and investigation on the part of the congressional tax committee. Just a 10 per cent flat addition is out of the window. Senators and representatives interested in the tax situation pride themselves on their understanding of the problem and they don't like to have something, they are saying, which they can point with pride when the next session comes.

Then, too, the bill is not going to raise the mere seven hundred million dollars which President Roosevelt is asked twice that, not improbably a billion dollar bill on top of the present tax law.

There are two reasons for this. One is that the kind of expenditures necessary for national defense have been consistently underestimated. The other is that the kind of expenditures necessary for national defense have been consistently underestimated.

The point here is that plenty of people, including the President, the Senate, the House, the generals, and the senior members of the senate and house military and naval committees, know that the United States army and navy needed the spending of several billion dollars to bring them up to date.

AFRAID TO SPEAK.—But even so, though the point would stand for it. From the President down, all are afraid to begin with the next session, and the President down, all are afraid to begin with the next session, and the President down, all are afraid to begin with the next session.

It must be realized in this connection that the fiscal situation was already in a bad way, and with the inadequate national defense spending, the government was headed for financial disaster.

One who studied the situation knew that congress would have to impose additional taxes on the country. The 600 dollar limit also in the session to begin next January. But the President and the legislators figured on coasting until after the election was over.

Then came Norway and Denmark, with Holland and Belgium following, and the drive to the English channel on top of that. For the first time since Gettysburg there was real war in this country, as to whether this nation could go on being what it has been.

It is not so surprising to students of naval and military history that the navy suddenly discovers our battleships need better deck armor as a protection from airplanes, and that the navy suddenly discovers our battleships need better deck armor as a protection from airplanes, and that the navy suddenly discovers our battleships need better deck armor as a protection from airplanes.

Last 8 Days of Abrams'

FINAL SALE

Everything Going!

ABRAMS QUITTING BUSINESS

Further reductions to close out everything are offered to you. No replacements as store will close Saturday, June 29. So Hurry and Save by Buying at Cost and Below Cost. This is Positively the Last Opportunity. A Few Items Are Listed Below:

Give Away Prices!

$1.45 TO $1.65 MEN'S

Dress Shirts

FANCY AND SOLID BROADCLOTHS
ALL SIZES—COMPLETE SELECTION
LAST CALL!

99c

$1 Dress Shirts

FAST COLOR BROADCLOTHS and PRINTS
While They Last

79c

TWO for $1.49

MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

By MANHATTAN — LAST CALL

77c

TWO for $1.49

MEN'S SLACK SUITS

CHOICE SELECTION — VALUES TO $4.95

$2.69

ANY MEN'S

Straw Hat

IN STORE — REGARDLESS OF COST

79c

Ladies' Millinery

REGARDLESS OF COST OR SALE PRICE
LAST CHOICE, ANY LOT

49c

Ladies' Purses and Handbags

GOOD ASSORTMENT

79c

TWO for $1.50

ONE LOT MEN'S WHIPCORD BUTTON LEG

Riding Trousers

REGULAR $1.98 to $2.45
While They Last, Each

$1.19

Close Out of Dresses!

Silks, Rayons and Wash Dresses for Summer—They All Must Go

ONE LOT OF

Silk Dresses

WHILE THEY LAST

$2.87

TWO for $5.00

CHOICE WASHABLE

COTTON AND

Rayon Dresses

$2.39

TWO for $3.95

ONE LOT SMART

Cotton Dresses

LAST CALL—TAKE YOUR CHOICE

$1.59

TWO for $2.59

ONE LOT OF

Wash Dresses

AND HOUSE COATS
TO GO AT REGULAR SALE PRICE.
GET SECOND DRESS FOR

$1.00

Two Racks Dresses 2 for $1

VALUES TO $1.98 — INCLUDED ARE PLAY SUITS AND CULOTTES — WHILE THEY LAST

SPECIAL

ONE LOT CHILDREN'S AND LADIES'

Sweaters

Values to $2.98While
They Last, Each

49c

ALL LEATHER

Orange Picker Special

Work Gloves

TWO PAIR

$1.39

ONE TABLE LOT

Ladies' Shoes

CLOSING OUT AT

59c

2

PAIRS FOR

ONE TABLE LOT

Slacks, Sweaters and Blouses

$1.00 to $2.00 VALUES — CHOICE

59c

Work Clothes

At Lowest Prices! Only Few Days
Left to Buy These Extra Bargains

Friendly Five Shoes

FOR MEN. $5.00 and $6.00 QUALITY
WHILE THEY LAST, PAIR

$3.79

TWO for $7.00

$4.00 and $4.40 FORTUNE

Dress and Sport Shoes

YOUR CHOICE, PAIR

$2.99

TWO for $5.49

ONE LOT MEN'S

Work Shoes

HIGH TOPS—$1.95 to $2.45 REGULAR
LAST CALL — WHILE THEY LAST, PAIR

$1.00

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Tennis Shoes

CREPE SOLES—PAIR

77c

TWO PAIRS $1.39

HIGH TOP 16 INCH

Men's Boots

A FEW PAIRS LEFT—VALUES TO $6.50

LAST CALL—PAIR

$2.99

$1.98 MEN'S

Wash Trousers

ON SALE NOW AT $1.39 — LAST CALL, PAIR

99c

ALL MEN'S

Dress Trousers

AT MARKED SALE PRICES

GET SECOND PAIR FOR

$1.00

(Regardless of Price.)

Fixtures Go Too!

A few Tables For Sale
Cash Register and Cabinets Cheap!One Lot CHILDREN'S SHOES, None Reserved.
So Buy and Save. Priced Below Cost.These Prices Are Lower Than Merchants Can Purchase at Wholesale. You Get the Savings!

Abrams

AVON PARK, FLORIDA

NOTHING RESERVED—Make us an offer.
No Reasonable Offer Refused.YOUR LAST CHANCE to buy from ABRAMS.
We're Closing Our Doors — Goodbye, Forever!Gas T Should Build

VOLUME

Lea
Pac
To

The Leafs series with week that w
effect on st clubs. This two teams
in the season
test of streng been knocked
by Port Mo
weakening.
been stendi
Leafs posit
they have a Frostproof
in runner-up Morando. Two games woul
tie with P sweep the mighty clou Doubtless

The series with a dou
game start lis and Bill
the two gam
this season.
Stephens, straight th
signed to p will pitch enriching a sold today
ably work Morando. In against Wi in the first 3 to 2 the met.

Leafs w Arion Fur action in Thursday
the box nose pitch
Only at five of th
all corner
four runs,
by Partr counted. I gave the
the ball g great deal round kno the fact t duted to just as v
There wa
the outco

Ken W
the Leafs game in sils, who and was scored o
when a f gives gav run.

In the ross sta drive ov
Trowick
Landres right at ball rol wick co right a out to left, bu
Bill St
er's ch singled one.

After Leafs inning ball.
was st
Carr went scored deep Four team, death
and Slept the safe

Lanc
Tray
J. 39
Mac
Vill
How Mul
E. 3
Burr Car

Tot

Mc To Mc
Pi
Pi
Mc
Mc
Vi
H
N
Pi

T

P

P

P

P