Our Men In The Service

Fred Lassiter, son of Mrs. Della Lassiter, Avon Park, Florida, has been honorably discharged from the Army Air Forces, it was learned today. Lassiter's last duty station was at the Air Transport Command's Ferrying Division base near Reno, Nev., and he received his discharge at the Camp Blanding separation center.

Lassiter enlisted at Camp Blanding June 1941.

Pvt. Spencer Pickett, who has been overseas two monthrs, is now stationed on the island of Leyte, according to word received by his wife. He has been transferred from the infantry to the post office division and is chief clerk.

Arthur Gregory, seaman 2/c, U. S. Navy, has completed his boot-training at the naval base at Bainbridge, Md., and is home on a nine day leave with his mother, Mrs. Sue Gregory.

Bill Goolsby Discharged

Bill Goolsby, who left here with the Headquarters Battery in 1940, has been discharged from the service, after two years overseas and is here visiting his sister, Mrs. Virgil Hall and family. Bill later transferred to the 805th Field Artillery and went overseas with that outfit as a corporal. He has been in every country in Europe, and among other citations, has five battle stars. He was discharged with 121 points.

Ray Mathis Discharged

Ray Mathis, also a corporal, was a member of Headquarters Battery and left Avon Park with that group in 1940. After two years overseas service, he has his discharge and says he is glad to be back home.

Eddie Clark Discharged

Eddie Clark, who has recently returned to the states, received his discharge in Savannah, Ga., Tuesday and has returned home. He was with the 87th (Acorn) division, Field Artillery and was in France, Belgium, and Germany.

THREE SONS HOME AT ONE TIME

For the first time in nearly five years, Mrs. Victoria Porter has all three of her sons home at one time. Grady Porter, boatswain mate 2/c, stationed in San Francisco is home on 38 day leave. Harold Porter, who was a sergeant at Vero Beach, has been discharged and is here with his wife and mother. He and his family will go to Chicago to live. Pvt. Phillip Porter, has just completed his basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala., and is home on furlough.

Keeping On The Go With The USO

The above title, though previously apropos, is now misleading, for the USO is now on the "out-go." The war has been won, and with demobilization also comes the end of many emergency services. It is hard to realize that this place is now so quiet after having been so busy only a short time ago. Familiar faces are gone. Where, or if we will meet again, nobody knows. One by one the boys and girls have been coming in to say "goodbye" and to express enthusiastic appreciation for the pleasant times, the conveniences and services given them while they were here. Since the doors of this USO opened well over a half million have availed themselves of its facilities. Included in this figure, of course, are thousands who entered the building as often as they would normally enter their homes. Many people will never realize, unless they have intimately experienced USO in operation, the amount of good that has been done throughout the country in this work. We know that the boys will never forget it.

The many volunteers throughout the country, particularly those in Avon Park now, should have a feeling of good work accomplished. They have done their part in the war effort, and the boys who have received their many human kindnesses will carry the effect it made on them to the four corners of the country.

We wish to thank the volunteers publicly, especially those who, even by great sacrifice, never failed to help us out regularly each week. And the civic and church groups, who time and again never hesitated to help when help was needed. We could not have operated without them.

Club hours and all activities, of course, are curtailed now; and perhaps will be altogether discontinued soon. Club hours are: 10 to 5 on week days, 10 to 10 on Saturdays, and 1 to 10 on Sundays. As for the length of time we will be here.—perhaps one or two months before the final close-out procedures will be completed.

—IS THIS YOU—

At exactly 3:15 o'clock Friday afternoon you were walking along in front of Wells motor company. You had on a luscious lime green sweater (looked good enough to eat), a plaid skirt and loafers, and you carried a big brown bag. Know yourself and call at the box office of the Park Theatre for two free tickets to the Sunday or Monday show. You will enjoy seeing Salome Where She Danced in technicolor.

Mrs. Paul A. McFarland knew herself last week and claimed her complimentary tickets.

Woman's Club Has Its First Meeting Friday

Miss Avis Slaughter, librarian at the city library, was guest speaker at the first meeting of the Woman's Club held Friday afternoon at the club house. In keeping with the club study for the year, which is "Rivers," Miss Slaughter gave the first of the series of talks on the subject. Her subject was the St. Johns River, and her informative talk pertained to the history of the communities woven around this beautiful river of Florida. She recounted historical stories about the river, and in following the trail of the river as it wound itself on its way, touched on interesting bits of state history.

The club theme for the year, "Youth Activity in the Community" was forcibly stressed by the president, Mrs. Chas F. Kenney, as the highlight of the business meeting. Mrs. Earl H. Ware is chairman of the committee on setting up the youth center in the community, and Mrs. Jack Head has been named permanent chairman of the teen-age group.

The club is furthering the movement to secure the USO building, formery the Armory, and its furnishings for use as a recreational center. The city has stated the building could be used for this purpose, Mrs. Kenney stated to the club, and a bid has been submitted for the furniture. Encouraging news has been received from headquarters in Atlanta, in connection with purchase of the furniture, Mrs. Kenney informed the club.

The club is working with the chamber of commerce to establish a community band shell, and beautification of a recreational center on the shore of Lake Verona, the president stated.

The printed year books, in the club colors were distributed, and the club voiced enthusiasm of the book with its attractive color, featuring an orange cluster. On the cover page is shown the dates of the club meetings, the location, and the date the club was organized and federated. The Pledge to the Flag and the collect on the following page, is following by the list of officers and standing committee chairman, the program, a list of past presidents and the years each served, and a complete roster of the club membership.

The district meeting, in the form of an all day meeting will be held in Avon Park, Oct. 21, the president announced. Among prominent club women to be present will be Mrs. Joseph Gray of Haines City, state president; Mrs. McKay, Orlando, state vice president, and Mrs. Wm. Steitz, Lakeland, outgoing director. The report of the nominating committee for district nine will be heard at the meeting, and officers will be elected.

The president appointed Mrs. E. G. Todd and Mrs. P. L. Rumpsa, as a committee on arrangements for the luncheon, Mrs. G. P. Thayer, chairman of the courtesy committee, and Mrs. J. Paul Garber in charge of music.

Mrs. W. C. Touchton was named chairman of the devotional period for the year, and Mrs. C. L. Armstrong, Mrs. Touchton, and Mrs. Earl W. Hartt, committee in charge of club property.

The president spoke briefly on the School Bond Issue, and urged members to vote favorably in the coming election.

The club went on record as requesting the city to turn back on all of the lights on the mall. A recent ruling was to the effect that every other light be turned off. The club feels that at the beginning of the tourist season, it is an inopportune time to put this economic measure into effect.

The annual Hallowe'en Carnival will be held Saturday, Oct. 27. Mrs. Earl W. Hartt and Mrs. D. G. Perry were named general chairman of the arrangements. Other committees will be appointed by the president.

Mrs. Touchton, Mrs. Todd and Mrs. C. O. Locke were named as members of the nominating committee.

During the social hour after the meeting, the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. A. C. Wester and Mrs. W. S. Rawlings served dainty cookies and punch. A colorful arrangement of Scarlet Exora in a low bowl, graced the president's table.

City To Dust With DDT To Eradicate Flies and Mosquitos

City officials have ordered a sufficient amount of 10 percent DDT dust to go over the city for fly and mosquito control. Spreading of the dust will be under the direction of Bob Still, superintendent of public works, and R. E. Hodge, county sanitary officer.

The city is to be commended for prompt action in getting to work on this eradication campaign, and the public is urged to cooperate with Mr. Still and Mr. Hodge in the application of this dust.

Fred M. Bultman District Governor Visits Rotary Club

Fred M. Bultman, Governor of the 167th District of Rotary International, paid an official visit to the Avon Park Club last Wednesday, and addressed the luncheon meeting at the Jacaranda hotel.

Governor Bultman outlined in his address the expansion of the Rotary movement since its founding in 1905 with the organization of the Chicago Club, up to the present World wide organization of 5,425 clubs with a membership of 245,000, being a gain of 18,200 members and 230 clubs during the year since July 1st, 1944. "In peace, in war, in prosperity, in depression," he told his listeners, "regardless of the cycle in which we move, whether up or down, Rotary continues to grow and thrive."

Governor Bultman in reminding his audience of the responsibilities of Rotary membership, said, "Fellowship is the soil in which Rotary thrives and the dividend of fellowship is friendship!" "Art music, literature, science and industry have had their important places in the world progress, but today, it is human relationship that is most needed in the affairs of man."

He emphasized the Rotary slogan "Service above self" when he said: "We spend more of our waking hours in our businesses or professions than in any other one thing and it is in these operations that we, as individuals, have a really full-time opportunity to practice vocational service." "Vocational service offers us splendid opportunity, not alone to live and let live, but to live and help others live."

At the close of his address, Governor Bultman received the congratulations of all those present for his inspiring talk which developed the theme "Rotary was founded on an Idea that grew into an Ideal."

Following the meeting Governor Bultman presided at a Club Assembly attended by committee chairmen of the local club who made reports of the activities of their committees. He congratulated the committees and the club generally on its spirit and accomplishments.

Red Devils Beat Auburndale 19-6 There Last Friday

The Avon Park High School Red Devils looked like a powerhouse in the first quarter as they defeated the Auburndale Bloodhounds by a 19-6 score. On the fourth down after receiving the opening kickoff the Bloodhounds needed less than a yard for a first down and the Devils held them for no gain at all and took the ball on Auburndale's 38. On the fifth play Jack Rogers, Red Devil left end swept around right end on an end around play for fourteen yards to score. Wever passed to Rogers for the extra point.

Fred Montsdeoca intercepted an Auburndale pass on their 46. Five plays later Sonny Hagan, right end, swept left end on an end around for twenty-two yards to put the ball on the fourteen yard line. A few seconds later, J. C. Walker streaked through the line to score on the final play of the first quarter. Fred Montsdeoca's boot for extra point was blocked.

On the second play of the second quarter, Marker the Auburndale passing ace found left end Stambaugh on a hideout play and the play went sixty yards for a touchdown. The extra point try failed.

For the remaining of the second quarter and the third the game see-sawed as a result of Avon Park fumbles and intercepted Auburndale passes.

In the fourth quarter, Sonny Hagan recovered an Auburndale fumble on the forty-four yard line of Avon Park. On the first play J. C. Walker found a hole in the line and went thirty-five yards before being pulled down from behind, on the Bloodhounds nine. On the next play, Hagan went through center on a beautifully executed quarterback sneak.

Frank Camp and Billy Walker were standouts on defense.

ATTENDS TB MEETING

Mrs. L. W. Martin, executive secretary of the Highlands County Tuberculosis and Health Association, attended the short course in Gainesville, October 1, 2, and 3, for tuberculosis workers. The institute course brought workers up to date on modern methods.

Use of Dorr Not To Affect Avon Hospital

Use of Dorr Field as temporary quarters to house patients of the Chattahoochee state hospital will not interfere in any way with the permanent Florida State Hospital to be built in Avon Park, Col. J. M. Lee stated in a letter to President C. E. Lanier, who reported its contents to a board meeting of the chamber of commerce Thursday night. The Avon Park institution will be built "as provided by law," Lee said.

In part Lee said:

"I am enclosing clipping from local paper giving account of a meeting of the board today (state cabinet meeting Tuesday) in regard to Dorr Field at Arcadia. There was a group here advocating the taking over of these fields. The governor and Mr. Overman are in Washington now to see what can be done. I suggested that whatever was done in the matter need not interfere with the building of the institution at Avon Park and the entire membership present agreed that in the event it was taken over we would go ahead with the building there as provided by law."

This statement has been concurred in by all members of the cabinet and the governor. The state is committed by act of the legislature to build the South Florida branch of the state hospital in Avon Park, and regardless of temporary setups the Avon Park institution will be built.

The chamber of commerce directors voted that assistance be offered to the Woman's Club in obtaining the USO facilities, which are to be converted into a Youth Center. John Hood was appointed as chairman of a committee to work with Mrs. C. F. Kenney, Woman's Club president, and to assist in every possible way to secure the armory building and the USO furniture as a youth center.

It was unanimously agreed to confer honorary membership to the Avon Park chamber of commerce on Senator Wilbur King, in appreciation of his untiring work done toward securing the state hospital.

Meeting of the State Road Department was announced for Monday, October 29, at Ocala, and several members are planning to attend.

A letter from G. T. Baker, president of National Air Lines was read urging that the City of Avon Park file an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board, as provided in the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, proposing that it be designated as an intermediate stop on National Air Lines Route No. 31.

The letter came as a reply to a letter from W. Calvin Pidgeon to National Air Lines. Pidgeon is representing Avon Park in this city's effort to secure aerial transportation.

Must Have Blood Test Before You Marry In Florida

After October 1st, it will be unlawful for any person to marry without first presenting a blood test and a Doctor's certificate.

The blood test and Doctor's certificate must be submitted upon making application for the license, and the test and certificate must not be dated more than 30 days prior to the date of the application for the license.

The test shall consist of a standard serological test as may be necessary for the discovery of syphilis, and may be made in any laboratory in the State of Florida, or any laboratory of a State Board of Health and its branches in other states.

The Doctor's certificate and laboratory report must be on forms prepared by the Florida State Board of Health, which have been submitted to all the Doctor's in Highlands County.

Hendricks Field will take care of the military personnel in the station hospital.

In cases where the examination and test have been made, and the Doctor's certificate refused because one or both of the applicants have been found to be infected with syphilis, the County Judge shall be authorized to issue the license without the certificate, on application of both parties, if he be satisfied by affidavit or other proof that the female is pregnant.

After October 1st, common law marriages will no longer be permitted in Florida.

The information furnished by the Doctor's certificate and laboratory report shall be confidential. However, the State Board of Health is authorized to use the information derived from the Serological test for such follow-up procedures as are required by law, or deemed necessary by said Board for the protection of the public health.

In view of the recent law requiring the three-day posting of notice, Wednesday, September 26th is the very last day upon which application can be made for marriage license without submitting the blood test and doctor's certificate.

Persons seeking further information, may contact J. C. Still, venereal disease investigator of the State Board of Health stationed in Avon Park.

Dr. R. H. Jordan Will Address PTA Thursday Afternoon

The October meeting of the PTA will be held at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the elementary building. Dr. R. H. Jordan, prominent retired educator, will speak to the group on the subject "Problems in Peacetime Education. Nursery Service will be given during the afternoon. A group of teen age girls will care for babies, and small children whose mothers attend the meeting.

The executive board meeting will be held at 7:30 Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. C. L. Davis.

Avon Park War Fund Drive Will Start Next Friday

Avon Park's National War Fund Campaign gets under way here next Friday with a house to house canvass, and a special gift canvass of the business district, according to announcement today of Chairman W. O. Kerr. Canvass for the drive which was to have started Monday morning, is being delayed, awaiting arrival of some supplies from division headquarters, Kerr said.

With strong committees ready to function in every Florida county and everything in readiness to "kick-off" the nation's final National War Fund campaign, Walter L. Hays, president of the Florida Division, expressed full confidence that Floridians would see the job through with an over subscription in record time.

He points out that "a million acts of kindness" for the men and women who must stay on foreign soil and finish the job will be provided through USO clubs and USO-Camp Shows while hospitality and recreation will be made available to 170,000 merchant seamen.

Among other services provided through the agencies served by the Fund is the furnishing of clothing for destitute families, supplying medical aid, blood plasma, vitamins and baby food to fellow beings in war ravaged areas. In short, it means a generous helping hand to millions throughout the world.

The need is beyond comprehension, much greater now than before hostilities ceased. Where the armed forces left off is where the war agencies of the National War Fund take over.

When you are called on for your contribution, be prompt in your response and be generous. America was spared and can afford to be generous.

FARM BUREAU ELECTION

Officers for 1946 to be Elected

The annual election of the Highlands County Farm Bureau will be held at the County Court House, 8 P. M., Friday night, October 19th. This is the regular October meeting of the Bureau and a "bang up" good program has been arranged in addition to th election.

Executive Secretary John Ford of the State Bureau will be present and give a summary of the overall State activities of the organization. Mr. Ford is a "live wire," a good speaker and can give the local members full information on the Farm Bureau work throughout the State.

Mr. Phil S. Taylor, Supervising Inspector of the Florida Department of Agriculture will also address the meeting on inspection carried on by his Department and will particularly discuss the inspection of large livestock and truck scales provided for by a new law passed by the last legislature.

Every Farm Bureau member should make an effort to attend this annual meeting and the public is invited.

F. C. Payne, President

Legion Auxiliary Met Thursday

At a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Customers Room on Thursday evening, at which the president, Mrs. Ben T. Stewart, president, presided, plans were made for coming activities, and current business matters were discussed.

The organization voted to donate $15.00 to the PTA school lunchroom for needed equipment. It was also voted to send $3.00 to Bay Pines for special equipment, and $1.00 to the district fund for incidential expenses.

It was announced that a covered dish supper will be served at the installation meeting to be held Monday, November 12. The president named committees in charge of the arrangements for the supper. Other standing committees were also named at this time.

Cabinet Votes Favorably For Arcadia Field

The Cabinet has voted to make an active bid for acquisition of two closed air fields at Arcadia for State institutional use, but coupled with the move a decision that the action will not interfere with building of a new mental hospital at Avon Park.

The cabinet made its decision after a delegation from Arcadia urged that the State take steps to acquire Dorr and Carlstrom fields under the Federal Surplus Property Act to prevent them from being torn down as two simiiar fields at Arcadia were after the First World War.

State officials have considered using the facilities at the two $1,500,000 fields for a State hospital branch, tuberculosis sanatoria or other institutions.

Hopes For Definite Proposal

Secretary of State Gray said he hoped Governor Caldwell and Improvement Commission Director Overman would return from a Washington conference with some definite proposals on their purchase.

The Legislature appropriated $500,000 to construct a State mental hospital branch at Avon Park and the law designates the site.

Although Superintendent Therrell of the State Hospital has said he could put Dorr or Carlstrom field into operation as a branch in a few weeks, an Avon Park delegation has opposed even temporary use of the Arcadia fields.

Gray told the Arcadia representatives it would be useless to try to convert Dorr or Carlstrom field into a mental institution unless the Avon Park interests and legislative leaders agreed not to raise legal barriers.

Paul P. Speer, president of the DeSoto County Chamber of Commerce, told the cabinet that this community did not want to deprive Avon Park of the mental hospital and was interested in having the state purchase the local fields for some worthy use, and thereby save them from being salvagd as was the case after the other war. Present construction at both fields is of a permanent nature.

State Comptroller J. M. Lee, who hails from Avon Park, and still calls that city his home, supported Speer's argument, stating that he felt sure the Arcadia delegation did not intend to deprive Avon Park of the mental hospital, but they did want some worthwhile use made of the fine installations at Carlstrom and Dorr Fields.

Governor Millard Caldwell was in Washington, and he was immediately advised of the cabinet's action. A press dispatch from Washington, Thursday morning, said that he had already contacted the surplus property board and advised them that the state was primarily interested in saving Carlstrom and Dorr Fields for use as state institutions. No other installations were named, although the governor did say that several others were under consideration.

Training Union Has Supper In Honor Graduates

The Intermediate Training Union of the First Baptist Church held their annual banquet in the basement of the church last Saturday evening. This delightful affair was arranged in honor of the following graduates: Misses Barbara Lawhon and Jeanine Crews, and Henry Wingate, E. C. Wever, Roland Dilley, and Larry Skipper.

The colors of pink, green and white were effectively used in the decorations. The banquet table, in a U shape was beautifully appointed, the delicious menu consisting of roast chicken and all the trimmings, garden peas in potato nests, sliced tomatoes, hot homemade rolls and butter, individual banana and nut salad, iced tea, ice cream and homemade coconut cake.

Miss Ann Puryear was toast mistress for the occasion. Clever toasts were made to Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Puryear; Sgt. Ray Phelps and Mrs. E. C. Wever, leaders of the group; Misses Velora Wicker and Margaret Smith, sponsors; Mrs. Talmage Suggs, director; the graduates from the union; and the new general director, Malcolm Crews. Miss Barbara Jean Harrison was in charge of the singing, and Mrs. Suggs conducted the devotional.

The following were present: Misses Barbara Harrison, Kathryn Howell, Lillie Mae Collins, Barbara Lawhon, Jeanine Crews, Anne Puryear, Anne Pabor, Virginia Adams, Clarice Skipper, Jeanette Jones, and Henry Wingate, E. C. Wever, Ted Ward, Garth Spencer, Charles Davis, Billy Puryear, Roland Dilley, Donald Ford, Malcolm Crews, Miss Velora Wicker, Sgt. Ray Phelps, Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Puryear, and Mrs. Talmage Suggs.

by GRANTLAND RICE

TOO much has already been written about the "T." And yet it is surprising the number of sideliners who keep writing in to ask just what the "T" is and how it works. We'll try, with no promise of success, to make it simple—for the last time.

1. The "T" doesn't demand old-fashioned blocking or hard body pressure. It depends more on speed and deception.

2. It needs a hard-hitting fullback who can split an opened line.

3. It needs a fast-moving back who can circle a massed or tightened line.

4. It demands a good passer who can work with deception and smooth ball-handling.

These latter three qualities put heavy pressure on any defense. The greatest pro "T" I ever saw operate was the old Bear brigade with Luckman, Standlee, Gallernau and McAfee, if my memory isn't too fuzzy. They hit you every known way.

Grantland Rice

The greatest college "T" I ever saw at work was Notre Dame's 1943 outfit with Bertelli, Creighton Miller, Kelly and two or three good fullbacks. They fell far away when Bertelli left, who was not only a great passer but the smoothest and trickiest ball-handler I've seen around. Ask Rip Miller, Captain Johnny Whelchel of Navy or Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech.

It's true that the old Bears and Notre Dame's 1943 squad would have been hard to handle under any system. Material makes the system more than any system ever made material. And material has made more coaches than any coaches ever made material.

The main answer to football success is your playing strength—the forward wall and the backfield—your man power. And don't ever let anyone tell you a different story. Football coaches have done great jobs. Their general average is the highest in sport. But the best still need good football players to have winning teams.

After all, they can't rush out on the field and do their own passing, running, blocking and tackling.

Sports Fans' Squawks

Sports fans who move up into the 50 or 60-million class, ranging from ages between 10 and 80 years, are certainly entitled to their beliefs, their squawks, their praise and their blame.

For, after all, they are the big part of sport, the major part by at least 90 per cent. They pay all the expenses, all the salaries. They make both amateur and pro sports possible. And in too many cases they only get shoddy treatment and take the big shove around by both amateur and professional promoters.

They are taken for granted. They are rarely given any consideration from baseball, football, racing, boxing, golf or other sporting directors.

They are usually the goats, who have grown accustomed to taking the worst of it. Their hardihood and their capacity for punishment is the most amazing feature of sport.

They are too often packed in after the manner of human sardines at race tracks and other sporting centers. They are too often overcharged.

It has been said there is no law that forces them to take this beating. This is true. But they happen to love their games, whether it is boxing, baseball, football, racing, golf or something else.

They are astonished at little courtesies they are so seldom shown anywhere or any time by the hired people who live off their main outlet for recreation and entertainment.

They are really an amazing breed. They take it on the chin and on the shin, back of each ear, in the stomach and also in the pocketbook.

Courses Too Tough

Take golf, for example. It has always been my belief that any golf course should be trapped only for the star player. Put all trouble out beyond the 200 yard mark which the average player can't reach.

The duffer or average player has enough trouble trying to hit the ball or get his bogeys. Why should he pay uncounted millions to make his golfing life more miserable?

We have built too many golf courses against the skill of the pros and the crack amateurs who, after all, give most of their life to golf—and who pay nothing in return.

Who cares whether a pro shoots a 63 or a 58? Why build courses to keep him from breaking par on courses which the average golfer can't handle in a 95?

The Nelsons and the other par-breaking stars are a breed apart. Let them go around in even 3's. Who cares? But why keep punishing the 98 per cent who pay all the freight?

Golf is our greatest playing game for everyone. It is a friendly and a companionable game, demanding its share of psychology, philosophy, sportsmanship and nerve control—as well as physical skill.

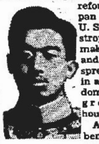
JAPAN:
Economic Checkup

To Gen. Douglas MacArthur went the task of supervising the economic reformation of Japan as a part of the U. S. program to destroy Nippon's war-making potential and promote widespread opportunity in a nation formerly dominated by four great business houses.



Hirohito
Not a Pauper

As MacArthur bent to the task, the prospects rose that the personal fortune of Emperor Hirohito would be divulged, revealing him as one of the world's wealthiest persons. Though the Mikado's assets are known to only a select few, the imperial family maintains a four-story concrete building complete with staff on the palace grounds to keep its accounts.

Indicative of the vastness of Hirohito's holdings, the emperor possesses stock in every Japanese enterprise, since a bloc of shares are allotted to the emperor by a corporation upon organizing. Of the 300,000 shares of the Bank of Japan, Hirohito reputedly owns 140,000.

Besides the Mikado, the great business houses of Mitsubishi, Sumitomo, Yasuda and Mitsui possess the greatest holdings in Japanese enterprise, with their share estimated at over half the total.

Under the U. S. program, steps will be favored for the dissolution of these politically influential institutions with their grip over banking, industry and commerce. Policies will be pushed for a wider distribution of income and ownership of productive and sales facilities, and encouragement given for the development of democratic labor and agricultural organizations.

In stripping Japan of its war-making potential, the U. S. will prohibit the operation of industries adaptable to war production. As in the case of Germany, manufacture of aircraft is to be prohibited and shipping is to be limited to immediate trade needs. U. S. authorities also will supervise Japanese industrial research.

As MacArthur's staff undertook an accounting of Japanese assets as the first step in the implementation of economic reform, the general ordered Premier Higashi-Kuni's government to institute immediate wage and price controls and ration commodities to head off extreme privation among the country's 80,000,000 people.

With Japanese experts figuring it would take Nippon from two to five years to get back on its feet, they proposed that the U. S. sell the country 250 million pounds of cotton within the next year in addition to 60 million pounds of wool; 3 million tons of rice; 2 million tons of salt; 500 thousand tons of sugar; 3 million barrels of oil, and 3 million tons of steel.

FOOD:
To Curb Output

Declaring commodity production goals should reflect consumer demand rather than maximum ability for output, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson indicated that the government's 1946 farm program may call for smaller harvests in view of decreased military and civilian needs.

In making his views known in a conference with farm bureau representatives in Washington, D. C., Anderson also raised the possibility of imposing marketing quotas to restrict the heavy output of certain crops.

At the same time, Secretary Anderson joined President Truman in assuring the farm bureau men that the government would back its commitment to support commodity prices at not less than 90 per cent of parity for two years after the official end of the war.

LETTERMEN:

A survey by the American College Publicity association shows that only 4 per cent of college letter men were turned down as physically unfit for military service, thus debunking the impression of a high rate of rejections among athletes.

According to the survey, only 358 students out of a total of 9,635 letter men in 119 colleges and universities in 1941 were found unfit for service.

VETS:
Job Rights

Clarifying the rehiring provision of the selective service act, draft officials declared that a returning veteran has an absolute right to his former position, or one of like status, even if it means the discharge of a worker with higher seniority.

At the same time, the officials stated that no veteran would be required to take union membership in regaining his old position, since the law makes no provision for such conditions as a basis for his re-employment.

In further lowering the point score for overseas duty, the army revealed that enlisted men whose credits or age, as of September 2, 1945, equal or exceed 36, or who are 37 years old or 34 years old with more than one year of service, will be exempt. Also exempt are male officers with 48 points; army doctors and dentists with 45 points or 40 years of age; veterinary and medical administrative officers with 30 points or 35 years of age; dietitians and physical therapy aides with 18 points or 30 years of age, and nurses with 12 points or 30 years of age.

In handing down its ruling on vet job rights, draft officials directly clashed with the unions, which have stood for the rehiring of soldiers on a seniority basis, but opposed their re-employment in preference to others with longer working records at affected plants.

LABOR:
Fuel Threat

Secretary Lewis Schwellenbach's new streamlined labor department received its first real test as federal conciliators moved to bring about settlement of the CIO oil workers' demands for a 30 per cent wage increase before a growing strike threat imperiled the nation's fuel supply.

Early negotiations were snagged by the union's demand that discussions be held on an industry-wide basis and the companies' equal insistence that agreements be effected by individual refineries. In asking a 30 per cent wage increase, the oil workers reflected the general CIO aim of maintaining wartime "take-home" pay by bringing 40-hour-per-week wages up to the total of the former 52-hour week.

In other labor trouble, 60,000 northwest AFL lumber workers struck to press demands for a $1.10 hourly minimum compared with the present scale ranging upward from 70 cents, while 15,000 AFL elevator operators and building service employees paralyzed service in over 2,000 New York skyscrapers by walking out in protest of a War Labor board grant of $28.05 for a 44-hour week instead of the $30.15 asked for 40 hours.

Push Fight on Polio

In the mounting drive against polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis allotted the unprecedented total of $4,157,814.15 for research, education and the treatment in the year ending last May 31.

As yet no preventive or cure for polio has been found, although it is generally recognized as an infectious, communicable disease caused by a virus.

GERMANY:
Occupation Progresses

Following close on General MacArthur's announcement that no more than 200,000 troops would be needed within the next year to occupy Japan, it was revealed that U. S. authorities hoped to trim the postwar force in Germany to less than 400,000 by next spring and reduce it to skeletonal dimensions within a few years.

Disclosure of occupation plans for the shattered Reich coincided with reports that the co-operative attitude of the defeated Germans will permit the early election of local governmental officials with balloting on a county and state level following.

Meanwhile, the army revealed that it was training hand-picked German prisoners of war to aid in the administration and policing of occupied territory. Selected after careful screening, the PWs are taught American and German history, the English language and military government, and also are being acclimated to democratic surroundings.

BIG FIVE:
No Results

Failing of settlement of one important problem, the Big Five council of foreign ministers meeting in London to map postwar Europe moved for adjournment, with possibilities that the creation of peace treaties with former axis satellites may be directly negotiated between the U. S., Britain and Russia.

The magnitude of the task of reconciling the conflicting interests of the Allied powers in the European theater was reflected in the difficulty of disposing of pre-war Italian colonies and strategic islands of the Mediterranean; reshaping the Italian-Yugoslav border; drawing up peace treaties for the Russian dominated Balkans, and internationalization of the vital waterways.

While the foreign ministers of the Big Five were scheduled to reassemble in November to receive the recommendations of their deputies on settlement of the thorny issues, Russian opposition to French and Chinese participation in the deliberations raised the possibility that direct negotiations between Washington, D. C., London and Moscow may be established as an alternative.

U. S. Gets New Auto

The most colorful mass productionist of World War II, Henry Kaiser announced arrangements for his entrance into the low-priced automobile field in league with the Graham - Paige interests at the sprawling Willow Run plant originally set up for manufacture of B-24s.

To effect the greatest efficiency and economy, Graham - Paige will also produce its medium-priced car and line of tractors, farm implements and rototiller along with the new vehicle at Willow Run. Joseph W. Frazer, president of Graham-Paige, will act in the same official capacity in the new company to be called the Kaiser-Frazer corporation, and Graham - Paige will share in a 250,000 purchase of stock valued at $5,000,000 in the new firm.

Indicative of the cost of establishing a modern mass-production automobile factory, Kaiser-Frazer will invest $15,000,000 to be received from total private and public stock sales as follows: $2,000,000 for machinery and equipment; $1,750,000 for tools, dies, jigs and fixtures; $1,500,000 prepaid expenses; $1,750,000 deferred charges, and $8,028,800 for general corporate purposes.

ATOMIC BOMB:
Future Use

While congress worked up steam over the future of the atomic bomb, Pres. Harry S. Truman disclosed that the lawmakers would be given full responsibility for the control of the devastating explosive.

Mr. Truman's decision to submit the issue to congress came as Representative Arends (Rep., Ill.) told the house that he had learned that an even more destructive missile than the one which razed Hiroshima had been developed. Calling upon the government to establish a scientific board to devise a defensive weapon against the atomic bomb, Arends said one such explosive could kill millions of city-dwellers.

Meanwhile, Senator Downey (Dem., Calif.) asked that the U. S. turn over the atomic bomb to the United Nations organization so that general possession would lessen the chances of its military development while at the same time encouraging further scientific research for an adaptation to peaceful usage.

Church Warning

Meanwhile the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America called upon the government "to state now its intention to place the new discovery under a world-wide authority as soon as all states will submit to effective controls," and to "press for such controls."

The statement also warned that unless international control can be achieved in the short period while the United States alone possesses atomic bombs, it may be difficult or impossible to achieve.

Wallace's Job Program Packs Political TNT

Reorganization of Commerce Department First Step Forward in Formulation Of Full Employment Policy.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W.
Washington, D. C.

The recent operating and organization program for the department of commerce created very little excitement in Washington or elsewhere when it was released. I think it made page 15 of the New York Times. The Times gave much more prominence recently to another document from the pen of Henry Agard Wallace—his new book, "Sixty Million Jobs," of which I shall speak later.

Congress may slumber on the reorganization report for yet a little, but when Washington wakes to the real significance of this 10-page, mimeographed document it will find between the lines much upon which to ponder. (Maybe that is why it was double-spaced.)

To me, this is a three-in-one instrument—just as its author, Henry Wallace, revealed himself as a three-in-one personality when I called on him just before the publication of his program, his first approach to the governmental limelight since the change in administration.

The report on what Mr. Wallace in his capacity as secretary of commerce hopes will mean the revitalizing and expanding of his department, envisions the metamorphosis of that somewhat turgid and impotent institution into a vigorous and human organization which will reach out and touch millions of individuals just as the government's most virile department, agriculture, does. Secretary Wallace said frankly at his press conference and also in more detail privately to me, that he thought that the department of commerce should do for the business man, big and little, what the department of agriculture does for the farmer, big and little. And it will, if he has his way.

Active Department Secretary's Goal

Wipe out of your mind, if you will, that one-time problem child of the New Deal, the agricultural adjustment administration. Now weigh the testimony of observers, including anti-Wallaceites, and I think you will learn that as secretary of agriculture, the author of "Sixty Million Jobs" did a good job in revitalizing his department.

How much it will cost to do as much for commerce, we couldn't get him to estimate, but he finally told us that it would be less than one-sixth of the cost of one day's war at V-E Day. By a series of calculations we arrived at the figure of 40 million dollars. Since the commerce department spent about 121 million dollars last year, Mr. Wallace's changes would make a total cost for his revitalized department of 161 million dollars.

Those who cry economy will shudder at that figure but they will hear this answer: If business, big and little, wants help similar to that which agriculture demands and gets it will cost something. The department of agriculture cost approximately 769 million dollars to run last year, and the farmers wouldn't want it to do less.

There will also be another explanation of the figures which will attempt to show that part of the expansion of the reorganized department is really contraction, and that brings us to the second integer of the three-in-one composition of Mr. Wallace's plan. The plan is more than a blueprint for changes in a single governmental institution. It is definitely a part of President Truman's reorganization plan which it is fair to assume would bring back under the commerce rooftree the horde of agencies and commissions which have to do with industry and business.

And now we come to part three of the tri-partible function of the Wallace program. It is by his own implication, a part of his recipe for full employment included in his book, "Sixty Million Jobs," and mention of that brings me to an examination of Mr. Wallace himself.

I said that like the program of reorganization for his department, Mr. Wallace seemed tripartitent to me. When I called upon him, he came down the great, cavernous room which Herbert Hoover planned for his successor and we sat in chairs about a little table that made a hospitable oasis in the midst of the desert vastness of high walls and lofty ceiling.

A Presidential Ghost Emerges

I had really come to see Henry Wallace, the author of "Sixty Million Jobs," which had just been reported a best seller in two New York stores. We discoursed at some length on that opus and gradually I found myself also talking to Henry Wallace, secretary of commerce, for, as I suggested earlier, many a strand from "Sixty Million Jobs" may be discovered in the warp and woof of the department reorganization plan.

As the conversation moved from book to report and back to book again, never getting far from the theme of full employment, I thought I could make out an ectoplasmic form arising from what had been up until then my two-part, author-secretary host. The third being, although not yet completely materialized, little by little became translucently visible to the naked eye. This party of the third part I thought I recognized as Henry Wallace, presidential candidate (1948 or at least 1952).

Perhaps I would not have believed my eyes if it had not been for a statement which a stout supporter of Mr. Wallace had made to me: "'Sixty Million Jobs' comes pretty near to being just about the best political platform the Democratic party can run on in the next election."

In one place, Author Wallace says: "There are a few, of course, who think that any government servant who uses the phrase 'full employment' is engaged in some deep dark plot. But they are the exceptions that prove the people's sanity and soundness as a whole."

Senator McClellan might be considered one of the exceptions from his remarks in the debate on the full employment bill. He said that the measure "says a great deal and actually means nothing except to create an erroneous impression in the minds of the people." He later described it as "soft soap."

'Sixty Million Jobs' Draws Commendations

Whatever the lawmakers think, the reviewers certainly are full of praise for Wallace's book. The New York Times calls it "a thoughtful and thought - provoking discussion of American political economy," and the Saturday Review of Literature, agreeing with the Times, adds that, "more than any recent work on economics or politics, it can serve as a moral testament and intellectual guide in the eventful, difficult days ahead."

The work appeared first in a business-letter-sheet size with paper cover; it followed in orthodox book form. Later the author hopes, he told me, that it will be printed in a cheap, pocket-size edition.

When Mr. Wallace said that I thought I caught his ectoplasmic triplet nodding emphatic approval while ghostly lips formed the words, "for every voter's pocket."

Much water will pass beneath the Potomac bridges between now and 1948 or 1952. We have with us at present a conservative congress and the political veterans say that no matter which way the wind may blow abroad, it is blowing to the right on Capitol hill and, they add hopefully, perhaps not too leftward at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue.

Secretary - author - candidate Wallace's full employment program requires much more legislation than the full employment bill. That is only the first step. The expansion and re-orientation of his and other departments will be required. Then there will be special taxation; there will be at least the blue-printing of public works; there will have to be a settled policy providing for foreign loans—the Bretton Woods program and other stimulants of world trade and tourist traffic.

If a too conservative congress did not grant the minimum legislative implementation, the "Sixty Million Jobs" plan could not be carried out. That, however, Mr. Wallace's supporters insist, will simply make 60 million people who want jobs, plus their families, vote for the man who believes they can be produced.

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

Although the Germans manufactured and used synthetic rubber in volume long before America, a general superiority of the American synthetic rubber over the German product has been established by technologists.

To obtain enough rubber to make a tire for a low-priced car, two rubber trees must be tapped for a whole year.

Longer, more uniform tire life, constant goal of tire manufacturers, is now being achieved through use of a new type of synthetic rubber developed by B. F. Goodrich.

Steering wheels of post-war cars may be cushioned with a covering of synthetic rubber.

Seed Being Rushed to Europe, Asia to Avert Famine Threat

UNRRA Shipped 38,000 Tons Since Early Spring

By L. F. Stice.
Extension Marketing Expert.

First harvests from UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration) seeds are being reaped by European farmers this fall, for despite early difficulties of shipping it was possible to send some seeds in time for the 1945 spring planting. A shipping program has been drawn up to meet Europe's 1946 spring needs and an initial program has been started in China. From the multiplication of UNRRA seeds will come seeds for the first plantings in Jap-free soil.

The 1945 fall and winter seed shipping targets for Europe are mainly wheat, rye, barley, oats, vetch and alfalfa. Data from current shipping reports indicate the amounts, varieties and destinations of the seeds included with UNRRA cargoes now going forward from the United States and Canada.

For instance, on July 2 the Chief Osceola left Baltimore for Constanza with 70,000 bags of rye seed for Czechoslovakia. The following day the Aleksandar I cleared Montreal with 934 bags of alfalfa seed for Yugoslavia, and the Tamara left St. John, New Brunswick, for Piraeus, Greece, with 905 bags of alfalfa seed. The Nicholas Labodie left Houston, Texas, for Constanza, July 8, with 15,420 bags of wheat seed and 1,166 bags of rye aboard to be routed to Czechoslovakia along with other UNRRA materials and supplies.

Europe Exported Seeds Before War.

In prewar times, Europe was not only self-sufficient, but a producer of an exportable seed surplus. This was true for cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, red clover and many other seeds although seed corn and perennial grasses were imported. But the destruction of war forced constant switches in the normal economy upon the occupied countries. At the end of hostilities such seeds as the edible legumes—beans and peas, most of the vegetables, wheat and other cereal seeds were needed. Many areas in Europe were also short on grass seeds to rebuild neglected pasture land, seeds to grow animal feed and seeds for industrial crops. Forage legumes, alfalfa, the clovers—red, alsike, and white—and turnips for animal feeding are called for. Seeds to grow rape and hemp for oil, and flax for fiber are also needed.

Shortly after UNRRA was formed by the United Nations in November of 1943, these estimates were turned over to the Standing Technical Committee on Agriculture. The experts of the committee, representing both the invaded and the supplying nations, used them as their starting point for planning rehabilitation through the importation and management of a seed supply. As later information came to light the early goals were modified. The time of year when countries were liberated also entered into UNRRA's calculations. Since the military is responsible for the initial shipments, the army would undertake to distribute supplies in countries ready to plant while military governments were in charge.

Vegetables Given Priority.

In selecting seeds to be sent, the committee gave first emphasis to seeds that grew food for direct human consumption. Vegetable seeds came first, then potatoes and cereal. Secondary consideration and shipping space went to seed that would produce forage crops for areas where the restoration of the livestock feed supply is considered urgent. The tonnages shipped and distributed to date reflect this priority. Seeds dispatched for 1945 spring planting were largely beans and peas from Canada and the United States, and other vegetable seeds from the United States and the United Kingdom. Food grown from these seeds is now furnishing some of the protective elements so badly needed in the diets of most of the people of the world today.

Some of the seed distributions in the liberated countries were carried on jointly by UNRRA and the military. As the military governments withdrew the remaining seed stocks were turned over to UNRRA. Seeds from this source were distributed in the Balkans. Some of the seed held for UNRRA in the U. S. for use last spring in case of an earlier V-E Day were then channeled into the domestic market.

For instance, vegetable seeds to replant the irrigated truck lands near the city areas in Greece were first made available through military supplies and later through UNRRA shipments. Vegetable and root crop seeds from plants grown in England were shipped this spring to Czechoslovakia. Root crop seeds were included with the first UNRRA cargoes for Poland.

Surplus Stocks Distributed.

One objective of the UNRRA seed program is to re-establish a flow of seeds within Europe from surplus pockets to areas of need. Military authorities found that Germany had been stimulating seed production in some of the occupied countries. Where crops were not destroyed these reserves are now made generally available.

Seeds of French origin are going to Holland and Belgium. Danish seeds may flow across Danish frontiers. Italy may have a surplus of seeds which can be routed to other countries. Seed potatoes from Cyprus have been sent to Greece. A small portion of the crops raised from the 1945 shipments of seed is being set aside to produce the seed for next year's planting.

The breakdown of interior transportation in the liberated countries as a result of German occupation is a complicating factor in the seed situation as it is in nearly every other relief and rehabilitation program. Every seedman who has led the fight in his own community for better farm to market roads can understand the situation. Roads and waterways have been bombed. Civilian motor vehicles have disappeared, carts have been wrecked and draft animals have been stolen and slaughtered. Much of this was deliberate sabotage on the part of the retreating Nazis. Even when there are seeds on hand there is difficulty in moving them from the area where grown to the seed cleaning establishments, warehouses and markets.

Early this spring there was a surplus of sorely needed alfalfa seed in one of the liberated countries but the farmers couldn't thresh it because there was no power or fuel. Even if it could have been threshed there was no means for getting it to the seed cleaning plants. Throughout the channels of distribution the same problems of fuel power and transportation arise. However, the trucks, tractors and draft animals now going to the liberated countries are beginning to ease the situation.

The 1946 spring shipping targets are being worked out now by UNRRA in consultation with the agricultural officials of the countries receiving aid. All shipments will be based on estimates which reflect the actual minimum requirements to produce maximum crops.

Something to Keep the Ladies Warm

This armload of white fox pelts being displayed by an employee of a New York auction house is worth plenty at present prices. Fur coats, always expensive, will be sky-high this year, dealers say. Most skins now used come from Canada and the United States. The highest-priced fur this season is called silver-blue platinum mink. There are only enough of these rare pelts in the world to make up ten coats. An American mink farmer developed the color phase by careful interbreeding.

Let's see how quickly you gals can move in on a High Fashion. Seems the smart fashion leaders in New York and in Hollywood are wearing costly antique medals for decoration on all kinds of clothes. Well, who says they have to be antique? See if your father has some old medals (wasn't he wading champion or something in his youth?); see if your O.A.O. will part with the medal he won for track. Pin them to bits of colored ribbon and wear them instead of your trickier lapel gadgets. If you have a lot of medals, you can pin them to a broad ribbon worn diagonally from one shoulder and tucked into your skirt belt. It's a fad!

High School Crowd Taught How to Drive In Safety Program

Anticipating a teen-age rush to used car lots for "jallopies" discarded by the motor public when new model automobiles are placed on the market, state and local school officials are accelerating programs in high school driver education.

Termed "behind the wheel" programs, those in operation or planned for the near future are designed to teach high school students to drive safely on the public highways.

Some 5,000 high schools throughout the country now have behind-the-wheel programs, according to information to the American Municipal association, with six states apparently well in the lead in developing such programs: North Dakota, Iowa, California, Wisconsin, North Carolina and Illinois. In each of these six states, at least 200 high schools offer driver education courses.

Delaware includes behind-the-wheel training in 27 classes in 18 high schools. Only six high schools in the state remain without the statewide driver education program because of wartime lack of personnel and equipment.

The West Virginia board of education has approved the proposed course of study in driver education prepared by the West Virginia driver education committee and included it in the standard state high-school curriculum.

Minnesota held a three-day education institute at the University of Minnesota this summer through cooperation of the university and state departments responsible for traffic education. The summer institute followed three regional institutes held in May.

One of the difficulties involved in behind-the-wheel training in North Carolina has been solved by using the state school buses for training purposes. Thousands of students have already learned the principles and practice of safe driving through this expedient.

Household Hints

When you find it necessary to shorten a bolt, be sure to screw on the nut before sawing off the end. Then the nut will even up the broken end of the threads.

Here is a different way to serve frankfurters. Split them and spread with prepared mustard, then brown in fat.

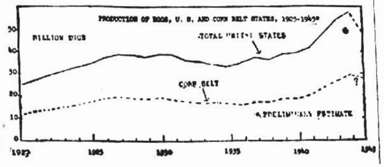
LOWER EGG PRICES EXPECTED IN 1946

Egg prices are expected to remain strong during the rest of 1945 and may even advance in coming weeks because of the usual seasonal decline in production and upward revisions of price ceilings. In the first half of 1946, however, the price is expected to be somewhat lower than for the same period in 1945. The over-all meat shortage and a 6 per cent decline in egg production were major factors supporting egg prices at the 1945 level. In 1946 civilian meat supplies will be more plentiful and egg production may be higher, depending on the number of chickens sold for meat.

As civilian, military and export demands for eggs decline, a lower level of production will be necessary (see chart). Egg producers in the corn belt states will be particularly affected because a relatively larger part of their output has been dried and the production has increased relatively more.



"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

(BY RUSSELL KAY)

We have had our V-E Day and our V-J Day and now we are rapidly approaching another important day that a lot of folks are no more ready for than the world diplomats were for the war's sudden end.

For want of a better name I'm calling it V-P Day and it has to do with the ending of the war on the "home front" — You translate it Victory for the Public Day.

For the last several years the American Public has had to take a beating from business, industry, labor and government. With goods and labor scarce, help hard to get and harder to keep, wages high and sales restricted and regulated, Mr. and Mrs. Public have had to contend with discourtesy, indifference and often insult.

They have had to stand in line and wait their turn, take what they could get and like it. Instead of clerks waiting on them, they have had to wait on clerks. They have had to plead with waiters for a glass of water, beg the butcher for a sliver of bacon, kow-tow to bureaucrats, wipe their own windshields, shine their own shoes, mow their own lawns, wash their own clothes, carry their own packages, run their own errands, and pay top prices for shoddy merchandise and indifferent service.

A timid protest always brought the gruff response, "Don't you know there's a war on?" — Now robbed of this stock excuse, merchants, inn keepers and others who cater to the public are beginning to get the reaction of V-P Day. In a local department store the other day I saw a woman look over several offerings and calmly inform the clerk that the goods weren't worth the price asked. Folks were no longer eager to buy, they were beginning to ask "How much?" and give consideration to real value and quality before making a purchase. A fruit stand that had been selling half ripe honey dew melons at a dollar and a half apiece suddenly found itself with a large stock on hand and no takers.

Alert store managers, quick to note the changing attitude, are doing their best to overcome it but they are still handicapped and probably will be for several months. Although thousands of workers have been released from war industries, only a small percentage of these folks are interested in working for a living. They still have money and can draw unemployment funds. There is no hurry about looking for a job. Of course, if someone would offer an executive position they might consider it. In Tampa, the United States Employment Service has some 1800 jobs available that nobody wants.

An employer recently called on the agency for an office girl. The job was routine sorting and filing and paid $20 a week. The first applicant couldn't work for that. She admitted she had no training or experience but she had been getting $30 on a war job as an assistant helper and said: "I don't really want a job, Mister, you see I have to apply when they send me in order to draw my 'rocking chair money,' so please sign the card.

Thousands of folks have been holding down so called jobs at good pay where neither experience nor ability mattered, now if they are going to get and keep a job they will have to learn to work and it isn't going to be easy either on the employer or employee.

If the government insists on paying folks $25 a week for not working for a period of 26 weeks, it will only serve to place an additional premium on loafing and make it just that much harder for folks to adjust themselves later on. When you take into account deductions from the pay envelope for social security and unemployment relief, the person who draws $25 a week net would have an income equivalent to a wage of $30 or $35 a week. Why should they worry about looking for a job under those circumstances?

But the day is coming when open competition for business and for jobs will make both business and labor toe the mark, for the public is going to demand service and value and the business will go to those firms and organizations that give it.

Florida will play host to thousands of winter visitors this season. If we are smart, we will give these folks the kind of service and attention they have a right to expect. This can be done if both employers and employees forsake their "public be damned" attitude and work together to build for the future, which is full of promise for those who are smart enough to realize that the "honeymoon" is over and from now on we are going to have to "give" if we want to "get."

NOTICE OF BOND ELECTION SPECIAL TAX SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1, HIGHLANDS COUNTY, FLORIDA

WHEREAS, on the 4th day of September, 1945, The Board of Public Instruction of Highlands County, Florida, received a petition signed by more than twenty-five percent of the qualified electors residing within Special Tax School District No. 1 of said county, requesting an election be held for the issuance and sale of bonds of the said Special Tax School District No. 1 in the sum of eighty thousand dollars, for the purpose hereinafter set foth, and no other; that is, for the purpose of erecting and equipping a six-room school building and gymnasium and the purchase of lands adjacent and contiguous to the present school grounds belonging to said district and properly preparing such lands to be so purchased and other school lands, now owned by said district, for physical educational purposes; and

WHEREAS, the County Superintendent of Highlands County, Florida, has made his recommendations with respect thereto for the consideration of the said County Board; and

WHEREAS, on the 4th day of September, 1945, said The Board of Public Instruction of Highlands County, Florida, having considered the recommendations submitted by the County Superintendent and the petition above referred to with reference to the proposed bond issue, has concluded that the projects for which bonds are proposed to be issued are essential for the school program of the said county and said district; and

WHEREAS, said The Board of Public Instruction of Highlands County, Florida, finds that it is impracticable to prepare any plans for the carrying out of said proposed projects or any part of said projects with current funds which have been or can be set aside for such purposes; that neither said projects nor any portion or portions thereof can be carried out so that all costs thereof can be met from the proceeds of a special district millage levy voted for that purpose, nor from county current funds which are not needed for salaries of teachers or other necessary expenses of operating the school, nor from such funds which can reasonably be expected to be available by the time the projects are completed, and that said projects or any portion thereof cannot be completed from the proceeds of a loan obtained against county or district current funds approved in accordance with Chapter 19355, Acts of 1929, as amended by Sec. 12, Chapter 20970, Laws of Florida (now Sec. 237.27, Florida Statutes 1941), and said Board has determined that it will be necessary for the said district to issue bonds in the amount of eighty thousand dollars to enable it to complete the projects proposed for said district;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by The Board of Public Instruction of Highlands County, Florida, that said The Board of Public Instruction of Highlands County, Florida, does hereby determine to construct the projects in the manner and for the purposes set out in the petition of the taxpayers and as hereinbefore set out, as essential to the school program of Highlands County, Florida and said Tax School District No. 1 of said county, and that the funds needed to meet the costs of completing said projects or any portion thereof cannot be procured in any other manner than by issuing bonds of said district;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that bonds of Special Tax School District No. 1 in the principal sum of eighty thousand dollars be issued by this Board, that said Bonds shall bear interest at a rate not to be exceed three percent (3%) per annum, payable semi-annually, and be in denomination of one thousand dollars each and shall mature as follows:

Year Maturity	Amount Bond
1947	$3,000.00
1948	3,000.00
1949	3,000.00
1950	3,000.00
1951	3,000.00
1952	3,000.00
1953	4,000.00
1954	4,000.00
1955	4,000.00
1956	4,000.00
1957	4,000.00
1958	4,000.00
1959	4,000.00
1960	4,000.00
1961	5,000.00
1962	5,000.00
1963	5,000.00
1964	5,000.00
1965	5,000.00
1966	5,000.00

That the proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be used for the purpose of constructing the projects herein approved and found to be essential;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, upon adoption of this resolution, a certified copy thereof be transmitted to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Florida for his approval and, or recommendation;

BE IT FURHER RESOLVED that an election be and hereby is ordered to be held on the 30th day of October, 1945, to determine whether or not there shall be issued by the said Special Tax School District No. 1 of Highlands County, Florida, the bonds provided for in this resolution. In such election only the duly qualified electors of said district who are freeholders shall vote, and the election shall be held within the boundaries of the said Special Tax School District No. 1, and it is hereby ordered that said election shall be held at the City Hall of the City of Avon Park, the said City Hall being within the boundaries of said Special Tax School District No. 1. Said election shall be held within the hours provided by law, and the following place is hereby designated as the place of the holding of said election, to-wit, at the City Hall of the City of Avon Park, within the boundaries of said Special Tax School District No. 1.

A copy of this resolution containing the above notice of calling said election shall be published once a week for four successive weks in "The Scenic Highlands Sun," a newspaper published within said district.

The following individuals are hereby appointed as Inspectors of said election to be held at the polling place hereinbefore designated, to-wit: Mr. C. R. Ginn, Mrs. Thelma Dilley and Mrs. Dorothy Martin; and Mrs. Emily W. Longbottom is hereby appointed as Clerk of said election.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Superintendent, as the secretary and executive officer of this board, be and he is hereby instructed to prepare and have printed ballots to be furnished to the voters at said election. The form of such ballots shall be "For Bonds" — "Against Bonds." The said superintendent shall also have prepared all necessary blanks for the making of returns by the Inspectors at said election and make all necessary preparations for the holding of said election. The Inspectors shall, immediatey after said election, make returns to this board at a special meeting thereof which shall be held on the 31st day of October, 1945, for the purpose of canvassing said returns. The board will at that time determine and certify the result of said election. If it appear as a result of said election, that a majority of the votes shall be "For Bonds," said Board will at that time by resolution authorize the issuance of bonds and provide details therefore in accordance with the provisions of this resolution. If it appear, as a result of said election, that a majority of the votes cast shall be "Against Bonds," no bonds shall be issued.

Notice is hereby given that the registration books shall be closed on October 25, 1945, and that special registration of electors of said district qualified to vote at said election will not be permitted after October 25, 1945.

"THIS IS THE Day..."

The day we long have sought is here. Victorious in arms, America stands on the threshold of a future bright with promise and hope.

In the struggle just ended, the mighty resources of the South have been of vital importance to the nation. Now, with an unpleasant job behind us, we can all turn from the destruction of war and devote our full efforts to the building of a greater Southland. While the economic progress which we have achieved in recent years is more than heartening, the future beckons with opportunities for developments which will overshadow anything we have known in the past.

In harmony and cooperation with our friends and neighbors in the territory we are privileged to serve, Seaboard Air Line Railway will continue to work for the advancement of our common cause.

Miss Alma Harrell Entertains At Dessert Bridge

Mrs. Freed Peden scored high and Mrs. Alice Sherman, second high at the dessert bridge party given on Tuesday evening, when Miss Alma Harrell entertained members of the Sans Souci club and additional guests.

The tempting dessert course, consisting of coconut cream pie and tea or coffee, was served at the Avalon Grill. The centerpiece for the table was a colorful bouquet of vivid red Exora, combined with greenery. Places were designated by novelty cards that later served as tally cards on which the guests kept their scores in the bridge games. Bridge was enjoyed in the palm room at the Jacaranda hotel. The high score winners were awarded Defense Stamps for their prizes.

Those sharing this delightful evening included Mrs. C. R. Ginn, Jr., Mrs. Ben T. Stewart, Mrs. Raymond Dilley, Mrs. Floyd Johnson, Mrs. A. B. Wilhite, Mrs. Freed Peden, Miss Mildred Myers, Mrs. Alice Sherman, Miss Pearl Hitt, Mrs. Martha Allen, Miss Mary Evelyn Cottingham, and Mrs. Edwin R. Carter.

Jimmie Cooper Has Birthday Party Saturday

Mrs. Ed. Gough entertained at a delightful children's party on Saturday afternoon from 3:00 'til 5:00 o'clock, in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her grandson, Jimmie Cooper.

Many enjoyable games were played during the party hours, and the birthday gifts were opened and admired. Later, delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The birthday cake, that formed the centerpiece for the table, overlaid with a lace cloth, was decorated in pink and white and topped with five pink lighted candles. The novelty favor for each child was a monkey climbing on a stick.

Young friends sharing the happy afternoon with Jimmie were Sonja and Norris Ann McLeod, Elaine Hunt, Claudia Furr, Sara Lou Smith, Sugie and Herbert Baughan, Jr., Shirley Still, Claira Joe Still, Judy and Frank England, and Bobbie Mercer.

Mrs. Gough was assisted in entertaining by Jimmie's mother, Mrs. James Cooper of Miami, Mrs. H. A. Baughan, Mrs. W. D. Cameron and Mrs. E. W. Mercer.

Jerry Witt Is Honoree At Bridal Shower

Miss Jerry Witt, attractive bride elect of next week, was the honoree at a shower and party given at the home of Mrs. Ray Rutherford from 3:00 'til 5:00 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. P. C. Boney and her daughter, Miss Anna Dee Boney were co-hostesses at the delightful affair. Colorful arrangements of autumn wild flowers were used in tasteful decoration in the party rooms.

The feature of the afternoon was the presentation of the lovely array of gifts to the honoree. The hostesses presented her with a corsage to which was attached a shower of ribbons, with numbers designating the whereabouts of several of the packages. The last number was a basket filled with the remainder of the large selection of useful gifts for the bride-to-be.

In a bridal contest, Miss Juanita Dermid was the winner of the prize, an ice-box dish, which she presented to the honoree.

Late in the afternoon the hostesses served delicious refreshments of jello topped with whipped cream, and cake.

Those sharing the courtesy extended to Miss Witt by the three hostesses included Mrs. J. O. Witt, Mrs. J. O. Witt, Jr., Mrs. L. D. McGiboney, Mrs. G. D. Godwin, Mrs. Ralph Foxworth, Mrs. H. E. Barker, Miss Janet Barker, Mrs. Ernest Spencer, Miss Virginia Spencer, Mrs. Milford Dilley, Miss Margaret Dilley, Mrs. T. O. Martin, Miss Ouida Martin, Mrs. R. L. Anita Lewis Is Honoree At Surprise Party

A surprise birthday party was held last Thursday in honor of the fifteenth birthday anniversary of Anita Lewis. The delightful affair was held at Woodruff Heights with Misses Dorothy Simpson and Peggy Kyle, hostesses. Games were enjoyed during the evening, and later, refreshments were served. The beautiful birthday cake topped with the required number of miniature candles formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table. The rooms were decorated in green and whit to emphasize the chosen color note.

Those attending were Misses Ruth Elder, Helen Bryant, Helen Demeree, Elizabeth Swafford, Gwendolyn Prevatt, Doris Lewis and Myrtice Simpson.

Charles Davis, Joseph Pascal, Gerald Harrell, Junior Prevatt, Phillip Dunn, Sam Halloway, Billy Rutledge, and Sleepy Falwer. Mrs. Marcaccia was chaperon for the party.

Mrs. Stuckey Is Hostess To Circle Meeting

Mrs. David Stuckey was hostess to Baptist Missionary society circle number two at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. C. Touchton, teacher, taught the Bible study.

Following the meeting, the hostess served delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee to those present who were Mrs. W. C. Touchton, Mrs. R. H. Lawhon, Mrs. Nix, Mrs. Beacham, Mrs. R. L. Adams, Mrs. Mark Smith, Mrs. J. L. Collins, and Mrs. O. C. Wilkes.

Orange Blossom Brotherhood Has Meeting Monday

The Orange Blossom Associational quarterly Brotherhood meeting was held at the First Baptist Church, Avon Park on Monday evening. Following an enjoyable supper served in the basement by the ladies of the church, the meeting and election of officers was held.

Clarence Eckroth of Sebring was elected president; George Heine of the First Baptist Church, Wauchula, vice president, and Gerald Wicker, Avon Park secretary. Paul A. McFarland and Albert Demorest, both of this city, were retiring president and secretary, after holding these offices for two years.

About forty members attended the supper meeting, churches at Avon Park, Sebring, and both the First and North Eighth Baptist Churches at Wauchula being represented. The next meeting in January will be held in Sebring.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

"ARE SIN, DISEASE, AND DEATH REAL?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, October 14.

The Golden Text is: "Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnities: . . . The inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity" (Isaiah 33:20, 24).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man. The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord" (Ps. 118: 8, 14, 17).

Thunderhead

MARY O'HARA

W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Thunderhead, commonly known as the Goblin, is the only white horse ever born on the Goose Bar ranch in Wyoming. He grows from a misshapen colt to a powerful yearling, resembling his great grandsire more every day. The grandsire is a wild stallion called the Albino. One day Goblin wanders into a mountain valley, meets the Albino, and barely escapes with his life. After his wounds heal, his 12-year-old owner, Ken McLaughlin, begins to train him. The McLaughlins secretly hope he will develop into a racer. The Goblin is difficult to handle, but one day he surrenders to Ken, and sets off across the prairies. He runs with astonishing ease, speed and endurance.

CHAPTER XIII

As she approached him, everything forgotten but the longing for closeness and understanding, he looked up at her. Her iris-colored eyes were dark with emotion. They were shadowed underneath, but they were full of gentleness and affection and her smile pleaded for reconciliation. Rob held out his hand to her. She leaned over to kiss him and he kissed her in return. Their eyes did not quite meet.

"Are you going up?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Don't wait for me. I'm going to read awhile."

* * *

The "track" was a half mile oval on the level range north of Lone Tree Creek, about two miles from the ranch house.

This had been selected by the boys immediately upon their arrival home from school this summer as Thunderhead's practice and trial ground. There was a natural grandstand to one side, a peak of craggy rock spearing up. They had outlined the oval track by setting posts at the curves. These posts—Thunderhead must understand—he was to run outside of, not in. Sometimes he did, sometimes he did not. Not that he did not understand! They had painted a broad band of white across the course at the finish, just in front of the grandstand and here Thunderhead had run many a mile, wondering, no doubt, where was the sense in it. Running to shelter in a storm—running away from enemies and dangerous places—just even running with his own band for fun and exercise on the Saddle Back—this could be understoood. But running on the flat range, often at top speed, around and around those posts, with a small demon yelling on top of him and another jumping up and down on the rock—this was incomprehensible.

The air was fresh after the storm, the range green and dustless. Nell was in white linen jodhpurs and white silk shirt with the sleeves rolled up on her slender brown arms. Her face was without care or worry, like a child's when a picnic is ahead. She sat beside Sargent in his car, pointing out to him the way to the track, for it could not be reached by any of the roads on the ranch.

In the back of the car was Howard with the bucket of oats. Just before they had started they had heard a yell, and Ken came running with a bucket half full of oats and a halter rope. His face showed embarrassment as he apologized for Thunderhead and stuck the bucket in the car. "Just in case—in case he got away or something—and I had trouble in getting him back."

"So," said Sargent, as they drove along, "he gets away, does he? And is hard to get back?"

"Aw—" said Howard, "he's pretty good. We haven't been training him very long, you know."

"Sometimes," said Nell, "he runs clear off and doesn't come back for a long time. Look, Charley—you go down this slope here and through Lone Tree — that shallow place there." Charley slowed down to put the car through the creek.

"Where does the colt go?" he asked.

"That's what we'd all like to know," said Nell.

"He came back once with cuts and scratches," said Howard, leaning over the back of their seat. "And a terrible big wound in the chest. Dad said a stallion had pawed him."

Charley Sargent seemed to have been struck dumb. He stood looking at the horses, first Thunderhead, then the filly, Touch And Go. She had moved away a little and was grazing quietly. Finally he reached for the makings, rolled himself a cigarette and took a long puff.

"Ken," he said quietly, "I'll be damned."

Ken, at the colt's head, looked at him anxiously, the color coming and going in his face.

"So that!" said Sargent in his drawling voice, "is Thunderhead out of Flicka by Appalachian!"

"Yes, sir, he's by Appalachian all right."

"How old is he?"

"Just a short two. Do you—do you think he looks pretty good, Mr. Sargent?"

"He's nothing of a racer—"

"He isn't!"

"Nothing like any horse I ever saw before. He's like a statue of a horse that sculptors think up—all big curves and muscles — that head—"

Thunderhead's face, eyes, head, these were, indeed, the outstanding things about him. Such a face would make a person suddenly stop in passing, look again—then stand hypnotized. The intensity of the black eye with the thin thread of white around it—the wildness, the implacable determination—the bigness of the head—the way the heavy neck curved and drew the chin in to the chest—then suddenly flung the head high—with the black muzzle reaching up—the nostrils flaring—

"I'll be damned," said Sargent weakly again.

"Isn't he a racer at all, Mr. Sargent?"

"He's not a racing type. Not a runner. Not that he might not, perhaps—beat a racer—! With that power, no telling what he could do! Is he fast?"

"Well—sometimes, if he wants to be. He really can run, but he doesn't always do it."

"You don't think he's too heavy, Charley?" Nell asked. Not like a work horse?"

"My Gosh, no! Those legs—they're strong but they're trim and clean. He's a heavy hunter type. All the power in the world there."

At every word waves of hot and cold went through Ken. Praise of Thunderhead! Power? Ken knew his power. Would he ever forget the first ride he had had on him this summer? It was not just the ride. It was an experience of power and will that had been communicated from the horse's body to his own and had left a mark in his consciousness that would never be erased.

He smoothed Thunderhead's nose softly. 'He's strong all right."

The stallion's eyes turned a little, fastened on Ken. Ken stared back. Suddenly Thunderhead's teeth bared and reached for Ken's arm. Ken snatched it away and cuffed him. Thunderhead reared, came down prancing. Ken hauled on the reins and shouted at him. Charley stepped back quickly.

"Risling!" Charlie laughed and looked at Thunderhead.

"Nasty-tempered, eh?"

"It isn't that. He doesn't like me."

"Doesn't like you! Thats pretty tough, when he's yours and you have to train him."

"I keep thinking maybe he'll get to like me. Mother's the only one he likes. He's never mean to her."

"Let's look at the filly. Why did you bring her along?" asked Charley.

"He's very fond of her. She's his little sister. She's kind of a mascot for him."

"Oh, she's out of Flicka too?"

"Yes. And they always stay together. It kind of quiets him, if he should get excited, to have her around."

"He gets excited, does he? And mean?"

Ken was shocked. "Oh, never mean! But he bucks and fights. Sometimes he runs away with me."

"But never mean!" laughed Sargent. "I see. But can't you hold him in?"

"He takes the bit. He's better when Touch And Go's around. He's happier. You see he isn't a very happy horse most of the time. He's got something eating him, dad says."

Sargent was studying the filly. "That's a nifty little filly."

"She's exactly like Flicka was when she was a yearling. When I first got Flicka, she was just about that age and a bright golden sorrel like that, and the light mane and tail.

"She's like her sire," said Sargent. "She's by Banner, isn't she?"

"Yes, and she's very light and fast."

"You don't say." Sargent was not going to be enthusiastic about a colt of Banner's when one of Appalachian's was around.

"Yes, she can go like the wind! But of course nobody has ever ridden her. She just runs along with Thunderhead when we train him, or by herself."

"Mr. Sargent," said Howard, "our two-year-olds are going to be gelded right away and dad says Thunderhead's got to be gelded too. Do you think he ought to be?"

At this unpleasant reminder of the one thing that was preying on his mind, the happiness went out of the day for Ken.

Nell's cheeks colored with anger and she turned away and walked over to the "grandstand." "Come along, Howard, give me a hand up here! We'd better get started!"

Sargent looked at Ken's white, sullen face.

"What's the matter, son?"

Ken gave a little jerk of his head toward Howard. "What he was saying there. Dad's going to have all the two-year-olds gelded."

"When?"

"Some time this week. He's sent word to Doc Hicks to come and do it whenever he's in this neighborhood. Then dad won't have to pay for his driving out and back just for our horses."

"Is he going to geld Thunderhead too?"

"Yep."

"Well, what if he does? He won't be the only one. They all have to be gelded, you know."

"But he's going to be a race horse!"

"What's that got to do with it? Race horses get gelded too—most of them. It won't hurt him. And it may improve his appearance. I wouldn't like to see that neck of his get any thicker."

"But he might die!"

"Oh, nonsense! It won't hurt him. But maybe, if he runs well enough, we could get your father to change his mind."

Ken shook his head. "He never changes his mind."

"Never does?"

"No."

"Well, anyway, let's see what the colt can do now. Up with you." He clutched the seat of Ken's pants, and the boy went lightly up into the saddle. He hitched his feet into the little short stirrups and grinned down at Sargent. "I don't usually ride with these short stirrups. I ride bareback a lot. It's kind of hard to get used to. But I can do it."

He squeezed his knees together, and bent over the horse's withers like a jockey.

Sargent's long brown face was twinkling with enjoyment. "Give him a bit of a workout first to warm him up. Remember, I've an interest in this colt too!"

This was very cheering to Ken as he gave the signal to Thunderhead and the colt started forward. Perhaps, if Mr. Sargent had an interest in him too, he might say something to his father about the gelding. Sargent stood looking at him as he cantered down the course, noticing his action. Then he climbed up on the grandstand beside Nell and Howard. There was a ledge quite high up from which they could overlook the whole track.

Howard held the stop watch in his hand.

Touch And Go left her grazing and cantered playfully beside her big brother, down to the end, around the curve, and back again. The white colt moved slowly and easily.

After ten minutes or so, Sargent shouted to Ken, "Get him going now, son—Let him out."

Ken swung around to the starting line and flung the horse over it in a gallop.

For a half-hour then, Ken struggled to make the colt give a good account of himself. He had very little success. Thunderhead cut a corner once, Ken pulled him up, made him go back and outside the post. Suddenly the colt got ugly—fought for the bit—Ken spurred him and reined him back, then lifted him forward into a run. Touch And Go ran with him.

By turns Howard and Charley Sargent held the stop watch. Finally they climbed down and Ken rode up to them. His face was flaming, his eyes wild, the horse nervous and pacing.

"Can he run, Ken?" said Sargent. "What have you been giving me?"

"Oh, yes, he can—if he wants!" answered Ken passionately.

"I'm beginning to think he's too much horse for you," said Sargent.

"You know," said Nell thoughtfully, "he really can run. It's quite different from this hard galloping. It's a different gait. Do you remember that black mare—Rocket—his grandmother?"

"I sure do—she was almost my mare."

"Yes. That one. You remember the time we ran her in front of the automobile and clocked her—and she just floated along without trying—no effort at all?"

"I do. Never saw such a gait in my life."

"He's got the same gait. He does it sometimes. I wish you could see it. Ken, let's try again. I'll tie up Touch And Go. I think she distracts him."

Nell got the tie-rope, snapped it to the filly's halter and fastened her to the bumper of the automobile so that Thunderhead could not see her. Once more they took their places on the ledge and Charley gave Ken the signal.

MERCY, NOT JUSTICE

In a small southern community, a Negro revival meeting was holding forth. Also in session was the Grand Jury. Sinners were being gathered in swiftly and efficiently by the exhorting preacher. That is, all except one hardened individual who, despite all the efforts of the earnest shepherd and his co-workers, would not break down and confess his sins.

The poor fellow writhed in the torments of an awakened and cruelly prodding conscience, but could not be induced to speak.

"Come on down, brother," shouted the pleading, perspiring preacher, "confess your sins. The Lord will forgive you."

"Ah knows He will," moaned the reluctant candidate, "but de Lord ain't settin' on dat Grand Jury!"

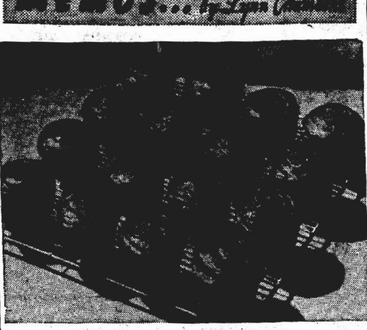
HOUSEHOLD MEMOS ... by Lynn Chambers



Good to Bake—That's Devil's Food Cake

(See Recipe Below)

Cake Tempters

Family hungry for cake? As a general rule, families take it easy on cakes during the spring and summer because there's a wealth of fruits and berries to solve the dessert problem. But, comes the first whiff of fall in the air, when the kitchen will stay cool enough even for baking, and there's the family on mother's heels begging for a cake.

Then, too, husbands and sons will soon be returning, and they will want a big taste of mother's good homemade cake. Be ready for the call when it comes, homemakers, with a brand new line-up of recipes that are bound to win the family.

We're still aware of the strategic situation in regard to sugar, so the following recipes don't go all-out for sugar. They're taste-tempting and delicious in spite of it all, and there's a grand variety from which to choose. Take your pick:

Bran Devil's Food Cake.
(Makes 16 cupcakes)

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ cups sugar
⅓ cup cocoa
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
½ cup whole bran
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Sift flour once, measure then sift again with sugar, cocoa, baking powder, soda and salt into mixing bowl. Add shortening and whole bran. Add about ⅔ of the milk, then vanilla; beat until perfectly smooth, about 100 strokes. Scrape bowl and spoon and mix well. Add remaining milk and beat until well blended. Add the well-beaten eggs. Fill greased muffin tins ⅔ full. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven about 25 or 30 minutes.

Do you like a cake served warm, in squares, with the tangy flavor of a citrus marmalade? This, then, is made-to-order:

Marmalade Tea Cake.

2 tablespoons melted butter or substitute
½ cup brown sugar
1½ cups corn flakes
1¼ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup marmalade

Blend together butter, brown sugar and ½ cup corn flakes. Set this aside for the topping. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening. Beat egg and add milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only until combined. Add remaining 1 cup of cornflakes. Turn into greased 8-inch square pan. Dot with marmalade, spooned on top of batter; sprinkle with mixture set aside for topping. Bake in a hot (400-degree) oven for 25 minutes. Serve warm, cut in squares.

Sour Cream Spice Cake.

¼ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
¾ cup thick sour cream
1¾ cups sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves

Cream sugar and shortening, add egg and beat well. Add sour cream. Sift flour with baking soda, baking powder, salt, cloves and cinnamon. Add two tablespoons of the dry ingredients to the creamed mixture. Beat thoroughly. Add remaining dry ingredients to the first mixture, beating well. Pour into a well-greased and well-floured pan and bake in a pre-heated 350 - degree oven for 30 minutes.

An unusual variation in cakes is to use gingerbread as an upside-down cake with an apple or orange topping. This saves both sugar and fussing as it is not necessary to make an icing for this type of cake:

Gingerbread Upside-Down Cake.

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup molasses
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ginger
½ cup sour milk

Bottom of pan:
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup nuts
2 sliced apples or oranges

Cream sugar and shortening. Add egg, beat well. Add molasses, blend. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk to the creamed mixture. To prepare pan, melt butter and add corn syrup. Arrange fruit and nuts. Pour batter over fruit and bake for 35 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Turn cake out of pan immediately after removing from oven.

For those of you who like your whipped cream and can't get it, here is an excellent way of making it:

Whipped Cream.

1½ teaspoons plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold milk or water
1 cup well-chilled light cream

Soften gelatin in cold liquid. Set over hot water and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Pour cream into fairly deep, narrow bowl, making sure it is deep enough so cream covers at least ⅓ of the beaters. Stir in softened gelatin gradually. Set bowl in a pan of ice and let stand 5 minutes, stirring around edges several times. Leaving bowl in ice and water, beat with rotary beater 5 minutes. Cream will be light and fluffy but will not stand stiff enough to peak. Let stand 1 or 2 minutes more in ice water, stirring gently. Cream will thicken and become stiff enough to peak. This may be sweetened and flavored to taste. It may be served immediately or kept in refrigerator or cold place until ready to serve. Texture improves on standing in refrigerator for ½ hour. Stir until smooth and serve.

Lynn Says:

Make Dishwashing Easier: Stunt fishy odors on dishes by washing them in soapy water to which some vinegar has been added. Rinse dishes in hot vinegar water, also.

Hot, soapy water is indicated for greasy dishes; cold water for egg, starchy and milky dishes.

Scrape dishes before starting to wash and have a strainer in the sink to collect all leftovers. It's much easier than scooping them up out of the water.

Stack dishes carefully before washing. It won't seem like you have so many, and there's less chance of their breaking.

China can be allowed to dry by itself on a dish rack, but glasses, silver and cutlery should be wiped immediately after washing.

Make sure you have plenty of good absorbent dish towels handy. Use paper toweling for hands to save cloth towels.

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer Who Tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this unsolicited letter:

"For several years I was afflicted with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Several months ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning, drinking water freely through the day. I have since never had the slightest trouble with constipation. My gratitude to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." Mr. H. M. Riley, 11 E. Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Do you want to be free of harsh laxatives for the rest of your life? You may be, if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet! Just eat a dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN and drink plenty of water every day! If not satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's of Battle Creek. Double the money you paid for it will be paid to you.

ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It is a delicious cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It's one of nature's most effective sources of gentle-acting bulk, which helps support normal laxation!

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's today. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Mind Your Own Business

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"She is running around with one of the town boys, and whatever she feels, he is deeply in love."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THESE are good days in which to mind your own business. For one reason, because everyone's business is going to be complicated and hard under postwar conditions. And for another, because interfering in other persons' affairs is a harmful, wasteful and often useless employment.

Here is a letter from a woman who feels that she very decidedly ought to be minding other persons' business, even while she gives me a distinct impression that her own isn't being too well managed.

"My position is a very painful one," writes Carolyn Miller, from a Texas town. "I live with my husband's mother, who is a dear. She is only 52, active and capable, and we manage the house easily between us. I have a baby six months old.

"The trouble is my twin sisters-in-law, whom I will call Joan and Jean. They are 20. Joan married to a captain of marines, and Jean engaged to his brother, who is in the air corps. This marriage and this engagement took place before I moved in here. My husband, Bert, has been away for almost a year.

'Not His Baby,'

"Joan, the married one, had a baby 10 months after her husband's departure for the south seas. She did not notify him of this baby's arrival until it was five weeks old, then a joyous cable was sent, 'fine little girl, both well.' His answer to this was so pathetically eager and happy that it made me sick, for in the family we all know that it is not his baby. Joan admits herself to a time of indiscretion, immediately after his departure, with one of his friends, since killed in the Pacific.

"The whole family expects me to be a party to this outrageous deception, of which I never would have heard, if I had not unexpectedly arrived here at the old home. My own instinct is to try to persuade Joan to write the truth to Art, and if she will not and her mother will not, to write him myself.

"Jean's case is, of course, less serious, but she is running around with one of the town boys, and whatever she feels, he is deeply in love. This seems to me terribly unfair to her absent fiance, but her mother will do nothing but look worried and say that time will settle all these problems. Personally I don't believe in leaving such matters to time; human beings have responsibilities, and our duties to our absent soldiers are surely the most sacred among them.

"My husband is now returning, honorably discharged, and we will move back to our own home, in a town some miles away.

My dear Carolyn, my advice heads this article. Mind your own business. Button up your lip about Joan's affairs and Jean's affairs, and concentrate upon managing your home—fortunately in another town, and keeping your husband and baby happy.

Let Jean Tell Husband.

You don't know—and you have no business to know — what the relationship is between Jean and Art. Perhaps she has written him the full truth already. Perhaps she is waiting until he is home again, and at work normally again, and in love with the little girl baby, to say to him; 'Art, I don't know what weakness or craziness came over me—I never loved Tom as I did you. I was lonesome, and he was going away—to his death, as it happened—and we were carried away. Can you forgive me, and love her for Tom's sake, too, because he gave everything that he had, gave life itself, to keep her world safe for her?"

Perhaps, if something like that happens, Art never need be disillusioned, Art's heart need never be broken; perhaps there will be other children, and the little oldest girl not the least dear.

But whatever happens, your putting your stiff, moralizing, clumsy hand into this affair can only ruin everything, and do you no good. Leave Joan alone and leave Jean alone — Jean isn't the only pretty young flirt who's amusing herself in the absence of her heart's true love. Jean will probably meet her sweetheart with inocent eyes and a royal welcome, and to all the world Joan's mistake will remain hidden, and Joan's daughter will have her honor and her place in the world untouched. In a word, Carolyn, mind your own business.

She will tell him when he returns.

SILENCE IS BEST

It is often difficult to keep quiet when you happen to know some scandalous information. Many people persuade themselves that it is their duty to tell, because somebody is being deceived. They seldom stop to think that they may be making a bad situation worse.

The case discussed in today's article concerns two young wives whose husbands are still in service and out of the country. The girls are twins, young and pretty. Joan has given birth to a daughter—obviously out of wedlock. The other girl, Jean, is going around with one of the local men who is plainly in love with her. Carolyn, their sister-in-law, sees all this and feels she ought to write to the husbands and reveal the ugly facts.

Miss Norris admonishes Carolyn to keep out of these people's affairs. There is no good purpose to be served, she says, by telling the soldier-husbands now. Perhaps they will never need to know. In any case, it is the wives who should do the telling, and under more favorable circumstances than now exist.

Vitamin Intake Sufficient

You homemakers are concerned with the proper amounts of calcium and of riboflavin, known now as vitamin B-2. Calcium builds bones and teeth. Riboflavin promotes growth and is necessary to normal nutrition at all ages. B-2 vitamins are found in milk and milk products, among other foods. For folks have been drinking 25 per cent more milk since 1934, and increased their consumption of the B-2 vitamins about one-fifth.

Vitamin B-1 and niacin have been added. Iron is an important nutrient and it is usually fairly well supplied in average mixed diets and the enrichment program adds even more. The average quantity of vitamin B-1 that you and your family had last year was 33 per cent higher than in prewar years 1935-1939. Nine per cent of this B-1 increase was due to the enrichment of grain products. You homemakers have learned that if your family does not have enough B-1 it is apt to result in a poor physical condition, poor appetite and nervous disorders.

INTERNAL FIRE

An old traveling preacher, encountering many a meal which needed seasoning, always carried a bottle of tabasco sauce with him. At one meal a hillbilly eyed it curiously, then requested some and poured it liberally over a piece of beef which he bolted. There was a pause. Suddenly the hillbilly made a grab for the water pitcher.

Finally he spoke: "Well, sir, you're the first minister I ever met who carried a sample of hell right with him."

Double Trouble

Jones—If my wife didn't have a can opener she wouldn't know how to cook.

Smith—My wife has a can opener but it doesn't help any.

Jones—Why not?

Smith—I found her yesterday trying to open an egg with it.

Ain't It True

Jones—There's one thing I can't understand about banking.

Smith—What's that?

Jones—They'll lend you all the money you want just as long as you can prove you don't need it.

Broadening Experience

Sally—You used to say I was all the world to you.

Sailor—Yes, but I've seen a lot of the world since then.

AMATEUR BUYING

Butcher—Roundsteak, madam?

Bride—Well, the shape doesn't matter, so long as it's tender.

Just Shopping

Mrs.—I stood in line for over an hour this morning.

Mr.—What for?

Mrs.—I don't know. It was all gone by the time I got to the counter.

Practical Patriotism

Dora—I asked that sailor if he was ready to die for his country.

Cora—What did he say?

Dora—He said no, but he was willing to help a Jap die for his.

Happy Family

Wifey—I had a very interesting conversation last night.

Hubby—You don't say. Who was the listener?

Everybody Out

Nell—There was a tremendous crowd at church last night.

Belle—New minister?

Nell—No, it burned down.

Kitchen Queen

Sweet Young Thing—How do you like the potato salad?

Hard Boiled Boy Friend — Delicious! Did you buy it yourself?

Learned Quickly

Sergeant—I thought you said that soldier didn't know what fear was.

Corporal—He must have looked it up in the dictionary.

Big Show-Off

Della—Is Tom conceited?

Bella—Conceited? Say, he joined the navy to let the world see him!

WATER EVERYWHERE

Mrs. Venice—How did you like Venice?

Mrs. Jones—We only stayed there a few days. The place was flooded.

Looking Ahead

City Boy—Some day I'm going to be rich.

Farm Boy—Money isn't everything.

C. B.—Well, I'm not selfish. I don't want everything.

Hard Up

Sonny — That couple next door must be very poor.

Mother—Why do you say that?

Sonny—Because they make such a fuss over their baby swallowing a quarter.

Mrs. Brown—I'm entering Fido in the dog show.

Mrs. Blue—Do you think he'll win any prizes?

Mrs. Brown—Oh, no. But he'll meet some very nice dogs.

SIMPLE EXPLANATION

Prof. — Sedentary work tends to lessen the endurance.

Stude—In other words, the more one sits the less one can stand.

Prof.—Exactly. And if one lies a great deal, one's standing is completely lost.

Dilemma At Sea

He—What do you mean? It hasn't even blistered your paint.

Natives Found Corporal's Bite Worse Than His Bark

A corporal in New Guinea proved that his bite was worse than his bark when he put his teeth into his dealings with natives.

When the natives refused to take their work for the army quartermaster corps seriously, the corporal released an angry tirade—with such vigor that his false teeth fell to the ground.

"The incident," the army gravely reports, "caused great concern among the natives. The corporal was looked upon with respect and awe, and his orders were obeyed."

It's the job of helping our people here at home, and our sons and brothers and husbands wherever their military duties may have taken them.

We need your help to keep U.S.O. Do You Know Your Benefits Under Social Security?

Joe P. Verri, manager of the West Palm Beach, Florida, Field Office of the Social Security Board, advises all wage earners who are 65 years old and their wives to become familiar with the benefits that are payable under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Provisions of the Social Security Act. Mr. Verri also advises the survivors of deceased wage earners to make immediate inquiry as to the possible payment of benefits.

"If the wage earner or the survivors of a deceased wage earner are not fully acquainted with the benefits payable under the Old-Age and Survivors Provisions of the Social Security Act, they should immediately write to the nearest office of the Social Security Board or contact the field representative when he is in their vicinity. There is no cost for such service and it is the obligation of the field office to fully acquaint wage earners with their rights as to qualifying for benefits under the Social Security Act."

Forgotten Man — 1945?

You didn't forget him in Normandy. Six days after D-Day, the dollars you contributed to the Community War Fund helped cheer him up with a U.S.O. show staged right on the beach.

You stood by him in France. Often your money helped send U.S.O. entertainers right behind the front lines to bring him a glimpse of home again ... the familiar face of a movie star ... a hit song from Broadway ... or the latest gags from radio.

You did him a great service. And he remembers you for it. But now that he's earned his victory in Europe, let's not leave him to battle with boredom in his off-duty hours.

For when time is crowded with boredom, it does things to a man that sometimes make him almost forget himself. Who he is. What he believes in. What he fought for.

General Eisenhower is so aware of this problem that he has asked the U.S.O. to quadruple its entertainment program to keep up the spirits of our men still in Europe. Fifteen hundred U.S.O. entertainers are now overseas, including 16 complete acting companies. They're playing to more than a million men every week. But to continue this work on such a huge scale, to continue to bring American cheer to American boys, takes money—your money.

When you give to the National War Fund—through your local community campaign—your dollars not only support the U.S.O. They help all the 20 other agencies of this great fund. They keep up the hopes of those abroad, and give aid to servicemen's families who need aid at home.

When the man from your neighborhood calls, remember the boys still overseas, won't you? And give generously—you'll be glad you did!
