Sharpen Tools

To save the gardener's back and make old tools work easily, sharpen them and keep them sharp all season. For general sharpening, have an 8 or 10 inch file, a whetstone, and possibly an emery wheel. The most useful whetstone is made of carborundum with one side fine and one coarse. When sharpening a blade, push it one way only, and stroke the full length of the stone. After each using, dirt should be cleaned off tools to make them work better and last longer.

Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Surplus Property Sales

Sweeping revision of surplus property regulations in favor of World War II veterans has been announced by W. Stuart Symington, administrator, after a personal investigation which indicated that some disposal agencies were giving veterans "the run-around."

The changes include elimination of the $2,500 limit on preferential purchases and within reasonable amounts, there will be no limit;

Permission for a veteran entering the retail business to purchase an initial stock of goods for resale. Hitherto, under interpretation of the G.I. bill, a veteran could buy materials to establish a store, but could not obtain preference on stock for sale;

Permission for veterans to deal directly with disposal agencies such as the department of commerce and Reconstruction Finance corporation;

Special permission for veterans to buy automotive or other equipment required by his employment. It is said that few autos are available, however;

Provision that credit may be extended to veterans under terms and conditions established by the disposal agency which sells the goods. Thus, it will be possible for veterans to obtain loans from commerce department and RFC as well as the Smaller War Plants corporation. Information now is that the RFC will soon take over all disposal from the commerce department, which only recently assumed sale of consumer goods from treasury.

Questions and Answers

Q. When my twin brother entered the service he designated me beneficiary of his insurance. After a hasty marriage he made, he informed me and my parents he had not and had no intention of changing the beneficiary. After his death I was notified by the insurance department that I was his beneficiary. His wife has made some sort of claim for the insurance and has held up settlement for 16 months. Can anyone but the insured change the beneficiary or can the insurance department decide who is to get it?—J. F. K., Palo Alto, Calif.

A. No one can change the beneficiary but the insured. If you are named the beneficiary in the policy, then you are entitled to the insurance and the Veterans administration says the wife or no one else can hold it up 16 minutes. File your claim for the insurance with the Veterans administration.

Q. With reference to sale of government surplus property and the $2,500 amount sold to an individual, I am much interested in further details on this matter and any information relative to location of these surplus property boards will be much appreciated.—J. A. V., Hingham, Mont.

A. The $2,500 limit has recently been removed. Your nearest Smaller War Plants Board is at Boise, Idaho, 210 Capital Securities Bldg. Your nearest department of commerce board is at Denver, Region Nine, 1030 15th street. Suggest you write to these boards for further details.

Q. I want to know if a man 27 years old, who has been in the navy almost two years and has two kids, the eldest four years and the baby can't walk, can get a discharge on this condition soon.—Wife, Coweta, Okla.

A. No, the minimum number of navy points for enlisted personnel as of November 1 is 41 points. From your letter, your husband has only about 38 points, if he has had no overseas duty.

Q. My husband is a seaman in the navy. I have asked assistance of the Red Cross to pay my hospital bill for an operation. They said "No" and recommended the Navy Relief. I wrote them stating conditions; their answer was to loan me the money until I could work to pay it back. Wasn't I entitled to medical care?—Mrs. E. D., Taylorville, N.C.

A. The navy department says you were definitely entitled to medical care if you applied to the navy medical dispensary before your operation. Suggest you apply to the nearest medical dispensary and they will inform you as to your status.

Q. I was discharged from the navy under honorable conditions. The discharge reads, BuPers-BuMed Joint Ltr." Could you please tell me what this means?—R. J. A., Hawthorne, Calif.

A. It means Bureau of Personnel-Bureau of Medics Joint Letter, the authority under which your discharge was given.

Q. Is it true if a boy enlists in the navy reserve at 17, that he is automatically released one day preceding his 21st birthday?—Mrs. E. R. M., Tule Lake, Calif.

A. The navy department says yes.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Business of Being an American

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

It means saying to the ambitious boy, "we can give you your year or two of medical school, anyway."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

EVERY woman who manages a house and a family knows the value of a plan.

No matter how tangled the problem is, if she can sit down with a pencil and paper and plan it all out, she feels a great relief in her troubled soul, and she knows all will go well.

Perhaps her plan runs something like this. "Dave and Mary come down with Joe in his car. Susan is coming with Aunt Alice. The Fosters will have the guest room. Alice comes in with me, the two children on cots in the old playroom—" and so on.

Or perhaps, it is this sort of planning; "I'll combine celery and have a good soup—that's Saturday night, and with the corned beef hash and cabbage and biscuits that'll do for supper. That leaves all those sausages for Sunday morning—and a picnic lunch. Well, now I have only to make a dessert or two and I'm all fixed."

And so with the children's school outfits. And so with the proposed visit to the mountains or the seaside. Think it all out, settle the details, tell everyone just what he or she has to do—and all anxiety and uncertainty are gone.

World Problems to Solve.

Now we have a bigger job than week-end meals or picnic and house-party plans to work on. Now we have world problems of feeding and housing to settle.

"World problems!" We are accustomed to this phrase now, and we dismiss it as too big to handle. It dimly means straitened markets at home, great ships loaded with medicine and food moving to foreign ports, hordes of hungry, frightened, homeless folk waiting for that food.

We have nervous sense that this winter will be hard on us all, but that we'll weather it. And then afterward—

The "then afterward" is what ought to concern us now. We'll get through this winter on limited meat and fuel; we'll get through the next and the next, and we'll slowly work our way out to that prosperity and plenty that nothing can keep away from us.

But then? Then comes the time when everyone will want a little money. Ten thousand, 12 thousand, 20 thousand dollars in 1950 are going to spell the simple word "fortune." Opportunities will be everywhere; you may have what you want in 1950, if you plan for it today.

To buy things now—homes, furniture, rugs, cars, is not thrifty, because of high prices and scarcities. Also, qualities are not what they were, and what they will be again. But to get through these next few years quietly, thriftily, means that you can buy that hillside farm, with the oaks and the creek, some day. It means saying to the ambitious boy, "we can give you your first year or two of medical school, anyway." It means an investment in some growing industry that will bring you and your husband a comfortable and secure old age. It may mean travel. It may mean helping a beloved daughter through the hard years when her nursery is small. Money is going to be just as important to you in 1950 as it is today, and worth twice as much.

Invest in Government Bonds.

My answer to this problem is to invest in the last government bonds; the bonds that mean victory, rehabilitation, the beginning of a new world. This is not government propaganda; I have not been asked to do it. I am saying it because I consider it an extraordinary opportunity. If in the dark war years there was ever a question as to how America was going to come out of this world agony, there is no question now. She has emerged gloriously, convincingly, unequivocally on top. We who bought bonds when German buzz bombs were besieging London, when Japanese suicide planes were sinking our ships, may have shown some little faith and patriotism in the act.

But not now. Now there is no doubt that an investment in America, as she makes her last great effort to clean up the remains of the war ruins everywhere, and get her own wheels started again, is the safest investment in the world. When I say save, and scrimp if you must, and cut down, and sacrifice—but lay away victory bonds, and bonds, and bonds," I am talking not for America, not even for the soldiers and sailors and airmen for whose benefit this great drive is opened, but for you—yourself—and those you love, and your brighter tomorrow.

FOR A HAPPY FUTURE

Although the war is over, many grave problems remain with us. We can't do much about the hardships of Europe or Asia, excepting to contribute what we can to relief agencies. But in our own sphere, we can do a lot.

Shortages will be with us for some time. Fuel and clothing will not be plentiful this winter. Some foods will still be hard to get. Nevertheless, there should be no real suffering in this country, and we can look forward to a better year than we have had in a long time.

This is a time to think of the future. Right now most people have considerable money saved up and they have good jobs. There is a great temptation, now that the restrictions of war are being removed, to go out and buy all those things you have had to do without for so long, even though prices are high and quality poor. The time for sacrifice and doing without is not yet over, Miss Norris warns. This is the great opportunity to put away a tidy sum for the next few years.

The best investment, aside from any patriotic motives, is in government bonds, Miss Norris says. For safety and high yield these victory issues cannot be rivaled. Every one should buy all he can to assure a happy future.

Save for a brighter tomorrow.

TASTIER SCHOOL LUNCHES

School days mean lunch-box days. Here are some suggestions to make lunches "go over in a big way."

Use enough waxed paper to cover sandwiches, fruit and cake completely so that the food does not dry out. And use paper cups with lids to keep raw vegetables crisp.

To keep lettuce from wilting long before lunchtime, wash the leaves, dry them well, and wrap them separately in waxed paper. Then the leaves can be added to the sandwich just before eating.

Nucleus of Atom Provides Great Energy

Light and other manifestations of atomic energy are produced in two ways, points out the Better Vision Institute. Ordinarily such energy is released through disturbances of the electrons, negative charges of electricity which revolve around the nucleus of atoms. The nucleus, composed of protons which are positively charged and neutrons which are electrically neutral, is not affected when electrons are torn away from the atom, as when wood burns or chemical action takes place. Under ordinary conditions the atomic nucleus is very stable and resists change.

However, when an atom is smashed the nucleus is broken up. Since most of the energy in an atom resides in the nucleus, tremendous amounts of energy are released when atoms are smashed. The sun's energy arises from atom smashing If its energy came from simple electronic changes, as in the burning of wood, the sun would have become cold and dark long ago. But because it obtains the bulk of its energy from the interior of atoms, it will shine and provide light for human needs millions upon millions of years in the future before all its energy is dissipated.

Fat and Lye Foundation For Uncooked Soup

For making uncooked soap, use 6 pounds of fat with 2½ pints of cold water, and 1 can of lye will make about 9 pounds of soap. Six pounds of fat is equal to 13½ standard measuring cups of liquid fat.

Pour water into a small enamel, stone or glass container. Dissolve the lye in the water, stirring with a wooden spoon or paddle until dissolved. Mix in a well ventilated room but not in a breeze. Let the lye water cool until the container feels cool to the hand. Melt the fat in an enameled pan and stir with an enameled spoon or a wooden paddle. Cool the fat to the correct temperature throughout the pan.

Cool the fat until the spoon begins to leave a track in the mixture. Pour the lye solution into the fat in a small, steady stream, stirring slowly in one direction. Continue stirring until the mixture is a honey-like texture. Let it stand for 10 to 15 minutes until the mixture becomes thick like salad dressing and then pour into molds or wooden boxes, lined with waxed paper. After 24 hours it is ready to cut. Cure soap for several weeks before using and never let it freeze.

Ripe Vegetables

The following tips are of quality and should aid the home gardener in making good selections at harvest for table use.

Snap beans should be full, tender and snap readily; beets, smooth and medium size with the tops being well grown and free from discoloration; cabbages, solid, firm and fresh green color; carrots, medium size, orange flesh, fine grained, brittle and of medium flavor; celery, medium length, thickness and solidity; corn, fresh green; kernels milky and well filled; head lettuce, crisp, tender, firm and well formed; peas, bright green color, pods full but not too round; radishes, center leaves green and crisp with root firm fleshed; spinach, clean, dark green tender leaves, not coarse; summer squash, firm bright color, skin tender and easily bruised; tomatoes, uniform deep red color; vine ripe; turnips, firm, smooth, with few fibrous roots; cantaloupes, ripe when it separates from stem easily; watermelon, scratch with fingernail; ripe if outer green peels easily.

Fluff Wool Blankets

When washing blankets and bed spreads, textile specialists of the department of agriculture suggest special care in brushing up the nap or fluffy surface of cotton chenille spreads and wool blankets. The nap on chenille spreads may be fluffed by shaking them occasionally as they dry on the line and rubbing briskly with the hand or a soft brush. Give them a final rub after they are dry. Never use a stiff brush because it is likely to pull out some of the chenille. To raise the nap on wool blankets, however, a clean, stiff broom is recommended, but the brushing must be done after the blanket is thoroughly dry. Wool is weak when wet and must be handled carefully. When dry, brushing will not damage the blanket, and fluffing the surface will add much to its warmth.

Seed Pellets

Plastic, artificial coatings applied to seeds are a new research development for conserving farm labor and increasing crop yields. The first experiments were made with sugar beet clusters of seed. When planted, clusters of seedlings come up which have to be thinned by hand. Modern research has discovered how to "segment" the seed clusters so as to separate individual seeds. But these individual seeds are of such irregular shapes that they cannot be planted evenly. Further research led to discovery that irregularly shaped seeds can be rolled into spherical "pills" with a plastic coating that resembles the seed coat in water-absorbing qualities, does not interfere with germination, and permits planting with mathematical accuracy.

Best Suds

Don't use too much soap. A suds about two inches thick has proven best for washing clothes clean.

Elementary Supervisor Visits School

Mrs. Maude Yawn, supervisor of elementary schools in the county, has been spending several days in Avon Park, and expresses herself as well pleased with the general improvements in the school. She thinks the school curriculum is quite high, and approves of the daily schedule, as it has been worked out by the faculty.

Mrs. Yawn said she was especially gratified with the school lunch room, where between four and five hundred school students and faculty members, are being fed daily. The menus are checked by federal pattern by the Home Economical teacher, and furnish one-third of the child's daily nutritional requirements, she said. The personnel of the lunch room consists of four full-time women, including the manager, and three full-time colored women. The teachers act as cashiers, high school girls as checkers, and ten school children assist in clearing the tables, Mrs. Yawn said.

County Collects About $15,000 In War Fund Drive

Approximately $15,000 was contributed during the War Fund drive held in Highlands County, it was announced yesterday by Chairman Allen Altvater. The exact totals were not compiled for publication yesterday afternoon.

In a telegram received by Mr. Altvater from Mildred Caldwell, chairman of the National War Fund Florida Division, she stated that the county drive should be closed as soon as possible.

The telegram reads as follows: "Need for successful conclusion of your National War Fund campaign made more urgent in recent request from General MacArthur for eighty additional USO Camp Show units to be sent into Pacific to entertain troops in occupation of Japan and elsewhere. Also need for USO services adjacent to some five hundred veterans hospitals. Sincerely hope you and committee will bring your county campaign to total victory at earliest possible date."

Public Library To Observe Book Week, Nov. 11-17

"Book Week — Gate to the Future."

Again this year our country will celebrate from coast to coast Book Week, Nov. 11-17 The slogan, "United Thru Books," presents a real challenge to all of those who are interested in good reading for children and adults.

Book week always looks to the future, and this year it becomes even more clear that the future of books will involve all the world of tomorrow. To give our children — and the children all over the world — the right books is the surest way to climb over the false barriers, political, racial, economic and religious, into a free world where all people enjoy life more fully.

The public library will have a special display of children's books at the library during Book Week.

Christmas Seal Sale Aids Fight In Tuberculosis

There is no place for complacency regarding the tuberculosis problem in the United States, warns the U. S. Public Health Service in stating that the insidious disease still is killing 57,000 Americans a year, at the rate of one person every nine minutes.

While men in fighting armies run high risk of contracting tuberculosis, the bacillus draws no distinction between men on the firing line and the families back home. It draws its victims from both groups.

The cost of caring for tuberculosis veterans of the first World War is estimated at about one billion dollars. This estimate includes hospitalization, vocational training, compensation and insurance and represents an average of about $10,000 for each tuberculousis veteran.

Improved methods in the detection of tuberculosis and the careful examination of all recruits for military service in World War II have made possible the screening out of all candidates with evidence of the disease. Thesefore, the number of tuberculosis cases among veterans of the war just closed should be much lower, proportionately, than among veterans of the first World War.

While the Veterans Administration takes care of former soldiers afflicted with tuberculosis, the civilian has to look elsewhere for help, and here the National Tuberculosis Association provides great help through funds raised by the annual Christmas Seal Sale. These funds go largely to help victims who cannot help themselves. It is practically impossible for a victim to take the rest and treatment and still earn a living. If his means are limited he is faced with a fatal choice. It is for these people that every seal bought helps to guarantee a chance to live.

Clayton Cox Takes Insurance Agency Here

Clayton Cox, who was discharged from the Army September 29, has taken the agency for Peninsular Insurance company here, succeeding E. L. Leighton, who has been transferred to Lakeland. Cox left Avon Park with the National Guard unit in 1940. He saw action in France on D-Day, and later served with the Third, Ninth and Seventh armies in France, Belgium and Germany.

Accidents Cause Five Times As Many Deaths As Disease

There were five times as many deaths from accidental causes in Highlands county in the first six months this year as there were from disease, according to J. Lee Brown, safety consultant of the Florida Safety Council, who was in the county this week. Mr. Brown visited the schools and made arrangements for safety speakers to appear before students November 15 and in the evening to speak at the PTA meeting. They will endeavor to arouse the consciousness of the people to be more careful in driving, in their homes and farms.

Highlands county's record, taken from the Bureau of Vital Statistics, show deaths from all types of disease for the first six months of 1945 to be five. Deaths by accident for the same period was 25. Figures show that one out of every 510 persons in the county were killed by accident, and there are 35 accidents to every death, Brown said.

In the crucial years that are now behind us, America has shown the world what a people united can do. Farmers, factory workers, management, transportation men—all have performed magnificently in the job of bringing final victory.

The railroads of the country have demonstrated anew their worth in war. They are equally indispensable to the pursuits of peace. In the future, as in the past, Seaboard Air Line Railway will strive in every way to provide the superior brand of transportation demanded by the public. In doing so, we ask only to be accorded the fair play that is traditionally American—an open field for all and special privileges to none.

The spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding which characterised our war effort, if carried over into the years of peace ahead, will bring us the most satisfying prosperity America has ever known. It is in this spirit—and with the sincere desire to work with our friends and neighbors for the common good—that Seaboard looks to the future.

Dog Patchers Get Hep At Sadie Hawkins Party

Dog Patchers turned out in traditional style at the Sadie Hawkins day party held in the band room Saturday evening, the delightful affair being sponsored by the senior class. It proved a great day for Dog Patch, with Marrying Sam on hand to promote marriages among the kith and kin, as well as the other Dog Patch folks, who wanted to get "hitched up." Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner, and whimisical Mammy and Pappy Yokum as well as the other beloved characters of this popular comic strip, attended in regalia, typical of the characters they represented.

Prizes for the most typically dressed were won by Blue Head as Daisy Mae, and Fred Montsdeoca as L'il Abner. Statute prizes were awarded to David Foster and Marie Basemore, and the jitterbug prizes went to Betty Dye and Maurice Talbert. Marie Basemore was mistress of ceremonies for the evening. The high school colors of red and white were predominant in the decorations in the band room. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening. Refreshments of coca-colas were served.

About seventy-five high school co-eds attended the party. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dye, Mrs. H. T. Wingate, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Garber, and A. B. Wilhite.

Letha Talbert And F-O Bertha Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Talbert announce the engagement of their daughter, Letha to Flight Officer Walker G. Bertha, son of Mrs. Agnes B. Bertha of Braddock, Pa. The date of the wedding is indefinite, but will probably be soon after the graduation of Miss Talbert from Avon Park high in the spring.

Miss Talbert, a native of Pennsylvania came to Avon Park with her parents in 1938. She is a member of this year's graduating class.

F/O Bertha entered the service in August 1943. He recieved his commission at the Army Air Forces Navigation School in San Marcos, Texas. He was transferred to APAAF for overseas training, and it was while he was in Avon Park that the romance began.

The couple plan on making their home in New York city after their marriage.

Woman's Club Has Business Meeting Friday

Mrs. Chas. F. Kenney, president of the Avon Park Woman's Club presided at the November business meeting of the organization on Friday afternoon. The report of the Hallowe'en carnival committee was heard, and it revealed a splendid contribution to the club treasury. It was noted that the carnival was a successful affair from a standpoint of furnishing a diversion for the community, as well as for the many children who took part in the costume parade.

The planned program for the afternoon was postponed, due to the club meeting date coming so near to the recent conference of district nine, FFWC, which was held in Avon Park on Wednesday.

Methodist Class Has Supper Meeting Monday

The Woman's Friendship Bible class of the First Methodist Church enjoyed their monthly supper meeting at the Hut on Monday evening. Following the delicious supper, Mrs. T. O. Martin, class president, presided at the business meeting.

Plans were made for holding the annual class Christmas party on Monday, Dec. 3. Mrs. H. C. Bigbie, Mrs. W. S. Rawlings and Mrs. I. W. Chandler were appointed a committee on food for the supper, and Mrs. S. C. Pardee, Mrs. C. F. Catlin, and Mrs. B. H. Hagan were named on the committee for the table arrangements.

Those present included Mrs. J. H. Kirkwood, Mrs. T. O. Martin, Mrs. H. C. Bigbie, Mrs. G. B. Hall, Mrs. Laura Hall, Mrs. C. H. Pardee, Mrs. S. C. Pardee, Mrs. Estelle Sonneman, Mrs. B. H. Hagan, Mrs. B. F. Willson, Mrs. Edward Hammond, Mrs. A. McKee Elwell, Mrs. I. W. Chandler, Miss Furlow Anderson, Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Mullen, Mrs. I. L. Hall, Mrs. W. T. Gresham, Mrs. Lisenby, Mrs. W. S. Rawlings, Mrs. J. E. Dison and Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Miss Myers Hostess At Dessert Bridge Tuesday Evening

Miss Mildred Myers entertained the Sans Souci club and several other guests at a lovely party at the Customers Room on Tuesday evening. In accent of the fall season, attractive arrangements of red and golden tinted crotons decorated the room. The dainty dessert course served before the games, consisted of cocoanut chiffon pie and coffee.

The Thanksgiving motif prevailed in the bridge appointments, the tallies and scorepads, revealing a pumpkin design. Three tables were in play during the evening, high score club prize being awarded to Mrs. Martha Allen. Second high was won by Miss Pearl Hitt. Both prizes were Defense Stamps. The guest high award, a vase, was given to Mrs. L. S. Moody.

Club members and guests sharing the evening included Mrs. Josephine Johnson, Mrs. Raymond Dilley, Mrs. C. R. Ginn, Jr., Mrs. Freed Peden, Mrs. A. B. Wilhite, Miss Alma Harrell, Mrs. Martha Allen, Miss Pearl Hitt, Mrs. Ben T. Stewart, Mrs. L. S. Moody, Mrs. R. H. Bovell, and Mrs. Mary Holcomb.

Legion Auxiliary To Have Supper Meeting Monday

New members of the American Legion Auxillary will be initiated at a supper meeting of the organization to be held at the Legion Home, Monday evening, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The membership of the unit has been divided into two sides, the reds and the blues, and a spirited attendance contest is being conducted. Members are requested to bring their gifts for the Veterans Christmas Joy Shops at Lake City and Bay Pines, to the meeting.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

SERVING AMERICA'S NEW FRONTIER

The South Can Produce

INFORMATIVE and more than a little heartening are the figures disclosed by T. M. Healy on the wartime carloadings of freight in the Southeast. Mr. Healy, district manager of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads, told the Southeast Shippers' Advisory Board here that "During the past few years industry and transportation in the Southeast, through co-operative energy, have successfully penetrated an entirely new era and fulfilled all assignments."

The figures cited by Mr. Healy speak themselves the achievement of the region, but they do more than that. They point to an industrial direction which the Southeast may find it economically feasible to continue along.

For example, the loading of canned goods in the Southeast in 1939 was only 8,386 cars. But the needs of fighting forces and others forced the region to demonstrate that it could increase production of canned goods sharply. By 1944, expansion of that industry in the Southeast brought the total loadings to 23,303 cars, and last year they rose to 44,295. Canning could prove a highly profitable field for Georgia if farmers would attempt to grow products properly for that purpose.

The pulp and paper industry has made strides in seven-league boots in recent years. There is no reason why it should not continue to do so.

Loadings of pulp, paper and products averaged 93,831 cars a year in the Southeast during the four war years; in 1939, the loadings totaled only 77,390.

Carloadings of grain and grain products in the region rose from 56,029 cars in 1939 to 81,184 in 1944.

The Southeast has evidenced eloquently its ability to produce. • • •

And lest it be overlooked, let us also give due credit to the railroads of the region for an outstanding wartime performance in the face of many handicaps. The railroads, too, have learned that they can turn out better than a fair to middling job.

Editorial from THE ATLANTA JOURNAL

Thunderhead

MARY O'HARA

W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Thunderhead is the only white horse ever foaled on the Goose Bar ranch in Wyoming. He resembles his great grandsire, a wild stallion called the Albino. His 13-year-old owner hopes Thunderhead will develop into a racer because of his remarkable speed. Plans for entering him in a fall race meet are uncertain, however, because Thunderhead is difficult to manage. Rob McLaughlin, Ken's father, has to sell some of his horses to raise cash. They bring poor prices. At the auction in Denver Rob meets an eastern horse buyer, who tells him of opportunities at Doc Horner's sales in Pennsylvania. Rob ships 48 horses to the sale. Howard, Ken's brother, goes east to school.

CHAPTER XVIII

Rob was trying to make himself heard. "If you will have it," he said, "I lost my shirt."

"That's what he was saying to Charley," insisted Bess Gifford. "And I can't see what they go on raising horses for—"

"Just for the fun of giving 'em away," said Charley, "or seeing 'em lose on the race track."

"Did you really, Rob?" asked Genevieve Scott.

"I did," said Rob grinning. "Who could have done it but me? I hit that sale with two carloads of horses just when the Argentine polo players were unloading their stuff before they left the States. Their horses sold for fabulous prices. American horses sold for a song."

Nell sat very still. That was the way he had chosen to tell her. Easier on him than to tell it seriously when they were alone together. Easier on her too.

Rodney Scott hit his head with his fist. "And he owes me money!" he exclaimed.

"Owe you money!" scoffed Rob, "and how many others! But I'm serving you all notice. No bills going to be paid!"

Nell's eyes widened and flew to Rob's. Was it that bad? It couldn't be— Surely, even if he had had to sacrifice the horses for the lowest prices, with two carloads, there would be enough realized to pay their bills—

Her eyes held a definite question. For the first time Rob met her gaze directly and his hard expression gave her a definite answer. Her eyelids fell. It was true. A disaster. But she didn't care. Money—what did it have to do with them?

While the hilarious and senseless talk criss-crossed the table, Nell listened to the music. An orchestra and Arthur Rubinstein were playing a Rachmaninoff concerto. The broad, impassioned crescendos entered into her blood. So men could feel that way too. It had been composed by a man. It was being played by men. It was the way she felt. Was it the way Rob felt too?

At some time during the evening someone announced that it was snowing, and the men went out and closed the windows of their cars. Gus kept bringing in logs for the fireplaces and bowls of glogg. It was too late and the weather was too bad for anyone to think of driving back to Laramie that night. Nell went into the downstairs bedroom to be sure there was oil in the lamps. Striking a match and shielding the flickering wisp of flame, she suddenly saw another hand resting on the table before her. She could not mistake that hand—the hard power of it—the significance—

The flame went out. The hand closed around hers, completely engulfing it. Her hand was lifted and the palm was kissed twice, then dropped.

Trembling all over she found and struck another match. She was alone in the room.

She lit the lamp and stood trying to pull herself together. She looked at the palm of her hand as if she could see upon it the imprint of that violent caress which had been able to turn all the blood in her body into fire.

She would stand there until her trembling stopped and her heart quieted down.

She looked at her hand again and again. She laid it upon her cheek. She wondered if, when she returned to the living room, the mark of it could be seen reflected in her eyes, on her lips, in her smile, in everything she said, for the kiss continued to burn in her. She could not get it out.

In the morning the men were up early, digging out their cars and putting on chains, while the women got breakfast.

They left immediately after, and Rob paused to kiss her and say—this time without even a glance into her eyes, "I've got to go back to Laramie with them—some business to attend to. I'll be home soon. I'll wire you, and you can drive down and get me."

The past week had been almost as hard on Nell—on appetite and nerves and sleep—as the weeks before, and she was thin and strained. But she dressed very carefully in a six-year-old suit of green tweed and a felt beret of the same shade. The fever that was in her lit her face with color and quickness. Her iris-colored eyes darted in every direction. Her lips were tremulous. She laughed a great deal. When she took off her jacket and sat there in her thin close-fitting yellow sweater she looked like herself again, bright and young. Rob had very little to say. She had to make conversation and did not know how much she dared ask. "Was it true—about the horses—what you told them at dinner the other night?"

"Yes. I couldn't have chosen a worse time."

"I'm sorry, Rob." She hesitated and dropped her eyes as she said it. "About our debts too? That we can't pay them?"

"We can't pay them."

"And the five - thousand - dollar note?"

"Not that either. That's what I've been doing this week—getting all these things settled. Extensions on the loans and notes, arrangements with our creditors."

This week perhaps, she thought as she cut her lamb chop, but what about last week and the week before? And why couldn't you have been living at home, driving down here in the daytime to attend to banking business as you always have before? But none of this worried her since Rob's visit of a week ago. As long as he loved her—That minute in the dark when he had taken her hand and kissed it! And, too, his absence was explained by the fact that the sale had been a failure and he dreaded to come home and tell her so. There you are, simply sitting back and waiting for the crash—so that you can pick up the pieces. She couldn't blame him.

"I have thought of something we could do to make the ranch pay."

"Tell me about Howard," she said, since he had no intention of talking about the sale. She didn't know yet what the size of the check had been. Wasn't he even going to tell her that?

While he talked about Howard and the school, her mind was divided into several parts, listening, pursuing its own course of reflection and analysis, and observing closely.

It wasn't only the hand that had made her sure again of his love. It was having found Gus mending the sleigh in the loft over the stable. And he confessed that Rob had brought it from Denver in the truck and that it was to be a present for her, and that he was to say nothing about it.

Not only the hand and the sleigh, but the monkey tree too. Riding one afternoon, she had come upon a big monkey tree around which a trench had been dug.

So! He had been doing things for her—thinking of her pleasure—all the time he was neglecting her and nearly killing her with unhappiness and anxiety. She almost burst out laughing. She almost said, How exactly like you, Rob! But Oh, how—how could all this misery and unrest be wiped out between them! How could they get really married and at peace together again?

While she was observing his appearance and thinking about that she told him of Ken's trip to the "Valley of the Eagles," where he had found Thunderhead, and seen the Albino and his herd of mares.

Dressed in one of the well cared for tweed business suits which he wore so well no matter how old they were, and sitting opposite her at the table in the Mountain Hotel grill, he seemed merely like someone she knew. Waves of almost delirious impatience went through her every few minutes. What a horrible state of affairs—that you did not feel even as intimate and at peace with your husband as you had when you were engaged to him. Married all these years, a sixteen-year-old son, and again filled with the excitement and passion and frustration and fever of the very first days—only much worse.

It was not only his aloof manner; there was a deeper change in Rob. His face was hard, he kept his own counsel, he held her at arm's length—all that she could understand. But something baffled her. There had been some blow upon his spirit and it had struck him down. Some of his vital flame was quenched. That sale! She had to bend her head over her plate to conceal her face as she vividly imagined the agony it must have been to him as one after the other of his cherished horses went under the hammer for a fraction of their worth. And they were the accumulation of many years of grueling work. The ranch was stripped now of all except the young stuff and the band of brood mares.

"Will you be able to buy more brood mares?" she interrupted herself suddenly.

"No."

"A new stallion?"

"No."

How soon should she tell him? Should she tell him now, so that they could discuss it while they were driving home? How should she begin it? Rob—I've been thinking. And I've got an idea—

She stole a look at his face and decided not to tell it now. He looked so—how exactly did he look? Not bitter today. No—nor as angry as he had been before he left, but hard. And very much on guard. That could only be against her. And determined—what was he determined about now? Perhaps just to keep on punishing her. He always said when he got angry he was angry at himself, not her. But even if that was so, it amounted to the same thing. He simply oozed ugliness and it disturbed everyone around him.

"Rob, I've been thinking. And I've got an idea."

Dinner and a highball had mellowed him a little. He put down the periodical he was reading and looked at his pipe and discovered that it had gone out. "What about?" he asked.

"Well—about our finances."

Rob hunted for a match. "What about 'em?"

"Well—I really think that I've thought of something we could do to make the ranch pay."

"When did you think this up?" asked Rob, pausing in the act of lighting his pipe to look at her.

"This week, since—since you were here the other night and said that—that the sale hadn't—paid—the way you expected it to."

"Oh! So you thought you would step in and save the pieces!"

Nell felt consternation. Was it going to seem like that to him? She was silent.

"Well, let's have it," said he with forced joviality. His blue eyes were staring at her over his pipe, and it made her remember Ken's words, "Dad's eyes are the fiercest of all."

"Shoot!" he prodded her.

"Well—it really began with something you said some years ago."

"Ah! Kind of you to remember that! But don't bother to break it tactfully to me, Nell, let's hear what it is."

"You said that the income tax man said that the only ranchers in Wyoming who made money were dude ranchers. And then you said, And he knows." She glanced up at Rob questioningly, hoping he could not see the fine nervous trembling that shook her body.

"I remember. Go on."

"So that made me think of having dudes."

"On this ranch!"

"Yes. We had talked about it a few times already, years ago, you remember?"

"And you always said it would kill it as a home for you, if we did," reminded Rob.

"I know I did." Nell plodded doggedly ahead. "I always hated the idea. But—if we were in trouble—if you needed money—it seemed to me, Rob, I should not let my personal inclinations stand in the way."

She looked hesitatingly at him, and away again. His face was full of anger — rage really — and it was shocking to have to look at him.

"And so," said he in his best sardonic manner, "you simply decided that I was a complete flop. Had failed beyond recovery. And that you had better give up all hope of retaining the thing you love the best—your home. Give that up, make this place—that I have broken my heart trying to make beautiful for you—the camping ground of any Tom, Dick and Harry that wants to squat here—"

Nell looked at him indignantly. "It's not fair of you to put it that way. It would only be a dude ranch in the summer time. In the winter it would just be our home as it always has been. And what if I did have the notion that I didn't want to have any dudes here? People can change their minds. And if we need the money, and this would make the difference between being able to pay our bills and not being able to I would be a wash-out if I could not adjust myself to a different way of living for a few months every summer." Her indignation rose. "It's disgraceful to be in debt all the time. I'd rather do anything than that!"

"And you imagine," said Rob in the same sardonic manner, "that you could make the ranch pay with summer dudes?"

"Yes. And that's what the income tax man said, didn't he?"

"People talk about 'taking' dudes. The real word would be 'getting' dudes. Most ranchers in this state would be glad to 'get' dudes if they could. How would you go about getting them?"

EIGHT cows who appear in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Kid From Brooklyn," which stars Danny Kaye, have inherited a beard that once belonged to Douglas Fairbanks. But not as a beard. They're all dolled up for the dairy maid number, in which they are assisted by the 1946 class of Goldwyn girls. The cows make their debut wearing pearl earrings, fancy hats, and artificial eyelashes. That's where the beard comes in. The property man tried stiff black paper, then pipe cleaners, with no luck. But the beard was perfect.

Substantial Quality Food a Necessity on Winter Social Menu

Fiesta punch is delicious served either hot or cold. No sugar is required when one of the suggested substitutes is used, and the beverage can be quickly made a short time before guests arrive.

With so many families returning to the old home town, and couples who married during the war finally getting settled together, welcome parties are becoming quite the style. Social engagement books which looked blank are now filled again.

Yes, entertaining is due for a revival. This is the time, because the holiday season is approaching in full glory. Food is not the problem it was last year although there still are restrictions, and it's fairly easy to serve something nice and make the table look its prettiest.

If the group is mixed and there are a number of men (big eaters, now that they have learned to have lots of chow or go to mess regularly!), plan to have a substantial casserole dish with some hearty trimmings like big salads and rich-looking cakes or pastry.

Or, if the affair is to be just a snack, serve bread with a choice of fillings and the usual accompaniments like potato chips, pickles, olives, relishes, and punch or some favorite beverage.

Suggestion I.

Assorted Bread: Oatmeal, Raisin, White and Rye.

Sandwich Fillings: Nippy Cheese and Peanut Butter.

Relishes: Olives, Radishes, Carrot Sticks and Celery Hearts.

Beverage: Orange Juice or Fiesta Punch.

Nippy Cheese Filling.

Combine equal parts of cream cheese and butter. Add salt and paprika to taste and 1 teaspoon each of finely minced parsley, pickles, olives and green pepper. Flavor with sardine paste.

Peanut Butter Filling.

Peanut butter may be served alone or it may be combined with any of the following for a delicious filling: jam, chopped bacon or grated raw carrots.

Fiesta Punch.
(Makes ½ gallon)

1 cup strong tea
¾ cup sugar, honey or corn syrup
½ cup lemon juice
1½ cups orange juice
1 cup grape juice
1 quart water

Make the strong tea by pouring 1 cup boiling water over 4 teaspoons of tea. Dissolve sugar or substitutes in the hot, strained tea. (The tea should steep first for 5 minutes.) For a hot punch, combine the tea with the fruit juices and add the water which should be boiling hot. Serve at once.

For cold punch, chill the tea and combine with well-chilled fruit juices and iced water. Garnish the punch with slices of orange and lemon.

LYNN SAYS

Care for Your Silverware: Clean, hot, soapy water is recommended for both flat serving pieces and tableware. Rinse in boiling water after washing and wipe dry as soon as possible.

To remove tarnish, use a good silver polish or wet a little sifted whiting with ammonia and apply with a soft cloth. Let stand until dry, rub off with soft cloth, rinse and polish with a second cloth or chamois.

Silver tarnished with egg should be cleaned immediately.

A small soft brush is best for cleaning ornamental pieces.

Silverware should never be heated directly or placed on the range. Serving dishes may be heated over hot water or kept warm on the radiator if an asbestos pad is placed under them.

Suggestion II.

Farm Sausage Casserole
Combination Salad Crusted Rolls
Favorite Cake
Beverage

The main dish for this hearty snack can be made ready before company comes, and then heated about half an hour before serving time rolls around.

Farm Sausage Casserole.
(Serves 6)

1½ cups broken macaroni
½ cup diced American cheese
1 tablespoon minced onion
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups thin white sauce
1 cup green peas, cooked
½ cup sauteed mushrooms
¼ cup chopped pimiento
1 pound pork sausages, broiled
Buttered bread crumbs

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and rinse. Combine with all remaining ingredients, except sausages and bread crumbs. Place in casserole which has been greased. Top with sausages and sprinkle a few bread crumbs over the top. Heat in a slow (325-degree) oven for 25 minutes.

Combination Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)

1 head lettuce
1 cucumber
2 to 3 tomatoes
1 bunch radishes
1 bunch small onions
1 green pepper
Celery curls
Carrot curls
French dressing

Wash all vegetables carefully and allow to chill. Break lettuce into chunks and line salad bowl. Toss in all other ingredients which have been sliced or cut into pieces and sprinkle french dressing over them.

Favorite Cake.

1 cup whipping cream
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Whip the cream until slightly thickened but not stiff enough to hold a peak. Fold in the sugar gently, the beaten eggs and vanilla. Add the flour which has been sifted with the baking powder and a speck of salt. Mix only until smooth. Place in two shallow cake pans and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 25 minutes. Cool. Frost with seven-minute icing and sprinkle with coconut. Or, frost with whipped cream and sprinkle with coconut.

For impromptu entertaining, there's nothing easier to prepare than a tray of sandwich spreads with assorted bread and health drinks of citrus fruit juices in colorful glasses.

Seven-Minute Icing.

1 egg white, unbeaten
3 tablespoons cold water
⅞ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Place all ingredients in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until mixed, then place over hot water, and continue beating until frosting stands up in peaks (about 7 minutes).

Ahead of the other foods the returned G.I. will look forward to are the good, homemade desserts. Whatever was his favorite when he left is sure to be his favorite when he returns. He has spent many hours thinking and dreaming of that dessert.

Chocolate has been a favorite of the serviceman. His favorite may have been chocolate ice cream, chocolate pie or chocolate cookies. The sizes of portions should be man-size, he has learned how to eat in a big way and will not be at home when dainty portions are passed out. Milk seems to be the favorite beverage of returned servicemen. This might be served with the addition of chocolate or in form of a malted or egg malted drink, all of which will be welcomed. Give him a try with bread, raisin, nut, potato, or best of all a real home baked loaf. He may be tired of dark tack and stale white bread, and anxious to try something new and different.

DON'T FEEL WELL?

It may be due to uneliminated waste matter in your system

Uneliminated waste matter may cause no symptoms for a long time, but unless relieved when necessary, can finally impair the health. This condition often causes loss of appetite, heavily coated tongue, tired rundown feeling, mental depression, headaches, dizziness, anemia, gas formation, acid indigestion and skin eruptions.

No matter how many other medicines you have tried for the relief of these conditions due to uneliminated waste matter in your system, we urge you to try B-L PREPARATION with the understanding that B-L PREPARATION must bring you excellent results or your money back. Try a bottle of B-L PREPARATION and see if you don't feel like a new person. Caution: Use only as directed.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

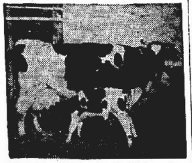
Don't Rob Calves of Essential Food

First Milk Necessary For Proper Development

"Nature intended that the calves should get all the colostrum (first milk) because this colostrum is 10 times as rich in protective substances as normal milk," the dairy cattle committee of the American Veterinary Medical association recently reported.



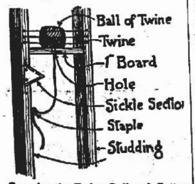
Don't rob the calf of all the colostrum.

Unfortunately, the dairyman has interfered with nature to such an extent that few calves get enough colostrum to meet this need. It becomes necessary to feed vitamins in concentrated, or even in pure form. Vitamin A deficiency in a calf causes watery eyes, a cough, pneumonia and scours. Vitamin B deficiency leads to flabby muscles and digestive stagnation. Vitamin C is needed for the proper function of the guard cells in the intestine.

While some dairymen have tried methods of raising a calf without allowing it enough colostrum, they have produced weaker calves at a greater cost by substituting certain "patent" panaceas.

Instead of following this practice every effort should be made to encourage the calf to secure all of the "first milk" possible.

Twine Ball Holder



Cage for the Twine Ball and Cutter

By use of one-inch boards as shown in illustration and a sharpened sickle section, a time saver for twine ball and cutter can be erected quickly at little cost.

More Weed Chemicals

Success of chemical killing of weeds gives promise that this method will continue to grow in popularity. Michigan State college has found that dilute sulfuric acid may be used in onion to eliminate 75 per cent of the hand labor ordinarily used. Use of oils and other materials in carrots has met with considerable success.

Hogs' Health Can Be Aided by Use of DDT

The pigpens as well as the pigs themselves get DDT applications to stop the fly nuisance.

The outstanding advantages of DDT would appear to be (1) its convenience of application and (2) its lethal action on bloodsucking species, such as the stablefly and hornfly which will not normally enter a fly trap.

Tests have proven that when sprayed on hogs the raw patches caused by stablefly will disappear within a week and no further injury of this nature was noticed throughout the balance of the season.

Rhine Vital Artery Of Western Europe

A chief waterway of Europe since the earliest times, the Rhine occupies a basin so rich in minerals that it naturally became one of the world's leading industrial areas. Serving industries and their workers has been the principal role of the river in its modern period, says the National Geographic society. Coal, iron ores, grains—all bulk commodities seeking cheap transportation—made up four-fifths of the waterborne commerce in prewar years. This has been a Rhine trade in which both neighboring countries and distant nations shared.

Coal and lignite from German fields contributed most of the freight. Much of it was used in plants along the river, but some went to the Netherlands and to Belgium by canals. Some reached Italy and Switzerland, and France by canals or through transfer to railways. German metal-working industries have had to look beyond domestic iron ores for their iron and steel. Top suppliers by the Rhine route have been Sweden, Spain, Algeria and Tunisia.

Concentration and growth of the industrial population created a need to import cereals. These grains, for the most part, ordinarily come from Russia, Romania, Argentina, Canada and the United States. Cargoes moved through the Netherlands port to Rotterdam; and through the Belgian port of Antwerp, either directly by the river, by canalized connections, or by railway transshipment.

Discover Ear to Be Sensitive Microphone

No larger than the size of a pea, the human inner ear, known as the cochlea, has been found to be a marvelous microphone of incredible selectivity and reproductive fidelity, reports the Sonotone research laboratories.

Experiments in several universities have revealed that if the auditory nerve of a cat, rabbit or other animal is connected up with an amplifier and loudspeaker situated in another part of the building, words spoken into the ear of the cat, or other animal, will be reproduced by the loudspeaker!

These experiments have thrown new light upon the science of hearing. It is believed that vibration of the 24,000 hair cells in the cochlea, each of which is believed to respond to sound waves of a certain frequency, sets up electrical disturbances which affect the auditory nerve.

Difficult to Can

Vegetables are much more difficult to can than are acid products like fruit and tomatoes. To destroy the germ that causes poisoning, vegetables must be processed at least six hours in a boiling water bath. Even then, homemakers are wise to boil for 10 minutes before serving all non-acid vegetables which were not canned under pressure. All vegetables should be precooked and packed hot. Both peas and snap beans should be covered with water and simmered for five minutes. Then they should be packed in jars and covered with the cooking liquid to which one teaspoon of salt per quart has been added. After the jars are partially sealed, process pint jars of green beans for 30 minutes in the pressure cooker at 10 pounds pressure and quart jars for 40 minutes. Pint jars of peas should be processed for 45 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Canning peas in quarts is inadvisable since the peas may overcook and become mushy.

Peanut Butter Uses

Peanut butter has many possibilities in sandwiches. When added to chopped carrot, shredded cabbage or diced crisp onion a chewy spread results. Or, if peanut butter is added to dried fruits, jelly or honey, the result is a sweet sandwich. When added to chopped pickle or catsup, still different flavors are achieved. Peanut butter may be added to salad dressing for cabbage or fruit salads, or it may be used in a cream soup to give a nutty flavor. Because of the high fat content of peanut butter, it may be used to replace part of the fat in muffins, cookies and griddle cakes. Using peanut butter as a shortening improves the nutritive value of the baked product because of the protein which is in peanut butter, but not in fats commonly used as shortening, reminds the agent. Peanut butter may be mixed with jams or preserves and used as a cake filling.

Retains Vitamins

Scientists found that preparing orange juice the night before causes little if any loss of vitamin C or flavor, no matter how it is kept. But if prepared too long in advance, the juice changes flavor and begins to ferment. Keeping juice covered and in a cold place is best for saving flavor. Juice held at room temperature begins to change flavor after two days; in the refrigerator after three days. The vitamin C in the juice is so stable, however, that it does not suffer for several days, whether the juice is covered or not, and whether it is in the refrigerator or out in the kitchen. Extracting by hand or by machine makes no marked difference either in flavor or vitamin content.

Wayne's Victory Opened Ohio Territory to Settlers

The Greenville treaty made by General "Mad Anthony" Wayne on August 3, 1795 with delegates from 12 Indian tribes of the region opened most of the Ohio territory to white settlement, and definitely restricted the Indians to lands farther west, says the National Geographic society.

Years of brutal warfare had preceded the treaty. The young nation emerging from the struggle with England for independence suffered severe defeats in trying to control the Indians roaming over the then western territories. The resistance of the Indians reached its highest point in 1791 in the defeat of troops under General St. Clair, Ohio's governor and military commander. After this disaster President Washington chose General Wayne, a Revolutionary war hero, to lead a new expedition against the enemy tribes. With nearly 2,000 foot soldiers General Wayne pushed westward in October, 1793, built Fort Greenville roughly midway between the St. Mary's and Miami rivers near what is now the Ohio-Indiana state line, and passed the winter there.

The next fall, Wayne came upon an enemy force of 2,000 warriors and a sort of "foreign legion" consisting of French, English, and renegade Americans. Accounts differ as to which side attacked first, but all agree that sharp fighting developed, and that the Indians were soundly beaten. The American troops won a quick victory, slew many chiefs, and drove the surviving warriors to the shelter of a British fort some miles distant from the battleground. Indian fields and villages were destroyed by the pursuing victors; the fort was spared.

Civil Service Agencies Place Disabled Vets

Veterans returning to jobs in government service with handicaps that prevent their performing former duties will be placed by many civil service agencies in other jobs suitable to their skills.

If possible, these positions are in the same grade as their former positions and entitle them to the same salary. Two agencies reported that new jobs are created if necessary in order to place returned veterans.

Various systems for placing injured veterans have been worked out by personnel agencies in different cities. In Bridgeport, Conn., the veteran is given his choice of positions he is qualified to fill. Detroit provides a job tryout, following tests and an interview, with replacement if it is found to be necessary. In the TVA, provision is made for retraining to qualify veterans for positions commensurate with their potential abilities.

Phosphoric Acid

The principal prewar producers of phosphoric acid were the United States, Germany, France, the Belgo-Luxemburg Economic union, and Australia. United States production was 35 per cent greater than that of Germany, 70 per cent greater than that of France, and more than two and one-half times that of either the Belgo - Luxemburg Economic union or Australia. The United States also was the largest consumer, with Germany, the Soviet Union, France, and Australia following in order. The Belgo-Luxemburg Economic union ranked 12th in this category. United States consumption was about 20 per cent greater than that of Germany, 75 per cent greater than that of the Soviet Union, 90 per cent greater than that of France, more than 2.7 times that of Australia, and nearly 8 times that of the Belgo-Luxemburg Economic union.

Napolean's Exile

Elba, tiny island between Corsica and the Italian mainland, achieved fame as Napoleon's "Thumb Nail Empire." In May, 1814, when Napoleon arrived there in exile, the diminutive French leader had seen his empire, once a sizable slice of Europe, shrink to this 89 square-mile Mediterranean rock. He left the island in February, 1815, after building a few "palaces" and villas, some of which he never used; constructing roads, developing commerce and bankrupting himself in an attempt to bring about prosperity in his new domain. Chafing under enforced exile, he returned to France with a few soldiers and began the famous 100 days which ended in his defeat at Waterloo on June 18, 1815, and subsequent banishment by the British to St. Helena where he died in 1821.

Insect Castes

How does it happen that the social insects—termites, ants, bees—produce workers, soldiers, queens and castes? Biologists have never advanced an explanation. Along comes Dr. Stanley E. Flanders (University of California) with a hypothesis that is plausible. He studied Hymenopters, which are closely related to ants, and collected enough evidence to convince him that the rate at which eggs are laid (insofar as it affects the amount of food in the egg) controls caste. The first brood of Hymenopters always consists of small workers, but succeeding broods gradually increase in size. Only after the largest workers have appeared are there queens and males.

Senator Pepper Writes Interestingly Of Holy Lands

(By Claude Pepper)

All day yesterday I did what every Christian dreams of; I visited the sacred shrines of the Holy Land. With an able guide from the American Consulate, I tried to retrace as accurately as possible the way the Master trod into Jerusalem and to Golgotha on Thursday and Friday of His last week on earth. First we went to the top of the Mount of Olives across which Jesus came from nearby Bethany into Jerusalem on a donkey on Thursday. Jesus' Ascension after his Resurrection also occurred on the Mount of Olives. There is a Moslem mosque at the spot where the Moslems say he ascended. There is a Russian Orthodox church there also where that church places the Ascension. At the Moslem church communicants of other churches are permitted to come at their worship time.

From the Mount of Olives you get the finest view of the city of Jerusalem. The remains of an old wall mark out what was the ancient city of Jerusalem although this wall is only a few hundred years old and the earlier walls of Biblical times have totally disappeared. We followed the winding road down from the Mount of Olives past the Garden of Gethsemane into the walls of the old city to the Praetorium., This is the place where Jesus was judged on Thursday night after his arrest in the Garden of Gethsemane by Pontius Pilate. It was in the courtyard, you will remember, where Pontius Pilate finally pronounced the words that meant the death of Jesus. Underneath a police station which now covers the place you see the old stones of this courtyard and you can almost hear Pilate arguing with the Master's persecuters and finally attempting to wash his hands of Jesus' death. It was here that Pilate ordered the inscription upon the cross of Jesus, "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews." The Jews are supposed to have remonstrated and Pilate, you recall, said, "What I have written," and so the inscription stood.

Nearby this courtyard Jesus was flogged and took up His cross to bear it to Golgotha some half a mile away. On foot we followed this route of passion. In Jesus' time his way to the Hill of Crucifixon was probably an open road along the walls of the old city Now as you retrace his agonized steps you walk along narrow cobblestone streets in an area exclusively inhabited by the Arabs. Time and again you have to flatten yourself against a wall to avoid being run over by the Arabs leading or riding their heavily laden donkeys. At times the passion route carries you through busy Arab shopping districts where in the manner of many centuries ago the old Arab people chatter, argue, sell and make every imaginable thing in their little shops.

You see along this way the place where tradition says Jesus fell the first time under the weight of the cross. At a fourth station we are told that Jesus passed his anguishing mother. The fifth station is where Simon of Cyrene helped Jesus to carry His cross. At a sixth station we see the place where it is said Veronica came forward and wiped the face of Jesus with a linen cloth and cold water. Then there is the seventh station which tradition has it was the place in which Jesus fell a second time under His heavy cross up the steep incline. There is marked out an eighth station which is where it is said Jesus spoke to the daughters of Jerualem comforting them in their sorrow upon His suffering. At the ninth station tradition has it Jesus fell a third time under His burden.

You now enter the church of the Holy Sepulchre. In this church are to be found the site of the Crucifixion and the tomb where Jesus was buried. Also in the church is marked the place, known as the tenth station, where when Jesus reached the summit of Calvary, he was stripped of his garments. Also in this church is marked the place where Jesus was nailed to the cross on the ground. This is called the eleventh station. The twelfth station is the spot where the cross stood, now covered by an altar. You can look through the floor and see some of the same rock which bore Jesus' cross. You can also see what tradition has it is the rent in the rock caused by the earthquake when Jesus died.

In this church there is also an altar which purports to mark the place where the body of Jesus was taken down from the cross. This spot is marked by a beautiful statue of Mother Dolorosa which was sent from Lisbon in 1778. It is covered with diamonds and precious jewels sent by princes or are the thank offerings of Pilgrims. Here it is that Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus, by the permission of Pilate, took the body of Jesus down from the cross and as tradition has it laid it in the arms of Mary.

The fourteenth and last station is the sepulchre of Joseph's new tomb, hewn out of rock according to the custom of the time, where Joseph and Nicodemus laid the body of the crucified Lord. You see in an inner room a marble sepulchre containing some remaining stones from Jesus' grave. The grave from which on the third day He arose to confirm His victory over death and to give assurance that there is a life beyond the grave.

In the afternoon we drove along a winding road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem. On the left as you go along you pass a well where tradition says the Wise Men saw the reflection of the Star of Bethlehem where the Christ Babe was porn. And further along, a short distance pefore you reach Bethlehem, there is the pasture where the shepherds were tending their flocks when thy heard the first Hosannes ringing from the Heavens the glad tidings of the birth of Jesus.

Finally in a great church, the first part of which probably dates back to 300 A. D., you see the altar which marks the spot where the birth of Jesus is said to have occurred and close by the site of the manger where He was first laid in His swaddling clothes.

In this great church there were services by two different churches while I was there for here also many churches come to perform their rites.

As you stand here upon the hill of Jerusalem and look over the Dead Sea at the Mountains of Moab and remember Moses standing on those Mountains and looking at th Promised Land; as you pass the tomb of Rachel, Abraham's wife, on the way to Bethlehem and you reflect that not much farther south at Hebron is the grave of Abraham; as you pass also on the way to Bethlehem the place where Elijah is said to have ascended into Heaven in a chariot of fire; as you see the broad spaces where David ruled and the Temple of Solomon stood, and then, as you visit the birthplace of Christ and finally the last scenes of the life of Jesus, you feel a new consecration, a closer connection with both the past and the future.

NOV. 21, 1945
AN IMPORTANT DATE FOR THOUSANDS OF ARMY VETERANS NOW IN CIVILIAN LIFE

Between now and November 21, thousands of Army veterans will reenlist in Uncle Sam's new volunteer peacetime Army. Because—men who have been discharged between May 12 and November 1 of this year and reenlist on or before November 21 will be able to return to the Army with the same grade as they held when discharged.

Men with six months of satisfactory service discharged as privates will, on reenlistment before November 21, be given the grade of private first class.

Men now in the Army who apply for discharge after NOVEMBER 1 for the purpose of reenlisting in the Regular Army will also retain their present grades, if they enlist within 20 days after discharge and before FEBRUARY 1, 1946.

"BEST JOB IN THE WORLD"

These special privileges are typical of the new law recently passed by Congress. Few opportunities for a lifetime career offer as many attractive advantages.

Can you think of any other job that would give you good pay, your food, clothing, quarters, free medical and dental care, world-wide travel, 30 days' furlough every year, education and training in any of nearly 200 skills or trades, and enable you to retire with a life income any time after 20 years' service?

There isn't any! That's why a job in the Regular Army has been called "The Best Job in the World."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men with 6 months' service.)
2. Men reenlisting retain their present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before Feb. 1, 1946. The same applies to men discharged between May 12 and Nov. 1, 1945, who reenlist before Nov. 21, 1945.
3. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since the bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
4. 20% extra pay when overseas.
5. Paid furlough, up to 90 days, depending on length of service, with furlough travel paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who enlist.
6. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.
7. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service — or three-quarters pay after 30 years. (Retirement income in grade of Master or First Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
8. Benefits of GI Bill of Rights.
9. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.
10. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater if Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.

Our Men In The Service

Lt. Woodson A. Sadler arrived home Thursday. He was accompanied by his wife and year-old son, who have been making their home in Danville, Pa. Lt. Sadler saw 13 months service in Italy, where he was an artillery observer, working with the infantry. He took part in the Appenines, Rome-Arno and Po Valley campaigns, and wears the ETO ribbon with three stars representing these actions. Lt. Sadler enlisted in the Army December 15, 1940 and will be discharged on December 15, 1945, completing exactly five years of service. He and his family will remain for Thanksgiving, and he will then go to Indiantown Gap, Pa., for discharge.

Pvt. Ray Neal arrived Wednesday from China, where he was stationed with the ground forces of the Air Forces. He joins his wife and two children, Billy and Dickie Ray, who have been making their home with Mrs. Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fennell.

Charles Earl Rich, 2/c, U. S. navy, is home on leave and is visiting his mother, Mrs. Dessie Rich. Charles served in the Pacific 13 months, and was at Okinawa, Iwo Jima, Nagasaki and the Phillippines. His ship, the USS Roberts saw service on convoy and escort duty and in operational support. After his leave, he will go to the Jacksonville base for further assignment.

T/5, Melvin Rogers and Mrs. Rogers of Fort Jackson, S. C., are visiting relatives here, having arrived last Thursday.

Phillip Boardman, MAM 1/c and Mrs. Boardman, arrived home this week from Gulfport, Miss., where Phillip has been in the navy postal service for the past six months. He was previously stationed in Panama for two years. He received his training at Camp Peary, Va.. He now has his discharge and will resume his duties in the post office in the near future.

Lt. Robert Wins Bronze Star

1st Lt. Everett L. Roberts, Company Commander, Signal Battalion, 8th Army, serving in Yokohama has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious achievement for action in the Phillipines and Japan.

The Citation reads: "For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Leyte, Phillipine Islands and Yokohama, Japan, from 6 July to 25 September, 1945. Lt. Roberts, 304th Signal Operations Battalion, displayed outstanding initiative and attention to detail while operating the Eighth Army Signal Center throughout this period. When called upon to move from Leyte to Yokohama, by reason of meticulously careful planning, he accomplished the mission without the slightest break in the flow of messages. Lt. Roberts' congenial and efficient supervision of a highly complicated operation caused the full cooperation of the officers and men and reflects great credit on himself and the military service."

Lt. Roberts' Signal unit was the first of the Eighth army forces to land on Japanese soil. He and three other officers and 33 men were landed by plane and set up communications preparatory to the general landing.

Sgt. Correll Wins Distinguished Flying Cross

Calcutta— Staff Sergeant Donald E. Correll, aerial radio operator, of Box 592, Avon Park, Florida, has been awarded Distinguished Flying Cross, it has been announced by Brig. Gen. William H. Tunner, commanding general of the India China Division, Air Transport Command.

The India China Division is completing, by homeward movements of freight and personnel, its war mission of trans-India, India-China and intra-China Transport. It has made air history by flying cargo and passengers in regularly scheduled day-and-night transit over routes once virtually unusable, primarily the famed Hump. Its war contribution, say aviation leaders, has provided far-reaching portents for the future of air transport on a world-wide scale. July, 1945, saw 71,000 tons cross the Hump, while at the moment of Jap surrender the rate was nearly two tons a minute.

"From a small monthly tonnage at the outset," said General Tunner in a war's-end statement to his troops, "cargo to China has increased until it has been proved that whole armies could be supplied by air in China — and they were, to the distress and destruction of our enemies."

According to word received here by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mathis, their son Gene Tunney Mathis S. 2/c U. S. Navy has landed in Tokyo Bay.

Gene enlisted in the navy in March, was called April 26 and received his basic training in Bainbridge, Md., going from there to Washington to the naval research lab. From there Gene was sent to Camp Perry, Va, and then on to Port Huneme, Calif, where he was shipped over in Sept. Gene writes that he expects to be home by Christmas.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to our friends for their many acts of kindness, and words and messages of sympathy at the time of our recent bereavement. We are also grateful for the beautiful floral tributes.

Flood Control In Istokpoga Area Planned

Allen Altvater, secretary of the Sebring Chamber of Commerce stated yesterday that a meeting will be held tomorrow night at the Lorida school house for the purpose of explaining a plan to land owners, cattlemen, vegetable growers and others interested in the region of Lake Istokpoga, and to enlist aid to control the flood waters that periodically cover the rich vegetable and cattle lands around Lake Istokpoga. A second meeting on this subject will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, November 20, at the City Hall at Lake Placid. The meeting at Lorida is scheduled to begin at 7:30 P. M.

A committee consisting of L. H. Alsmeyer, V. T. Oxer, T. Jesse Durrance, Sol McClelland and Allen Altvater, was appointed by the board of county commissioners, to work on the flood control project.

The purpose of the meeting, at Lorida and Lake Placid will be to secure information concerning the year the landowner located on his property, normal production of truck crops, normal annual production of livestock, acres of pasture, acres of cleared vegetable land and losses caused by flood waters.

This project of flood control will tend to raise the water table in citrus areas as well as control the water in flood areas.

Every land owner, cattleman, vegetable grower or others interested in the flood control of the region around Lake Istokpoga is urged to attend one or both of these meetings scheduled to be held at Lorida and Lake Placid.

Bridge Party At Parish House On Thursday, Nov. 29

A bridge party, sponsored by the Episcopal Church, will be given at the parish house at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, Nov. 29. Tickets are fifty cents per person. There will be prizes and refreshments. Everyone is cordially invited to attend, and bring their friends. It will be an excellent opportunity to entertain the group of friends, you have been planning to have in for a game of bridge. Mrs. Sue Gregory and Mrs. Dan Ellis III will be hostesses for the afternoon. While it is not necessary to make reservations, your thoughtfulness will be appreciated. You may call either Mrs. Gregory or Mrs. Ellis.

State May Take Over Armory For National Guard

Major Ralph W. Cooper, Jr., state quartermaster from the State Arsenal at St. Augustine, which is headquarters of the military department of the State of Florida, was in Avon Park Wednesday on an inspection tour of armory buildings. Major Cooper stated that plans are being laid to set up the National Guard in Florida again, and he was here to see about the use of the armory. The federal government is about to terminate its lease of the property, he said, and the National Guard is getting ready to take over the building, when it is again activated.

He was told of plans of the Woman's club to use the armory for a Youth Center, and said that he could not speak for the department, but he felt sure that National Guard headquarters would cooperate in every way possible. He could not say when the state military department would be ready to take over, but gave the impression that this would be done within a year.

Pendleton Grain And Provision Company Sold

Roy C. Hastie, in an advertisement in this week's issue of The Sun, announces the sale of Pendleton Grain and Provision Co., to Louie Mimms and George Langford of Frostproof. The new owners who will take over the business Monday, are both veterans of World War II. Mr. Mimms and family will make their home in Avon Park.

Mr. Hastie, with his wife and 12 year old son came to Avon Park in February, when he bought the business from S. J. Pendleton. Mrs. Hastie has been associated with him in the business. They are residing in the Pillsbury home at Highland Lakes and plan on remaining here through the winter.

Mr. Hastie, in his ad, thanks his many customers for their patronage of the company, and asks that a continuance of the cooperation and good-will be accorded the new owners. He adds that the company will be operated along the same policy as formerly, and that the same popular lines of feed will be handled for the benefit of the retail trade.

Funeral Service For Mrs. Garrett Saturday Morning

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Garrett, 53, wife of Albert Garrett, who passed away Wednesday night, will be held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the Church of Christ. Hall D. Murphy, minister of the church will officiate. Burial will take place in Bougainvillae cemetery.

Casketbearers will be J. T. Williford, F. S. Jordon, M. E. Jordon, J. M. Gore, H. W. Harden and Frank Welch.

Mrs. Garrett was born Dec. 4, 1892 in Fairfield, Illinois. She was married Dec. 23, 1910 in Boise City, Okla., to Albert Garrett. The family came to Avon Park Oct. 25, 1925 to make their home.

Mrs. Garrett was a loyal member of the Church of Christ. She had been in ill health for the past two or three months. She was devoted to her family, and was beloved by a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by her husband, Albert Garrett, four daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Peters, Gainesville, Bessie, Alberta and Freida Garrett, Avon Park; four sons, CWO Fred Garrett, somewhere in the Pacific, Sgt. Ray Garrett, recently discharged from the service, Ralph Garrett, California, and Harold Garrett, Avon Park.

Mrs. E. O. Garrett Died Thursday After Long Illness

Mrs. Rachel Garrett, 78, died at her home Tuesday, following a long period of ill health. Funeral services were held at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Church of Christ, with Hall D. Murphy, minister, officiating. Interment was in Bougainvillae cemetery. Casket bearers were F. S. Jordon, M. E. Jordon, H. T. Williford, Frank Welch, R. M. Kelsey, and J. M. Gore.

The deceased was born Oct. 26, 1867, in Georgia, and was married Nov. 3, 1887 to E. O. Garrett in Livingston, Tenn. The family came to Avon Park in 1930 to make their home. Mr. Garrett passed away March 1, 1940.

Mrs. Garrett was a devout member of the Church of Christ. She suffered a stroke 15 years ago, and since that time has been in ill health. She has been confined to her home for the past year. A loving mother and grandmother, she was loved by a score of friends for her christian characteristics.

Surviving relatives include two daughters, Mrs. May McNeil, Vale, Oregon and Mrs. E. E. Sheumacher, Avon Park; three sons, W. B. Garrett, Miami, Albert Garrett, Avon Park, and DeWitt Garrett, Searcy, Ark., 25 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Red Devils Win Over Mulberry By Score 20-7

The Avon Park Red Devils defeated the Mulberry Panthers 20-7 on Memorial Field last Friday night for their third Ridge Conference victory.

Mulberry outplayed the Red Devils during the first half, but Fred Montsdeoca gave the Red Devils a one touchdown lead by intercepting a Mulberry pass on the forty-five yard line and scoring on the most spectacular run of the season. He was aided by the excellent blocking of Billy Hawkins, Sonny Hagan and E. C. Wever and he simply outsmarted the players who were not blocked out on the play. J. C. Walker scored the extra point and the Red Devils led 7-0 at the end of the half.

The Red Devils looked like a new team in the second half as they took the ball on their own twenty-two yard line and on the tenth play Montsdeoca plunged over for the second touchdown from the three. E. C. Wever scored the extra point through the line to make the score 14-0.

Mulberry roared back and scored on a pass play from the twenty-six yard line. The pass was thrown by Sikes to Joe Jones. E. C. Wever covered Jones all the way into the end zone and it seemed that it would be an incomplete pass, but Jones made what seemed to be an impossible catch and the extra point was made by Mears on a line buck to make the score 14-7.

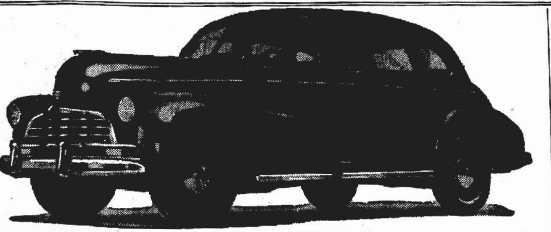
After receiving the kickoff and without relinquishing possession of the ball the Red Devils marched down the field for their third and final touchdown. Hagan went over from the one foot line on a quarterback sneak to score. The pass Hagan to Rogers was incomplete for the extra point and the score ended 20-7.

The defensive play of Horace McRea and Billy Walker were major factors in the Red Devil victory. Jack Rogers was outstanding on offense carrying the ball five times on reverse plays and averaging twelve yards for each try.

Avon Park meets Frostproof here Friday night in the annual homecoming game. The game is sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of Avon Park and Frostproof.

Hendricks Field To Be Inactivated

Hendricks Field will be inactivated as of December 31, according to announcement of Base Commander Col. Charles Farr yesterday.



NEW 1946 CHEVROLET — Here is the newest Chevrolet produced by General Motors, and now on display at I. H. Ford Motor Company. Ford says the new car is outstanding for style design, quality of materials and construction, advanced engineering, proved performance, economy and dependability.

Thanksgiving Game To Be In Sebring Nov. 21

The annual Highlands County Thanksgiving football classic between the county rival schools, Avon Park and Sebring, will be played Wednesday night at 8:30 at Fireman's Field in Sebring.

Sebring won an earlier game this season which was not a conference game by the score 7-6. The Red Devils are out to avenge that game and also to give Sebring their second conference loss. The odds are that the two teams are evenly matched and it will be a nip and tuck battle all the way.

Sebring will have their newly discovered eighth grade halfback sensation Joe Barber. Avon Park will have a more experienced backfield and a slightly heavier line.

It will be the last Ridge Conference contest for the Red Devils this season and the last Conference game for Fred Montsdeoca, E. C. Wever, Sonny Hagan, Jack Rogers, Charles Bennett, Billy Hawkins and Wiley Sauls.

A record throng is expected to witness the contest.

Would You Like To Give A Gift To Christmas Joy Shop

If you would like to contribute a gift for the Christmas Joy Shop at the Veterans hospitals at Bay Pines and Lake City, you may leave the package at either the Marisusan Shoppe or the Sun office, through next Tuesday, Nov. 20. The American Legion Auxiliary is preparing to send a box and members are already bringing in pleasing gifts. It was thought that others in Avon Park might like to share in this wonderful opportunity to give happiness to these men at the holiday season. You are requested not to wrap the gift, but it will be appreciated if gift wrappings are enclosed with the package.

These Christmas Joy Shops are set up in the veterans hospital, and are maintained by the American Legion Auxiliaries, for the benefit of service men who are unable, either physically or financially, to get out and purchase gifts to send to their families. If the veteran is able to be about, he may go into the Joy Shop and make his selection from the many gifts on display. If he is a bed patient, then a generous assortment of gifts are put on a tray and wheeled to his bedside, where he may "shop" at his leisure. For this reason, it is not necessary to wrap packages, but gift wrappings with the package are greatly appreciated, as has been stated. If the giver prefers to send money in preference to a gift, it will be used to purchase items to augment the selection in the Joy Shop.

The gifts will be on display in a down town window after they are collected. The local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary invites you to share with them in this "Joy of giving to the Joy Shop." Get your package in early next week, please.

Keith Collyer Opens Law Office In Theatre Bldg.

Keith Collyer, formerly of St. Cloud, has arrived in Avon Park with his family and has opened a law office upstairs in the theatre building. Mr. Collyer is a graduate of the University of Florida law school. He served for five years in the army, and saw service in France and Germany as an observation pilot with the 209th field artillery. He received his discharge a month ago.

Mr. Collyer is accompanied to Avon Park by his wife and two children, two boys, aged 23 months and four months. They have purchased a home on Lotela avenue from S. C. Pardee, Jr., where they are residing.

On behalf of the people of Avon Park, The Sun extends greetings to this fine young family and wishes them the best of success.

CIRCLE MEETING POSTPONED

The regular November meeting of the "Covanent Circle" Ladies' Missionary Society of the Congregational Church has been postponed from Nov. 21 to Nov. 28. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Wild, 519 S. Verona ave. All members and women of the church are cordially invited to attend.

New Chevrolet On Display At Irving Ford's

The new 1946 Chevrolet is now on display at the I. H. Ford Motor company, and the public is cordially invited to inspect the new car. There will be no formal showing, Mr. Ford stated, because there will be a limited supply for some time to come, and Ford said he would not attempt to conduct an active sales campaign until there is more hope for delivery.

Embodying the best thinking of automotive designers, the new Chevrolet emphasize classical lines, with a long, flowing sweep from front to back. Chromium plated and stainless steel trim, used with restraint and good taste, highlights the overall design. Streamlining is combined with massiveness and lowness.

The bodies by Fisher, exclusive with Chevrolet in the lowpriced field, provide a combination of style, safety, luxury and durability. Fisher Uni-steel construction means that floors, panels, cowl and turret-top roof are welded to form an all-steel unit. No-draft ventilation is provided.

A Chevrolet feature is the door-action fender, which flows smoothly back half-way into the front doors. The new hood is exceptionally deep and massive.

Interiors are the last word in taste and luxury. Upholstery is superlatively tailored in fabrics that look smarter, wear better and clean more easily.

Pure beauty has been attained by master craftsmen in the design of interior fittings, instrument panel fixtures and home-like conveniences inside the car. The instrument panel is distinctive, too, for its practical arrangements of dials and indicators, contributing to the ease of driving.

Ray Wells Tells Rotarians About Automobile Business

Avon Park Rotarians were entertained during their luncheon meeting, Wednesday by E. R. Wells, who made a talk on the subject of his Rotary classification, which is "Automobiles, Retailing."

Wells told interestingly about the favorable and unfavorable influences of the war on his business. He described the difficulty of maintaining repair service at 1941 price levels and at the same time employing inexperienced mechanics at double pre-war wages, and problem of maintaining a stock of parts, saying that it was necessary to buy from fourteen supply concerns instead of three or four as before the war.

Sales of some items during the war years were three to five times pre-war levels, he stated. Wells told of his experiences in attending Government sales of used trucks some of which were attended by as many as 600 dealers, and the absolute fairness with which these sales are conducted.

Mr. Wells received the congratulations of his fellow clubmen for an interesting and informative talk.

Club president S. F. Longbottom read a letter from Fred M. Bultman, District Governor of Rotary for Florida and member of the Jacksonville Club, in which he advised that the Jacksonville Club is sending in the name of Ken Guernsey as its nominee for the office of President of Rotary International.

Rotarian Guerney of the Jacksonville Club has been active in Rotary for twenty-five years and has served as director and vice-president of the International organization.

Following discussion which reflected much interest in the possibility of having a Florida man elected to that high office, the local club approved a resolution endorsing Guernsey as its nominee for president of Rotary International.

W. M. Elder Died Wednesday Morning At Home

Funeral services for Wiley Milton Elder, 74, resident of Avon Park for the past 17 years, who passed away early Wednesday morning at his home, were held at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. W. M. Mullen, pastor, was assisted in the services by Rev. J. B. Reid of Umatilla, former pastor. Interment was held in Bougainvillae cemetery.

Active casketbearers were Jim Norris, Duncan Palmer, Earl Ware, Fred Smith, C. B. Cannon, and Horace Bryant. Honorary bearers were John H. Hood, T. A. McNicholas, C. F. Kenney, Francis Holland, C. E. Lanier, Dr. A. R. Clark, Gene Barker, H. T. Piety, and Dr. I. W. Chandler.

Mr. Elder was born in Jones County, Ga., March 1, 1871. He was married to Miss Minnie King of Jones county in 1896. The couple, with their family, came to Avon Park in 1928 to make their home. Mrs Elder died Oct. 30, 1937. Before coming to Florida, Mr. Elder farmed on a large scale in Georgia, and since coming to Avon Park, he has been employed in several night watchman jobs. He was formerly night watchman at Lodwick's, and later at a local packing house. It was while he was working as night watchman at a packing house that he suffered a severe fall when the structure caught on fire. He sustained an injury, and, according to his family has since been in feeble health. However, he was up and about, but became seriously ill last Friday night.

Mr. Elder was a loyal member of the First Methodist Church. He was an ardent fisherman, and a great friend of the late Mayor M. E. Covington. He was a familiar figure about the town, and had scores of friends, who will mourn with the family at his passing. He was a devoted father and grandfather.

Surviving relatives include four daughters, Mrs. H. C. Rutledge and Mrs. Spencer Pickett, Avon Park, Mrs. J. P. Harris and Mrs. C. F. Mountain of Clewiston; seven sons, Hope, Ernest, Alton, Raphael, Joe Lee, Ellis and Felton, all of Avon Park, one sister, Mrs. Sue Broach of Cordele, Ga., 20 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Stephenson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

New Members Are Initiated Into Legion Auxiliary

Initiation of new members in the American Legion Auxiliary was the feature of the supper meeting held at the Legion Home on Monday evening. The supper was served buffet style from the long table centered with a bowl of roses.

Mrs. Ben T. Stewart, president, presided at the meeting. Plans were made for sending boxes of gifts to the Christmas Joy Shops at the Veterans hospitals at Bay Pines and Lake City. They will be assembled and shipped the latter part of the month, it was announced.

It was also planned to send boxes of fruit and homemade cookies to the homes in St. Petersburg and Pensacola. The auxiliary will furnish the materials for the cookies, and the Home Economics also has consented to make them.

The members were informed that the Dolly Dozits are available again, and it was voted to secure a supply to sell. This is the handy little pot cleaner that was sold by the auxiliary before the war. Mrs. Ed Welch was appointed chairman of sales.

New members installed were Mrs. Sue Gregory, Mrs. Dan Ellis III, Mrs. R. A. Carver, Mrs. Cora Wray, Mrs. Milton Stockey and Miss Ouida Martin. Installing officers were Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Demos Mandis, Mrs. John H. Hood, Mrs. Dan Ellis, and Mrs. Alice Sherman.

HONOR ROLL NAMES

If there is a service man in your family, whose name is not on the Honor Roll in the mall, please turn that name into the Sun office before next Saturday. At that time a man will be here to inscribe the names that are on hand on the tablet. Please write the name on a slip of paper and either bring or mail it in.

America Must Be Prepared Knowles Says

America must accept the responsibilities that go with strength, for America is a strong nation and must continue to play her part in keeping the peace of the world, Gordon B. Knowles told an Armistice Day crowd here Monday. The past department commander of The American Legion and prominent Bradenton attorney made a stirring patriotic address in the Legion-sponsored program at the band stand.

"Since the last world war," the speaker said, "there has been an element of pacifists in this country who have been preaching the doctrine of the weak. They told us to disband our army, sink our navy and destroy our power to make war. They preached that to be strong — to be prepared — was immoral. There never was a more immoral nor more false doctrine in the world" Knowles said.

"Fortunately," he said, "the youth of our country who were subjected to this doctrine, never succumbed to it, as is shown by their response to the call to arms when our country was again placed in jeopardy by the attacks of our enemies. They were ready, to answer the call in a manner that was a credit to their fathers who answered the call in World War I, and their forebears who fought in other wars. The future peace of the world must be held by the strong, and America has consented to take her place among the leaders."

Knowles expressed his thanks to the young men and women of the country "who stood between me and my enemies" and fought the battles for us. They have earned the undying gratitude of this generation, he said.

The speaker went into the first world war as a second lieutenant and came out with the same rank. He saw service in France and was awarded the Purple Heart. He has three sons, two of them in service now, and one of them has won Purple Heart with a cluster. The third son is too young for the service.

The program opened with the parade led by the high school band, under the leadership of Gene Gorman, director. The Boy Scouts, American Legion and a representation of the American Legion Auxiliary participated in the parade, which was culminated at the band stand.

Rev. Frank E. Walker gave the invocation and the band played America, with the audience, led by A. McKee Elwell, joining in singing this patriotic air.

Mayor E. A. DeLaney introduced the speaker, and following his address, the Gold Star mothers, who were platform guests, were presented corsages by the American Legion. Rev. W. M. Mullen made the presentation. The beautiful patriotic wreath on the platform was placed before the memorial tablet in the mall by Post Commander Roland H. Lee. The colors were placed on either side of the wreath. Taps were sounded in the distance after which the Star Spangled Banner was played by the band. The benediction was given by Rev. E. H. Puryear.

PROMINENT VISITORS HERE SATURDAY

Dr. and Mrs. David Fairchild, of Coconut Grove, Miami, visited Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Donaldson last Saturday. Dr. Fairchild, America's most noted plant life writer and world explorer, is writing another book on horticulture. He gave to the City of Avon Park the several Silk Cotton trees, one of which bloomed this year. In his honor the new park south of Miami has been named the Fairchild Arboretum, which is being developed by Dade County and by donations. Mr. Donaldson, who visited it last year, says it is Florida's only real Arboretum and the most beautiful park in the South. It is open to the public and while accessible during the war only by expensive taxi trips, can again be reached by the busses running south from Miami enroute to Key West. Among other things one may see there is the finest collection of palms anywhere. Some of them Dr. Fairchild collected in remote places of the World.

—IS THIS YOU—

Wearing a checked suit and carrying a large black bag, you were seen by the snooper dooper late Friday afternoon dashing around doing your shopping. As usual you were looking quite chic. You have a light complexion, light brown hair and blue eyes. We hope you know yourself, 'cause we really want you to call at the box office and get the two free tickets waiting there for you to see "Christmas in Connecticut" at the Park Theatre, either Sunday or Monday.

Mrs. M. G. Whitcomb knew herself last week, and claimed her two complimentary tickets.

By GRANTLAND RICE

Grantland Rice

A SPORTS enthusiast asks this one: "What man in football, player or coach, would you pick as the top of the long list in the way of influence upon his team and the game itself?" Oddly enough this is easy to answer. His brilliant career came to an end on March 31, 1931, over 14 years ago, when they picked his broken body out of a wrecked plane in the midwest. The name is Knute Rockne.

I know the lasting influence that such men as Yost, Zuppke, Haughton, Grange, Bierman, Little and many others have had. I know what these men, and others, have meant to football. But I still say Rockne.

Starting as head coach back in 1917 when Notre Dame was well down the football list, Rockne in the next 14 years made Notre Dame the synonym for football greatness, from Los Angeles to New York and Baltimore—from Chicago to Atlanta. Facing a killing schedule of 10 games year after year, his winning record was a phenomenal thing.

But Rockne's winning record was only a small part of the job he did. Almost from the start he gave his squads the finest spirit, year after year, that I have seen. It wasn't so much a matter of gameness, which most football players have. It was a matter of keeness, alertness, smartness, condition and love of the game. He gave his men a brand of sportsmanship that has never been questioned.

An Inspiration

I have never seen a Notre Dame player under Rockne's reign who was not in superb physical condition, barring only those injured in play or practice. He had fine material as a rule, but a good part of this was due to the fact that many budding stars wanted to come to Notre Dame and play under the baldheaded Norwegian.

Strictly as a football coach on the technical side, it would be difficult to rank Rockne above such men as Pop Warner, Hurry-up Yost, Percy Haughton, Bernie Bierman and others who had exceptional coaching careers in their various primes.

Rockne was a fine coach, but hardly the greatest. It was the inspirational side, his complete control of the squad on and off the field, that took him to the front. The bark of his voice had a lift to it that caught and held attention.

I recall the night before an Army-Notre Dame game in New York. Army's scout for Notre Dame games filed this report to the head coach. "Whatever you do, take the kickoff starting the third period, if you can. Don't let Notre Dame get the ball right after they have listened to Rockne between halves. I've found out what that means."

The advice was overlooked. Army kicked off to start the second half and a Notre Dame back on the first play thereafter ran 75 yards for a touchdown with practically every Army defender flat on the back of his neck from the blocking that followed.

Knew Human Nature

I also recall this—when a big game was being played by Notre Dame in either New York or Chicago, visiting coaches sometimes numbering 10 or 12, immediately headed for Rockne's room. They all wanted to visit with Rock, who also had a keen sense of humor, a gift for repartee and what it takes to supply cheerful, friendly entertainment. Rock's personality was always an outstanding feature. He knew human nature, how to handle men, including his famous top sergeant, the redoubtable Hunk Anderson, who on occasions was about as easy to handle as a Bengal tiger or a Numidian lion. Something like 80 of his players left Notre Dame to coach at other colleges.

But it wasn't so much the Notre Dame shift or any other part of the Rockne system that such coaches as Frank Thomas, Harry Mehre, Elmer Layden, Buck Shaw, Jimmy Crowley, Harry Stuhldreher, Rip Miller, and many, many others carried to their teams. It was more the Rockne contribution in the way of condition, spirit and smartness. I have seen many slightly dumb football teams. I never saw a dumb Notre Dame team that I can now recall.

It is for these and other reasons that I rank Rockne on top when it comes to his influence upon the game—not only when he was alive but 14 years after his death.

Best Football Section

The football query most often asked by servicemen is this: "Which section of the country turns out the strongest football teams, taking a general average year after year?"

The only answer we could offer was that it is the Midwest. When you have a section year after year that can turn out such teams as Notre Dame, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, you have a mass of gridiron talent that is hard to beat.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Crises in China and Indies Threaten Peace in Far East; Foresee Substantial Wage Gains

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Given noisy welcome by populace, marines arrive in Tientsin, China, to occupy port after Jap surrender. As crowds cheer, this leatherneck enjoys spin in bicycle rickshaw.

PACIFIC:
No Peace

Though Japan has laid down her arms, peace has not yet come to the Pacific, what with Chinese nationalists and communists at swords points and Indonesians seeking their independence from Dutch rule.

U. S. troops stood in the middle as Chinese nationalists squared off against the communists, with marines guarding the vital coal mines and rail route around the shipping port of Chinwangtao in the troublesome northern zone.

Heretofore, the communists have considered this territory their especial domain, and until Chiang Kai-shek's troops set foot upon it after disembarking from U. S. vessels, no nationalist forces had ever challenged Red control there. While the communists withdrew in the face of nationalist landings at Chinwangtao, they remained active to the west, cutting rail routes over which Chiang could deploy his armies.

With the U. S. supporting the nationalists and the Russians having recently promised to keep hands off of Chinese politics, Chiang has enjoyed every advantage in his effort to extend his domination over the country. While his representatives have haggled with the Reds over terms in Chungking, Chiang has cleverly pressed his edge in the north.

President Soekarno

Meanwhile, natives of the East Indies, led by President Soekarno of their recently established republic, looked to conferences with Allied authorities to clear their claims for independence. Strongly organized early this year when the fortunes of their Jap conquerors began falling, the Indonesians presently represent a formidable trouble-making force hoping to browbeat the Dutch into terms.

The Mr. Big of the independence movement, Soekarno was kept busy trying to quell Indonesian hot-heads whose outbreaks threatened his control of the situation and promised to weaken his hands in dealing with the Dutch.

WAGE POLICY:
Labor Sees Gain

Though President Truman left the way for reconversion wage settlements up to the collective bargaining of employers and unions, labor looked to the administration program to pave the way for substantial pay increases within the stabilization structure.

By appealing for maintenance of high wartime "take-home" pay, and declaring business well able to absorb the added costs, or eligible for moderate price increases, Mr. Truman was seen to apply pressure on management at a time when attention is being focused on the all-important wage negotiations in the automobile, oil and steel industries.

In enunciating his reconversion wage policy to a radio audience estimated at 32,000,000, the President did so only after administraton consultations with both big business and labor leaders. As a result of one of these conferences with Henry Ford II, government officials expressed confidence a satisfactory settlement could be arranged in the company's plant, setting an industry-wide pattern.

While the President said industry generally was capable of extending wage increases because of overtime elimination, greater productivity per worker, tax credits for lower earnings and abolition of the excess profits levy, he promised that price boosts would be granted after a trial period if the added costs resulted in operating losses.

Meantime, price rises would be considered in cases where industries raised wages to a full 28 per cent to cover added living costs since January, 1941; boosted pay to iron out differences in plants in the same industries or localities, or paid more to attract workers to essential enterprises to speed up reconversion.

With the government's wage policy established, representatives of management and labor met in Washington, D. C., to establish machinery for settling differences.

FARM PRICES:

Substantial gains in prices received by farmers for truck crops, grains and cotton were primarily responsible for a two-point upturn in the general level of prices received by farmers to 199 per cent of its August, 1909-July, 1914 average in mid-October, the department of agriculture reported. October parity prices reached another new 25-year high as prices paid by farmers for commodities, interest and taxes, advanced.

AGRICULTURE:
1946 Prospects

Though the government intends no leveling off of over-all production next year and demand for food should remain high, real farm income may drop as much as 15 per cent during 1946 in reflecting increases in some prices of what farmers buy, the department of agriculture predicted.

Despite a 15 per cent drop in real income—that is, what income will actually buy in goods, etc.—it will still remain double the prewar average, the department reported. However, any kind of a decrease would be the first since 1935.

Predictions of a drop in real income for 1946 followed reports that the government would soon outline production goals for next year, asking for maintenance of present livestock and hog marketings and wheat and corn acreage; increased plantings of cotton and sugar beets, and sharp cuts for eggs and chickens and oil bearing crops. Milk and potatoes would be scheduled for smaller reductions.

FUEHRER'S END:
Died With Eva

Answering repeated rumors of Hitler's escape from Berlin, British intelligence declared that an exhaustive investigation had indicated that the fuehrer had shot himself in the bunker of the reichchancellery on April 30 and his consort, Eva Braun, had followed him in death by taking poison.

Though broken in health, Hitler remained alert in mind to the end, the British found, and even held hopes for a successful defense of Berlin after his decision to remain in the capital on April 22 and abandon plans for a last-ditch stand in the Bavarian mountain redoubt. When the Russians continued to hammer forward, however, hope faded and Hitler and his mistress were married on April 29, climaxing a long, secret relationship.

Bidding his personal followers in the reichchancellery goodbye the next day, Hitler then shot himself through the mouth while his mate took poison, the British said. Per the fuehrer's last orders, Propaganda Minister Goebbels and Deputy Leader Bormann then saturated the bodies with gasoline and burned them beyond recognition. It is also believed that the remains may have been further broken up and then buried.

More Shoes on Way

With production for November and December expected to hit 30 million pair a month, shoes soon should become plentiful, with dealers able to replenish stocks curtailed by former wartime regulations and runs made upon stores following the removal of rationing.

At 20,000,000 pairs per month in August, the output began to spurt after V-J day, reaching 28,000,000 for October.

Warn of Traffic Hazards

As chairman of the National Safety council's committee on winter driving hazards, made up of 30 experts in fields of traffic and transportation, Prof. Ralph A. Moyer of Iowa State college warned that the coming snow and ice season may cause one of the worst "traffic accident winters" in history.

With a study of recent years showing traffic accident death rates for 36 northern states 24 to 53 per cent higher in the winter than in the summer months, Moyer said, the combination of more and older cars, more gas and more "restraint weary" drivers may result in the worst season in history. Drivers in snow belt states must consider dangerous road conditions and should immediately check their brakes, tire chains, windshield wipers, defrosters, and headlights.

Concerning future auto and truck models, Professor Moyer said manufacturers are giving more consideration to safety and practical fender styling for easier installation of anti-skid chains without impairing streamlining. New windshield and window designs, defrosters and headlights also improve winter visibility.

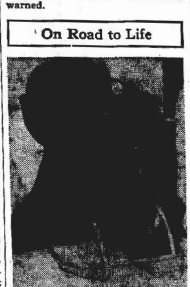
GERMANY:
Foresee Trouble

Because of widespread unemployment, food and fuel shortages and murder and looting by displaced persons, serious outbreaks may occur in Germany over the winter, General Dwight D. Eisenhower reported.

Eisenhower's statement followed disclosure of a survey that the Germans generally had praise for the occupation of the British, were irked by seeming American indifference to conditions and fostered a deep hatred for the Russians. The statement also came on top of demands in some circles that the Allies lay down a clear-cut economic policy for Germany so that normal activity may be restored to relieve the widespread chaos.

German youths and returned soldiers presently constitute the largest trouble-making element, Eisenhower said, with much of their ire directed against frauleins fraternizing with Allied troops and displaced persons. Such discontent could well lead to organized resistance against occupation forces, Eisenhower warned.

On Road to Life



As a result of latest medical wonder, 7-month-old Sandra Evans of Los Angeles, Calif., may soon be cured of formerly fatal cystic pancreal disease, doctors say. Whereas tiny Sandra was not expected to live beyond half-year, physicians predicted complete recovery after treatment under plexi-glass, requiring inhalation of vaporized penicillin diluted in saline solution.

JAP NAVY:
Remnants Doomed

Once proud possessor of the imperial fleet, Japan will be reduced to zero as a sea power following Allied plans for the destruction of Nippon's remaining capital ships and the division of the smaller craft and auxiliaries.

Because differences in design prevent their efficient use by the U. S., Britain, Russia and China, one battleship, four cruisers, four aircraft carriers and 51 submarines will be sent to the bottom, with the battleship expected to serve as a target for an atomic bombing test. Indicative of the differences of bigger Jap warships, space between decks is 6 inches shorter than in other navies, thus cramping their use by taller people.

Some 38 destroyers built according to usable specifications will be divided among the Big Four along with coastal and auxiliary vessels. In constructing their destroyers, it was learned, the wily Nipponese solicited plans from shipbuilders, copied them and then returned them as unsatisfactory, escaping payment for their use.

BEVERAGE TAXES:

Federal revenues from distilled spirits have increased steadily from the $163,996,710 recorded in 1934 to $1,408,368,230 in 1944, the New York Trust company points out.

Although state revenues from distilled spirits cannot be totaled as accurately as the federal because of the complexity of state revenue regulations and the manner of collection, there is little question but that the sale of distilled spirits forms a substantial part of state income, the company found.

Fundamentals Needed In Postwar Education

Courses Must Be Centered Around Core of Subjects Stressing Human Relations; Physical Build-up Also Important.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W.,
Washington, D. C.

(This is the second of two articles on the "new reconversion," this one in education.)

In a previous column I laid before you the vital need of reconverting our educational system if America is going to meet the challenge of other ideologies to the faith in our democratic institutions. I pointed out how poorly many of our occupation forces are testifying to their democratic convictions in the face of the geniality of our former enemies.

I took you into the office of Commissioner of Education John Studebaker who pointed out to me how reconverting educationally is as important as reconverting industrially if we are going to meet the problems of the day. Dr. Studebaker said that this could be achieved by making a solid core of education available to all. Such a core would be composed of certain basic studies which educators believe are essential to a solidarity of democratic thought. The commissioner of education sees this core as a reinforcement of mental iron in the moral structure of the nation.

When you talk about making this core available to all, that is not the complete picture. Men like Doctor Studebaker would have this group of basic studies required of all students, not just made available to them. And thereby, say the traditionalists, hangs a threat to the elective system under which many institutions of learning have been comfortably educating students. Under the system of free choice, College Joe and College Jane could pick the courses their hearts desired. If their hearts desired a little extra sleep in the morning, they could pick classes that would not require early rising. If extra-curricular activities were particularly heavy one semester, they did not have to take economics which was hard when Turkish architecture was a snap.

Too many students have been coming out of our institutions of learning without a basic concept of what our democracy is all about, say the educators who are crying for reconversion. If they don't select the courses that will give them that concept, they must be required to take them, these same men say—the future of our way of life is at stake.

Education Vital Force in State

It is a well-known fact that before the Nazis ever dreamed of world conquest they first restrained by force, those who were too old or too wise to accept Nazi indoctrination. The more malleable minds of the young were filled with the false doctrines of subordination to the state, race hatred and exaltation of might. Their other anti-democratic and anti-Christian principles were poured into the youth until there was produced a state in which the controlling element of the population was fanatically loyal to Naziism.

Democracy and Christian principles once instilled can produce just as strong a loyalty, just as enduring a faith, but there is a minimum of instruction in their true meaning that must be made available to everyone—more than that, that should be required study of everyone who would be a good citizen. This is the first way in which the destructive forces which are working against democracy can be arrested.

And so Doctor Studebaker presents the idea of a "core" around which can be built an understanding of the whole democratic system; how its parts can be fitted into one another and into a world which must either be closely integrated or explosively antagonistic.

There is not space here to consider the details of the composition of this core. Two examples of the type of studies which Doctor Studebaker feels are essential, and which must be taught much more comprehensively and for a longer period than they are now, was given in the first article. They are economics and geography. There must be basic understandings and skills in the field of language. By that the commissioner means the channels by which we communicate and are communicated with—reading, writing, listening, speaking. Since radio broadcasts are heard daily by multiplied millions, critical listening should be a vital part of the basic educational program.

Since freedom of expression is an essential attribute of a democracy, citizens need to develop critical thinking in order to evaluate the powerful influence of communication and propaganda constantly brought to bear on them.

War Exposes Academic Weaknesses

During the war, certain major weaknesses in our educational system were bluntly exposed. Total rejections in the war for physical, psychiatric and educational reasons have been almost as numerous as the number of men who served in the army overseas. We may or may not need our young men to fight another war, but regardless of this, we need to improve school programs of health and physical education, including the early discovery of remediable defects to be corrected by family physicians and public health agencies. A nation that would be strong, must be strong physically.

Military authorities have also found a major weakness in the work of the schools in the failure to require older students to carry mathematics to the point of practical mastery.

The natural sciences gained a larger place in the field of education during the war, and they should continue to do so, according to Commissioner Studebaker. No adequate understanding of our civilization is possible without considerable knowledge of them. Moreover, many careers in trade, technical, professional and scientific pursuits, whether of industry, business or agriculture, are handicapped without a thorough scientific groundwork, laid in the elementary and secondary schools and for many, continued in the colleges and universities.

But one of the most basic segments of the core, in the opinion of Dr. Studebaker, should be made up of the social studies. It is upon this group that we have leaned most heavily in training for responsible citizenship — and this must continue. History and the other social studies are essential to the grounding of our citizens in the American tradition of political liberty, a knowledge of the structure of our republican form of government, and a firm attachment to the democratic faith, Doctor Studebaker says.

I said that it is the belief of important educators that a core of this type must become a "must" in the curricula of the nation, thereby casting overboard the traditional elective system whereby a student is given pretty much free choice in what he will study. This new approach is emphasized in one of the most widely quoted documents of recent publication, the Harvard study entitled, "General Education in a Free Society." This work has startled a number of people coming as it does from the institution that saw the elective system reach its most extreme form, for it recommends the abandonment of that system. In this document, the chief priest of the elective system points out the weaknesses of that long-cherished method.

Of course, it is one thing to set up curricula that will insure the fact that those attending school will get the basic studies. It is another to see that these required subjects are made available to all. Is it possible to produce and democratically distribute this basic core to all America?

Not yet. That is another must in the new reconversion. The expenditures now made on this priceless commodity are inadequate. But I am not dealing here with the finances of education. That is a subject in itself. Suffice it to say that even with greater funds this product, as blue-printed by the experts, cannot be produced in the existing plants any more than the peacetime models and types of industrial commodities can be produced by machines equipped for war production. Nor is the personnel and the training of that personnel adequate.

Seemed the Ultimate in Landlubber's Paradise

A group of bluejackets were discussing their dislike for ships, boats and all bodies of water, salt or fresh. They spoke of their personal postwar plans, and each tried to outdo the others in his vows to obliterate every vestige of the navy from memory. At last one boy voiced a plan that seemed to top them all.

"After the war I'm going to put a pair of oars on my shoulder and start walking inland," he said, "And the first place I come to where people ask, 'What are those things?'—that's where I'm going to live!"

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

The 24 million American passenger automobiles that survived the war need 50 million new tires, according to Government estimates.

New passenger tires will continue to be all-synthetic for some time to come.

It takes 450 rubber trees and two men a year, working full time, to produce a ton of natural rubber.

The work of inscribing names on headstones has been made easier by development of a rubber sandblast stencil sheet.

The first commercial application of B. F. Goodrich Company's "Torsilastic" rubber spring is in 1,000 twin-coach buses to be produced this year.

It's Roast Turkey Time Again!
(See Recipe Below)

Time for Thanks

The first peacetime Thanksgiving in America for several years can really be a thankful one. It sees loved ones coming home to be with their families once more. The family cupboards, though bare in almost every other country, are full here. Yes, it can really be a thankful Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving is a very "homey" sort of holiday. Families and neighbors gather and share their year's harvest. The food, too, is of the homey type: Mr. Turkey, proud, plump and bursting with good stuffing; crisp, crackly cranberries; hot, fluffy rolls, relishes fresh from the cupboard in the cellar; and, of course, the crowning touch, pumpkin pie, shiny and plain or topped with whipped cream, if you wish.

One of the nicest centerpieces for a Thanksgiving table is made of fruit. There are rosy-cheeked apples, golden-hued pears, flaming oranges, all woven with strings of cranberry and clusters of grapes. Yes, pretty, and good to eat, too!

An easy way to serve is to have cups of chilled cider in the living room before the serious business of dinner begins. Don't forget to pass crackers, salted nuts, and relishes with the first course. Or, if the weather is a mite chilly, try hot cupfuls of tomato juice, spiced up with a bit of lemon juice. These will help break the ice and bring the folks to the table in a jovial mood.

How to Prepare Turkey.

Singe the bird by holding over a flame. Remove pin feathers with knife or tweezers. Remove oil bag from tail.

If internal organs have not been removed by the butcher, make an opening carefully under one of the legs, or at the vent, and remove them carefully, taking care that the gall bladder which lies near the liver is not broken. The intestines, gizzard and liver should all be removed together.

The lungs and kidneys which lie near the backbone must also be removed. Clean the gizzard by cutting through to the inner coat, half way around, take off the outer coat and remove the bag which is inside.

The giblets, which are the gizzard, liver and heart, should be washed carefully, placed in cold water, heated quickly and cooked until tender.

Wash the bird thoroughly inside and out, and rub the body cavity with salt before stuffing. Fill lightly with dressing.

To truss the fowl (this is done after stuffing) tie end of skin of neck with string, leaving two long ends to pull it over the back. Turn wings back and legs to front, close to body. Draw string up, on each side over legs, cross it and tie legs down under and around the tail.

Making the Dressing.

Dressings may be of any type to suit the individual taste, but they should be packed into the body cavity lightly. Allow one cup of stuffing for each pound of turkey or chicken.

Bread Stuffing.
(Makes 3 cups)

4 cups dry bread cubes
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Sage or poultry dressing
⅓ cup melted fat
Hot water or stock to moisten

Combine bread, onion and seasonings. Add fat and sufficient liquid to moisten (about ⅔ cup).

Oyster Dressing: Add ½ to 1 pint drained, chopped oysters, uncooked or heated in the fat of the above recipe.

Raisin Stuffing: Add ½ cup seedless raisins.

Celery Stuffing: 1½ cups celery, chopped, should be added.

Roasting Time.

For a turkey weighing eight to ten pounds, use a 325-degree oven and roast the bird, uncovered, for 3 to 3½ hours. For a 10 to 14 pound bird, use a 325-degree oven and allow 3½ to 4 hours. For a larger bird, 14 to 18 pounds, use a 300-degree oven and allow 4 to 4½ hours.

Onions Au Gratin.
(Serves 6)

Peel 3 cups small white onions and boil until almost tender in boiling salted water. Prepare 1½ cups medium white sauce. Place onions in greased baking dish, pour white sauce over them, and cover with ¾ cup grated cheese and 3 tablespoons buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven about 10 minutes, enough to heat through.

Brussels Sprouts.

Clean the sprouts and soak for 10 to 15 minutes in cold, salted water. Boil with a small amount of water until just barely tender and then add melted butter and salt and pepper. Cooked, chopped chestnuts may also be added before serving, if desired.

There's nothing quite like a good pumpkin pie to finish off this dinner of dinners. Now that whipped cream is back again, the pie can come to the table, topped with glorious swirls of that luscious delicacy. Or, if you prefer, make a meringue and flavor it with maple syrup and then spread on the pie and brown before serving.

Pumpkin Pie.

2 cups cooked or canned pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup cream
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 cups milk

Mix all ingredients together in the order given. Bake in a deep dish pie plate which has been lined with pastry. When cool, top with sweetened, whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped pecans.

LYNN SAYS

Let's make good pie crust: Excellent pastry is the result achieved from careful measurements and little handling. A good standard proportion is 1 cup flour, ⅓ cup fat, and ⅓ teaspoon salt. For double this recipe, not more than ¼ cup of cold water should be used.

All ingredients should be well chilled before working. This is especially important when the fat is being worked into the flour. In this case the fat does not melt, but is rather coated with the flour, and the method makes for flakier pastry.

If too much water is added, the manipulation necessary to shape the dough and roll it out develops the gluten. This makes a sticky dough and tough crust. If too little water is added, the crust is crumbly rather than flaky because there is not enough moisture to bind the crust.

By VIRGINIA VALE

THERE'S a line of dialogue in the script for International's "The Stranger," where Loretta Young confides to Orson Welles that she's a victim of acrophobia. That word threw everyone in the cast but Welles. "It's a fear of high places," said he. "I know because I used to have it myself. I cured myself by mountain climbing in the Alps; picked out the sheerest drops I could find and stared over the edge." But—for "The Stranger" they built the highest set ever erected in Hollywood, a 13-story church spire; Edward G. Robinson, Loretta and Welles do a dramatic scene part way up it. And who was it who had an attack of acrophobia? Why Orson Welles!

ROBERT BENCHLEY

Robert Benchley appears in Hollywood Victory Caravan, the all-star featurette sponsored by the war activities committee, Hollywood division, acting for the U. S. treasury department, for the Victory Loan drive. Benchley appears with a stellar cast of 20 other notables, in the screen world.

Penny Singleton was sort of worried about her role in "Young Widow"; after seven years of playing the comic-strip "Blondie" on the screen—her contract with Columbia Pictures calls for her to do three "Blondie" pictures a year—she was afraid she'd suddenly go cavorting around the way she does as "Dagwood's" spouse. There's a screwball comedienne in "Young Widow," but Marie Wilson plays her. Penny had wanted to play a different role, and Hunt Stromberg, who brought her to the screen eight years ago in "After the Thin Man," gave her what she wanted; she plays a perfectly normal person, the wise, understanding friend of the heroine, Jane Russell.

Boris Karloff has been establishing a broadcasting record since he left Hollywood following completion of his role in RKO's "Bedlam." Nine programs in sixteen days, including three appearances on "Inner Sanctum" have kept him busy.

Sitting through a Jap-made movie is the last word in agony, according to Tom Neal, who plays the title role in "First Yank into Tokyo." Neal, cast as an American serviceman who undergoes facial surgery, so that he can pretend to be a Jap sergeant, for intelligence purposes, had to sit through "Kimona" 21 times, studying the performance of the Japanese star of the picture.

Constance Moore, "Gloria Dean" on "Hollywood Mystery Time," has a four-year-old daughter, Gina, who's pretty smart. Connie was telling a friend she was "sans cook and sans nurse." Gina looked up and inquired "Are they related to Sans Claus?"

There's a lot of kidding in the script of the Burns and Allen show about George's singing voice. What very few people know is that Gracie's long-suffering spouse actually began his theatrical career as one of "The PeeWee Quartet," at the age of 12.

Howard Barlow has no piano in his "Harvest of Stars" orchestra; instead, beautiful Elaine Vito plays the harp. Motion picture companies have tried to tempt her to try her luck on the screen, but she prefers New York, where she plays in Toscanini's orchestra. She is also playing in Alex Stordahl's, while Frank Sinatra is broadcasting from New York. So why bother with Hollywood?

ODDS AND ENDS—Danny Kaye, "Wonder Man" star, is the first screen star to perform for U. S. forces occupying the Tokyo area—entertained 3,000 servicemen in the Neiji Shrine stadium. . . . Seems hard to imagine Ethel Barrymore as the mother in "Little Women"; she's to play that role in Selznick's Technicolor version of the story. . . . Gavin George makes his first film appearance in several years in "Notorious"; 10 years ago, in "Romance," he was Greta Garbo's leading man. . . . Barry Fitzgerald and his stand-in held a two-man chess tourney between scenes of Paramount's "The Stork Club"—they were cheered on by Betty Hutton.

CONGRATULATIONS
(From Wauchula Advocate)

Avon Park's $80,000 school bond election to provide funds for a new gymn and additional school rooms carried in an election last week by a vote of 297 to 53. The bonds will provide six new class rooms, a gymnasium, heating plant and additional land for future improvements.

Congratulations to that progressive school district.

Hardee County recently had an opportunity to raise $150,000 to be used for a new high school building in Wauchula without cost to the taxpayers, but the plan didn't suit the school board members. As a result the education of the high school students will be greatly retarded and the institution keeps its place in the tail-end division of the state's high schools..

A sad commentary for a community which at one time boasted one of the best high schools in the state.

Dr. Dillard Nix Married Nov. 11 In Commerce, Ga.

The following announcement in the Commerce, Ga., paper will be of cordial interest to Avon Park friends of Dr. Dillard L. Nix of Avon Park:

Announcement was made in the Herald last week of the engagement of Miss Jeannette Sharpe of Commerce and Dr. Dillard Lafayette Nix of Avon Park, Fla., the wedding to be solemnized on November 11.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. L. J. Sharp and the late Dr. Sharp. She graduated from Commerce High School in the class of 1938 and for the past few years has been employed at Candler Field in Atlanta.

Her mother is the former Miss Pauline Shankle, daughter of the late S. M. and Victoria Shankle, pioneers of Commerce.

The groom-elect is a graduate of Commerce High School and the University of Georgia. He served his interneship in Augusta, Ga., and is now located in Avon Park, Fla. He is the son of Mrs. Dillard M. Nix and the late Mr. Nix, of Commerce.

Roy Maddox And Eleanor Gould Are Married

Miss Eleanor A. Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis W. Gould and Roy D. Maddox AOM 2/c of the Carrier U. S. S. Wasp, son of Howard C. Maddox of Avon Park, were married on Navy Day, Oct. 27 in Somerville, Mass.

The bride was attractively gowned in white taffeta, with which she wore a fingertip veil, fashioned with an orange blossom head dress. She carried a white prayer book, topped with a white orchid and sprays of stephanotis.

Miss Ruth Cummings of Arlington and East Port, Maine, maid of honor, wore a blue chiffon formal, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

John J. Mills AOM 1/c, of Washington, D. C., attended the groom as best man.

The couple is expected here this week end for a visit at the groom's home. He will report to the redistribution center in Miami on Dec. 6.

Business Women's Circle Met At Mrs. E. A. Martin's

The Business Women's Circle of the Baptist WMS met at the home of Mrs. E. A. Martin Tuesday evening. Mrs. Martin, chairman, presided and Mrs. J. B. Coen, Jr., led the opening prayer. Plans were made to have a program within the circle, at the next meeting, which will be at the church at 7:30, Monday, Nov. 26. After the business meeting, and a prayer by Mrs. H. A. Baughan, Mrs. Coen taught the lesson covering the first six chapters of Ezra.

During the social hour, the hostess served dainty refreshments of Fiesta punch with frosted cup cakes and cheese crackers.

Mrs. Myrl Grace And F. Farabee Are Married

Mrs. Myrl Campbell Grace and Franklin Farabee were married Monday, Nov. 1 in Dothan, Ala. The bride chose for her wedding an attractive blue wool dress, with which she wore black accessories, and a corsage of white roses. She has recently visited her cousin, Mrs. Henry Marshall in Avon Park, and is a sister of Grady and Buford Campbell of this city. They will make their home in Ozark, Ala.

The groom, a private first class with the ground forces of the air corps, served overseas for 22 months. He recently received his discharge from the service.

Outstanding appearance features of the new 1946 Chevrolet include: new Beauty-Leader Styling; luxurious Body by Fisher; new Wide-Wing radiator grille; new hood ornamentation; new two-tone color harmonies; distinctive new instrument panel; and massive new "Car-Saver" bumpers both front and rear.

Notable engineering features include: Chevrolet's proved Valve-in-Head Thrift-Master Engine for performance with economy; the famous Unitized Knee-Action Ride for comfort; Extra-Easy Vacuum-Power Shift and Shockproof Steering for driving ease; and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for smooth, safe, positive stops.

For years, Chevrolet has been the most economical of all largest-selling low-priced cars, from the all-round standpoint of gas, oil, tires and upkeep; and the new Chevrolet for 1946 is designed and built to maintain this reputation for highest quality at low cost. Be sure to see this beautiful new car at your Chevrolet dealer's.
